The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1750, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 9 1955 (P. L. Act No. 130) entitled "An act relating to counties of the third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" providing for appeals to courts of common pleas from the decsions of salary board

Mr. AUKER. Since we are more or less working now under a consent calendar, I would suggest this bill go over in order.

The SPEAKER. We are proceeding on the basis that there are no objections. If there are objections, this bill will go over in order. We would ask the members who object to the consideration of bills to clear with their Floor Leaders so that the Floor Leaders can mark the Chair's calendar. There has to be some recognition of what is agreed upon and what is not agreed upon, otherwise we get into difficulties. The Chair is entitled to know what is agreed upon and what is not.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1792, as follows:

An Act relating to comic books magazines and other publications prohibiting and regulating the sale thereof in certain instances and imposing penalties

Whereas we believe that the destructive and adventurous potentialities of children and adolescents are often stimulated by collections of pictures and stories of criminal deeds of bloodshed or lust so massed as to incite to violent and depraved crimes against the person and

Whereas we believe that such juveniles and other susceptible characters do in fact commit such crimes at least partly because incited to do so by such publications the purpose of which is to exploit such susceptible characters and

Whereas such belief even though not capable of statistical demonstration is supported by our experience as well as by the opinions of some specialists qualified to express opinions regarding criminal psychology and not disproved by others and

Whereas in any event there is nothing of possible value to society in such publications so that there is no gain to the Commonwealth whether in edification or enlightenment or amusement or good of any kind and

Whereas the possibility of harm by restricing free utterance through harmless publications is to remote and too negligible a consequence of dealing with the evil publications with which we are here concerned and

Whereas The National Council of Juvenile Court Judges has urged that action be taken at local state and national levels of government to curtail prohibit and outlaw the publication of so-called "comics"

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 It shall be unlawful for any person to sell offer for sale attempt to sell exhibit give away keep in his possession with intent to sell or give away or in any way furnish or attempt to furnish to anyone under the age of eighteen years any comic book magazine or other publication which read as a whole is concerned with an account of crime which may incite to violence and depraved acts against the person and which depicts by the use of drawings the following crimes as defined in "The Penal Code" of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

(1) Aggravated assault and battery
(2) Assault with intent to kill
(3) Robbery
(4) Assault with intent to maim
(5) Administering drugs
(6) Rape
(7) Murder
(8) Assault with intent to ravish
(9) Burglary
(10) Larceny
(11) Arson

Any person violating any of the provisions of this sections shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500) or to undergo imprisonment not exceeding one year or both

Section 2 It shall be unlawful for any person to sell offer for sale attempt to sell exhibit give away keep in his possession with intent to sell or give away or in any way furnish or attempt to furnish to anyone under the age of eighteen years any obscene lewd lascivious filthy indecent profane or disgusting comic book magazine or other publication

Section 4 The word "person" includes an individual copartnership association and corporation

Section 5 This act shall take effect in thirty days

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, rather than take up the time of this House with a statement I want to make, I would like to ask permission to present the statement for the record.

Mr. Speaker, browsing through a magazine stand several weeks ago I was jarred by the gruesome cover on a comic book. The contents of this colored pulp story book were so shocking I felt I had to tell you about it.

Your children can buy a nightmare for a dime. Terror for tots is big business. The Frankensteins who produce this stuff that bad dreams are made of, blossom opulent on the intense curiosity and deep impressionability of the young. Tales from Twain are passe. Tales from the Crypt are sell-outs. The recipe is simple. Take the hollow face of a zombie and mix well with ghouls, shrunken heads and decomposed bodies. The bigger the portion—the better the dish.

The April-May cover of "Tales from the Crypt" features a rather shabby coffin-filled vault. A young man wearing an expression of violent dread is shown clawing at the steel door while watching a partly decomposed body draped in tattered clothing rise up from one of the wooden boxes. His nose is rotted off, eyes eaten out, part of an ear is gone, his skin hangs casually over rotted teeth, yet somehow he manages to leer at the reader. By way of explanation, the terrified youth at the crypt door is fed this line, "Locked . . . with . . . with this thing!" Comic? Let's turn the page.

This is the mood page to prepare you for your adventure in horror. It is clobbered with comic characters . . . . a clumsily wrapped mummy, a cute, green monster with one eye and two pointed teeth, a wild-eyed ape, a few formless ghosts, a shriveled head, a dozing bat hanging head downward apparently bored with it all, and your hostess, the Crypt Keeper definitely not the twin with the toni. She speaks, "Welcome, dear friends! Come into the Crypt of terror. I see it is time to tell you another of my spine-tingling horror stories. This one is sure to freeze the blood in your veins . . . guaranteed to make shivers run up and down your crawling spine. This adventure into terror . . . this chilling ordeal is about to happen to you. You are the main character. Get a good grip on yourself."

The first story titled "Reflection of Death" talks directly and personally to the wide-eyed juvenile devotees. You are driving down the highway with a friend. There is an accident. You awaken and find yourself lying at the edge of a road. There is no sign of a wreck . . . just road reaching into the night. A car passes . . . you put your hand up to stop it . . . step up to the driver and see a look of stark terror in his eyes. He shrieks and drives away. You pass a hobo huddled near a fire. He smiles and invites you to some stews. You move into the firelight, the blood drains from his face . . . he runs screaming into the night. You come across a paper dated two months from the accident. It's impossible you think. You were driving home from a New Year's Eve party. It can't be the 26th of February. You reach your home. It is boarded up. You go to your friend's house who was with you when the accident happened. You tell him your story . . . how people screamed when they saw you but he had not. He is blind. He doesn't believe you . . . says you were killed . . . horribly mangled . . . You're dead . . . you stagger towards a mirror . . . you see a face almost completely rotted away. To quote again from this pretty prose "you scream. You open your rotted, torn decomposed mouth and scream." The story continues through two additional pages of nauseous nightmares and once again your drooling hostess rises to greet you. "Like being a corpse, kiddies. Well, you might as well get used to it. It's bound to happen. Maybe you'll know it's coming by having a dream like the one in this story. If you do, you'll have something to look forward to."

Mr. Speaker, the fascinated little readers are then turned over to The Old Witch for a terrifying tale which she calls, "Last Respects." Briefly, this is the story of an heiress and her chauffeur. They are secretly married. Her scrooge uncle whom she lives with discovers her secret while she is delirious with pneumonia. He refuses to let her husband see her. She dies and is taken to a valut where her chauffeur husband comes to pay his last respects and to mutter over her casket that he has killed her uncle. A storm comes up and blows the door to the vault shut. He's trapped in the mausoleum. Days . . . then weeks pass. His knocking and shouting grows weaker. A month later the door is opened by an attendant who finds him recently dead. The coffin had been pried open. Bones are scattered on the floor. He had stayed alive for almost a month by catching water in an urn and eating his wife. He had died of embalming fluid poisoning. "They took him away. They put the white picked-clean bones back into the coffin and sealed it up again." The witch fades out with this bit of comment, "It was a meaty little tale wasn't it? They all killed each other so to speak. I hope you didn't . . . er . . . choke up at the sad ending. If your stomach's doing flip-flops I'll turn you back to the crypt Keeper. He has another tale for you to chew on."

This comic book is published by Educational Comic's Inc., New York City. A small seal on the upper lefthand corner of the cover stamps it as "an entertaining comic." The seal on the right is marked "conforms to the comics code. Authorized by A. C. M. P." The inside cover asks the reader to look for this seal. "This seal is used by the Association of Comics Magazine Publishers which believes in decency and good taste," they continue by stating they believe in self regulation. They say if you want the best comic magazines, always look for the seal because it is your guarantee of quality and entertainment. "Only the best comics carry the seal."

The Association is constantly working to give you better entertainment and more information about the world we live in. It works with Parent-Teachers Associations, educational groups, women's clubs, religious organizations of every faith. Show this advertisement to your parents so they too will understand what the better comic magazine publishers are doing to raise standards."

What are they doing if they continue to publish these morbid tales? What are we doing to stop them? Your children are the victims of this terror form of comic lurking behind a code of "decency" and "good taste."

Ten cents is too big a price for your children to pay for frightful dreams, extreme fear, nervious disorders. The state legislature has the power to ban these dime monsters. You have the power to make them.

The publishers of these fright funnies are getting away with murder—the cold blooded premeditated murder of a child's peace of mind. I urge—support of H. R. 1792.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to delay the speedy passage of this bill, but I think the record should indicate that this is the bill by which we are going to make an attempt to regulate the sale of comic books. It was worked out very carefully by the Judiciary Committee. It has been amended since to remove the objections of some very important and intelligent groups of persons, and we believe that it is in about the best shape possible at this time. We hope it will remove from the stores many of the comic books which may have been leading some of our children into misdeeds of one kind or another. I think it is a good bill and I think we can all vote for it with pride.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I have permission to file a statement for the record in connection with this bill?

The SPEAKER. Permission is granted.

MRS. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, The subject of how much influence horror, crime and sex comics have on a child has been the subject of much concern and discussion.

Many states have set up legislative committees to study the problem. New York, for example, after a thorough study, which included public hearings and examining phychiatrists, parents and members of the comic book industry overwhelmingly voted to recommend legislation to curb these comics.

This bill was drawn up after considerable study by a subcommittee of Judiciary consisting of Mrs. Reibman, Mr. Auker and Mr. Sherman with the aid of the Department of Justice.

The bill creates no special censoring or screening body or a special enforcement agency. It spells out a flat prohibition of a list of crimes in which the comic books indulge.

There are those who would oppose such legislation on the grounds that it interferes with the freedom of the press. But freedom of the press cannot be invoked to protect commercialists to whom decent standards mean little as long as their publications sell. A continual exposure of young children to commercial exploitation of comic book crime and violence would seem to rot away foundations of society.

The comic book industry has wisely decided to police itself, but there are still many publishers who do not belong to its Code Authority. The only way, it would seem, to keep such comics out of the hands of children, is to pass such legislation as House Bill 1792.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

WEATHER BULLETIN

The SPEAKER. The Chair has received a bulletin from one of the news agencies which may be of interest to the Members.

Harrisburg, (AP)—The State Council of Civil Defense today alerted all of its county directors to be on guard against flooding of streams in their areas resulting from day-long rains.

Dr. Richard Gerstell, State Civil Defense director, said: "Rains during past fifteen hours have brought many smaller streams in Susquehanna, Schuylkill and lower Juniata river watersheds to bankfull or overflow stages, with some highway flooding in low spots.

Heavy but spotty rainfall is expected in eastern two-thirds of Pennsylvania between early Friday evening and daylight Saturday morning. Should this occur, rather serious flooding may be expected in many small streams throughout central and eastern portions of the state.

Serious flooding along main stems of Susquehanna, Juniata, Schuylkill and Delaware rivers not now expected.

The Federal Flood Forecasting Service reported at 3 p. m. that small sterams in the Susquehanna River basin were flooding with severe local flooding in north central Pennsylvania.

The Weather Bureau said additional flooding is expected tonight from continuing rains, but no flooding indicated on the Susquehanna or its major tributaries.

The service said a 12-13-foot crest is expected at Williamsport Saturday morning. Flood stage there is 16 feet.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the present plans are that the session of October 24th, which will be held at 3:30 Daylight Time, 2:30 Standard Time, will be a token session unless the Members are notified otherwise.

The meeting of the House after October 24th is still a matter not decided. All the Members will be notified by letter and probably by telegram when they are to return.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to thank the Members of the House for the orderly way in which the discussion of serious problems has been handled. The Speaker wants to particularly thank the Members who are here and regrets the absence of those who failed to appear.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 107

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 37 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 107.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 1, 1955.

There is vastly increased use of both surface and ground water for domestic industrial agriculcural irrigational recreational and related purposes The continued expansion of water use may create shortages of these valuable resources There is an inevitable relationship between the utilization of waters and the utilization of other mineral resources

The Commonwealth recognizes a public interest in the quantity quality and utilization of these waters and a duty upon the General Assembly to insure that such waters are conserved and that their use is allotted in a fair and equitable manner therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized to study the surface and ground water resources in the Commonwealth and the inter-relationships between the utilization of water resources and other mineral resources and the urban and industrial development of the Commonwealth and more particularly to determine the adequacy or inadequacy of existing laws and to ascertain what new laws if any may be necessary to properly protect these valuable resources The State Planning Board and the various administrative agencies of the Commonwealth now engaged in studies of these vital problems shall cooperate with the Commission in this study.

The Commission shall report its findings at the next regular session of the General Assembly

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. FLINT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the preambles, page 1, by inserting after first preamble: The act of June 22, 1937, P. L. 1897, has declared the discharge of sewage or industrial waste or any noxious and deleterious substances into the waters of this Commonwealth, which is or may become inimical and injurious to the public health, or to animal or aquatic life, or to the uses of such waters for domestic or industrial consumption, or for recreation not to be a reasonable or natural use of such waters, and to be a public nuisance and against public policy.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution as amended?

It was agreed to.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 139

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 37 of today's calendar Senate Resolution Serial No. 139.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the Senate, July 11, 1955.

Whereas, The Executive Department of the United States has recommended an appropriation of $6,000,000 to be expended by the Corps of Engineers for fiscal 1955-56 to begin the authorized improvement of the Delaware River Channel Philadelphia, Pa., to Trenton, N. J.; and

Whereas, The Senate of the United States approved the recommended sum of $6,000,000; and

Whereas, The members of the Conference Committee (representing the House of Representatives) in opposing the appropriation of the sum of $6,000,000; have refused to concure with the recommendation of the Executive Department and the Senate of the United States; now therefore be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, on behalf of the people of Pennsylvania, voice its disapproval of the discriminatory action of the House of Representatives of the United States (through its representatives on the Conference Committee) in jeopardizing the welfare of our Delaware Valley three-State area by refusing to recognize the urgent need for improvement of the Delaware River by providing funds for the prompt start of construction of this vital project; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania petition the Executive and Legislative branches of the United States Government through this Resolution to approve legislation during the present session of the Congress of the United States that will make available in the current fiscal year the recommended sum of $6,000,000 so that the justified and approved improvement of the Delaware River can be started promptly in the interests of our national defense, industry, commerce, and the welfare of all the people of the Delaware Valley; and be it further

Resolved, That the President of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania appoint three members of the Senate to serve as a continuing committee together with three members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who, upon the concurrence of the House of Representatives, shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee shall cooperate with the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in such actions as may be desirable and necessary to achieve the required legislative appropriation from the Congress of the United States to assure not only the prompt start of the construction of the Delaware River channel improvement but to assure, also, the earliest possible completion of this important project; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be directed upon the passage of the instant Resolution to forward copies thereof to His Excellency, the President of the United States; to the Vice President of the United States, in his capacity as Presiding Officer of the Senate of the United States; to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States; to the two United States Senators from Pennsylvania, the Honorable Edward Martin and James H. Duff; to each one of the Members of the Pennsylvania Delegation to the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States; to the Director of the Bureau of the Budget; and to the Chief of Engineers, United States Corps of Engineers.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs WATERHOUSE and GIBSON.

RESOLUTION NO. 121.

In the House of Representatives, October 14, 1955.

By unanimous action of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, at a duly called meeting of the commission, it was decided to reconstruct the Columbus Dam located at Columbus, Warren County, Pennsylvania, which had been partially destroyed by flood sometime previously, and to restore the lake formed thereby, and by the same action a sum of money was set aside out of the Fish Fund to defray the expenses of the improvement.

Relying on the action of the commission, property owners around the lake as it existed before the destruction of the dam, undertook extensive improvements to their properties at considerable expense to themselves.

By recent action of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission the restoration of Columbus Dam project was abandoned without showing any reason or necesity for the action; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania Fish Commission be called on for an explanation as to why the Columbus Dam project has been abandoned and to produce the minutes of its meetings relating thereto, and to submit the same to a special committee of the House of Representatives, to consist of five members to be appointed by the Speaker; and be it further

Resolved, That the special committe hereby created inquire into all phases of the Columbus Dam project, obtain all information it requires from the Pennsylvania Fish Commission and elsewhere, where available, and make its report together with its recommendations to the House of Representatives during its present session.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1955. No. 103.

SENATE

MONDAY, October 24, 1955.

The Senate met at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, Thou who dost move in a mysterious way, Thy wonders to perform, as we look around and see the beauty of the hillsides we see Thy tremendous silent power. We pray that we may always feel it in our lives and in our hearts, that Thou dost guide us, too, in Thine own way as Thou dost change nature from life to dormacy and back again to life.

We pray for Thy help and strength upon one of our Members who is sick and in the hospital. We pray, if it is Thy will, that Thou wilt speedily restore him again to health and strength.

Guide us always in Thy service so that our lives may rebound to Thy honor and glory. In the master's name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WADE and Mr. DERK, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate at follows:

PROTESTING THE ADVERSE ACTION OF THE UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES CONCERNING THE DEEPENING OF THE DELAWARE RIVER CHANNEL

In the Senate, July 11, 1955.

Whereas, The Executive Department of the United States has recommended an appropriation of $6,000,000 to be expended by the Corps of Engineers for fiscal 1955-56 to begin the authorized improvement of the Delaware River Channel Philadelphia, Pa., to Trenton, N. J.; and

Whereas, The Senate of the United States approved the recommended sum of $6,000,000; and

Whereas, The members of the Conference Committee (representing the House of Representatives) in opposing the appropriation of the sum of $6,000,000; have refused to concur with the recommendation of the Executive Department and the Senate of the United States; now therefore be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, on behalf of the people of Pennsylvania, voice its disapproval of the discriminatory action of the House of Representatives of the United States (through its representatives on the Conference Committee) in jeopardizing the welfare of our Delaware Valley three-State area by refusing to recognize the urgent need for improvement of the Delaware River by providing funds for the prompt start of construction of this vital project; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwelath of Pennsylvania petition the Executive and Legislative branches of the United States Government through this Resolution to approve legislation during the present session of the Congress of the United States that will make available in the current fiscal year the recommended sum of $6,000,000 so that the justified and approved improvement of the Delaware River can be started promptly in the interests of our national defense, industry, commerce, and the welfare of all the people of the Delaware Valley; and be it further

Resolved, That the President of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pensylvania appoint three members of the Senate to serve as a continuing committee together with three members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who, upon the concurrence of the House of Representatives, shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee shall cooperate with the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in such actions as may be desirable and necessary to achieve the required legislative appropriation from the Congress of the United States to assure not only the prompt start of the construction of the Delaware River channel improvement but to assure, also, the earliest possible completion of this important project; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be directed upon the passage of the instant Resolution to forward copies thereof to His Excellency, the President of the United States; to the Vice President of the United States, in his capacity as Presiding Officer of the Senate of the United States; to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States; to the two United States Senators from Pennsylvania, the Honorable Edward Martin and James H. Duff; to each one of the Members of the Pennsylvania Delegation of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States; to the Director of the Bureau of the Budget; and to the Chief of Engineers, United States Corps of Engineers.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES PASSED OVER TEMPORARILY

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I understand that the House wants to adjourn and there are several things on the Calendar which we want to get through, but I do have a speech I would like to make and if the Senate will give me permisison, I will defer it until after consideration of the Calendar.

The PRESIDENT. If there are no objections, the Chair passes over this order of business temporarily.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, do I understand that we are passing over this order of business temporarily?

The PRESIDENT. We are passing over it and will come back to it a little bit later.

Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, October 24, 1955.

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week its reconvene on Monday, November 14, 1955, at 3:30 o'clock, p.m., E.S.T., unless sooner recalled by the President pro tempore; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, November 14, 1955, at a time to be fixed by the House of Representatives, unless sooner recalled by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF ORDER OF BUSINESS OF ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS PASSED OVER TEMPORARILY

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may we suspend further consideration of Original Resolutions until later in the Session?

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I have a short resolution, which I would like to introduce at this time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I assure the gentleman that I have a short resolution which I would like to introduce, too, but the House is waiting for action on some important legislation, which I am sure the Senator is very much interested in. In order for that legislation to become law, if we are going to adjourn for two weeks, we would like to proceed to the consideration of the Calendar, and then revert to Petitions and Remonstrances and Original Resolutions.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I will defer the offering of my resolution at this time.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, if I may add to what Senator Dent just said, there are several resolutions which are pending consideration or are going to be introduced by different Members of this body and we will then return to this order of business. Is that right?

The PRESIDENT. As I understand it, we are to take up the Calendar and then revert to the order of business of Petitions and Remonstrances and continue from that point.

Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 729, Printer's No. 305; and

Senate Bill No. 746, Printer's No. 275.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The PRESIDENT. The Order of Business of Petitions and Remonstratnces having been passed over temporarily, the Senate will resume consideration of this Order of Business.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I was amazed to see in Sunday's newspaper a statement by Senator M. Harvey Taylor, in which he took the position that if the state goes broke for lack of a tax program, it will be the fault of Governor Leader and the Democratic party. That sounds like a typical statement by "Hit and Run Taylor."

Last November, the people of Pennsylvania gave Governor Leader an over-whelming mandate to clean up the mess that was compounded by four Republican Administrations. That meant the development of a tax program which, by all standards, would be fair and equitable and based on ability of the individual to pay. As the party in control of state government, it was our responsibility to develop such a tax program. We fulfilled that responsibility when we introduced and passed in the House the Administration's classified income tax. The Republican Members of the Senate, in killing that measure, did so deliberately as part of a straight line party policy to impede, obstruct and embarrass the administration of Governor Leader. The whole attitude of our Republican friends, I am sorry to state, has been to hold a gun at the head of the Governor and tell him, bluntly, that the only tax Republicans are going to talk about is a sales tax.

It is obvious that the reactionary pattern of Republican obstruction is a throwback to events of last November 2nd when the Republican political machine, impervious as it was to the wishes of the people, met its Waterloo in a stunning political upset. Governor Leader campaigned against a sales tax and the people elected him on that premise. Now our Republican colleagues are trying to tell us that the people didn't know what they were doing when their overwhelming vote for Governor Leader presented a smashing repudiation of the sales tax. Senator Taylor, in particular, seems to have done a lot of talking while everyone was out of town. Of course, everyone knows he is trying to usurp the functions of the Republican State Chairman.

I don't think Senator Taylor will attempt to deny the fact that Governor Leader, following the death of the classified income tax, has tried repeatedly to get the Republican leadership in this Senate and in the House to sit down with him and try to effect a compromise which might produce an acceptable, workable tax program keyed to the interests of our people. In view of the efforts made by Governor Leader to reconcile our tax differences, I scarcely believe Senator Taylor is justified in describing the Governor as stubborn, with the coy implication that the Republicans have tried to do something about a compromise when their whole attitude has been to play politics with the welfare of the Commonwealth.

Senator Taylor himself has successfully boycotted most of the Governor's tax conferencs. That is a matter of record. He may fool some people, but he doesn't fool me. I am fully aware that Senator Taylor, by ordering the continuing opposition to Governor Leader's efforts to develop an acceptable tax program is doing precisely what he is told to do by U. S. Senator James H. Duff, the man who started Pennsylvania on the downward grade to the Big Red deficit. Duff is convinced that if the Republicans stick to their position on the sales tax, even if it means Pennsylvania will go broke, it will result in a political catastrophe from which the Democratic party will not recover. Therefore, instead of acting in a spirit of compromise and accord, and fulfilling their legislative responsibilities to the people, the Republican leadership has served notice that it intends to sandbag any overtures made by the Governor in an honest effort to work out of our financial difficulties. The big defect to the Duff-Taylor logic, if it can be called that, is that it is working exactly in reverse to what they thought it would accomplish.

Some of the most avid Republican newspapers have editorially censured the strategy of the Republican high command, especially when these same newspapers realize that the financial problems plaguing the Leader Administration are inherited problems. We didn't create them. We are simply trying to resolve them in the interest of good government. It does not aid the Republican cause, in the eyes of the people, to realize that failure of this Administration to enact a tax program can be laid squarely at the door of Senator Taylor, Jim Duff and others high in the Republican leadership who are using the sales tax as a political booby trap to wreck the whole financial structure of our government.

With the state's borrowing capacity at dead end, and the imminent danger to our schools, colleges, universities, hospitals and other state-aided institutions, it should be evident we are not going to find the answer so long as arrogance dominates the thinking of the Republican leadership and so long as political hypocrisy, so adroitly practiced by Senator Taylor, continues to be the order of the day. The tug of war over taxes must be settled dispassionately and fairly on the basis of what is best for our people as a whole.

It is becoming increasingly evident that had the Republicans won last year's election, the same old, deadly mossback system of deficit financing and the indolent habit of kicking old debts into a corner for future generations to worry about, would have been the governing policy. If Senator Taylor is so positive the people want a sales tax, when they rejected it by their vote last November, it would be a simple matter for him to arrange with his leadership in the House to propose such legislation and let it carry the label of the Republican party. It would scrupulously fulfill Senator Taylor's contention that all tax legislation must originate in the House, then come over here and the Republican party would be able to take full credit for it.

Now if Senator Taylor—who must have heard I was going to make this speech—had been here, he would have been seen leaving th room in a matter of minutes, you can be sure, to telephone Senator Duff. Mr. Taylor never does anything without conferring with Big Jim. And I am sure that when my proposal is relayed to Washington, the people in Baltimore will think someone has dropped an atomic bomb on the nation's capitol.

But I am serious, Senator Taylor, and I intend to send a copy of this to his office. I will give him ample opportunity to answer me if he cares to.

If you honestly believe a sales tax is the way out of the financial predicament that was created by your own political colleagues, including former Governor Duff, it shouldn't be necessary for you to obtain Jim Duff's permission to act in a way that will do honor to your political record. We'll be glad to excuse you while you look up Charley Smith and make your arrangements for having the sales tax dressed up with a bright Republican ribbon for introduction in the House. That would establish you, Senator Taylor, as the miracle man who solved Pennsylvania's tax problems all by yourself, and I am sure it will bring you more glory than the bridge that now spans the Susquehanna which was built as a memorial to American war veterans but which, through legislative jockeying now bears your name.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we have just heard that very able discourse by our colleague, Senator Barr, of Allegheny County, and I think we all are very fortunate that we had a two weeks' recess to enable Senator Barr to prepare that very accusing statement on the floor of the Senate. I do not suppose for a minutes that it was made at a time just prior to the municipal elections in Pennsylvania, intentionally. It likely just occurred to Senator Barr that this was a good time to make that statement.

Mr. President, he repeated the statement of Senator Taylor who said that if the State goes broke, certainly there will be no one to blame except the Democratic Administration now here in Harrisburg. I think that statement is quite true. We all know that the Constitution provides that the Members of the Senate, or the Senate as a body, are not privileged to introduce any tax-levying legislation. It must originate in the House. We are also fully aware of the fact that the House is controlled by the Democratic Party.

It seems to me that at this juncture, after we have been in Session for a number of months and after we are now almost making a record for length of a Session, it is time to compromise our situation. I believe that the Members of the Republican Senate and the Republican membership, especially the leadership, of the House are just as anxious to compromise our differences and get a sensible and sound tax program as anybody within the Commonwealth. I know that it is a matter of import and concern to many, many citizens of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, Senator Barr also took occasion to remind us that our present Governor campaigned on a platform opposing the sales tax. It is true that that was one of the planks in his platform, despite the fact that Senator Dent said a few months ago on the floor of this Senate that he would challenge any Member who would make further allegations to the Leader Platform last fall on certain premises. However, there is no doubt about it that this played some part—nobody will ever know exactly what part—in last fall's campaign. Nevertheless, that now does not enter into the discussion.

The fact remains that some platform or some tax program must be adopted which both sides will agree on, because fortunately the Republican Party is in control of the Senate at the moment and it is undoubtedly foremost in our minds that some tax program must be adopted quickly inasmuch as time is running on, expenses are running on and the State government must be maintained, as well as the many different services which depend upon the State government for finances.

Mr. President, Senator Barr very critically referred to the fact that Senator Taylor confers with certain other members of the Republican Party; among them one Senator James Duff, of Pittsburg, a neighbor of Senator Barr. I suppose that he does confer with other members, but I do not know for a fact that he does. Senator Taylor's practice of conferring with all Members of the Republican Party, especially the leadership, is a very good one. The Republican Party is a party of the people and a party that does not have a dictator at the head of it. It is a party that is controlled by the member's of that party, and certainly we cannot criticize Senator Taylor or anyone else for conferring with all the members, especially those in the leadership of his party.

I am sure that we Republicans have been a little bit too much concerned about the fact that certain members of our party are in favor of a sales tax. In fact, one of our members over in the House introduced a bill advocating a sales tax. That is not the duty of the Republlican Party at this moment. The Democratic Party is in control of the Administration and is also in control of the House. Fortunately, as I said before, it is not in control of the Senate. However, I am sure that the citizens of this Commonwealth are not for one moment critical of the fact that the Republicans in this Senate, the twenty-six Members of the Republican Party who are privileged to sit in the Senate, stopped the vicious classified income tax.

For years, Mr. President, I have felt, and I know that members of the Democratic and Republican Parties in the Senate and House as well have felt, that certain areas ought to be left to the administration of the Federal Government and the most outstanding portion of that area should be the income tax. This area of taxation should be left for the Federal Government. The other areas of taxation, such as the sales tax, should be allocated to the different States. The Federal Government, I know, has had a number of bills advocating a sales tax on the national level. However, these bills have been defeated, and the thinking back of that is that the States should have the area of the sales tax and the Federal Government should have the area of income tax.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Wade, in your statement you said that Senator Taylor consults with all Republicans. Would you say that Senator Taylor consulted with you as a Member of this Senate?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President. Senator Taylor consulted with me on different matters as late as within the last hour; not on this particular matter but on other matters.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Wade, would you say that when he spoke in condemnation of the Governor and the Democratic Party, and laid down the policy of taxation which he enunciated this week-end and many time heretofore, he was speaking for you at that time?

Mr. WADE. No, Mr. President, that was one of the times when he did not consult me.

Mr. DENT. Well, then, Mr. Wade, would you say that you are not wedded to the symbol of taxation represented by a sales tax as the sole means of financing the State at this time?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I have made no commitment on that whatsoever. It is true that many prominent members of the Republican Party have advocated a sales tax, but as for me, individually, I have not said that I favor or disfavor the sales tax.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly, Senator.

Mr. President, I am happy to know that Senator Taylor does not speak for all the Senators on the other side, although his statement emphatically and specifically said that the only tax acceptable to the Republican twenty-six votes was the sales tax. He said that back in April, they told the Governor that the only tax they would accept would be a sales tax and then he proceeded to call the Governor stubborn.

When I was a kid, my father told me about a family that lived close by. The man and wife had lived together for many years. The man was very fond of sow belly and butter beans, but he could not get his wife to cook sow belly and butter beans over all these years. Finally, he lost his patience and he took matters into his own hands, and she sued him for divorce on the grounds that he was stubborn. That is the way the Republican Party is acting in the Republican-controlled Senate of this State.

Mr. President, the Democrats happen to dislike the sales tax and the Republican happen to like it. Because we say that we are for it, you call us stubborn but the fact that you say that that is the only tax you are for is not considered to be stubborn. There must be another word, which I am not acquainted with, which covers that kind of action.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, we have always asked for and tried to work on a compromise. If you will note, during these trying days when we have attempted to meet in compromise there has been no statement from me whatsoever on the part of the Democratic Caucus. I felt that, in an attempt to reach an honest ground upon which to work, it was not becoming upon me or any other man interested in a compromise in this State to make any statements which might throw out of gear the operations that we have tried to keep going during the periods of recess; the operations that we had hoped to keep going during the next two weeks of recess.

We are not wedded to the classified income tax. The Republican Senate has said no to the classified income tax and the Governor has accepted that as an ultimatum. The Governor has said, "All right, gentlemen, get together and whatever compromise you come up with I will give it every consideration." However, everytime we sit down, there is no such thing as a compromise. The only proposal that receives any consideration is the proposal wherein they say, "We are not stubborn but we will not take anything but a sales tax."

Mr. President, let us put the shoes on the feet that properly fit them. Let us find out who is stubborn; let us find out what is happening in Pennsylvania. Is it not true that from the very beginning you have said that there can be no compromise; that it must be a sales tax?

Is it not true that in the early beginning you started out by saying you could cut $220,000,000 from the budget? You said that the Governor was extravagant and yet last week you voted to increase the budget by $26,000,000.

I want to pay particular credit at this time to Senator Kessler. Although I do not agree with him on his proposals, although I fight him bitterly in the compromising committee sessions on the proposals to cut certain items from the budget, I must say that he has worked in good conscience. He has tried to do the job which was allocated to him to do, by trying to find some means and method whereby they could keep a promise, made in an idle moment, that a certain number of millions could be cut from the budget without hurting the services of this Commonwealth. Although we could not get together on all items, in fairness to all the people of Pennsylvania it ought to be known, and I think Senator Kessler will agree, that in our give-and-take sessions we gave every bit as much as we could; that there was a spirit of trying to get together, a spirit of trying to achieve something, a spirit of trying to take this State of Pennsylvania out of the mess which it finds itself in through no fault of ours.

Mr. President, I think that the key to the whole thing was wrapped up in a few short remarks made by Senator Wade, in which he publicly for the first time, in my opinion, laid out for the people of Pennsylvania the underlying thinking of the Republican Party. They would like to have, and if they are able to do so they will keep this Session in longer than the ill-fated session of 1951 under Governor Fine. They think that they will receive some particular kind of political glory by being able to say that this man, Leader, had to stay in longer than Fine did. At this point, I wonder if the ex-Governor of the State of Pennsylvania is considered among those who are consulted by the Republican leadership when it comes to discussing the affairs of the Commonwealth. He ought to be considered, because he was head of this government when it left this Administration with the need to raise $322,000,000 to meet obligations which were left over from that and preceding Administrations.

I am not particularly sure whether Senator Wade was serious when he said a Republican had introduced a sales tax bill in the House. I wonder whether he meant that we ought to bring that bill out on the floor. If he will read that bill, and if he will stand up on this Senate floor and say that he will vote for that bill as it is written and as it has been presented to the House of Representatives, we will be glad to take Senator Wade, with a pledge of twenty-six votes on that side, over to the House committee and standing alongside of him, I will go to that committee and say, "Here are twenty-six votes in the Senate for the Hewitt bill which is in committee." Until that time, there is only one other thing they can do and that is to admit that they have been playing politics with misery, hoping to achieve some glory out of a defeat.

Mr. President, the trouble with the Republican Party in Pennsylvania as I view it, and I hope I am corrected if I am wrong, is that they have been so used to victory that they cannot stand defeat. They cannot read in last year's election anything but a passing defeat, a passing moment; one that came out of the skies like a hurricane and passed away; that its damages can be repaired and there will never be another hurricane, but that is not true. So long as there are winds and elements, there will be hurricanes and so long as there are people with decent thinking, there will be hurricanes in politics and the Democratic Party will again achieve victory. We are not disturbed over whether we will win three years hence. We are disturbed over the peoples' conditions in this State today.

I, for one, Mr. President, want to say very bluntly that so far as I am personally concerned about the bugaboo and the scare headlines that the schools will close and the hospitals will suffer, that the institutions will be forced to curtail their services so that these charges will force us into some kind of a compromise, with a gun at our head, is a mistaken idea. So long as anyone harbors that thought, they are wrong. I am willing to stand here and fight it out until the last breath in my body is gone, that we will not be blackjacked into an unfair tax upon the people of this Commonwealth simply because urgency demands that we do so. The schools will have to take their chances with Republican obstructionism. The hospitals will have to take their chances with the twenty-six Republican Senators' feelings in these matters. We cannot do any more than we are doing.

The reason that we have not passed another set of tax bills in the House, very plainly, Mr. Wade, is because we have been told time and time and time again, and as recent as this week-end, that no compromise is acceptable. I do not think that you would ask that we clutter up your committee with repeated efforts to pass tax bills, which may be accepted, when you repeatedly say that you will not compromise; that nothing is acceptable but a sales tax.

Mr. President, when the Republicans in all sincerity say to us, "Pass this bill, we will consider it; pass this bill and we will consider it; or pass this bill and we will consider it," we will then pass all of the bills which you say you will consider. However, when you say to us, "Pass nothing but the sales tax," that to me is political blackmail. If we in America today stand for political blackmail, we are betraying the inheritance of the forefathers who created this great Nation and its Constitution. The men who died at Bunker Hill died in vain if they were to pass on to us a heritage of blackmail and subjugation to a weak majority that is trying to usurp the powers of the Administration of this State.

We represent, on this side, a majority of the people of Pennsylvania in our elective Districts and yet we are a minority in this Senate. Senator Wade said a minute ago that fortunately there was a Republican-controlled Senate. Fortunate for whom? Fortunate for the Republican Party and just as unfortunate for the people.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we have been told that you cannot tax industry because industry must provide payrolls. A great many of us have tried to look at that in that viewpoint. We have been told that you cannot tax main street business because main street business is too powerful with the press and the press will not stand for it. We have been told that you cannot tax income because it is restricted to the Federal uses. It may interest the people of Pennsylvania to know that a great many States have income taxes, and that these income taxes paid in the various States are deductible from Federal taxes, and that in that particular State the Federal Government contributes anywhere from eighteen to thirty-three per cent of that State's taxes out of Federal revenues. We in Pennsylvania, who do not take advantage of this form of taxation, are paying a full hundred per cent into the Federal till and the other States that are taking advantage of this sourse of taxation are paying less into the Federal till per capita than what we are, based upon the same amount of personal income.

I listened to the same arguments back in 1935 against a corporate net income tax. I listened to the dire threats then that we would lose all of our industry, and any man with half an ounce of intelligence knows that the State has grown. The only thing which we are falling back on, as I see and view the statistics, is that we are not as rapid in our growth in population as other States are, particularly the State of California. Now let us look at the State of California. The State of California has both a sales and an income tax. It has a greater tax on gasoline than we have in Pennsylvania. It allows its cities to tax the same subjects of taxation that the State reserved for itself up until a few years ago. That State has been under Republican control for a great many years. In Illinois, Governor Stratton has done the same thing. They have the same type of taxation and he is a Republican Governor.

Now, Mr. President, what are they trying to do in Pennsylvania? They are trying to follow the line set out by the Chamber of Commerce at its National meeting a few years back in which they started a twofold program; one was to get Wall Street to move into the pay envelope and talk the little people into buying shares of American corporations, through payroll deductions, in order that you would get a great army of stockholders who would then be on the side of the bigh stockholders in this Country of ours to fight any taxes on unearned income. The second move was to have every State in the Union put into their Legislature taxes on sales, and to build up the bugaboo that this was an equitable tax and one that placed the tax on everybody.

Let us see how a sales tax places a tax on everybody. Take a man who is making $3,000 a year and buys a $300 television set. I know some Republicans who would say that he should not have it because it is too good for him, but, nevertheless, if he did not have it and did not buy it a lot of people would not be in business and there would be a great deal more unemployment. However, that is neither here nor there. The fact is that he buys a $300 television set and there is a two per cent or three per cent sales tax on it. He pays the tax on the $300 and his income is $3,000 a year. Over here is another man whose income from unearned income, picked up in the main from inheritances and so forth, is $300,000 a year. He buys a $300 television set and he pays the same tax as the fellow with the $3,000 income. If that is equity, then I do not know what equity is.

Here is a man with ten children. He goes out to buy ten pairs of baby shoes and he pays tax on the ten pairs of shoes, although his income is $3,000 a year. Under the Hewitt tax, mind you, he would pay this tax. Here is another fellow over here with $300,000 of income and no children, and he pays a tax on only one pair of shoes. Is that equity? If that is your understanding of equity, I do not understand it that way.

Why do you Mr. Wade, in the insurance business, charge a man who is twenty years of age a certain amount of money for his insurance policy per year and a man sixty years of age you charge a lot more. Why do you not make it equitable? Why do you not say that it is only two per cent on every thousand dollars and let the premium ride? No, you do not, because that man will not live as long you figure and you better get it out of him quick. Well, let us look at it this way then, Mr. President. If a man makes more money, he ought to pay more.

I long ago believed in the philosophy that government is protection. Those who have the most of this world's goods need protection the most and if you need protection more, you ought to pay more. The dandy dancer in slum row does not give a Fiddler's darn whether there is a policeman around or not. He does not care whether we have safety regulations or we have protection of life, limb and property, because he has nothing to protect, not even a reputation, and so that man does not care whether he pays any taxes or not. However, those of us who have families and children, who are growing up and going to school, want to see this State of ours have the decent kind of schools that children ought to go to. Those of us who have, within our families, illnesses which we cannot cope with want to have this State of ours have certain agencies to take care of these sick people. We want to see to it that when a man goes to a hospital, he will be able to try to pay that bill out of earnings and, Mr. President, that is why we have increased the aid to State-aided hospitals in this particular Administration some $5,000,000, and the Republican Party proposed to cut not only the $5,000,000 but to also take $600,000 from whot was already passed.

Now, Mr. President, whether Mr. Wade allows Senator Taylor to speak for him or not is his own problem. Whether Mr. Taylor ought not to qualify his statements, when he says to the paper that the Republican Senators will not compromise on anything but a sales tax, by saying that he is not speaking for the whole Senate is another problem for Mr. Wade to decide.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the county superintendents of Pennsylvania are an estimable group of people, but I am moved to remonstrate because of some remarks which were recorded by the Associated Press, under a Harrisburg dateline of October 18th, when the county superintendents had their State Convention. Some of the county superintendents, if they are quoted correctly, seem to me to have an erroneous opinion about Senate Bill No. 769.

I am moved to remonstrate also because I think the remarks they made not only reflect on the bill, but they reflect upon the committee of educators who prepared the bill and I think they reflect on the sponsors of the bill. The bill, incidentally, is referred to in the headline of the story, which I do not blame on the Associated Press, as "The Hays-Seyler Bill"; although the actual list of sponsors are Senator Hays, Senator Wagner, Senator Kessler and myself.

This bill provides for regional service areas to replace the county superintendents. I am not going to discuss the merits of the bill because this is not the proper time to do it, but I would like to answer some of the criticisms which were made to the bill.

Mr. President, one gentleman of that association is quoted as saying, in speaking of this bill: "It would be a violation of the democratic processes, usurpation of power by the State, a step toward dictatorship." He goes on to say later: "It embodies sentiments that spell out bureaucracy. The local people and boards would no longer decide anything. The bill is fundamentally undemocratic because it lessens local controls." Well, I am sure that Senator Wagner, Senator Kessler and Senator Hays, as well as myself, do not wish to be accused of putting our names to bills which do the horrible things that this superintendent claims.

I have carefully re-read the bill since these statements were made, and I have failed to find anything which would support these statements. It seems to me that the statements are entirely unfounded.

Mr. President, the bill, it is true, would substitute the county convention with the regional convention. it would substitue for the county board a regional board. It would substitute for the county superintendent a regional superintendent. However, these entities would have no more and no less control over the destinies of the local districts than the present terms of the act which covers the county superintendents. Therefore, I say that this charge is unfounded. I regret that I did not hear the gentleman's speech, but certainly in the newspaper account there is no evidence which he adduces to support this contention, and I am entirely unable to find any and I invite the Members of the Senate to read this bill. I think that this bill is just as democratic as the present law. I think it is no more moved to dictatorship or State control than the present law. If the gentleman's criticisms are of the present law, then I think he should have stated that in his remarks.

Now, Mr. President, In the course of the convention, I believe, according to the account here, seven suggestions were made which would have to be incorporated into the bill before it would be acceptable. The first suggestion made is that local directors and administrators should be consulted, in the establishment of standards, by the State Council of Education. That seemed to me to be a good idea, so I got out the bill and I found that this was already provided for in the bill. I would like to read the following passage from the bill, under Section 903-A:

"Development of Plan Hearings In developing plans for the reorganization of counties into Regional Service Areas the State Council of Education shall counsel with county superintendents district superintendents and supervising principals Public hearings shall be conducted in each proposed Regional Service Area at which boards of school directors and residents of any of the school districts affected or any interested party shall be afforded an opportunity to appear before the Council or its representatives and be heard with reference to the proposed reorganization"

Mr. President, I ask, in all fairness, what more does the gentleman ask? This seems to me as democratic and as consulative a proposal as could be enacted, and it is right there written into the law itself.

The second suggestion made was that the reorganization should not be mandatory but should be left to either the General Assembly, or local school directors or both, to put into effect. Well, the truth of the matter is that this bill is before the Legislature and presumably, if it passes, we will have the assent of the Legislature. Not only that, but after the reorganization plan is completed, it will not go into effect until January 1958, and there will be another Session of the Legislature and any subsequent Legislature will certainly have the power to amend that and make any changes in it that the Legislature thinks desirable.

Mr. President, with regard to the gentleman's proposal that the local school boards should adopt this plan, it seems to me to be a ridiculous idea. As the county superintendent undoubtedly know, there are over 2400 local school districts and to ask that every one of them act before a reorganization plan is put into effect is a ridiculous proposition, both from the standpoint of the time involved and the necessary difficulty in getting 2400 boards to act on it.

The third suggestion says that the effective date should be moved back a year or two. The effective date now is January 1, 1958, and to move it back a year or two would make it 1959 or 1960. Just how far, I wonder, do the gentlemen who proposed this suggestion expect this Legislature to look forward.

Mr. President, the fourth one is probably the most ridiculous suggestion of all, in that it says that the word "county" should be substituted for the word "region" and the proposed thirty units increased to forty or forty-five or more. Well, now, a county is a county. As I understand it, there are sixty-six counties, exclusive of Philadelphia, which would not be affected by this bill, and any number less than sixty-six would certainly not justify calling the new unit a county, because a county already exists in the law. Although "region" is perhaps not an absolutely necessary word, it is certainly a whole lot more sensible than creating forty units and calling them counties, when actually we know there are sixty-six counties.

The final suggestion, Mr. President, says that second class districst, formed after a certain date, should be automatically included in the plan but others should have the option to join. This is a group of county superintendents who are making these suggestions, but I have certainly—I do not know whether this is true of the other sponsors—heard no objection from the second class school districts which are not now under the jurisdiction of the county superintendents. If they have an objection, they will probably make it. I do remember, however, that the gentleman, who represented the district superintendents and the second class school districts at a conference we had on this bill, had no objection. In fact, they said that they favored this bill.

I would also like to point out that in criticizing this bill, it is not the four Senators who sponsored it who are being criticized because we have merely had the honor of introducing it. Actually, this is the product of a committee of twenty-seven prominent educators, representing every educational agency in the Commonwealth. They met for two years in a number of conferences and subcommittees, and this plan was conceived by them to be the best solution to the problem. I do not say that the bill is perfect. Perhaps there are many changes which could be made, but I think the type of criticism that calls names, such as dictatorship, undemocratic and bureaucracy, is out of order. I think that the suggestions lack thought and consideration. I am sure that the sponsors of the bill will be very happy to consider any well-based and well-founded suggestions. However, I think in putting out this kind of a statement, the individuals responsible have done a disservice to the cause of this program of reform in education.

Mr. President, I would say that if these people care to come here and talk to the sponsors of the bill, we would be very glad to listen to their suggestions and to meet them individually. In the meantime, I hope that Senators, particularly those on the Education Committee, which has this bill among the bills under its jurisdiction, will not be affected by these statements but will continue to take a common sense point of view on this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Further consideration of the Order of Business of Original Resolutions having been passed over temporarily, the Senate will resume consideration of this Order of Business.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, Governor Leader has urged all Pennsylvanians to take an active part in the observance of United Nations Day; the part to be taken today, October 24th.

This is the tenth anniversary of the creation of the United Nations. We know that this is the only world-wide organization which has for its purpose the prevention of aggression, the solving of problems between nations and the creation of peace in the world.

Mr. President, I am offering this resolution congratulating the U. N. on its tenth anniversary, and wishing them success in their world-wide work.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY EXTENDED TO THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION ON ITS TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. SILVERT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, October 24, 1955.

Today, October 24, has been designated by our Governor as United Nations Day. It also marks the tenth anniversary when nations all over the world inaugurated a plan whereby international problems would be discussed and settled by peaceful means.

The formation of the United Nations Organization, dedicated to protect the world against aggression and to establish and maintain peace and insure security and liberty to all peace loving peoples, has to a great measure relieved the world of the fears of war.

The U. N. is urged to continue its great efforts in settling problems between nations and effecting world peace; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulates the United Nations Organization on this its tenth anniversary; and be further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the United Nations Organization.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION TO MAKE A PROMPT AND THOROUGH CHECK OF TRUCK COMPLIANCE WITH THE I. C. C. BRAKE REGULATIONS

Mr. WADE offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, October 24, 1955.

During the past three weeks three highway accidents —two in Pennsylvania and one just over the line in Maryland—have taken the lives of ten persons, injured others and piled up property damages of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Each of these accidents involed motor trucks whose brakes failed on long, steep hills. Each truck was owned or leased by persons or corporations outside the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and each was engaged in interstate commerce.

Legislation has been introduced in this Chamber to require an auxiliary emergency brake system on trucks. Similar regulations are being prepared for early adoption by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has jurisdiction over safety of interstate trucking and has facilities for the scientific study and approval of brake systems and safety rules. The Pennsylvania Motor Code provides that trucks have brake systems that comply with I.C.C. requirements.

Even if auxiliary brake system legislation were adopted today in Pennsylvania or by I.C.C., time for compliance and for study and installation would certainly be necessary. Meantime, prompt attention to the truck brake problem is essential; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Interstate Commerce Commission be requested to dispatch to this Commonwealth without delay a sufficient number of qualified investigators to make a prompt and thorough check of truck compliance with the I.C.C. brake regulations upon the highways of the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commissioner of Pennsylvania State Police, the Secretary of Highways and the Secretary of Revenue of this Commonwealth be directed to make all necessary facilities and assistance available to the investigators of the I.C.C. in this program; and be it further

Resolved, That the organized trucking industry of Pennsylvania, whose work in the field of highway safety is well known, be requested to place its members, staff and facilities at the disposal of the I.C.C. for technical assistance or other aid as required.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO ASCERTAIN CERTAIN INFORMATION REGARDING THE SCHUYLKILL RIVER DESILTING PROJECT

Messrs. DENT and KESSLER offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, October 24, 1955.

Whereas, Millions of tons of silt deposits have been removed from the Schuylkill River since the Schuylkill River Desilting Project was initiated in 1945, and

Whereas, Silt impounding basins were constructed to facilitate continuous desilting, and

Whereas, The legislation which established the Schuylkill River Desilting Project provides for a return on the cost of the project through the sale of recovered materials; therefore be it

Resolved (the Huse of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to ascertain the volume and value of marketable anthracite coal and other marketable materials recovered from the operations of the Schuylkill River Desilting Project; the amount realized by the Commonwealth from the sale of recovered materials; and the circumstances surrounding the sale of such recovered materials.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 386

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, October 22, 1955.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 386, Printer's No. 1033, entitled "An Act amending the act of March 26, 1931 (P. L. 8) entitled 'An act to fix the fees to be allowed the district attorney in counties of the second class' providing a fee for services in cases removed to any appellate court of this Commonwealth or to any court of the United States."

This bill provides a fee of $200.00 to be allotted the district attorney in counties of the second class for the disposition of every case in which the record shall have been removed by writ of certiorari or otherwise to any appellate court of this Commonwealth or to any court of the United States for review. This would be in addition to all the fees which are already provided for in the Act of March 26, 1931, P. L. 8, which this bill would amend.

The proposed fee of $200.00 is out of all proportion to the other fees and would place a burden upon all persons taking an appeal. Such a financial burden would operate as a denial of justice and would close the appellate courts to those who felt they must seek justice in the appellate courts.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1676.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, October 22, 1955.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1676, Printer's No. 889, entitled "An Act authorizing townships of the first class in certain cases to convey to a volunteer fire company or association the townships' interests in real property upon approval of the court of common pleas of the county."

This bill authorizes townships of the first class, upon approval of the court of common pleas, after a public hearing to convey the title of real property to the volunteer fire company where land and improvements have been conveyed to a trustee in trust for the use of a volunteer fire company until the time when the township should take over the responsibility of fire protection.

The courts have already been authorized by law to terminate trusts and we believe no useful purpose is to be served by the approval of this bill which is of a special nature and might imply limitations on the courts in other cases of a similar nature.

See Glatfelter Trust Deed Case, 372 Pa. 503 (1953), and the cases of Loechel, Appellant v. Columbia School District, 369 Pa. 132 (1952), and Abel et al. v. Girard Trust Co. et al., 73 A. 2d 682 (1950).

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, October 24, 1955.

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, November 14, 1955, at 3:30 o'clock p.m., EST, unless sooner recalled by the President Pro Tempore, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, November 14, 1955, at a time to be fixed by the House of Representatives unless sooner recalled by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, sometime ago the leadership of the House in its wisdom proposed that we recess until December 5th of this year, unless sooner recalled by the Speaker, to take up and pass any urgent bills. After a seeming agreement between the leadership of the Senate and the leadership of the House to allow us to do that, we were blasted in the newspapers by the Republican State Chairman, who among other things went out of his way to say that the Republican Senate would never run away from its work while there was work to be done.

I am very happy now to see a resolution come from the Senate proposing a sensible thing, and that is recessing or adjourning until November 14th.

I say this, not because the election is intervening but because things are in such shape at the present moment that it simply is not advisable to try to meet between now and November 14th. As all of us know, it will be very difficult for the House membership to find accommodations to stay over night on the 14th, or whatever day of that week we might decide to work, but I say despite the injudicious remarks of the Republican State Chairman, the leadership of the Senate has finally agreed with something that we proposed, and that is that we do not try to bring our Members back he at a time when nothing can be accomplished.

How much we can get done during the week of November 14th, at the moment we do not know. We hope to move rapidly after the situation on hotel accommodations has been rectified or the hotels are able to accomodate our Members so that we can adjourn this session as promptly as possible.

I could not let this resolution pass today without calling the attention of the Membership to a statement which made no sense at that time and made no sense at any time. I think we should proceed to do business in this manner. When we can meet and pass bills which should be passed, or do other things which should be done then we should meet, and when we find ourselves in the posi tion we cannot do so then we should recess until such time as we can.

I am asking the Membership to vote for this resolution, and I am hoping that we shall have no more diatribes on the part of the Republican State Chairman. If he wants to criticize the Democratic majority for other things which it does or does not do, that is his privilege, but I think he went off base when he criticized our suggestion of last month.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I, of course, am going to vote for the adjournment resolution but I do not think the fact that we have received a message from the Senate to come back on the 14th of November is any surprise.

I have been reading in the newspapers the last two or three weeks that that is the very thing that we were going to do. So the fact that it now comes over emanating from the Senate, as all adjournment resolutions have as I recall so far this year, is nothing unusual. As I say I do not think it is at all surprising that we have the resoluton to adjourn until November 14th, because we have been reading it in the newspapers the last two or three weeks that that is exactly what we were going to do.

Of course, as to what our Republican State Chairman said that there is a job to do and that we should stay here and do the job, those words would be just as true if he said them again today. The job is still here. I know there is an awful lot of talk that we have not passed one tax program and that now the burden has shifted to the Republicans to come up wth a tax program. That is a lot of applesauce in my book and in any legislative tribunal.

We have a constitutional mandate here in the House to orginiate revenue measures and we have a Ways and Means Committee which is well staffed with bright men and women and a good Chairman. There is not any reason why, if we must recess and not come back until the 14th, the Ways and Means Committee can not get on the job and bring another tax program out, one that the people of Pennsylvania will want us all to vote for, one that the newspapers will buy and that business will buy, that everybody will be pleased with, and there is such a vehicle.

True, it is too bad that we are not coming back until the 14th of November but a lot can be done during that interim to solve this tax problem that faces this state of ours. We have a Ways and Means Committee right here in the House, and it is a House function to do the job. Let us do it right here in the House. Let us not say that Republican leaders and Democratic leaders have got to get together and solve this problem, let us do it as a House function where it belongs. Let the House Committee sit down and do the job. Taxes must originate here as I said. We have plenty of time to do it between now and November 14th. Nothing would please me more than to pick up the newspapers and read between now and then that a program has been agreed upon and that we are going to be out of here before Christmas.

I ask the Members on this side to vote for this resoluton.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, to preside.

Mr. READINGER IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have heard everything now. I have heard about a tax program that the people will buy and welcome, a tax program that the newspapers will buy and welcome, a tax program that the Members of this House, including the Minority, will buy and welcome. If anyone has accomplished that modern miracle of a supremely important tax I wish they would inform, not only the House Ways and Means Committee, but those Members of this House who over many weary months have been in conference with various gentlemen who occupy their time or part of their time, legislating in another place.

Concerning many things I can speak about, I was there, I heard, and I say to you in all seriousness that as long ago as the first of last May I was told by two eminent leaders who legislate in another place not to be silly, because there was not going to be any tax legislation until after election.

We have been saying that and it has been scoffed at in various legislative crcles. The newspapers have taken the statement as so much political guff. It has never been political guff, there is something that has been written on the book, something that has been written on the book, because those who work and legislate in another place work as we do, on a narrow margin and those who work and labor in another place operate on the unit rule. If just two of those who labor in another place say there will not be any tax legislation until after electon they can make it good, unless those who labor in another place decide to lay aside the unit rule.

We have been operating for many, many weary months, with three men determining the course of action of Pennsylvania's General Assembly.

On our side of the House, six Members if they were so inclinded, could prevent the Majority party from operating unless it had Minority party support. That is fact number one.

So far we have been able to command, and I think we will continue to be able to command a constitutional majority in favor of a tax program, but until the minds of three men, those who work in another place, are changed there isn't going to be any tax legislation unless this admnistration, and the legislative leaders on this side of the House have in hand clearly across the space that separates us from those who work in another place and say "we'll surrender. What will you let us do".

As far as I am personally concerned there will be no sine die resolution passed by this House until there has been an agreement upon a tax program other than one that would be forced down our throats by gentlemen holding a legislative pistol.

We will have evidence of good faith during the first two weeks following election. If they have said and they have said and I assure you that they have said it that there wouldn't be any tax legislation until after election, we will find out what their disposition is because within the first two weeks following our reconvening I expect that they will have the opportunity to decide whether or not they will consider a tax program.

I thank the Members of the House.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there is no objection, the Chair will pass over the order of business of leaves of absence. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING THE UNITED NATIONS

Mr. WORLEY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, October 24, 1955

The Charter of the United Nations came into force on October 24, 1945, which date has since been observed as "United Nations' Day"; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania congratulate the United Nations on this its tenth anniversary for its accomplishments in bringing about better world conditions looking towards the establishment of lasting world peace; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be transmitted to Honorable Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Permanent Representative of the United States to the United Nations, and Honorable Dag Hammarskjold, Secretary General, United Nations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Miss LEIBY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not like something which happened. A Representative from Erie County came to the City of Allentown and used language that I certainly think is not proper in describing the Democratic party. Among other things, he said that Leader's administration was "the worst administration in the history of Pennsylvania;" that there is "a complete lack of integrity in this administration" and it "consists of nothing but waste and inefficiency."

When this Republican Representative from Erie said that we are "trying to build up the greatest slush fund in the history of the state" he is speaking as a representative of a party that has been buying elections ever since the turbulent days of Matt Quay and Boise Penrose. He speaks as a representative of a party which over sixteen years destroyed the meaning of integrity in state government. He speaks as the representative of a party which has its Joe Pews, Dick Mellons and Joe Grundys, all multimillionaire experts in the art of creating gigantic slush funds for political purposes.

I can scarcely see how Mr. Waterhouse can judge that the Leader administration is the worst in history, when it has only been in office nine months and in that time it has devoted its energies to cleaning up the catastrophe of mismanagement and deficit financing that can be laid squarely at the doors of four inept Republican administrations.

The problems of the Leader administration are inherited problems. We didn't create them. We are simply trying to clean them up to restore the meaning of solvency and honor and decency to the operation of state government.

Mr. Waterhouse made sneering reference to $100 Democratic dinners as though the Republicans never heard of them as a fund raising method. Actually, the money raised by the Republicans at their $100 dinners is peanuts compared to the vast sums poured into their party war chest by the Pews, the Mellons and the Grundys.

It is a serious charge when Mr. Waterhouse said that the Leader — — —

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the Lady do not refer to a Member concerning matters not said upon the floor of the House.

Miss Leiby. Well the charge that was made —— —

The SPEAKER. She can say someone said it, but not use the name of a Member of the House concerning matters said outside the House.

Miss LEIBY. It is a serious charge that this Representative from Erie County made, that the Leader administration is blackjacking contractors doing business with the Sate. I notice he has offered no proof of his allegation nor is he likely to, because he has picked that one out of thin air. He is trying for a bit of political sensationalism in a desperate effort to bolster the defeatism that is rampant in Republican ranks.

What the gentleman does not know is that in our last campaign Mr. Leader, myself and the other Representatives from Lehigh County had the support of a great number of Republicans who had wearied of the kind of leadership dominating the Republican state organization.

Whatever the problems of the Leader administration are they have been accented by 26 stubborn men who represent the Republican majority in the State Senate. The Democratic House has passed all legislation by which Governor Leader has kept his campaign pledges.

The Republicans, by their obstructionism, make it apparent they are fearful that Governor Leader will solve in the first year of his administration the financial mess that the Republicans created and compounded over 16 years.

When this gentleman sheds crocodile tears for education, let him remember this, it was the Democratic party that gave Pennsylvania the Teacher's Tenure Act, the greatest single boon to education in the state history. The Democratic party has always taken the lead in advancing the cause of education in this state.

Does this gentleman know that the so-called budget experts of the Republican party deliberately slashed $26,000,000 from Governor Leader's budget for education? Does that look as though they were sincerely interested in school teachers and in promoting and developing new schools for the benefit of our children? I think not.

By their willful opposition to every good feature of the Governor's legislative program, the Republicans have shown a callous disregard for parliamentary procedure. They are not interested in making laws that will help the Commonwealth as a whole. They are interested solely in playing politics, with an eye on next year's election, regardless of the crippling effect it has had upon state services and the welfare of our people.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED IN THE HOUSE

By Messrs. VAUGHAN and SARRAF House Bill No 1848

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," excluding the weight of safety devices in determining gross weight.

Referred to the Committe on Motor Vehicles.

By. Mr. WILLIAMS House Bill No. 1849

An Act amending the act of May 31, 1945 (P. L. 1198), entitled "An act providing for the conservation and improvement of land affected in connection with the mining of bituminous coal by the open pit mining method; regulating such mining; and providing penalties," further regulating mining operations; requiring the filing of maps; changing provisions with respect to registration, bonds, backfill, overburden, enforcement of the act and penalties; and providing for the payment of fines into a special fund.

Referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Br. Mrs. VARALLO and Mr. JUMP Resolution No. 122

In the House of Representatives, October 24, 1955

Before World War II medical doctor diplomas granted by the Italian medical schools were recognized as sufficient to pass the licensure examinations of all the states of the Union, in accordance with an international agreement between the United States of America and Italy, which terminated at the beginning of the hostilities.

After the end of World Warr II and the resuming of friendly relations between the two countries, many states of the Union have again recognized medical doctor diplomas of the Italian medical schools, among which are: New York Connecticut, New Jersey, Illinois and California. Two of the aforementioned states are border states to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, through the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure, by action taken on December 13, 1951, and officially communicated to the Italian Consul General in Philadelphia on December 17, 1951, ruled to "accept for internship and licensure in Pennsylvania only graduates from foreign medical schools that are recommended for approval by a recognized accrediting agency such as the American Medical Association. The credentials of each applicant, however, must be evaluated and approved by the Board even though the medical school has been recommended for approval by the American Medical Association."

Italian universities admit to the medical schools, American students only after a very careful screening through the local Italian Consulate, an advisory board of New York, named by the Board of Medical Examiners of the State of New York, the Italian Foreign Ministry and finally the academic board of the Italian medical school chosen by the American applicant.

The ruling of the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Education and Licensure will oblige new doctors to spend years away from their families so as to obtain the licensure in one of the border States of New Jersey or New York, after which they will be automatically licensed also for Pennsylvania. This imposes further financial burdens, hardships and many inconveniences to the future doctors and to their families.

It would be proper for the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Education and Licensure to follow the example of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Illinois and California, and admit directly the doctors licensed by Italian medical schools to take their licensure in Pennsylvania through direct evaluation and approval by the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania protests the regulation, relating to acceptance for internship and licensure of graduates of medical schools in foreign countries, made by the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Education and Licensure on December 31, 1951, as being unreasonable; and be it further

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Education and Licensure is hereby urged to promulgate rules and regulations relating to internship and licensure of graduates of foreign medical schools similar to the progressive States of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Illinois and California and to license graduates of medical schools in foreign countries after evaluation and approval by the Board of Medical Education and Licensure.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. FRANK. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 123.

In the House of Representatives, October 24, 1955.

The beer and ale brewed in this great Commonwealth, although perhaps not known nationally, are of as fine a quality, body and taste as any nationally known brand. In adition to the fine qualities brewed, the breweries in this State have contributed greatly in the past years to the economic wealth and leadership of Pennsylvania by employing thousands of our citizenry in the breweries whose wages were in turn spent in this Commonwealth. In order to maintain the standing of an economic leader, every citizen as well as the General Assembly of this Commonwealth must utilize every means possible, including legislation if necessary, to promote the sale in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania-brewed beer and ale as well as other goods. However, there are certain areas in Pennsylvania, namely Federal naval and military installations, where the Legislature has no jurisdiction to require that Pennsylvania beer and ale be sold. At such military and naval installations, great quantities of nationally advertised beer and ale are sold but little or no Pennsylvania-brewed beverages. The income from the sale of out of State beer and ale on such Federal installations is of no benefit to the Commonwealth. It seems only fair that some economic benefit should be derived by this great State in which the military or naval installations is situate; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recommend to the Secretary of Defense, Charles Wilson, that rules or regulations be promulgated requiring each military or naval establishment within this Commonwealth to stock and sell, along with other brands, at least two brands of Pennsylvania-brewed or malt beverages, or if the Secretary of Defense has no authority to require such sale, that the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact appropriate legislation requiring the sale of at least two brands of Pennsylvania-brewed or malt beverages at such installations, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Defense, Charles Wilson, to the presiding officers of each house of Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1955. No. 104.

SENATE

MONDAY, November 14, 1955.

The Senate met at 3:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev.-Father MATTHEW A. YANOSEK, Pastor of Holy Trinity Church, Ford City, offered the following prayer:

In the Name of the Father, of the Son and the Holy Spirit.

Eternal and Everlasting God, our Heavenly Father, pour forth we beseech Thee Thy graces into all hearts this day, that the Members of the Senate, chosen by the people of this Commonwealth, may have open minds to know the right. Deepen their wisdom and awaken in them a desire to act for the common welfare of the people they represent.

We humbly beg Thee that through Thy grace they may be permitted to serve Thee before they serve themselves, and find the blessed place above parties and personalities in the performance of their duties.

Bless the Governor, his Cabinet and officers, as well as all who in any way affect the lives of the people of this Commonwealth. Grant them those lights and graces that are necessary for the perfect discharge of their duty to Thee and to the people, through Christ our Lord, Amen.

In the Name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. CHAPMAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1955. This transfers from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of State duties imposed by the Act of May 13, 1925, P. L. 644, as amended. This measure relates to the issuance of certificates to parties who solicit for charitable purposes.

This transfer of functions is a step in the direction of freeing the over-burdened Department of Public Instruction from responsibilities which are not directly related to schools and education. At the same time this transfer is a step toward the concentration of widely-dispersed licensing activities in one of the smaller departments—the Department of State. Because, I believe, the transfer will make for more efficient and economical operation of State government I urge its favorable consideration by the General Assembly.

GEORGE M. LEADER
Governor

Date: November 14, 1955.

Transmitted to the General Assembly on November 14, 1955.

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 2 OF 1955.

Section 1. The functions of the Department of Public Instruction as set forth in the Act of May 13, 1925, P. L. 644, and its amendments, are transferred from the department to the Department of State.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of State to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions transferred by Section 1 of this Reorganization Plan the records and equipment now being used or held in connection with such functions; and the unexpended balances of appropriations or other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions.

Section 3. The Act of May 13, 1925, P. L. 644, as amended, is suspended in so far as it is in conflict with this Reorganization Plan.

RESOLUTION

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

RESOLUTION

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority invested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1955. This measure transfers the functions, powers, and duties of the State Board of Funeral Directors from the Department of Health to the Department of State.

The transfer recommended is a step in the direction of freeing the Department of Health from duties which are not directly related to its principal purposes. At the same time it is a step toward concentrating widely-dispersed licensing activities in one department—the Department of State. Because I believe this transfer will make for more efficient and economical operation of State government and consolidate functions as nearly as may be according to major purposes, I recommend its approval by the General Assembly.

GEORGE M. LEADER
Governor.

Dated: November 14, 1955.

Transmitted to the General
Assembly on November 14, 1955.

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 3 OF 1955.

Section 1. The State Board of Undertakers, renamed the State Board of Funeral Directors by the Act of January 14, 1952, P. L. 1898, together with its functions, powers and duties, is transferred from the Department of Health, where it has been a departmental administrative board, to the Department of State, where it shall be a departmental administrative board, with the same status under the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, as that of departmental administrative boards.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of State, to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions transferred by Section 1 of this Reorganization Plan, the records, equipment and personnel now being used, held or employed in connection with such functions; and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions.

Section 3. The functions of the Secretary of Health, under Section 419 of The Administrative Code of 1929, and its amendments, are transferred to and shall be exercised by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Section 4. The functions of the Department of Health, under the Act of January 14, 1952, P. L. 1898, known as the "Funeral Director Law" and its amendments, are transferred to and shall be exercised by the Department of State.

Section 5. The following acts and parts of acts are suspended as particularly set forth:

The Act of January 14, 1952, P. L. 1898, known as the "Funeral Director Law," and its amendments, in so far as they are in conflict with this Reorganization Plan.

Section 202 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, in so far as it affects the location of the State Board of Undertakers, renamed the State Board of Funeral Directors by the Act of January 14, 1952, P. L. 1898, in the Department of Health.

Section 419 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, in so far as it imposes functions, powers and duties on the Secretary of Health, and in so far as the name "State Board of Undertakers" is concerned.

Section 2112 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, in so far as the name "State Board of Undertakers" is concerned.

RESOLUTION

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by refernce, be approved.

RESOLUTION

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 4 of 1955. This plan transfers the following boards, and their powers, functions, and duties, from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of State:

State Board of Medical Examination and Licensure
State Board of Pharmacy
State Dental Council and Examining Board
State Board of Optometrical Examiners
State Board of Osteopathic Examiners
Osteopathic Surgeons' Examining Board
State Board of Nurse Examiners
State Board of Barber Examiners
State Board of Cosmetology
State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners
State Board of Examination of Public Accountants
State Board of Examiners of Architects
State Registration Board for Professional Engineers
State Board of Chiropractic Examiners
State Real Estate Commission

The transfer of these boards from the overburdened Department of Public Instruction is a step in the direction of freeing the department from functions which are not directly related to schools and education. At the same time it is a step toward concentrating widely-dispersed licensing activities in one department—the Department of State, thus grouping and consolidating agencies as nearly as may be according to major purposes. Because I believe these transfers will make for more efficient and economical operation of State government, I recommend their approval by the General Assembly.

GEORGE M. LEADER
Governor.

Dated: November 14, 1955.

Transmitted to the General Assembly on November 14 1955.

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 4 OF 1955.

Section 1. Certain agencies and functions of the Department of Public Instruction are transferred from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of State as herein provided.

Section 2. The State Board of Medical Examination and Licensure, the State Board of Pharmacy, the State Dental Council and Examining Board, the State Board of Optometrical Examiners, the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners, the Osteopathic Surgeons' Examining Board, the State Board of Nurse Examiners, the State Board of Barber Examiners, the State Board of Cosmetology, the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners, the State Board of Examination of Public Accountants, the State Board of Examiners of Architects, the State Registration Board for Professional Engineers, the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners, the State Real Estate Commission, and the powers and duties vested in and imposed upon them by law, are transferred from the Department of Public Instruction where the above boards have been departmental administrative boards and commissions, to the Department of State, where the boards shall be departmental administrative boards and commissions, with the same status under the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, as that of departmental administrative boards and commissions.

Section 3. The functions of the Superintendent of Public Instruction under Sections 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 420, 421, 422, 425, 453, 459, 461 and 462 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, are transferred to and shall be exercised by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Section 4. The following functions, powers and duties vested in the Department of Public Instruction under clauses (e), (g) (h), (i), (j), (k) and (l) of Section 1304, and Section 1304.1 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and their amendments, are transferred and vested in the Department of State:

(1) To establish reciprocity with other states as regards professional licenses issued by the department.

(2) To keep the records of all of the professional examining boards established in the department in the City of Harrisburg, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania.

(3) To issue all certificates and other official documents of the various professional examining boards in the department. The officers and members, or any of them, of any such examining board, may also sign such certificates and other documents, if the board shall have taken action authorizing such signatures.

(4) To assist any professional examining board within the department, if, as and when, requested by the board.

(5) To cooperate with the several professions whose examining bodies are within the department, in the determination and establishment of standards for professional education.

(6) Whenever under any Act of Assembly, enacted at the Session of the General Assembly at which this Reorganization Plan was effected, or at any subsequent Session of the General Assembly, the right to practice any profession or work at any trade or occupation, shall be conditioned upon examination, licensure, or registration by or within the department, unless otherwise provided by law, to hold the examinations, make such investigations, require such information, and do and perform all other acts which may be necessary to determine whether applicants for licensure or registration are qualified to practice the profession or work at the trade or occupation within this Commonwealth and in proper cases to issue licenses and certificates of registration. In performing its duties under this clause, the department shall appoint an advisory committee, of not more than five members, of each profession, trade, or occupation, applicants to practice or work at which are examined and licensed hereunder. Each such committee shall assist the department in holding examinations, and passing upon information submitted. Members of every advisory committee, appointed by the department under the authority hereby conferred, shall serve at the pleasure of the department, and shall be compensated at the rate of fifteen dollars per diem for each day of service rendered to the department, and shall receive the expenses actually incurred by them while engaged in assisting the department, as herein provided, the payment of such expenses, however, to be subject to the rules and regulations of the Executive Board.

(7) Unless otherwise provided by law, to fix the fees to be charged by the several professional examining boards within the department.

(8) If any person, association, copartnership, or corporation shall obtain a certificate, license, permit, or registration by fraud or misrepresentation, from the Department of State or the responsible administrative agency, board, or commission therein, such department, administrative agency, board, or commission shall have the power to cancel such certificate, license, permit, or registration, after giving reasonable notice and opportunity to be heard.

Section 5. There are hereby transferred to the Department of State, to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions, powers and duties transferred by this Reorganization Plan, the records, equipment and personnel now being used, held or employed in connection with such functions, powers and duties; and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions, powers or duties.

Section 6. (a) The following acts and parts of acts are suspended in so far as they are in conflict with the provisions of this Reorganization Plan:

(1) The Act of March 19, 1909, P. L. 46, entitled "An act to regulate the practice of osteopathy in the State of Pennsylvania; to provide for the establishment of a State Board of Osteopathic Examiners; to define the powers and duties of said Board of Osteopathic Examiners; to provide for the examining and licensing of osteopaths in this State; and to provide penalties for the violation of this act," and its amendments.

(2) The Act of June 3, 1911, P. L. 639, entitled, as amended "An act relating to the right to practice medicine and surgery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and providing a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure as a bureau of the Department of Public Instruction, and means and methods whereby the right to practice medicine and surgery and any of its branches may be obtained, and exemptions therefrom; and providing for an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act, and providing for revocation and suspension of licenses by said bureau; and providing penalties for violation thereof, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," and its amendments.

(3) The Act of March 30, 1917, P. L. 21, entitled "An act defining optometry; and relating to the right to practice optometry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and making certain exceptions; and providing a Board of Optometrical Education, Examination and Licensure, and means and methods whereby the right to practice optometry may be obtained; and providing for the means to carry out the provisions of this act; and providing for revocation or suspension of licenses given by said board, and providing penalties for violations thereof; and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," and its amendments.

(4) The Act of May 17, 1917, P. L. 208, entitled "An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs, and providing penalties for the violation thereof; defining the words "drug" and "poison"; and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law, and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law; and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality, strength and purity," and its amendments.

(5) The Act of July 12, 1919, P. L. 933, entitled "An act to regulate the practice of architecture in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for the examination and registration of architects by a State Board of Examiners; defining the powers and duties of said board of examiners; and providing penalties for the violation of this act," and its amendments.

(6) The Act of May 13, 1927, P. L. 988, entitled "An act providing for and regulating the State registration of nurses and licensed attendants, the annual recording of registration certificates; and regulating the profession of nursing; and repealing certain existing laws," and its amendments.

(7) The Act of May 1, 1929, P. L. 1216, known as the "Real Estate Brokers License Act of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine," and its amendments.

(8) The Act of June 19, 1931, P. L. 589, entitled, as amended "An act to promote the public health and safety, by providing for the examination and licensure of those who desire to engage in the occupation of barbering; regulating barber shops and barber schools and apprentices and students therein; regulating compensation for services rendered; conferring certain powers and duties on the Department of Public Instruction; and providing penalties," and its amendments.

(9) The Act of May 1, 1933, P. L. 216, known as "The Dental Law," and its amendments.

(10) The Act of May 3, 1933, P. L. 242, entitled "An act to promote the public health and safety by providing for examination and registration of those who desire to engage in the occupation of beauty culture; defining beauty culture, and regulating beauty culture shops, schools, students, apprentices, teachers, managers and operators; conferring powers and duties upon the Department of Public Instruction; providing for appeals to certain courts by applicants and licensees; and providing penalties," and its amendments

(11) The Act of April 27, 1945, P. L. 321, known as "The Veterinary Law."

(12) The Act of May 23, 1945, P. L. 913, known as the "Professional Engineers Registration Law."

(13) The Act of May 26, 1947, P. L. 318, known as "The C. P. A. Law," and its amendments.

(14) The Act of May 22, 1951, P. L. 317, known as "The Professional Nursing Law."

(15) The Act of August 10, 1951, P. L. 1182, known as the "Chiropractic Registration Act of 1951," and its amendments.

(16) Clauses (e), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k) and (l) of Section 1304 and Sections 1304.1 and 1310 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and their amendments.

(b) The following acts and parts of acts are suspended as particularly set forth:

(1) Section 202 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, as it effects the location of the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure, the State Board of Pharmacy, the State Dental Council and Examining Board, the State Board of Optometrical Examiners, the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners, the Osteopathic Surgeons' Examining Board, the State Board of Nurse Examiners, the State Board of Barber Examiners, the State Board of Cosmetology, the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners, the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners, the State Board for the Examination of Public Accountants, the State Board of Examiners of Architects, and the State Registration Board for Professional Engineers, in the Department of Public Instruction.

(2) Sections 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 420, 421, 422, 425, 459, 461 and 462 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and their amendments, in so far as they impose functions, powers and duties on the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

RESOLUTION

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 4 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

RESOLUTION

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 4 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1955. This transfers from the Department of Welfare to the Department of Justice the supervision, visiting, and inspection of prisons and jails maintained by counties, cities, boroughs and townships.

This transfer is intended to complete the action begun in 1953 when responsibility for State prisons was transferred from the Department of Welfare to the Department of Justice. The transfer now recommended will place the Commonwealth's responsibility for all matters relating to prisons, in one agency—the Department of Justice. In my opinion this will result in improved administration, efficiency and economy, and will coordinate and consolidate agencies and functions of the government as nearly as may be according to major purposes. Accordingly, I recommend favorable consideration of the transfer by the General Assembly.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

Dated: November 14, 1955.

Transmitted to the General
Assembly on November 14, 1955.

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 5 OF 1955.

Section 1. The functions, powers and duties of the Department of Welfare with regard to the supervision, visiting and inspection of prisons and jails maintained by counties, cities, boroughs or townships, as set forth in clause (b) of Section 2303, and Sections 2304 and 2305 of The Administration Code of 1929, and their amendments, are transferred to the Department of Justice.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of Justice to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions, powers and duties transferred by Section 1 of this Reorganization Plan, personnel, contract obligations, if any, records, files, property, supplies and equipment now being used or held in connection with such functions, powers and duties, and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions, powers and duties.

Section 3. Clause (b) of Section 2303, and Sections 2304 and 2305 of The Administrative Code of 1929, and their amendments, are suspended in so far as they may confer functions, powers and duties on the Depratment of Welfare with regard to the supervision, visiting and inspection of prisons and jails maintained by counties, cities, boroughs or townships.

Section 4. All the duties and responsibilities of the Department of Welfare set forth in the Act of April 5, 1872, P. L. 42, are hereby transferred to the Department of Justice and the provisions of said act are hereby suspended in so far as they confer powers and duties on the Department of Welfare.

RESOLUTION

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

RESOLUTION

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

The PRESIDENT. Reorganization Plan Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5 will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

Messrs. FLACK and WAGNER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 819, entitled:

An Act subjecting housing projects to taxation for school purposes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, we have in Pennsylvania today a fairly heavy cigarette tax. It has been raised from four to five cents. However, few of us realize that this tax, paid by the consumer, is not deductible from his income tax, like the gasoline tax or other State taxes paid to the State of Pennsylvania.

Ordinarily, Mr. President, that may seem like a small item, but when I look at Governor Leader's budget and I see that for the biennium of 1955-1957, the expected collection on this tax at four cents per package is $87,500,000. At five cents it will approximate $110,000,000 and the consumers, the people of Pennsylvania, cannot deduct this $110,000,000 from their respective returns for Federal Income Tax purposes. When I saw that, Mr. President, I thought it was time that we amend our act so as to make the cigarette tax a direct tax on the consumer and deductible by the consumer. That is exactly what was done in Massachusetts during the Session of 1953.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am presenting this bill.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SILVERT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 820, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 14, 1935 (P. L. 341), entitled, as amended, "Cigarette Tax Act" declaring the taxes to be a levy on the consumers, and imposing duties on dealers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I am about to introduce now six bills, all dealing with the preservation of our priceless historical heritage in Pennsylvania. These bills cover a variety of subjects such as the reprinting of the now rare volumes on the Pennsylvania Frontier Forts, the publication of an Atlas of Historical Maps in Pennsylvania, a bill providing for State and Federal cooperation between the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission with the National Park Service and several other bills. But I desire to especially direct the attention of the Senate to the bill dealing with the Mikveh Israel Cemetery, on Spruce Street in Philadelphia, which authorizes the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to accept same on behalf of the Commonwealth and provide for its restoration and maintenance as an historical shrine. I have used a novel method in drafting this bill, by embodying therein, in a brief outline, the names of great American patriots and pioneers of Hebrew descent who are buried on that cemetery, instead of limiting myself to the usual dry and perfunctory provisions and language of a typical appropriation bill.

Mikveh Israel Cemetery has been in a condition of disrepair and abandonment for many years. Vandals have gradually demolished its fences and upset the tombstones that bear the inscriptions of great and priceless significance.

At this puncture, I want to pay tribute to a great communal newspaper in Philadelphia, The Jewish Times, published by Mrs. Esther Klein, wife and co-worker of one of our towering citizens in Pennsylvania, Mr. Philip Klein, now President of the Harcum Junior College. It was their initiative, as well as the trenchant and facile pen of its editor, Jeff Keen, that initiated in the past a series of thought-provoking articles about the dilapidating historical writing, the City Council of Philadelphia passed an ordinance declaring the Mikveh Israel Cemetery as a City Shrine, but providing no funds for adequate restoration and maintenance, that such a shrine would require.

Subsequently, four of Philadelphia's Congressmen, namely Hugh Scott, Earl Chudoff, James A. Byrne and William Granahan, have introduced bills in Congress calling for the restoration and maintenance of the Mikveh Israel Cemetery as a National Shrine. The four bills were doomed to the "pickling vats" in the Congressional Committee to which they were sent for consideration.

Now it is our chance to strike a blow, and an effective one, by succeeding where others failed. I am sure that favorable action on the bill will inure to the glory of Pennsylvania, and that the modest appropriation of $5,000 for the next biennium will go a long way in enriching our historical City of Brotherly Love, already abounding with Colonial sites and structures.

I am now working on a bill which will provide for the creation in Philadelphia of a vast Colonial Compound, under the joint auspices of the State of Pennsylvania and the Federal Government, that will once and for all restore to Philadelphia its leadership in assembling colonial exhibits and presenting them to the people of the United States in a light that they richly deserve. The Mikveh Israel State Shrine will thus be a part of that Colonial Compound. I pray for speedy and favorable action on the bill, and hope to see its final passage both in the Senate and the House by the middle of December prior to the eventual adjournment of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania about Christmas time.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 821, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to accept on behalf of the Commonwealth certain real estate comprising the Crispin Cemetery in Philadelphia; providing for its restoration and maintenance as an historic shrine and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 822, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to prepare, edit and publish a Historical Atlas of Early Pennsylvania; providing for the sale and distribution thereof and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 823, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to accept on behalf of the Commonwealth certain real estate comprising the Mikveh Israel Cemetery on Spruce Street in Philadelphia; providing for its restoration and maintenance as an historic shrine; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 824, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to cooperate in historical projects with the National Park Service or other agencies of the United States government and empowering the Commission to enter into formal compacts, contracts or agreements for carrying out such projects.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 825, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to appoint a county historian in each county of the Commonwealth not having a historical society; providing in certain cases for compensation expenses and office space for the county historians and outlining their duties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 826, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to edit, illustrate and publish its new report on the Frontier Forts of Pennsylvania; providing for the distribution and sale thereof and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. SEYLER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 827, entitled:

An Act providing for the calling of a convention to propose a revision or amendments of the Constitution of Pennsylvania with certain limitations, the nomination and election of delegates thereto and the submission of the work of the convention to the voters for approval or rejection.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Mr. YOSKO read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 828, entitled:

An Act requiring owners and lessees of land on which there are abandoned excavations to fill in or fence the same, to prevent persons falling therein; prescribing penalties; imposing duties on cities, boroughs, towns and townships.

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 571), entitled as amended "The Fourth to Eighth Class County Assessment Law," requiring notice of changes in property valuations be given to political subdivisions in which the properties are located.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 831, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 26, 1931 (P. L. 1379), entitled "An act creating in counties of the third class a board for the assessment and revision of taxes; . . .," requiring notice of changes in property valuations be given to political subdivisions in which the properties are located.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 832, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 22, 1933 (P. L. 853), entitled "The General County Assessment Law," requiring notice of changes in property valuatoins be given to political subdivisions in which the properties are located.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. MALLERY, STEVENSON and HALUSKA read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 833, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Code," authoribing townships to improve public streets or roads without petition and collect the costs thereof from owners of abutting properties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

DELEGATES OF PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not know what either political party in Pennsylvania would do if they did not have the ladies to help them out.

This week in Harrisburg, Mr. President, the Republicans have the privilege and honor of having the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women attending their convention. I note that around the hall of the Senate there are some of the delegates of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women present. I would like to introduce them to the Chair and to the Senate at this time, and have the Chair welcome them to the hall of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is very happy, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, to welcome these distinguished visitors. We hope that you will enjoy your visit with us.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, my statement today has to do with Senate Bill No. 403, Printer's No. 142.

Senate Bill No. 403, as you know, is legislation which, if passed, would permit those who now participate in retirement systems in Pennsylvania to also participate under the provisions of our Social Security Act.

Mr. President, I want to explain to the Members of the Senate, and the public at large, that the reason this bill is being held on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar is because there is a subcommittee working at the present time on amendments in order to make this bill feasible. There is no political party holding up this legislation. We are holding it up so that we can have the necessary amendments prepared, and we are now working with actuaries from the Wharton School of Finance, we are working with the Attorney General's Office and we are also working with a representative of the Governor's Office. We are hoping that we can have this legislation in order within the next two or three weeks. However, I want the Membership to know here and now that before this legislation will be practical or feasible, we must amend every retirement system in Pennsylvania and that will mean that we will have to have ten or twelve separate pieces of legislation passed in a package.

It is my understanding that the actuaries from the Wharton School of Finance are now preparing this legislation, which we hope to have in order within the next two or three weeks. Now the membership of that subcommittee consists of Senator McMenamin, Senator Scott and myself. I hope, if Senator McMenamin gets in here tomorrow, that we will be able to do some work. We must do everything possible to get this passed, as a number of political subdivisions have already deducted contributions from the employees and they are holding these funds in escrow. Unless we pass this legislation at this session, those employees will probably lose the benefit of four calendar quarters of Social Security.

Mr. President, my purpose in making this statement is to clarify the reasons why this bill is being held on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, a situation exists today in Philadelphia, one in which this body had a large hand in creating and one in which this body can bring about a successful solution.

A hospital was completed in Philadelphia last November. This hospital was to open for operation in December. It is now almost December again, and that hospital is still not opened. The hospital is the Mercy-Douglas Hospital, located almost in the center of Philadelphia, which contains 238 beds that are standing idle. The hospital is completely equipped and there is even a staff ready to staff this hospital and operate it. The problem is that there is no money to provide for coal in order to operate this hospital. One hundred and ten of the beds in the hospital are dedicated to the mental health program, to which all parties, including the city, the State, and private organizations who are interested in this type of work are committed to carry on.

Mr. President, under what theory this hospital was built, I do not understand because it was a private organization. The State went ahead and put the money into this building program at the cost of $3,000,000 and built this hospital. It is now a beautiful edifice, complete with all of the equipment which is necessary to operate this hospital. Each day that we wait to open this hospital causes us to lose another member of the staff, another nurse or another technician because these people cannot wait indefinitely to be employed in a project which seems, at the moment, never to come to fruition.

Mr. President, I would also like to point out to the Members of this body that it is one of the first hospitals in the State to operate an integrated program. The Mercy-Douglas Hospital originally was a completely Negro hospital. It will not be operated that way any longer. It will be nonsectarian and it will be the first time an integrated staff of both Negro and white doctors will operate together. The University of Pennsylvania has provided a large staff and also has made a study of the program, which indicates it could be operated successfully. However, as time goes on and as we wait, nothing will happen other than that the staff will disappear, the University will lose interest and then on the day that this hospital is to open there will be no one to operate it successfully.

There is a bill at present over here which could implement this beautiful building and the equipment therein. It is up to the committee and this body to act, and to act quickly, to get this hospital into operation.

Mr. President, this hospital used to receive an appropriation of $200,000 based on eighty-three beds. Simple arithmetic will show you that the $880,000 they are asking for today, and which is provided for in the bill, is certainly not adequate to run the hospital, but it certainly would be a quick way of getting it started and having it fulfill the function for which it was built.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I realize that the Republican women are meeting in Harrisburg today and that perhaps the gentlemen on the other side would like to go to the dinner this evening. I also understand that there is a dinner over in Hershey, in which the gentlemen on the other side will participate and for that reason they would like to recess this session as early as possible, and I would like to cooperate with him. However, there is another important situation facing Pennsylvania which I think should be called to the attention of the gentlemen on the other side and for that reason I rise.

I understand that there are going to be committee meetings tomorrow morning and I hope that at the Appropriations Committee meeting, bills will be reported out to take care of the 186 medical-surgical hospitals throughout Pennsylvania. I am reliably informed that a crisis exists in these hospitals. These 186 hospitals are community hospitals. They are supported by appropriations from cities, boroughs, townships, and counties, by community chests and by private endowment. The State also makes an appropriation to these hospitals for the indigent who are served every day. The last payment that was made to these hospitals was for the period ended May 31, 1955. The first quarterly payment for the current biennium was due on August 31, 1955 and the second quarterly payment will be due at the end of this month. Neither one of these payments have been made.

I understand that because of this nonpayment, many of these hospitals are in financial distress, many of these hospitals because of their financial condition have been compelled to go out and borrow funds in order to operate, and interest must be paid on these funds which are borrowed. Other hospitals which have not resorted to loans have deferred payments on obligations and as a result numerous creditors must wait for their money.

Mr. President, $24,000,000 has been recommended in the Leader budget to take care of these hospitals for the biennium. If the gentlemen on the other side do not want to go along with reporting out a bill for the entire $24,000,000 at this time, the least they could do tomorrow is to report out an appropriation bill to take care of the two quarterly payments; the one which is past due and the one which will become due at the end of this month, so that these hospitals could continue to treat the indigent throughout Pennsylvania.

In contrast, Mr. President, I want to point out that we have sixteen other medical-surgical hospitals in Pennsylvania and they are located in only about seven counties. They are financed wholly by State funds. These sixteen hospitals apparently are not suffering because appropriations to these hospitals are funneled directly by the Department of Welfare. Therefore, I think that it is only fair that the 186 hospitals which are supported in part by the local communities should be taken care of financially by the State through the State appropriation.

I want to observe, too, that the Republican women are meeting in convention here. It might be a good idea for them to take cognizance of the situation affecting these hospitals. If the gentlemen on the other side, through apparent lack of leadership and consideration for the financial condition of these hospitals, are remiss in their duty, I would suggest that the Republican women pass a resolution before they adjourn urging immediate action.

MR. STIEFEL. Mr. President, gentlemen of the Senate, I have already stated heretofore during numerous remarks that that part of the daily agenda in the Senate of Pennsylvania known as "Petitions and Remonstrances" should be changed so as to read "Petitions, Remonstrances and Commendations," since after all not always do we remonstrate. Sometimes we may also commend and voice before this august body our approbation of the attainments on the part of Pennsylvanian's great sons and leaders.

Today it is my signal honor and singular pleasure to pay tribute to a great American and towering Pennsylvania statesman, administrator and political leader. In doing so, it is not my desire to rehash the political battles of last week that culminated in a glorious Democratic Victory in Philadelphia. All I want to do is to present to the Membership of the Senate our new Mayor-elect, the Honorable Richardson Dilworth. The name of Richardson Dilworth is known throughout the length and breadth of Pennsylvania from Beaver to Wayne and from Warren to York. But I feel it is appropriate at this time to have spread over the Legislative Journal a brief biography of our Mayor-elect, even if it is a sketchy one.

Because of Mr. Dilworth's modesty, only few people know that the origins of his family are so deeply rooted in the soil of Pennsylvania that they go back to the end of the Seventeenth and the beginning of the Eighteenth Century. I am sure that it will be of great and commanding interest for the people of Pennsylvania to know that Mr. Dilworth's forfathers founded in 1709 the Conshohocken Iron Foundry, which is today's Alan Wood Steel Co. Dilworth has worked in the mill and the oil fields. A one-time New Dealer, he has long been a "good government" advocate, teaming with outgoing Mayor Joseph S. Clark, Jr., to win as City Treasurer and later as District Attorney in previous elections.

The man who will direct Philadelphia's governmental affairs until 1959 polled in an off-year election 420,099 votes to the Republican candidate's 287,644.

Mayor-elect Dilworth was no stranger to the Philadelphia campaign scene. He was a familiar street-corner orator in 1947 when he lost this same office by 92,000 votes, and again when he lost to Judge John Fine for Governor in 1950. At 57, Dilworth has been through the political mill, as his campaign indicated.

Dilworth was a Marine in two wars, a courageous leader on combat fields as he has been along political fronts. He was wounded in France in the First World War, but this did not prevent his resuming football and rowing when he returned to Yale.

The Legislative Journal of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania is to each and every member of the Legislative, what the Romans used to call a "Vade Mecum"—they always counsult it and pay their undivided attention to its contents. And, for that reason, I feel that the insertion of Mr. Dilworth's biography in the Legislative Journal will be of great service to my colleagues. After all they should know all about our "Knight in Shining Armor" on Philadelphia's political scene. The success of his ever-ascending leadership is only a prologue to fascinating chapters that will no doubt follow in the near future.

Mr. President, at this juncture I would like also to have inserted in the Legislative Journal the masterful speech delivered by our Mayor-elect before the assemblage of the Greater Philadelphia Movement at the Bellevue-Strattford Hotel during the closing days of our recent mayoralty campaign. I feel it is a great document to be read and reread by each and everyone of us since it reflects the philosophy of a great statesman, capable and experienced administrator and political scientists par excellence.

Mr. President I move that both Mr. Dilworth's short biography and his aforesaid speech be spread over the pages of the Legislative Journal.

The PRESIDENT. The material requested by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

> Richardson Dilworth was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on August 29, 1898. His family on both his mother's and father's side has long been prominent in Pennsylvania. On his father's side, his great, great grandfather settled in Lancaster County in 1750, and his great grandfather moved to Pittsburgh in 1790, and was one of the pioneers who helped develop the city. On his mother's side, his great, great, great grandfather settled in Philadelphia in 1690, and in 1709 built the iron foundry in Conshohocken which today is the Alan Wood Steel Company.
> He attended St. Mark's School, Southborough, Massachusetts, from 1911 to 1917. He graduated from Yale University in 1921, where he was on the crew and football teams. He worked a year and a half in a steel mill and in the Oklahoma oil fields, and then entered the Yale Law School. In 1926 he graduated from Yale University Law School, cum laude, and an editor of the Law Review.
> Dilworth served a total of five years in the Marine Corps during World Wars I and II, and has been awarded the Purple Heart, the Silver Star, and a Presidential Unit Citation. He now holds the reserve Corps rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

In the First World War, Dilworth was in the 6th Regiment of the Marine Corps Brigade, having enlisted as a Private. He was in the Belleau Woods Campaign, and in the Soissons offensive, being severely wounded in the latter.

In the Second World War Dilworth was commissioned a Captain and served with the First Marine Division in the Guadalcanal campaign and later in the Russell Islands campaign. It was for the Guadalcanal campaign that he was awarded the Silver Star and the Presidential Unit Citation.

Dilworth has always been a Democrat and became actively interested in Democratic politics in 1928 when he stumped Philadelphia for Al Smith. In 1947, he ran for Mayor of Philadelphia, where a Democratic Mayor had not been elected since 1881, and was defeated by a majority of 92,000.

However, in 1949, in the first real defeat administered the Republican City Hall machine, Dilworth turned the tables and was elected to the office of City Treasurer by a majority of 112,000.

In 1950 Dilworth was defeated, but polled almost 49% of the more than 3,500,000 votes cast, when he was Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. He carried Philadelphia by 77,000 votes. He was the first Democratic candidate for Governor to carry Philadelphia.

In 1951 Dilworth was elected District Attorney of Philadelphia when a Democratic administration was swept into office by a majority of 122,000. This was the first time in over 67 years that the Democratic Party was triumphant in a Mayoralty election.

Dilworth presently is the Democratic candidate for Mayor of Philadelphia.

Richardson Dilworth is married, and has six children and two stepchildren. He has been a resident of Philadelphia since 1926, and is a member of the law firm of Dilworth, Paxson, Kalish & Green. He specializes in trial law. He resides at 2217 St. James Street.

RICHARDSON DILWORTH—SPEECH DELIVERED AT GREATER PHILADELPHIA MOVEMENT DINNER, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1955

I do not think I have to persuade anyone listening tonight that in 1951 the government of our City was in a sorry state of decay, incompetence and corruption.

Similarly, I do not think I have to persuade anyone here that our Democratic administration, under the splendid leadership of Mayor Clark, has wrought great accomplishments and improvements in the standard and spirit of the government of our City.

I am also certain you all realize how important it is that there be a continuity of that good government so that its roots may have an opportunity to grow so deep that no one can easily rip them out.

We all know that at the municipal level the weakness of reform has always been its lack of continuity. The old discredited political machines have all too often forced their way back into power before continuity of good government could be achieved. The Democratic candidates ask for an opportunity to establish such continuity.

Tonight I want to discuss the major problems which will confront the next administration, and what we propose to do to solve them.

The first problem is the budget and taxes.

It is proper to remind this audience that we have increased no taxes, but we added two new taxes in 1953. This is the only change we have made in the tax structure, and we shall continue to hold the line in 1956. The first of the two new taxes is the three-mill Mercantile License Tax; the second is the Real Estate Transfer Tax. These two taxes together bring in close to $18,000,000 a year. Improved business, plus honest and efficient tax collection, which we never had before, have added another $6,000,000 a year to our revenues. So today, we have a little over $24,000,000 a year more to spend from the general fund than in 1952, when we took office.

When our opponents so loosely claim that we have $70,000,000 a year in added taxes and revenues, they start with the general fund as it stood before we came into office, and then add to it water, sewage and annual capital expenditures to come up with the purely imaginary figure of $70,000,000. The fact is that today we have in the general fund approximately $24,000,000 more a year to spend than we did in the first year we took office. That money has been spent and is being spent to rehabilitate the plant and improve the services of the City. It is money we had to spend, and it has been well spent.

Our present tax structure is the best which can be devised for a city of the first-class under the limitations imposed by our State law.

The budget which Mayor Clark has presented for 1956 is described in an editorial in the Evening Bulletin as "a far cry from the years when the City had to short-change maintenance funds to come out anywhere near even. Equipment then was allowed to deteriorate and even essential services were curtailed or abandoned."

Or, as an editorial in the Philadelphia Inquirer put it, "After years of deficit financing, or budgets that were strangers to reality, Philadelphia has benefitted in the past four years from a return to sound budget-making. Mayor Clark will turn over to his successor a soundly-financed City."

I think that is an accurate description of the budget for 1956. And, as Mayor Clark stated in his budget message, it will give the new administration 12 months in which to make up its mind whether to maintain and improve the present level of services—which will probably require an increase in taxes—or bring to a halt the entire improvement program. I, for one, am convinced we must go ahead, and that we have the resources with which to do it.

As to the budget for capital improvements, that, in my opinion, is also completely sound. In fact, it has been cut back as far as is possible without endangering vitally-needed improvements.

The limitations our administration has placed upon the capital improvement program make it sound. Bonds are no longer issued for more than 25 years for tax-supported loans, and all operating costs are paid out of current revenue. There is no longer any borrowing from the capital funds to balance the budget.

What's more, no loans are made for any item which does not have a useful life expectation of at least five years. In the old administration they used to even float loans for the purchase of automobiles. I think the policy of paying out of current revenue 5% of the cost of all capital improvements which are not self-liquidating, is an excellent one. There should always be a down payment, just as there is in any kind of installment purchase.

I am also heartily in accord with the rule we have maintained that in no year should the City commit its own credit in non self-liquidating loans for more than $20,000,000 and we should never let the total annual cost of carrying our capital improvement program exceed 20% of the budget.

I do not think any big city has a sounder capital financing program than this, and we intend to maintain it on that basis.

That brings us to the problem of traffic and transportation.

We are cursed with streets planned and laid out some 270 years ago, combined with years upon years of neglect. The result is that today, traffic-wise, Philadelphia is a congested tangle of narrow streets. Nowhere is this more apparent than in the heart of the City. Every working day three-quarters of a million people pour into the two square miles which make up our principal business, shopping, hotel and amusement district. Then, at the end of the day, they pour out again. That makes a million and a half people a day.

To further complicate matters, the automobile and truck traffic in the City has almost doubled in the past ten years, and the people using public transportation have dropped off by 30%. This has, of course, resulted in a crisis in the affairs of the transit company, and has greatly added to our already serious traffic problem.

We have created a first rate traffic engineer's office under the direction of Stephen Buterfield, and have furnished him with a competent staff. The Urban Traffic and Transportation Board, appointed by Mayor Clark, is composed of the leading men in that field in this City, and will submit its over-all recommendations before the end of this year. There is no doubt in my mind that we are going to have to take drastic steps to improve our traffic and transportation problems in the City, and that considerable money is going to have to be spent by the State, by the City and by surrounding Counties in a cooperative effort to better this situation. We must get the cooperation and help, not only of the State, but also of the surrounding Counties in solving the problem, for it means just as much to them as it does to the City of Philadelphia, and the City simply does not have the resources to tackle so vast a project by itself.

By and large what must be done is to bring throughways and turnpikes into the City from the north, the west, the south and the east, which will encircle our two square miles of center city, and there establish mass parking facilities. The plans for this are complete. The problem now is the financing of these projects by the State and the City, it being perfectly apparent the State will have to put up approximaely 90% of the funds. But, this will only take care of half of the problem. Equally important, we must get people out of so many automobiles, and back into the use of mass transportation.

In order to do that, our mass transportation must be speedy, more convenient, with better service, modern equipment, and at a reasonable fare. That is a very large order, but if we do not achieve it, we will never solve our traffic problem. And, our center city will not only cease to grow it will be in serious danger of disappearing.

I am convinced the furnishing of mass transportation is today as much a responsibility of city government as is the furnishing of water.

It is our sincere desire to do it under private management, and as you know, the present contract between the PTC and the City expires in 1957. It is hoped it can be renewed on a basis which will achieve what we must accomplish. That is, on a basis which will bring people back to the use of mass transportation. If such a result cannot be achieved under private operation, then the City will have to resort to some authority type of operation such as is in effect in so many of our large cities.

And this brings us to the problem of planning.

Unfortunately, nearly all of our large cities have grown up like Topsy, and now we are reaping the terrible consequences.

Every big city in the United States is today actually faced with the problem of survival, for in every large city business and families with rising incomes are moving in increasing numbers to the suburbs. What started this is, of course, the automobile and other forms of rapid transportation and communication.

But the governments of large cities have been much to blame. They have completely failed to grasp the 20th Century concept of the big city and its functions.

Today comprehensive urban planning is essential and we must appropriate sufficient money, which will probably be a sum in excess of $100,000, so that the Planning Commission can rapidly complete its work on a comprehensive plan which will take stock of what we have, where we want to go, how far we can reasonably expect to go, and how we can best get there. The thing we need the most, of course, is open space for recreation, for housing and for industry.

We have tremendous assets in Philadelphia. Our population is unquestionably the finest of any large city. There is no city where industry can obtain better labor at every level. We are also blessed with a splendid location. We have a port which has enormous potentialities if properly developed, and its development has all too long been neglected.

Equally important, we shall, within a few years, be at the very hub of the great turnpike systems running from east-west and from north-south, and today these turnpikes mean as much to the growth and development of cities as did the rivers and canals 150 years ago.

We also know that the Delaware Valley has a greater opportunity for industrial development now than at any time since Revolutionary days. If we we are to take advantage of these assets we must plan, and plan wisely.

We must also plan boldly and imaginatively. I think one of the best examples of what I mean by this is the Greater Philadelphia Movement's concept of the new food distribution center. I am wholeheartedly behind this, as is our Democratic administration. I believe that with the proper leadership it can become a $100,000,000 center, and can make Philadelphia the greatest food distribution center east of the Mississippi. Equally important, it will furnish our own people with better food, at lower prices, and will also eliminate one of the large economic sore spots of our City.

We have another tremendous opportunity, and that is in Penn Center. No other great city in the United States has available to it, or will have available to it, so much open space in the very heart of the city, which can be developed along the best modern and functional lines.

The plans prepared by the Planning Commission must be carried out, and I am sure can be carried out, so that Penn Center will become a model of center-city development both in beauty and utility for every other city in the country.

I am still hopeful we can get the Commonwealth to put its new building in the Penn Center area, and that we can persuade the Federal government to do likewise, and that within the next four years we can commence work on a new Court House for our own County, which is so sorely needed; a Court House which will house all of the Courts of our City and also the office of the District Attorney. The present hodge-podge of Court rooms and the complete inadequacy of our Court facilities is one of the reasons for confusion and delay, both in our civil and criminal Courts.

The next consideration is the poblem of housing.

I think this can best be summed up by a quotation from the excellent report entitled, "A Statement on Housing and Urban Renewal Policy for Philadelphia," recently submitted to the Citizens Council on City Planning.

"During recent years Philadelphia has achieved a reputation as a progressive and leading city in the related fields of city planning, redevelopment, urban renewal and housing. The city has a "workable program." And yet the Mayor has stated publicly that the attainment of housing and redevelopment goals is not in sight. The rate of accomplishment to date and in the foreseeable future is not sufficient either to eliminate slums or to prevent future slum formation"

We must face facts A minimum of 700 city blocks cannot even be rehabilitated and are complete slum areas, with 200,000 people living there, and at least another 100,000 live in isolated slum structures.

What's worse, approximately 5,000 dwelling units a year sink from sub-standard into the slum category Yet, in the 10-year period since the termination of World War II, only 9,000 public housing units have been erected, 4,000 of which have been built in the past four years. So, today there is not enough public housing going up to even keep pace with the number of units which sink into slums.

The report from which I have just quoted points out that despite the fact the City is doing more than ever before with regard to housing, it does not have the resources with which to cope alone with this problem. Today, the City is spending about $9,000,000 a year on both capital and operating programs for housing and urban renewals. The Board of Education is spending approximately $5,000,000 a year in the construction of schools and recreation areas to serve these schools.

Our State government is spending nothing, and we are getitng less than $3,000,000 a year from the Federal government for redevelopment and public housing, making a total of approximately $17,000,000 a year.

Yet the report from which I have quoted makes it perfectly plain that to turn the tide there must be expended something like $60,000,000 a year, for a period of some 16 or 17 years. This is a tremendous goal to shoot for, but we must work for that goal.

The City certainly does not have the resources to come anywhere near such a goal. One of the most important tasks of the next Mayor is going to be to make the State realize its responsibilities, and I do know that Governor Leader and the present State administration want to go along with such a program—in fact, the budget originally submitted by Governor Leader called for this very sort of help. And, we must have such help.

Other states have recognized the problem, and have started to meet it. For example, New York State has appropriated, since the end of World War II, close to one billion dollars for public housing. California has appropriated more than half a billion, and Ohio has appropriated more than a quarter-billion. Pennsylvania alone, of our great states, has never appropriated a dime.

The next Mayor must also, in cooperation with the Mayors of all the other great cities, make our Federal government realize its responsibility in this field. This is not socialism, it is a matter essential to the very survival of our great cities. As conservative a man as the late Senator Robert A. Taft recognized this fact, and pushed through Congress the first effective Federal Housing Bill.

Another tremendous task which will confront the next Mayor will be to persuade the Counties which make up metropolitan Philadelphia, both in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, that they have just as important a stake in the growth and well-being of Philadelphia as do the inhabitants of our City. We must make it clear that we shall in no way attempt to interfere in their internal government or affairs, but that their own selfish interests require that they join with us in creating an authority or authorities which will devise plans for and the financing of solutions to our many mutual problems.

As Mayor Clark has so frequently stated, "the entire Delaware Valley is one entity, and its health and well-being depend on an overall plan of development for which the entire valley works out a cooperative solution."

Just a few of the problems which require this approach are highways, traffic and transportation, water supply, sewage disposal, air pollution, our port and airport, recreation and parks, and above all, comprehensive regional planning, so that all of the greater Philadelphia area can best be served.

With regard to water supply, Mayor Clark and Governor Leader have joined in consultations with Governors Harriman, Meyner and Boggs, as well as Mayor Wagner of New York City to devise a new approach to Delaware River Basin development. They intend to join together in a comprehensive plan for the development of the river rather than parceling it out for individual and special purpose uses.

The overall control and development of the Delaware River is vital to the future growth and prosperity of Delaware Valley, U. S. A. The recent disastrous floods on the Delaware, and its tributaries have demonstrated most forcefully how essential is such a comprehensive plan to be joined in by New York State, New York City, Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, New Jersey, Delaware, and the United States government. I intend to push this program most vigorously.

Today, cities must furnish far greater services to the people who live and work within their boundaries than ever before. You cannot get either people or industry to remain in our cities today unless the cities offer a decent place in which to live, work and raise our families.

The crisis of survival confronting big cities today requires bold and imaginative thinking, and the will and determination to carry out the plans conceived by that sort of thinking.

We have today a legislative team in Philadelphia which is aware of these problems, and has the courage to deal with them. And, we have the kind of administrative team which, after four years of experience, is well prepared to meet this challenge. It is a very comforting thing to have such a team, and to know it is champing at the bit to get on with the job.

The situation with which our cities are confronted today is very much the same problem our industries faced in the Depression. At first, they merely cut out frills. But then they began cutting out essentials and the more essentials they cut out, the faster their business went down. It was not until our people came to realize the only thing we really had to fear is fear itself, that the tide turned. People then took heart and realized that here in the United States we have the brains, the manpower, the courage, the spirit and the resources to conquer any problem, if we only make up our minds to do so and approach the task with boldness and confidence.

I believe as did William Penn—and I am quoting—"Governments, like clocks, go from the motion men give them. Wherefore, governments rather depend on men, than men upon governments. Let men be good and the government cannot be bad."

I think Maylor Clark and our Democratic administration have created the kind of team, composed of the kind of men and women who can and will furnish us the type of leadership we need to conquer our problems and realize our potentialities.

Or, to put it another way, by paraphrasing what Winston Churchill said should be the aims and aspirations of a political Party: "Ancient and permanent institutions become the instruments of far-reaching social reforms; order conjoined with liberty; stability and yet progress; party unity and bold legislation."

That is the program the Democratic Party and its candidates offer the people of Philadelphia for the next four years. It is a program based upon the continuity of reform and good government. We believe there can be no turning back. We must press forward boldly and confidently to our goals.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to briefly answer the remarks of Senator Yosko relative to the hospitals of Pennsylvania.

I feel concerned about the hospitals of Pennsylvania because, for one thing, I happen to be on the board of trustees of the Titusville Hospital. I know all of the hardships which we have to endure and undrego in order to meet the bills at that hospital. I also know that perhaps the various members of the boards of trustees of every hospital in Pennsylvania have to undergo the same hardships. Therefore, Mr. President, I am just as much concerned, if not more, as Senator Yosko is that the hospitals of Pennsylvania receive their regular State appropriation. However, Mr. President, I want to call to Senator Yosko's attention the fact that the Senate, before we adjourned the last time, passed adequate legislation to finance the school needs of the State of Pennsylvania. Not only did we do that, but we went along with two Democratic Senators amendments, Senator Seyler and Senator Hayes, to add $31,000,000 more to those appropriations in the event that this Legislature saw fit to pass the bills which would give the teachers an extra salary increase. What happened to that appropriation bill? It passed here and went over to the House, and since that time they have been sitting on it. They have tried to insert a lot of amendments in it, I understand, but to date they have not passed that bill, so that the schools of Pennsylvania might feel safe tonight in knowing that they are going to be able to operate next month and the months to come.

Another thing I want to say to Senator Yosko is that at this time we do not see sufficient money in sight to take care of all of these things. We certainly thought the thing of primary importance was to see that the schools of Pennsylvania operated. How many more appropriations can you get out and have passed in the Senate before we know that there is sufficient money in sight to pay the bills? It is surely useless, as Senator Yosko should know, for us to pass appropriation bills and put them on the Governor's desk if he does not have sufficient money in sight in order that he might sign these bills. He certainly cannot go out on the Capitol trees and pick the money off of them. He does not have any printing press downstairs which he can speed up to print money. We must have the money to do all of these necessary things before we can put out the appropriation bills and pass them.

Mr. President, I understand that there is a new movement being made by the Governor and his legislative leaders and advisers to put in some more tax bills. I understand that this is going to be done next week. The House is going to work on those, and I have no doubt that at some time they will send them to the Senate. Until such time as we see the money on the horizon somewhere to pay for these appropriations which Senator Yosko has pointed out as being necessary in order for these various institutions to operate, I think it would be useless for us to act on appropriation bills here.

Therefore, Mr. President, I want to say to Senator Yosko that we Republicans do not want to see the hospitals shut down. We want to give them their appropriations. However, I do not see the sense in bringing out appropriation bills here and acting upon them until such time as we get the money to pay the bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I do not want to hold the Senate up any longer than necessary today. However, we will probably be leaving here tomorrow and there are some questions that have come up here on the floor, and which have come up in the various communities and in the newspapers, relative to our financial situation and its relationship to the hospitals and schools which are State-aided.

The gentleman from Northampton, Senator Yosko, very clearly pronounced a great fear which is in the minds of most of the directors of our local hospitals which are State-aided and also in the school system. In answering him, the gentleman from Crawford, the Republican Floor Leader, Senator Mahany, stated two very simple truths. First of all, the passage of appropriation bills does not necessary assure the schools and the hospitals of necessary funds. The greater problem is the creation of the legislation that will deliver the funds. The matter of appropriation is one that can easily be resolved in this Senate and in the House of Representatives the minute that we decide how much money we need on the part of the State and where we are going to get that money.

Mr. President, this morning, for the first time since we first introduced tax legislation, which passed the House and was defeated in the Senate, we had the first break in the so-called solid wall position of the Republican Majority in the Senate. I read in this morning's newspaper that at a meeting held in Hershey last night, the Republicans are receding from their position on the salse tax and that now, for the first time, they appear to be willing to listen to other proposals. Grabbing the first straw that has appeared upon the turbulent waters of this great Commonwealth's fiscal problems, we have tried to call an immediate meeting of the powers that be, or should be, on the other side to discuss the types of taxes that we have in mind. We, on this side, have long felt that it would be wrong to pass appropriations willy-nilly without means of supporting the appropriations. The gentleman is only partially right, though, when he said that the House has killed the school appropriations. That is not quite true.

What happened, Mr. President, was that the House sent to the Senate a comprehensive over-all educational program. When it arrived in the Senate, for political reasons, right before the election, the Republicans lifted out of this comprehensive bill that particular phase of the legislation which dealt with schoolteachers' salaries, subsidies to the school teaching districts. They attempted to pass that bill—or that particular part of the educational program—leaving in abeyance all the other necessaries that are required in order to have a rounded-out school system. When that appeared on the floor, there were some amendments offered. The Republican leadership, immediately sensing the opportune of an election, immediately passed the amendments which added, in an over-all picture, $26,000,000 to the bill that was passed by the House. However, they actually added $31,000,000 because they had taken from the necessary needs of the schools, in one section of the bill, $5,000,000 and then turned around and added $31,000,000 to schoolteachers' salaries alone.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the election is over. Let us not try to win next year's elections by our actions in the next one, two, three, four or five months. Let us try now to resolve the problem before us and let the good judgment of the people decide who is right and who is wrong politically.

Some of us see some kind of glory attached to last weeks's election on our side; some Republicans feel that they, too, won the election on their side. That be as it will be, it has no part in the discussions that must come up from now on.

I am opposed to this Session of the Legislature staying in until next spring or next summer. I believe that the problems which face the Commonwealth can be resolved in the next three weeks. Therefore, the House will probably pass next week, Mr. President, some kind of an enabling tax legislative program that will be sent over to the Senate. We are happy and we are willing to sit down with our Republican colleagues to try to work out an agreement between now and Monday on the type of taxes that they will accept. However, if they insist on standing upon that ground which they have held for so long, that they will not vote for anything except sales taxes, then I can assure them and the people of this Commonwealth that there will be a program over here next week for your consideration. If you feel that you cannot take it, then, of course, the House will again have to go into the bag of tricks and try to find some way to finance four hundred and fifty odd millions of dollars of needs of this Commonwealth without crippling and endangering the State's economy.

Mr. President, I also read in the newspaper where the Republican Caucus, at the Hershey Hotel, last night decided that they would be against a hodgepodge tax program. Now, Mr. President, first of all they have said they are against the classified income tax and they have proven that by their vote. Now they say they are against a hodgepodge tax program.

What is a hodgepodge tax program? A hodgepodge tax program is the very sort of a program that the Republicans have used for sixteen years to finance the State of Pennsylvania. We tried to get away from that, Mr. President, with a comprehensive classified tax program. If the Republican Majority will not go along with any increases in the present tax structure of this Commonwealth, which may be termed a hodgepodge, if they will not under any consideration take up with us the problem of income taxes of any kind, then I can see that they are still standing on the same ground. Therefore, I say to the Republican Senators, in all fairness, that either you sit down with us in an honest effort to reach a compromise or the House will be compelled to pick a program of taxes without any assurance from you that it will pass. That will further delay the Session of the Legislature. Then, if after that set of taxes comes over, you will not accept it, then I will suggest to the House that they go ahead and pass a hodgepodge tax program. Then, if you will not accept that, remember this, too, in your calculations. The entire tax duplicate raised in this Commonwealth by the hodgepodge system is $940,000,000 a biennium. Even with all this allowance—and this takes into consideration the allowance for one-quarter of the biennium being spent already and it takes into consideration the fact that there are some added revenues to be received because increased estimates of our present taxes for this biennium will give us approximately $50,000,000 more—you are still going to need a figure somewhere approaching $450,000,000 since you have added $31,000,000 to the school burden. That is almost fifty per cent, Mr. President, of all of the tax duplicate that you now have in this Commonwealth. You just cannot go out and pick $450,000,000 from trees. That, too, has been said by the Majority Leader. You just cannot add fifty per cent, or approximately forty-seven per cent, to all of the existing taxes in this Commonwealth it will be better than fifty per cent. When you figure that you have already added $20,000,000 to the cigarette tax in this Commonwealth for emergency purposes.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, tomorrow we are in Session. There can be no better time spent, there can be no better hours spent than for a committee, with the authority to act and to speak for the Republican Caucus, to meet with a committee from this side of the Senate and let us resolve this problem tomorrow. There is nothing to be gained by delay except disaster. I want to assure you that if, after that conference, you men on the other side are willing to deliver your twenty-six votes for your tax program, I will assure you that I will go before the House and before the Governor and state to him that you cannot get any legislation through this Senate except that which the Republican Caucus will pass. If you decide tomorrow on a certain tax program which you will deliver your votes for and accept your responsibility for it, I will do my best to have the House pass your tax program next week. However, if you want to give us the responsibility that we think the people gave us at last year's election, then all we ask you to do is to give us sufficient votes to meet the necessary constitutional requirement of twenty-six votes. Then, we will deliver every vote we have on this side for any tax program that we will accept the responsibility for. Failing to do that, then I would suggest to all of you that you put through a resolution recessing this useless Session of the Legislature and let us go home. It will be silly and useless to sit here month after month after month if you are not going to accept the responsibility of passing your tax legislation with twenty-six votes on your side, or giving us the three votes that we need to pass the tax legislation on this side.

I have said this now for nine months, and I do not want to repeat it for nine more months. I say to you that we will vote to recess and the schools will suffer and the hospitals will suffer. However, there is no way that you can pay their bills unless you pass revenue measures. We are willing to pass revenue measures. If they are unsound politically, the people will defeat us at the polls. We do not care particularly about that. We want to give to the people of Pennsylvania the kind of government that we told them we would. We will do our very best to stay within the confines of our platform and to give the people of this Commonwealth the necessary funds to give them the services they deserve and require.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I cannot accept Senator Mahany's alibi for sitting on appropriations. His remarks are not well taken.

An orderly procedure in connection with the adoption of a budget and tax program is to first pass the appropriations and then take the sum total of all appropriation bills which have been passed, add them up to determine how much money you need and then follow that up with the enactment of sufficient taxes to finance the appropriations which have been approved. That is the orderly method of arriving at a budget and tax program. You do not pass the taxes first and then the appropriations after that. That is putting the cart before the horse.

Mr. President, I only know this, that on August 1st, I introduced appropriation bills to take care of the State-aided medical-surgical hospitals in my district. I know that those hospitals are in need of State funds that are due them for the quarter which ended May 31st, and they will be in need of the money that will be due these hospitals for the quarter which will end at the end of this month.

We have passed some tax legislation, and I believe that we have passed sufficient tax legislation to be able to take care of at least the two quarterly payments which are due the 186 medical-surgical hospitals spread around the sixty-seven counties of this Commonwealth. Therefore, I repeat that it would be orderly for the Republican Majority that controls all of the committees to report out the appropriation bills. Of course, if the money is not there the Budget Bureau is not going to approve them, the Auditor General is not going to approve them and the State Treasurer is not going to approve them. However, here in the Legislature we can at least say that we did our part, which we have not done up to this point.

Mr. President, in addition to the appropriation bills, and I think the Republican women ought to know this, there are about 300 bills which passed the House, were referred to the Senate and because of the lack of holding committe meetings, because of the stalling in this Chamber, because of the obstructionism on the part of the Republican Majority, those bills are tied up in committee and many of them are important to the general welfare of this State.

I repeat that if there are going to be committee meetings tomorrow, and particularly the Appropriations Committee, that these appropriation bills which should be given priority, be reported out and approved so that funds could be funneled into the institutions that are now in financial distress.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I, I guess the same as quite a number of the Members of this body, have extended our sincere congratulations to the Members of this body who were elected to various offices in their counties in this past election| Senator Diehm, Senator Lane and also Senator Bane are three gentlemen who were successful at the last election. There is no doubt in my mind that the residents of their counties re-elected them to these various offices because of a very good job done at home.

This past election brings back to my mind February the 8th of this year when I stood on the floor of this house and at that time, in preparation to the introduction of Senate Bill No. 102, I stated that disregarding any political affiliations, the bill that I was about to introduce had no political implications whatsoever, but was a sincere desire on my part to express a feeling that certain offices held by Members of the Senate were incompatible with that office. I introduced that bill at that time, declaring that anyone who was elected to a county or city office could not hold office as a Member of this Legislature. I feel that you cannot have two loyalties. It is a sincere belief on my part, and I have seen actions in the Senate and in other legislative bodies which proves that point.

Mr. President, the aforementioned gentlemen have sought office, they have been duly electd and probably should hold that office. However, I say that it is time that we in Pennsylvania enact legislation which would make it impossible for anyone to hold two such offices.

I would like to call to the attention of the Committee on Local Government, of which I am also a member, the fact that the bill which reposes in that committee has been there since February 8th, and I ask that the members of that committee keep this bill in mind at the next meeting of that committee, which I believe will be held tomorrow.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, Novmber 21, 1955, at 3:30 o'clock, p. m., E. S. T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, November 21, 1955, at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the first resolution which I am about to introduce deals with the greatest event on the North American Continent, which established once and for all the conquest by the Anglo-Saxon civilization of the North American Continent.

This resolution deals with the Armstrong Expedition. The 200th Anniversary of the Armstrong Expedition will take place between August 30th and September 8th of 1956. I am happy to say that the Historical Societies of Huntingdon, Blair, Cambria, Indiana and Armstrong Counties already took the initiative to prepare for this celebration.

Mr. President, I am especially pleased that for the first time during this Session the learned doctor from Armstrong and myself see eye to eye.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATING THE 200TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ARMSTIONG EXPEDITION AND CONGRATULATING THE PENNSYLVANIA FEDERATION OF HISTORICAL SOCIETIES AND CERTAIN COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETIES

Messrs. STIEFEL, CHAPMAN, HALUSKA, MALLERY, PEELOR and PECHAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Whereas, August 30 to September 8, 1956, marks the 200th anniversary of the expedition led by Pennsylvania's own Colonel John Armstrong starting at Fort Shirley, Shirleysburg, Huntingdon County, and culminating in the attack and destruction of the Indian town at Kittanning, Armstrong County, and

Whereas, this expedition was the first organized retaliation of the Pennsylvania provincial forces against the French and Indians following General Braddock's disastrous defeat at the Monongahela crossings and gave new hope and protection to the harassed Pennsylvania frontier by inflicting a serious blow upon the hostile Indians, and

Whereas(this expedition was organized and conducted on Pennsylvania soil and was made up of Pennsylvania forces and was led by a noted Pennsylvania commander and constituted a decisive engagement in the French and Indian War which finally determined the fate of Anglo-Saxon civilization in North America; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly congratulates the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies and the historical societies of Huntingdon, Blair, Cambria, Indiana, and Armstrong counties upon the initiative taken in plans to commemorate this important anniversary in Pennsylvania's great history; and respectfully requests the Governor of the Commonwealth, The Honorable George M. Leader, to prepare and issue a suitable proclamation designating August 30 and September 8, 1956, as Armstrong Expedition Days and calling upon the public, parochial, and private schools, and the civic, patriotic, and historical bodies of the Commonwealth to observe with suitable ceremonies and pageants the 200th anniversary of this decisive event in Pennsylvania's heroic past.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO THE STATE, COUNTY AND LOCAL HISTORICAL AND PATRIOTIC SOCIETIES

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish:

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Whereas, at no time in history was it more important for the people of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to know and appreciate the great heritage of freedom and liberty which is ours as a bequest from our forefathers, and

Whereas, no single State has contributed more to the development of the American tradition of religious freedom, civil liberties, and representative democracy recognizing the right of all people, regardless of race, creed, or social station, to achieve the fullest possible freedom and opportunity under God, and

Whereas, the State, county, and local historical and patriotic societies and associations of the Commonwealth have a distinguished record of achievement in developing understanding and appreciation of that great heritage; therefore be it

Resolved, That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth places itself on record as commending these worthy historical and patriotic societies and associations for the great work they have accomplished; and be it further

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth urges these societies and associations to redouble their efforts to further develop knowledge and understanding of Pennsylvania's rich heritage by increasing their membership and continuing to broaden and expand their influence and worth through suitable publications, educational services to the schools of the Commonwealth and the general public; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby authorizes and requests the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to act as its agent in transmitting copies of this resolution to ali such societies and associations as are a matter of record in the files of the Commission and in particular to those which are members of the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies, together with suitable suggestions as to ways in which said societies and associations may further expand and develop their contributions to Pennsylvania history.

BILL ON SECOND READING

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 729, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article two section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by provdiing for annual sessions of the General Assembly

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 2, line 7, by striking out after the word "shall" and before the word "not" the following: "be in session for not more than sixty days and shall"; amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 2, line 8, by striking out after the word "revenue" and before the word "laws" the following: "and"; amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 2, by striking out lines 9 to 11, inclusive, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "and laws pertaining to subjects designated by proclamation of the Governor prior to the first Tuesday of January."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, inasmuch as the hour is growing late, I wonder if the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, would consent to withdraw his amendments at this time if I would request that the bill go over in order until tomorrow.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in view of the fact that the Republican Party has some distinguished and lovely guests, I will acquiesce to his suggestion, with the understanding that my amendments will be submitted tomorrow and we will thrash it out then.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, accordingly, I withdraw my amendments to Section 1.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 729, Printer's No. 305, on sceond reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 746, on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing for appropriations by cities of the first class to certain firemen's pension funds and for annual audits by the city controller defining the status of such pension funds and the cities representation for the administration thereof be recommitted to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. STANK IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. As a further mark of respect to the memory of the Honorable Henry C. Spencer, the Representative from the Fifth District of Lackawanna County, who died Friday, November 4th, the Members will please stand in silence following prayer until the gavel falls.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, offered the following prayer:

Merciful Father in Heaven, Who holdest in Thy hand all the might of men and has ordained human government for the freedom and well being of all Thy children, we beseech Thee to look with gracious favor upon the Governor of this Commonwealth, the Representatives now assembled in session, the lay and special employes of this government.

Oh, God, teach us all to have a just and honorable pride in our respective employment of government. Direct these Representatives in the way of righteousness, quietness and unity. Give them the high quality of Godlike patience to wait upon the fulfillment of their convictions even in the midst of all external pressures and if right is right, then, Oh, God, give these Representatives courage to stand for it, not in any stubborn way but in loving brotherhood and gracious persuasion.

And God of all mercy, at this hour we beseech Thee to hear us even as we ask a special blessing, a blessing that only Thou canst give upon the family and the loved ones of the late Representative, Henry Spencer. Oh, Lord, uplift them all with Thy strength and breathe in their souls the everlasting and matchless message I am the resurrection and the life—because I live, ye shall live also. Further prosper all the good deeds of our brother to the glory of liberty unending and the welfare of all mankind.

Now help us all to show forth the praise of Thy name, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REORGANIZATION PLANS NOS. 2, 3, 4 and 5

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 2

In the House of Representatives,
November 14, 1955.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

In the House of Representatives,
November 14, 1955.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1955. This transfers from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of State duties imposed by the Act of May 13, 1925, P. L. 644, as amended. This measure relates to the issuance of certificates to parties who solicit for charitable purposes.

This transfer of functions is a step in the direction of freeing the over-burdened Department of Public Instruction from responsibilities which are not directly related to schools and education. At the same time this transfer is a step toward the concentration of widely-dispersed licensing activities in one of the smaller departments—the Department of State. Because, I believe, the transfer will make for more efficient and economical operation of State government I urge its favorable consideration by the General Assembly.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

Dated: November 14, 1955.

Transmitted to the General
Assembly on November 14, 1955.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 2 of 1955

Section 1. The functions of the Department of Instruction as set forth in the Act of May 13, 1925, P. L. 644, and its amendments, are transferred from that department to the Department of State.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of State to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions transferred by Section 1 of this Reorganization Plan the records and equipment now being used or held in connection with such functions; and the unexpended balances of appropriations or other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions.

Section 3 The Act of May 13, 1925, P. L. 644, as amended, is suspended in so far as it is in conflict with this Reorganization Plan.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 3

In the House of Representatives,
November 14, 1955.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assemly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

In the House of Representatives,
November 14, 1955.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assemly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference be disapproved.

TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1955. This measure transfers the functions, powers, and duties of the State Board of Funeral Directors from the Department of Health to the Department of State.

The transfer recommended is a step in the direction of freeing the Department of Health from duties which are not directly related to its principal purposes. At the same time it is a step toward concentrating widely-dispersed licensing activities in one department—the Department of State. Because I believe this transfer will make for more efficient and economical operation of State government and consolidate functions as nearly as may be according to major purposes, I recommend its approval by the General Assembly.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

Dated: November 14, 1955.

Transmitted to the General
Assembly on November 14, 1955.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 3 OF 1955

Section 1. The State Board of Undertakers, renamed the State Board of Funeral Directors by the Act of January 14, 1952, P. L. 1898, together with its functions, powers and duties, is transferred from the Department of Health, where it has been a departmental administrative board, to the Department of State, where it shall be a departmental administrative board, with the same status under the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, as that of departmental administrative boards.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of State, to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions transferred by Section 1 of this Reorganization Plan, the records, equipment and personnel now being used, held or employed in connection with such functions; and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use in connecnection with such functions.

Section 3. The functions of the Secretary of Health, under Section 419 of The Administrative Code of 1929, and its amendments, are transferred to and shall be exercised by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Section 4. The functions of the Department of Health, under the Act of January 14, 1952, P. L. 1898, known as the "Funeral Director Law," and its amendments, are transferred to and shall be exercised by the Department of State.

Section 5. The following acts and parts of acts are suspended as particularly set forth:

The Act of January 14, 1952, P. L. 1898, known as the "Funeral Director Law," and its amendments, in so far as they are in conflict with this Reorganization Plan.

Section 202 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, in so far as it affects the location of the State Board of Undertakers, renamed the State Board of Funeral Directors by the Act of January 14, 1952, P. L. 1898, in the Department of Health.

Section 419 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, in so far as it imposes functions, powers and duties on the Secretary of Health, and in so far as the name "State Board of Undertakers" is concerned.

Section 2112 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, in so far as the name "State Board of Undertakers" is concerned.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 4

In the House of Representatives,
November 14, 1955.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 4 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

In the House of Representatives,
November 14, 1955.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 4 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 4 of 1955. This plan transfers the following boards, and their powers, functions, and duties, from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of State:

State Board of Medical Examination and Licensure
State Board of Pharmacy
State Dental Council and Examining Board
State Board of Optometrical Examiners
State Board of Osteopathic Examiners
Osteopathic Surgeons' Examining Board
State Board of Nurse Examiners
State Board of Barber Examiners
State Board of Cosmetology
State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners
State Board of Examination of Public Accountants
State Board of Examiners of Architects
State Registration Board for Professional Engineers
State Board of Chiropractic Examiners
State Real Estate Commission

Transfer of these boards from the overburdened Department of Public Instruction is a step in the direction of freeing the department from functions which are not directly related to schools and education. At the same time it is a step toward concentrating widely-dispersed licensing activities in one department—the Department of State, thus grouping and consolidating agencies as nearly as may be according to major purposes. Because I believe these transfers will make for more efficient and economical operation of State government, I recommend their approval by the General Assembly.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

Dated: November 14, 1955.

Transmitted to the General Assembly on November 14, 1955.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 4 OF 1955.

Section 1. Certain agencies and functions of the Department of Public Instruction are transferred from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of State as herein provided.

Section 2. The State Board of Medical Examination and Licensure, the State Board of Pharmacy, the State Dental Council and Examining Board, the State Board of Optometrical Examiners, the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners, the Osteopathic Surgeons' Examining Board, the State Board of Nurse Examiners, the State Board of Barber Examiners, the State Board of Cosmetology, the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners, the State Board of Examination of Public Accountants, the State Board of Examiners of Architects, the State Registration Board for Professional Engineers, the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners, the State Real Estate Commission, and the powers and duties vested in and imposed upon them by law, are transferred from the Department of Public Instruction, where the above boards have been departmental administrative boards and commissions, to the Department of State, where the boards shall be departmental administrative boards and commissions, with the same status under the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, as that of departmental administrative boards and commissions.

Section 3. The functions of the Superintendent of Public Instruction under Sections 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 420, 421, 422, 425, 453, 459, 461 and 462 of the Act of April 9, 1929,

P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, are transferred to and shall be exercised by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Section 4. The following functions, powers and duties vested in the Department of Public Instruction under clauses (e), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k), and (l) of Section 1304, and Section 1304.1 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and their amendments, are transferred and vested in the Department of State:

(1) To establish reciprocity with other states as regards professional licenses issued by the department.

(2) To keep the records of all of the professional examining boards established in the department in the City of Harrisburg, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania.

(3) To issue all certificates and other official documents of the various professional examining boards in the department. The officers and members, or any of them, of any such examining board, may also sign such certificates and other documents, if the board shall have taken action authorizing such signatures.

(4) To assist any professional examining board within the department, if, as and when, requested by the board.

(5) To cooperate with the several professions whose examining bodies are within the department, in the determination and establishment of standards for professional education.

(6) Whenever under any Act of Assembly, enacted at the Session of the General Assembly at which this Reorganization Plan was effected, or at any subsequent Session of the General Assembly, the right to practice any profession, or work at any trade or occupation, shall be conditioned upon examination, licensure, or registration by or within the department, unless otherwise provided by law, to hold the examinations, make such investigations, require such information, and do and perform all other acts which may be necessary to determine whether applicants for licensure or registration are qualified to practice the profession or work at the trade or occupation within this Commonwealth, and, in proper cases to issue licenses and certificates of registration. In performing its duties under this clause, the department shall appoint an advisory committee, of not more than five members, of each profession, trade, or occupation, applicants to practice or work at which are examined and licensed hereunder. Each such committee shall assist the department in holding examinations, and passing upon information submitted. Members of every advisory committee, appointed by the department under the authoriity hereby conferred, shall serve at the pleasure of the department, and shall be compensated at the rate of fifteen dollars per diem for each day of service rendered to the department, and shall receive the expenses actually incurred by them while engaged in assisting the department, as herein provided, the payment of such expenses, however, to be subject to the rules and regulations of the Executive Board.

(7) Unless otherwise provided by law, to fix the fees to be charged by the several professional examining boards within the department.

(8) If any person, association, copartnership, or corporation shall obtain a certificate, license, permit, or registration, by fraud or misrepresentation, from the Department of State or the responsible administrative agency, board, or commission therein, such department, administrative agency, board, or commission shall have the power to cancel such certificate, license, permit, or registration, after giving reasonable notice and opportunity to be heard.

Section 5. There are hereby transferred to the Department of State, to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions, powers and duties transferred by this Reorganization Plan, the records, equipment and personnel now being used, held or employed in connection with such functions, powers and duties; and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions, powers or duties.

Section 6. (a) The following acts and parts of acts are suspended in so far as they are in conflict with the provisions of this Reorganization Plan:

(1) The Act of March 19, 1909, P. L. 46, entitled "An act to regulate the practice of osteopathy in the State of Pennsylvania; to provide for the establishment of a State Board of Osteopathic Examiners; to define the powers and duties of said Board of Osteopathic Examiners; to provide for the examining and licensing of osteopaths in this State; and to provide penalties for the violation of this act," and its amendments.

(2) The Act of June 3, 1911, P. L. 639, entitled, as amended "An act relating to the right to practice medicine and surgery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and providing a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure as a bureau of the Department of Public Instruction, and means and methods whereby the right to practice medicine and surgery and any of its branches may be obtained, and exemptions therefrom; and providing for an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act, and providing for revocation and suspension of licenses by said bureau; and providing penalties for violation thereof, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," and its amendments.

(3) The Act of March 30, 1917, P. L. 21, entitled "An act defining optometry; and relating to the right to practice optometry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and making certain exceptions; and providing a Board of Optometrical Education, Examination and Licensure, and means and methods whereby the right to practice optometry may be obtained; and providing for the means to carry out the provisions of this act; and providing for revocation or suspension of licenses given by said board, and providing penalties for violations thereof; and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," and its amendments.

(4) The Act of May 17, 1917, P. L. 208, entitled "An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs, and providing penalties for the violation thereof; defining the words "drug" and "poison"; and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law, and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law; and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality, strength, and purity," and its amendments.

(5) The Act of July 12, 1919, P. L. 933, entitled "An act to regulate the practice of architecture in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for the examination and registration of architects by a State Board of Examiners; defining the power and duties of said board of examiners; and providing penalties for the violation of this act," and its amendments.

(6) The Act of May 13, 1927, P. L. 988, entitled "An act providing for and regulating the State registration of nurses and licensed attendants, the annual recording of registration certificates; and regulating the profession of nursing; and repealing certain existing laws," and its amendments.

(7) The Act of May 1, 1929, P. L. 1216, known as the "Real Estate Brokers License Act of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine," and its amendments.

(8) The Act of June 19, 1931, P. L. 589, entitled, as amended "An act to promote the public health and safety, by providing for the examination and licensure of those who desire to engage in the occupation of barbering; regulating barber shops and barber schools and apprentices and students therein; regulating compensation for service rendered; conferring certain powers and duties on the Department of Public Instruction; and providing penalties," and its amendments.

(9) The Act of May 1, 1933, P. L. 216, known as "The Dental Law," and its amendments.

(10) The Act of May 3, 1933, P. L. 242, entitled "An act to promote the public health and safety by providing for examination and registration of those who desire to engage in the occupation of beauty culture; defining beauty culture, and regulating beauty culture shops, schools, students, apprentices, teachers, managers and operators; conferring powers and duties upon the Department of Public Instruction; providing for appeals to certain courts by applicants and licensees; and providing penalties," and its amendments.

(11) The Act of April 27, 1945, P. L. 321, known as "The Vetterinary Law."

(12) The Act of May 23, 1945, P. L. 913, known as the "Professional Engineers Registration Law."

(13) The Act of May 26, 1947, P. L. 318, known as "The C. P. A. Law," and its amendments.

(14) The Act of May 22, 1951, P. L. 317, known as "The Professional Nursing Law."

(15) The Act of August 10, 1951, P. L. 1182, known as "Chiropractic Registration Act of 1951," and its amendments.

(16) Clauses (e), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k) and (l) of Section 1304 and Sections 1304.1 and 1310 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and their amendments.

(b) The following acts and parts of acts are suspended as particularly set forth:

(1) Section 202 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, as it effects the location of the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure, the State Board of Pharmacy, the State Dental Council and Examining Board, the State Board of Optometrical Examiners, the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners, the Osteopathic Surgeons' Examining Board, the State Board of Nurse Examiners, the State Board of Barber Examiners, the State Board of Cosmetology, the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners, the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners, the State Board for the Examination of Public Accountants, the State Board of Examiners of Architects, and the State Registration Board for Professional Engineers, in the Department of Public Instruction.

(2) Sections 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 420, 421, 422, 425, 459, 461 and 462 of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and their amendments, in so far as they impose functions, powers and duties on the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 5

In the House of Representatives,
November 14, 1955.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

In the House of Representatives,
November 14, 1955.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of November 14, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1955. This transfers from the Department of Welfare to the Department of Justice the supervision, visiting, and inspection of prisons and jails maintained by counties, cities, boroughs, and townships.

This transfer is intended to complete the action begun in 1953 when responsibility for State prisons was transferred from the Department of Welfare to the Department of Justice. The transfer now recommended will place the Commonwealth's responsibility for all matters relating to prisons, in one agency—the Department of Justice. In my opinion this will result in improved administration, efficiency and economy, and will coordinate and consolidate agencies and functions of the government as nearly as may be according to major purposes. Accordingly, I recommend favorable consideration of the transfer by the General Assembly.

GEORGE M. LEADER.
Governor.

Dated: November 14, 1955.

Transmitted to the General
Assembly on November 14, 1955.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 5 of 1955

Section 1. The functions, powers and duties of the Department of Welfare with regard to the supervision, visiting and inspection of prisons and jails maintained by counties, cities, boroughs or townships, as set forth in clause (b) of Section 2303, and Sections 2304 and 2305 of The Administrative Code of 1929, and their amendments, are transferred to the Department of Justice.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of Justice to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions, powers and duties transferred by Section 1 of this Reorganization Plan, personnel, contract obligations, if any, records, files, property, supplies and equipment now being used or held in connection with such functions, powers and duties, and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions, powers and duties.

Section 3. Clause (b) of Section 2303, and Sections 2304 and 2305 of The Administrative Code of 1929, and their amendments, are suspended in so far as they confer functions, powers and duties on the Department of Welfare with regard to the supervision, visiting and inspection of prisons and jails maintained by counties, cities, boroughs or townships.

Section 4. All the duties and responsibilities of the Department of Welfare set forth in the Act of April 5, 1872, P. L. 42, are hereby transferred to the Department of Justice and the provisions of said act are hereby suspended in so far as they confer powers and duties on the Department of Welfare.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Reorganization Plans will be laid over for printing.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE SERIAL No. 154

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, October 24, 1955.

Today, October 24, has been designated by our Governor as United Nations Day. It also marks the tenth anniversary when nations all over the world inaugurated a plan whereby international problems would be discussed and settled by peaceful means.

The formation of the United Nations Organization, dedicated to protect the world against aggression and to establish and maintain peace and insure security and liberty to all peace loving peoples, has to a great measure relieved the world of the fears of war.

The U. N. is urged to continue its great efforts in settling problems between nations and effecting world peace therefore be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulates the United Nations Organization on this its tenth anniversary; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the United Nations Organization.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE SERIAL NO. 155

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, October 24, 1955.

Whereas, Millions of tons of silt deposits have been removed from the Schuylkill River since the Schuylkill River Desilting Project was initiated in 1945, and

Whereas, Silt impounding basins were constructed to facilitate continuous desilting, and

Whereas, The legislation which established the Schuylkill River Desilting Project provides for a return on the cost of the project through the sale of recovered materials; therefore be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to ascertain the volume and value of marketable anthracite coal and other marketable materials recovered from the operation of the Schuylkill River Desilting Project; the amount realized by the Commonwealth from the sale of recovered materials; and the circumstances surrounding the sale of such recovered materials.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I believe when the Governor was campaigning last year one of the statements he made was that there would be no secrets with the people of Pennsylvania.

I believe that the Speaker, Mr. Andrews, has said several times that if there was any information needed to facilitate anything he would see to it that we would have an open book. I believe those were his words.

Mr. Speaker, we have on the calendar House Bills 1823, 1824 and 1825, which are the highway bills. We knew they were rather unusual bills, we also knew they were bills that might be controversial and to vote intelligently we would have to have facts.

Last September 29th I wrote, and I want this to be a matter of record, to Honorable Joseph J. Lawler. I am now quoting from the letter:

"My dear Secretary Lawler:

In view of the fact that the estimates in the 1955-57 budget of motor license fund revenue were made prior to April and we are now at the end of September, I would appreciate receiving up-to-date information on the following:

1. Cash balance in fund on May 31, 1955.

2. Receipts during June, July and August.

3. Commitments against cash balance on May 31, 1955.

4. New commitments made from May 31st, through August 31, 1955.

5. Portion of Federal Aid for Fiscal Year 1956 (beginning July 1, 1955) which has been committed by construction contracts.

6. How much Federal Aid for Fiscal Year 1956, now committed has been matched with motor license funds, and how much with Highways and Bridge Authority Funds.

7. How much of balance of Federal Aid for Fiscal Year 1956, will be matched with motor license funds, and how much with State and Highway Bridge Authority funds now on hand.

I would appreciate receiving this information as soon as possible in view of the fact that the legislature is now studying the Governor's new highway program.

Sincerely yours,

Charles C. Smith, Republican Floor Leader.

I call the attention to the fact that that letter was sent Sepember 29h.

October 17th, not having received an answer, which was approximately three weeks later, I wrote this letter to Mr. Lawler:

"Under date of September 29th, I wrote you for some pertinent information with reference to the Highway Department, in order that we might be prepared for proposed legislation when it comes before us. There were seven questions in all, which we had raised, and were hoping you could furnish the information to us.

I have not yet received a reply, and would be most grateful if this information could be furnished us as promptly as possible.

With appreciation of your courtesy in this matter, I am

Sincerely

Charles C. Smith, Republican Floor Leader."

Today I believe we are in the middle of November, over seven weeks past the original date of my letter. The Secretary has actually never made any comment, he has never called, he has never said anything in regard to any of this information we have requested.

Mr. Speaker, if we are to vote intelligently on these programs, and if the Secretary does not have something to hide, or if he is fearful of something, and he certainly must be because I do not believe any of the information we have asked for is unfair; I do not believe any of it would be information he would not have available, he should have it available at his finger tips.

I did not know that you were going to serve, but I was going to ask Mr. Andrews, the Speaker, if possibly he or the Majority Leader, Mr. Readinger, could see fit to get Secretary Lawler to at least have the courtesy to reply to a minority Member when he is asking for information on legislation which is on the calendar.

I cannot say what we are going to do next week, but unless this information is in my hands, I don't think there will be any votes for any highway program. We are asking for something that is honest and something that we should have. The Secretary up to this point, seven weeks, has refused to give it to us. I think it is unfair, I think he is trying to hide something.

I must resort again, Mr. Speaker, to our famous old quotation, "What are you up to now in the Highway Department?"

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Mr. FRANK asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, November 14, 1955.

George R. Holstrom, former member of the House of Representatives, passed away on November 5, 1955 in a Veteran Hospital, Chicago, Illinois. He was sixty years of age.

Holstrom was born at Superior, Wisconsin in the year 1895, a son of Peter and Hannah Holstrom. After service in World War I, he attended Muhlenberg College, where, because of his outstanding athletic ability, he became a legendary athletic hero. Upon graduation and after outstanding service as a football official and as recreation supervisor at Allentown, Pennsylvania, he returned to his Alma Mater in 1925 and served as coach in basketball, football and baseball until 1932. He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1935 and served two terms as a capable legislator. At the time of his death, he was district manager for a pump manufacturing firm.

Holstrum, a man liked by all who met him, will always be remembered as a kindly man with a friendly smile who was always willing to lend a helping hand in community affairs or to his friends or neighbors.

He is survived by two brothers and three sisters; Robert and Arthur, Superior, Wisconsin, Mrs. Axiline Bloomquest, of Camden, New Jersey; Mrs. Keeney, and Mrs. Selma Daunlin of Los Angeles, California; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its heartfelt condolences to the family of George R. Holstrom and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to each of the above named members of his family as a token of the sympathy extended to them in their hour of grief by this House of Representatives.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. ANDERSON, Messrs. KOLANKIEWICZ, PETTIGREW, HOLT, Mrs. MONROE, Messrs. FLOYD, MATT S. ANDERSON, MULLEN and BOIES asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, November 14, 1955.

Our fellow member, the Hon. Granville E. Jones, was born with the century on October 14, 1900. He has also progressed with the century and has gained prominence in position, responsibility and influence.

He has been a member of this House beginning with the Legislative Session of 1949 and has accredited himself well. During that period he has gained the good friendship and respect of each member of the House of Representatives that has served with him; therefore be it

Resolved, That on this the anniversary of his birthday the House of Representatives wish him a most happy birthday and health and prosperity for as many years in the future as he already has lived; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives present to Mr. Jones a copy of this resolution as a token of our warm friendship for him.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1955. No. 105.

SENATE

TUESDAY, November 15, 1955.

The Senate met at 2:30 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. MATTHEW A. YANOSEK, Pastor of Holy Trinity Church, Ford City, offered the following prayer:

In the Name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Eternal and Everlasting God, our Heavenly Father, pour forth we beseech Thee Thy graces into all hearts this day that the Members of the Senate, chosen by the people of this Commonwealth, may have open minds to know the right. Deepen their wisdom and awaken in them a desire to act for the common welfare of the people they represent.

We humbly beg Thee that through Thy grace they may be permitted to serve Thee before they serve themselves, and find the blessed place above parties and personalities in the performance of their duties.

Bless the Governor, his Cabinet and officers, as well as all who in any way affect the lives of the people of this Commonwealth. Grant them those lights and graces that are necessary for the perfect discharge of their duty to Thee and to the people.

Grant, we beseech Thee, continued recovery to the President of these United States of America, that with a sound body and mind he may continue in the discharge of his duties. Grant further our desire, according to Thy will, for success in his endeavors for world peace. Through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

In the Name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. VAN SANT, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 78,

REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WAGNER, from the Committee on Education, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Whalley, on October 11, 1955, reported the same without amendment as follows:

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION TO MAKE A STUDY AND RECOMMENDATIONS REGARDING PLANS OF ALL SCHOOL BUILDINGS BUILT WITHIN THE PAST FEW YEARS

In the Senate, October 11, 1955.

The General Assembly is currently considering legislation increasing the total amount of reimbursable costs for the construction of public school buildings from $425,000,000 to $925,000,000.

It is of prime importance to the Commonwealth that school buildings be built as economically as possible consistent with efficiency and practicability .

In many instances certain phases of school construction do not always meet with the best requirements of the school districts. School officials and architects can well profit by the experience of the past. It becomes mandatory that information be collated and disseminated with respect to school building in view of the fact that the Legislature may increase the amount of reimbursable costs by $500,000,000.

Better schools would be built and in some instances at a great saving, if the information were made available to school districts and architects. This information may be best obtained by the Department of Public Instruction through the School Plant Division; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Public Instruction:

(1) Study the various plans of all school buildings built within the past few years.

(2) Send quentionnaires to all architects and school districts involved in school building construction designed to elicit information with respect to the relative efficiency and operating costs of one-story and two-story buildings construction of gymnasiums and auditoriums, together with ideas on how they could be utilized in connection with other school programs, costs and efficiency of heating systems, time loss due to the moving of pupils from one room to another, the number, dimensions and types of entrances and windows as well as the dimensions of classrooms, unforseen defects, general and specific maintenance costs and, in the light of their experiences, suggested changes in plans and specifications which would result in better school buildings.

(c) Collate the information, make a study thereof, and make it, together with recommendations, available to the General Assembly and to school districts erecting school buildings.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. STEVENSON, from the Committee on Local Government reported as amended, House Bill No. 820, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723), entitled, "Second Class County Code," further regulating the repayment of money collected upon forfeited recognizances and the satisfaction of judgment liens against real property arising therefrom.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. SCHMIDT and WAGNER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 834, entitled:

An Act validating and confirming certain contracts heretofore entered into by municipality authorities for the construction of a school building project or projects and for relevant service contracts as a part of the construction when there is no evidence of fraud or conspiracy and authorizing or ratifying payments on such contracts or parts or contracts by the municipality authority upon approval thereof by the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of Justice.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. WAGNER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 836, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 12, 1919 (P. L. 941), entitled "An act providing for the preparation, contents, style, printing and binding of the Legislative Journal and its delivery and distribution . . ." eliminating requirements for printing bills, joint resolutions and reports of conference committees in full in the Legislative Journal.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, at this time, on behalf of Senator Yosko, Senator Pechan, Senator Wagner and myself, I wish to present two sets of bills.

The General Assembly had passed previously these same bills. However, they were declared to be unstitutional in a test case before the Supreme Court. The question then was put to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is relative to the changing of the retirement contracts while in force. At the election, a week or so ago, the people decided by an overwhelming vote that the Legislature could and should pass legislation to do exactly what the previous bills had done.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of these Members of the Senate, I wish to introduce and read in place these bills which will re-enact the bills which were once declared to be unconstitutional.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. DENT, YOSKO, PECHAN and WAGNER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 837, entitled:

An Act to further amend section fourteen of the act, approved the eighteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043), entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; . . ." by increasing the minimum amount to be paid to certain members on retirement and by increasing the amount of retirement or compensation payments to persons now retired receiving survivor annuities or State compensation under the public school employes' retirement system.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 838, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 858), entitled "An act establishing a State employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; . . ." by providing an additional State annuity on retirement for superannuation, and providing for minimum retirement allowances in certain cases and appropriations for payment of the costs thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make reports from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WADE, from the Committee on Insurance, reported as committed House Bill No. 619, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 11 1949 (P. L. 1210) entitled "An act relating to group life insurance describing permitted policies and restrictions thereon . . . ," decreasing the minimum number of employes who may be covered by policies issued to any employer or to trustees of a fund established by an employer.

An Act amending the act of August 22, 1953 (Appropriation Acts 101) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Elwyn Training School at Elwyn in the County of Delaware Commonwealth of Pennsylvania . . .," increasing the per capita annual maintenance rate of wards of the Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am about to introduce a resolution. However, before I do, I would like to make a statement which I think all of my colleagues on both sides of the aisle will agree with.

During Governor Earle's Administration, the Commonwealth built the Deshon Hospital, at Butler, at a cost of I think something like 2.69 million dollars. For some reason, the history of that hospital has not been too pleasant so far as the people of the Commonwealth are concerned. It so happened that after the buildings were erected, sufficint funds were not available to staff the hospital and to equip it. It lay dormant for some time and then the war occurred and the Federal Government took over Deshon Hospital as an Army Hospital. At one time, it had a population of some 2,500 patients. After the war was over, the Army abandoned Deshon Hospital and the Veterans Administration took it over and used it as a veterans hospital, with a population at one time of some 1,500 patients.

Mr. President, in 1949, in my freshman year, as chairman of a committee to study the possibilities of Deshon Hospital being reverted back to the Commonwealth, I think Senator Dent, Senator Wade and I, as a committee of three, were appointed to go to Washington and see what the possibilities were of Deshon being transfered back to Pennsylvania. At that time, back in 1949, if I remember correctly, the Veterans Administration and the Commonwealth had entered into an agreement whereby they were paying us a rental of $150,000 a year for a period of thirty years. Since that time, however, the Veterans Administration took over and paid for Deshon Hospital. It gave the Commonwealth $2,500,000.

Mr. President, Deshon Hospital, at the present time, is being used as a tuberculosis sanatorium for veterans. It has a population of some 400 patients. The veterans hospital at Aspinwall, I understand, has less than 200 patients. I very strongly feel that we should, in the Commonwealth where we have a dire need for some 8,000 beds for our mentally retarded children, see to it that this reverts back to the Commonwealth.

I do not know how many of you in this Senate have been asked by Doctor Walker to come to Polk this coming Saturday and hear his story. In my own Senatorial District of Armstrong and Butler Counties, I have sixty-one children who have been on a waiting list since 1950 to be accepted at Polk Institute. Doctor Walker said that he has some 8,000 over the Commonwealth who should be hospitalized and hospitalized quickly.

I feel, Mr. President—I say this so that the veterans groups, of which I happen to be Chairman of the American Legion Legislative Committee , may know this this also—when the Hoover Commission recommended that the Aspinwall Hospital be closed, of course, the veterans objected to it because they felt that they were being denied bed space for veterans who should be hospitalized. However, if the Veterans Administration is going to abandon either Deshon or Aspinwall, I say that we should avail ourselves of the opportunity to try first to buy Deshon, and if we cannot get Deshon, then to take over Aspinwall. As I said awhile ago, Deshon has a population of some 400 patients who are suffering from tuberculosis.

A great many of them are there not for any surgical treatment or even any remedial treatment. They are there convalscing. We also know that the new drugs are rapidly wiping out tuberculosis. We have in Pennsylvania, Mont Alto, whose population has dropped considerably. I think there is a potential that we can think about Mont Alto being taken over as a hospital for mentally retarted children. However, since Deshon Hospital was built with Pennsylvania taxpayers' money, and I would say we gave it away at $2,500,000, and if the Veterans Administration has in their mind the idea of abandoning one of those two hospitals, I feel that we should expend every effort to recover Deshon Hospital. If you were to replace the facilities that are there, it would cost the people of Pennsylvania something like $40,000,000. Even if we must pay a little more than the $2,500,000 for which we sold it, we would still be saving the taxpayers a tremendous amount of money.

Mr. President, my solution to the problem is this. Since Aspinwall has less than 200 patients and Deshon has less than 500 patients, where they can take care of as many as 2,500 adults, then they can certainly take care of 3,500 mentally retarded children for which we have an immediate need. For that reason, Mr. President, on behalf of myself, Senator Kopriver, Senator Mallery, Senator Barr and Senator Lane, I am offering this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

RECOMMENDING NEGOTIATION WITH THE VETERANS' COMMISSION FOR THE PURCHASE BY THE COMMONWEALTH OF DESHON HOSPITAL, AT BUTLER, OR THE VETERANS HOSPITAL, AT ASPINWALL

Messrs. PECHAN, KOPRIVER, JR., MALLERY, BARR and LANE offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, November 15, 1955.

Eight thousand unfortunate children requiring institutional care cannot be accommodated in the present facilities of the Commonwealth. It is imperative that immediate provision be made for them.

At present Deshon Hospital at Butler and the Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall, both in Western Pennsylvania, are operated as veterans hosiptals. Neither of them are occupied by a number of patients even closely approximating its rated capacity. The 475 patients at Deshon could, without hardship to them or adversely affecting the right of our handicapped veterans to adequate institutional care, be transferred to Aspinwall where some 500 beds are empty.

Discontinuing the use of one of these institutions as a veterans hospital is recommended by the Hoover Commission.

Deshon Hospital was designed, built and paid for by the Commonwealth. It is well suited for an institution for mentally retarded children, and will accommodate a greater number than Aspinwall; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate recommend negotiation with the Veterans' Administration for the purchase by the Commonwealth of Deshon Hospital, at Butler, or the Veterans Hospital, at Aspinwall, and the purchase thereof if satisfactory arrangements can be made; and that in the event of a purchase of the hospital it be immediately converted into an institution for mentally retarded children under the jurisdiction of the Department of Welfare.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move the immediate adoption of the resolution just read.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we on the Democratic side are wholeheartedly in support of this resolution and, too, we are gratified that a Republican spokesman will take the floor and actually vindicate the Earle Administration and that so-called waste which they were supposed to have practiced during the 1937 Session.

I would like to give the membership of the Senate a little background on Deshon. If I recall correctly, when Governor James took office he refused to spend $200,000 in order to equip Deshon because he felt that the prior Democratic Administration was extravagant in building this hospital for the unfortunate people who suffered from tuberculosis. Also, Mr. President, I would like to say that over on the other side they have commenced to realize that actually the Democrats have had the foresight, because I just heard the spokesman say if we were to secure those facilities from any other means, it would cost the State of Pennsylvania approximately $44,000,000.

It seems, Mr. President, that Mr. Pechan has had a change of heart and so have the other Republicans on the other side. After talking with members of this side, I might say that in Senator Barr's District there are approximately 513 retarded children. In my county of Washington we have knowledge of about 188 retarded children. Senator Holland and myself had talked with Mr. Shapiro several times with regard to this problem. As a matter of fact, we even had it in mind several times that possibly we could convert Morganza into an institution for our retarded children.

What gratifies me is this. The Majority Party in Pennsylvania recognizes the fact that the Democratic Party has shown foresight throughout the years, and it is, indeed, a vindication for our Democratic Administration. When we do take over Deshon or Aspinwall, I wonder if the Republicans on the other side are going to let us have the money to properly equip this institution. I think that is going to be the problem confronting us within the next few days. Since they are so humanitarian right now, I would like to see them follow through and provide us with the necessary funds to take care of these poor unfortunate children.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, when I offered that resolution it was not politically-minded. Now my very good friend from Washington County is, I would not want to say distorting, but I had him read the resolution before I presented it. He said that he would like to have his name on it, and I said, "Well, Bill, certainly." I mean that this is not a political football. I am interested in the retarded children.

I want to say to you, Mr. President, that when I am convinced, and I am going to find out this Saturday first-hand, that we have a shortage of 8,000 beds, we will see that they are provided. I cannot speak for the other members on my side, but I feel that they have exactly the same kind of a heart that Al Pechan does, and are not politically minded on this matter. If we have a need for those beds, we are going to provide the funds to maintain and administer those hospitals.

Now maybe Senator Lane's philosophy on raising that money may be a little bit different, but just because we need that money does not mean that Al Pechan has to vote for Bill Lane's particular tax program.

Mr. President, I have said repeatedly on this floor that I will vote for any tax measure which I feel is fair and constitutional, and which the majority of my people in my District want. We are not going to go into the tax program, but I want to say that I feel we have an urgency for this particular hospital. We can save the people of Pennsylvania millions of dollars if we go to work and find out what the Veterans Administration anticipates so far as Aspinwall is concerned and so far as Deshon is concerned.

Mr. President, I do not believe in going out and spending $44,000,000 for new buildings if we can get them for $2,500,000, $3,000,000 or even $10,000,000. I am also interested in economy, and if we can save millions of dollars by taking over either one of these institutions, then that is what I am for. I do not think that this should be brought up as a political issue, as I said awhile ago when Senator Barr and Senator Lane said they would like to sign that resolution and I unhesitatingly said, "Certainly, I am only too happy to do it." I am doing this out of the kindness of my heart for a need that I am sure we have in Pennsylvania.

Now, Mr. President, going back to the Earle Administration and whether to vindicate him, back in 1935 I just barely recollect when Governor Earle was Governor. I was not in politics at that time. Soon after that when Governor James came in, this institution was built and I do not know whether it was built for tubercular patients or not. I do not know what it was built for under the Earle Administration. However, I do know that Governor James, when he came in, felt that we did not need the hospital, and it was silly to go ahead and equip it and have it lay dormant. Shortly after that, I went to war and came back and found out that Deshon Hospital belonged to the Army.

Mr. President, let us not make a political football out of this resolution. Let us try and take care of these retarded children.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like for the gentleman on the other side to know that I was speaking fact. There was no political innuendo. We, too, are interested in our retarded children. I happened to serve on the board of directors in our county for quite a number of years to try to help out their plight.

I just wanted to point out the so-called mistakes which the Democrats are supposed to have made. I recall, too, that under Governor Martin's Administration we in the House fought this with everything we could. However, we were in the minority and the negotiations were processed and the sale went through. We felt that this was the wrong thing to do.

I want to assure Senator Pechan and the Members on the other side that we, too, do not want to make this a political football, but we cannot help but say that, after all, the truth is the truth and the Republican Majority has held up our tax program for months. I hope that you Republicans read the election returns of last Tuesday and have a change of heart.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would like to make as a matter of record in the Legislative Journal a story which appeared in the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph relative the Deshon Hospital this past Sunday, November 13.

The PRESIDENT. The newspaper article requested by the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

STATE URGED TO BUY DESHON FOR RETARDED

Sen. Pechan Sees Solution In Butler Purchase From U. S.

By Pat McCormack

State Sen. Albert R. Pechan today proposed that Pennsylvania regain possession of state-built Deshon Hospital, Butler, for mentally retarded children—about 8,000 of whom have "no place to go."

Pechan said his plan will save the state at least $30,000,000 compared with Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro's demand for $40,000,000 to build 3,500 beds for handicapped children.

In Washington, officials of the Veterans Administration admit a re-transfer of the facility owned by Pennsylvania until 1951 is possible.

They indicated a willingness to negotiate but have no been approached officially.

Pechan, chairman of the Senates health and welfare committee, will outline the proposition to the Senate tomorrow in Harrisburg.

Heads Vet Group

Pechan, as chairman of the Pennsylvania American Legion legislative committee, does not want veterans "short-changed" in the transfer.

The 475 patients at Deshon, Pechan said, should be transferred to Aspinwall VA hospital—where some 500 beds are empty.

Last spring the Hoover Commission suggested that Aspinwall be closed because it has "such a low bed utilization." The experts recommended that the state use the facility to help relieve hospital shortages.

Pechan's proposal comes on the heels of one a week ago by Welfare Secretary Shapiro to bargain for Aspinwall.

Gives His Reasons

The senator favors bargaining for Deshon instead because:

Deshon, built by the state in 1936, has been a white elephant for Pennsylvania taxpayers. It stood idle until the state leased it to the Army in 1942.

Deshon, with some renovatoin, could be turned into a home for 3,000 mentally retarded children. Aspinwall, on the other hand, could not handle half that many.

The "white elephant" in Butler cost the taxpayers more than $2,600,000 in 1936.

Gov. Earle built it, supposedly for a tuberculosis hospital. Gov. James would not let it open. His action was jeered as false economy.

The state leased the hospital to the Army for $160,000 a year. The lease was to run for 30 years.

The Army pulled out in 1946 and there was talk again that the state would finally operate the hospital, as it had promised to do since 1936.

Then veterans groups pressured the Veterans Administration to take over Deshon. The VA at first wanted no part of the hospital but was induced to turn it into a neuro-psychiatric hospital.

Between July, 1946 and October, 1951, the VA and Pennsylvania dickered about the price. A court decision finally ruled that the VA offer of $2,512,297 was "just compensation."

Argued on Price

The check was accepted grudgingly by Pennsylvania. In July, 1953, Gov. Fine signed a bill turning over Deshon to the VA.

Pechan, then a freshman senator from Ford City, was chairman of a Senate committee investigating the price. He and Sen. John H. Dent called the settlement "ridiculously low," they asked $6,000,000.

In recent years Deshon was doing a rush business caring for tuberculosis victims. But miracle medicines eventually cut the waiting list to nothing and started emptying the hospital.

Pechan feels the transfer of patients to Aspinwall could be effected without cutting VA service to veterans.

Points to Problem

He said:

"We must remember there is a tremendous shortage of beds for 8,000 unfortunate children. We have to take care of them as quickly as possible and as economically as possible."

With Deshon made over to handle 3,000 children, Pechan thinks the state tuberculosis hospital at Mt. Alto, near Waynesboro, could take care of the rest.

The same miracle medicines that are emptying Deshon are giving the state a surplus of thousands of beds in tuberculosis hospitals. Mt. Alto is the one reported about to close.

Favors Bargaining

Shapiro is calling for $40,000,000 to build new institutions for 3,500 of the 8,000 children.

Pechan thinks it unwise to build so many new hospitals when other facilities can be acquired by bargaining.

Pechan figures:

"We sold Deshon to the VA for around $2,500,000. Even if it costs us $4,000,000 to get it back we'll be savings upwards of $30,000,000.00

Many children on the waiting list reside in Allegheny County where, it is reported, there are 20,000 retarded children.

Friends of the Mentally Retarded will launch a week-long drive tomorrow for funs to help provide services for the youngsters. A door-to-door campaign will take place Sunday.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

CONDOLENCE OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE FAMILY OF THE LATE JOHN TONIE

Messrs. FLEMING, PEELOR, DIEHM, BLASS, HARNEY, KOPRIVER, JR., MADIGAN, PROPERT, WATKINS, BERGER, TAYLOR, WAGNER, WATSON, WHALLEY, SCOTT and WADE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 15, 1955.

On October 26th the Senate lost a faithful and efficient employe through the death of John Tonie, whose affable demeanor and readiness to be of service in anything within his power has been a joy to every Member of the Senate; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate note its sorrow over the passing of a well liked and admired employe, and express its sympathy for his bereaved mother, Mrs. Mary Tonie, by directing the Secretary of the Senate to transmit a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Tonie, at her residence, 317 Cherry Street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

RECESS

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes, for the purpose of holding a meet of the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make reports from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. LANE, from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 789, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the ninth day of August one thousand nine hundred fifty-five (P. L. ——) (Act No. 130) entitled "An act relating to counties of the third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" by authorizing collection of data concerning deceased veterans of armed conflicts and authorizing the erection of monuments to veterans of armed conflicts.

He also, from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 790, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-eighth day of July one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 723) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second class amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," by authorizing collection of data concerning deceased veterans of armed conflicts and authorizing the erection of monuments to veterans of armed conflicts.

He also, from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 797, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1931 (P. L. 1206) entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class; . . ." requiring entrance of bond in appeals from board of adjustment rulings affecting zoning regulations.

He also, from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 830, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 571), entitled, as amended, "The Fourth to Eighth Class County Assessment Law," requiring notice of changes in property valuations be given to political subdivisions in which the properties are located.

He also, from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 831, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 26, 1931 (P. L. 1379), entitled "An act creating in counties of the third class a board for the assessment and revision of taxes; . . ." requiring notice of changes in property valuations be given to political subdivisions in which the properties are located.

He also, from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 832, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 22, 1933 (P. L. 853), entitled "The General County Assessment Law," requiring notice of changes in property valuations be given to political subdivisions in which the properties are located.

He also, from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 833, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Code," authorizing townships to improve public streets or roads without petition and collect the costs thereof from owners of abutting properties.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1572, entitled:

An Act relating to coal mining, well operations and the underground storage of gas and the safety of personnel and facilities employed therein; prescribing the rights and duties of well operators, before, during, and after the drilling of wells for the production, extraction or storage of any gas, petroleum or other liquid; regulating the underground storage of gas under workable coal seams; prescribing the rights and duties of owners and operators of coal mines in relation to wells and underground storage areas; granting certain corporations a limited right of eminent domain to appropriate interests in real property for surface and sub-surface operations in connection with the underground storage of gas; creating the Oil and Gas Division of the Department of Mines and defining its personel powers and duties; providing for hearings and the procedures to be followed therein and imposing duties upon the courts and providing methods for the enforcement of the provisions of this act and imposing penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, line 2 of Title, by inserting after "gas": "except in storage reservoirs excavated in rock formations specifically for storage purposes"; amend Bill, page 6, by inserting between lines 6 and 7: "Section 103. Exclusions from Effect of Act.—Nothing contained in this act shall apply to storage of gas or liquids in storage reservoirs excavated in rock formations specifically for storage purposes."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1572, Printers No. 1044, on third reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

DELEGATES OF THE PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, throughout the halls of the Senate I see so many gorgeous looking ladies. Perhaps, all of them are Delegates of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women. At this time, Mr. President, I would like for all these ladies to rise and take a bow.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, extends a welcome to the distinguished guests.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

House Bill No. 73, Printer's No. 1046; and

Senate Bill No. 584, Printer's No. 301.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 729, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article two section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 2, line 7, by striking out after the word "shall" and before the word "not" the following: "be in session for not more than sixty days and shall"; amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 2, line 8, by striking out after the word "revenue" and before the word "laws" the following: "and"; amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 2, by striking out lines 9 to 11, inclusive, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "and laws pertaining to subjects designated by proclamation of the Governor prior to the first Tuesday of January."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

MOTION TO ADOPT AMENDMENTS

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the amendments be adopted.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not have a copy of the bill right before me, but in reading these amendments, and also recalling my conversation with Senator Lane yesterday, I understand if we adopt these amendments the bill will be put back in the same place as it was when we passed it in the preceding Session. It also would contain the same wording as the bill which has been presented in the House by Mr. Wood and another co-sponsor. It has passed the House and is now before a Senate Committee.

There was some objection to the wording of the bill as we passed it in the preceding Session, in 1953, due to the fact that there were many who felt that annual sessions would probably have a better chance of being voted for by the people of Pennsylvania if we did not have a provision in the bill that the Governor might, in his call, include any other matters in addition to the fiscal matters, in the Sessions called in the even numbered years. These people were anxious to see that we had annual sessions and they were in favor of them. However, they did not want to imperil the chance of having annual sessions by having this other feature added on. They felt that the sessions in the even numbered years should be devoted entirely to the business of fiscal affairs. There also should be a limitation on the time that the Legislature should be in Session in these even numbered years. That limitation should be sixty days.

Therefore, Mr. President, we have two philosophies; one, as contained in this bill, sponsored by Senator Kessler, and the other as contained in the bill sponsored by Mr. Norman Wood and some other Member of the House of Representatives whose name I have forgotten at the present time.

It would not make any difference whether we passed this bill or the other bill as far as the time when we could have the first annual, even numbered year session. The first chance to have such a session as that would be in 1958. I do not believe there would be any desire to have a Session in 1956. It is quite likely that this session may go over into 1956. We could not vote on it before that time anyway. Therefore, if we pass this bill, without the amendments, it would have to be passed, it is true, by another Session of the Legislature which would be in 1957. Then, in 1957, the people at the November election could vote on it, and if they voted in favor of this constitutional amendment, to allow annual sessions, then our first annual session would be in 1958.

For that reason, Mr. President, and because I think the annual session question would have a better chance of passing if we had some limitation on the time and also a limitation on the subjects which could be legislated on in those annual sessions, I oppose the amendments as offered by my good friend, Senator Lane.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it is true that what I have done is taken and amended Senate Bill No. 729 to comply with the wording in House Bill No. 55, which passed the 1953 Session of the Legislature.

In listening to the Majority Leader's arguments, I might say first that a sixty day limitation upon the length of a Session is certainly ridiculous and silly. If we are going to talk about taxes, which the Session would primarily be called for, there may be a stalemate; there may be a sit-down strike for sixty days and then the Session would have to be adjourned. Secondly, the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has a mandate by the electorate of the people of Pennsylvania to operate this government as the Chief Executive. There may be problems which might confront the Chief Executive in the proper operation of government whereby he might find it necessary to include in this regular Session some other subject than taxes and appropriations. After all, I believe all of us will agree that government in Pennsylvania has become a huge operation.

I wonder, too, if some of the Members on the other side realize that second class townships operate on an annual budget basis. This applies also to boroughs, first class townships, counties, third class cities. However, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania operates on a biennial basis. Since we have such a large operation it seems to me that the postponement of the vote on annual sessions is, in itself, shortsighted.

As the Majority Leader has stated, if we pass Senate Bill No. 729 in its original form, it is going to have to be passed again by another Session of the Legislature and then go to the people for a vote. Of course, then the first regular session will be around 1958. I wonder why we question the judgment of the Legislature in 1953. This legislation was sponsored by Representative Wood, who is an old hand on the other side in the House of Representatives. I think, as a matter of fact, Representative Wood has served in the House of Representatives since, as Senator Ruth states, 1923. Mr. Readinger has served there, I think, since 1930 or 1932. Surely, these men know what they are doing. Why is it that a Republican Majority now objects to something which has already passed one Session of the Legislature? It seems to me, if I should call the shots as I see them, that I believe they want to kill off annual sessions.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the annual sessions proposal was a part of both the Democratic and Republican platforms. At the 1953 Session, the Legislature was under the control of the Republicans. The bill was drafted by the Republicans in 1953 and it was passed in 1953. The complexion of the Legislature is practically the same, with but few exceptions, on the other side, so if there is a difference of thinking on the provisions of the amendment, I would like to know where the difference emanates from. The difference in the proposal introduced in the Senate this year, in my opinion, is nothing more than a subterfuge to delay and defeat annual sessions in Pennsylvania and is in violation of the platform pledge of the Republican Party if it votes against the amendments submitted by Senator Lane.

Here in Pennsylvania we are serving over 11,000,000 people. Session after Session we are having trouble with fiscal problems. We are having trouble with fiscal problems because we meet on biennial basis. Everyone who has an interest in good government, people outside the Legislature, are favorable to annual sessions. I have not read one editorial in any newspaper that opposed the annual session idea. As a matter of fact, even the children in high school seem to be for it. I offered a scholarshrip to the Elks Lodge in Bethlehem to the best essayist and the subject was, "Should the Legislature amend the Constitution of Pennsylvania to provide for annual instead of biennial sessions?" From all of the essays which were submitted, the contestants who engaged in that contest all favored annual sessions.

Mr. President, to say that we will get it at some time in the future is, frankly, silly because if you pass this new proposed amendment which was submitted at this Session, in lieu of the one which was passed at the last Session, there is nothing wrong with somebody coming around at the next Session and amending it when it comes up for the second time and in that way, delay, delay. Therefore, I repeat, this is nothing but a subterfuge to defeat the theory of annual sessions in Pennsylvania.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I do not believe that there is any question about the desirability of annual sessions. It is simply a matter of the restriction of those annual sessions to fiscal matters. The experience of other States that have adopted the annual sessions idea is that the odd years, or the even years in our case, might be set aside for the discussion of financial matters only.

Because there were no restrictions in those constitutional requirements, the Governor of the State was able to call a Special Session of the General Assembly either immediately preceding or immediately following the Session which was devoted to fiscal matters. That threw the community again in a turmoil because all sorts of legislation could be brought up for discussion.

Now the objection to the bill which passed in 1953, which is again in the Senate Committee and which has not been acted on, is that this bill permits the Governor by proclamation to bring up for discussion, at what is supposed to be a fiscal Session of the General Assembly, any and all matters which he might want to include in that proclamation. That leaves the door wide open, and we would find, I am sure, that in the even years we would have a Session of the General Assembly that would be just as complete and thoroughgoing perhaps as we would have in the odd year Sessions.

Mr. President, the purpose of the proposed constitutional amendment which I introduced is to restrict the even year sessions to fiscal matters only, and it prohibits the Governor from calling a special session of the General Assembly either thirty days prior or thirty days following the fiscal session. Now the purpose of that is that the Governor should not call a special session of the General Assembly unless there is something very unusual or something drastic which has to be taken care of. That is the only purpose of Senate Bill No. 729. There is no intent here to delay the arrival of annual sessions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In fact, if we were to pass this bill it would go before the general electorate in 1957, assuming, of course, that the 1957 General Assembly acted favorably on it and the first annual session could be had in 1958.

Mr. President, the bill which the Senator from Northampton is discussing could not become effective either before 1958, while certainly it would be on the ballot in the fall of 1956 were we to pass it this Session. However, the first annual session would be 1958. Therefore, in either case, you arrive at your first annual session in 1958.

Mr. President, I believe that the bill which I have sponsored does provide some safeguards which I believe the people in the Commonwealth are entitled to.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in 1953 when this legislation was up for a vote, if you go back through you will find that there was quite a bit of discussion on the question of restricting the annual session to fiscal questions only. Those who proposed that at that time were in the minority. As I remember it, the gentleman who has suddenly put in a bill which does exactly that was a member of the Senate and voted for the original bill, which passed in 1953 and is now incorporated in House Bill No. 55, introduced by Messrs. Readinger and Wood.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, the action today is to me an open book. If we now amend the bill, it means that the act which was passed in 1953 will be null and void. Senate Bill No. 729 will not be before the General Asembly until 1957. In 1957, if you do not have an act of the Legislature which establishes annual sessions, you will have to budget for two years. You will have to go into a full dress session of the Legislature the same as we are having today. You will not be able to budget on a one year basis and to say that this does not cause a delay is not quite true, because if the bill which is now in committee, House Bill No. 55, passes, the people will be permitted to vote next year. If they vote in favor of it, the incoming General Assembly in January of 1957 will be able to justify their work on a yearly basis.

This is a restrictive bill, Mr. President. House Bill No. 55 has all of the safeguards in it that the people would require, because it carries with it the provisions that are now contained in the call for a special session.

The restriction in this act is shown in House Bill No. 55, Printers No. 27, on line 8, page 2: "The General Assembly shall not enact any laws except laws raising revenue laws making appropriations and laws pertaining to subjects designated by proclamation of the Governor prior to the first Tuesday of January."

Mr. President, for all intents and purposes, the language of House Bill No. 55 does exactly what the gentleman from Lancaster says he wants done, but it does a little more. If there are any vexing problems facing the Commonwealth at that time, the people can be saved the expense of a special session of the legislature, because the Governor can include in the call for the annual session a proclamation which will allow the General Assembly to take up any problems that may be facing it at that moment. Being in the second year of a biennium, any problems that may arise during that biennium would probably be acute right at that moment and so, Mr. President, believe that this is nothing but a delay.

What will happen? I would like to make a little prediction. If we pass this new Senate Bill No. 729, the very men who unanimously voted for the act in 1953 without disagreement as to its features, who are now voting for Senate Bill No. 729 without disagreement as to the features of the bill, will, if they are in control in 1957, come in and re-amend the bill again, and again the people will be faced with another delay of four years.

Now, Mr. President, I say that the House will have an opportunity to amend this bill. So, in order to not have any further delay, I will suggest to the Republican Senate, that I will recommend to the House of Representatives that they put into the Kessler Bill all of the features contained in the Readinger-Wood bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I do not know whether the gentleman who is proposing this bill has thought of all of the possible results of his amendments. I wonder if he realizes that if this bill were to be enacted and approved by the people of the Commonwealth, the ability of this Commonwealth to deal with an important and critical problem would be gone. The Governor has always had the power, in case of crisis, to call a meeting of the General Assembly. As I see it, if this bill were enacted, there would be four months in every other year when the Governor and the Legislature would be powerless to take steps to relive a State-wide calamity.

I wonder if the Senator who proposes this bill would like to guarantee to this Senate, and to the people of the Commonwealth, that no State-wide calamity such as one of the hurricanes, which recently devastated areas in our Commonwealth, will not happen. I wonder if he would like to promise us that during those four months in a year no inimical power will ever drop an atomic bomb on one of the cities of Pennsylvania. In an event like that, Mr. President, it seems to me the General Assembly needs to be able to act at the call of the Governor to take care of a critical and pressing problem. However, this would tie the hands for four months out of every other year. We would just have to pray that no elemental or natural calamity would come; we would have to pray that no question involving national defense would arise because this would tie our hands and make us impotent.

I think in view of those facts, Mr. President, the people who have recently suffered calamity and devastation, which this Legislature was able to do something about due to the fact that we were in Session and, which in the case of an off year, the Governor would undoubtedly call us in Session to take care of it, I wonder if the Senator realizes that this bill would tie the hands of the State Government so that they could not take effective action to relieves the suffering of such people in such a calamity.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, if the gentlemen on the other side were sincere about annual sessions, it would have been voted on this year. The bill passed in the 1953 Session by an almost unanimous vote. At this Session, a similar bill was introduced on February 28. It was passed finally by the House on May 4 by a vote of 146 to 14. The Primary Election was held on May 18. If the Senate would have acted with dispatch, the House Bill which came over here on May 4th, could have been passed in time and could have probably been placed on the primary ballot.. If time did not permit for it to be placed on the primary ballot, it surely could have been placed on the general election ballot.

The Republicans stalled around and stalled around until after the General Election was over. Now, they report the bill out. However, this is a new bill and not the one which passed the House. Taking all of the factors into consideration, I repeat that this is nothing but a subterfuge to defeat annual sessions or delay them for purposes of their own.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not suppose I could say anything here today which would change the minds of anyone on the other sdie of the aisle. However, in winding up this debate, I would like to make just a few observations.

First, if the Majority Party rejects these amendments, I, for one am convinced that they are opposed to annual sessions.

Secondly, Mr. President, I believe the Republicans in the Senate are endeavoring to strip the Chief Executive of the power and authority which is mandated to him by the electorate of Pennsylvania. I might add, too, that in my opinion the Republican Party in Pennsylvania has made a terrible record at this Session of the Legislature. Perhaps, for that reason, they do not want annual sessions. Maybe they do not want a double dose.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and Mr. DENT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—10

Barr,	Hays,	McGinnis,	Ruth,
Dent,	Lane,	Miller,	Seyler,
Derk,			Yosko,

NAYS—22

Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Kopriver, Jr.	Propert,	Wade,
Chapman,	Madigan,	Scott,	Watkins,
Diehm,	Mahany,	Stevenson,	Watson,
Flack,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Whalley,
Harney,	Pechan,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, for a long time I have enjoyed the friendly combat which takes place on occasion between the Republican Floor Leader and myself. At no time have we, to my knowledge, resorted to personal name calling no matter what we may have thought of each other.

Mr. President, I was very much surprised to find on my desk a release which is credited to Senator Rowland B. Mahany, my worthy opponent on the other side. I would like to read it because I think the Members of the Senate should know just what Senator Mahany thinks about when he is not thinking about tax problems or, at least, what somebody says he thinks about.

"I have said repeatedly throughout this Democratic-inspired tax squabble that the Republicans in the Senate are willing to sit down with our Democratic counterparts to discuss their tax program whenever it is ready for introduction in the House as required by the Constitution.

"By his own statement today, Senator Dent, himself, indicates that he does not know which bills he is proposing have the Administration backing. When the Democrats make up their own minds and receive the official endorsement of the Administration, I will personally take their tax program before the Senate Republican Caucus to see what, if any, support is available.

"Senator Dent's statement that the Republican leadership has 'run out' on a previous commitment to discuss their tax program yesterday is not only a deliberate falsehood, but a deliberate attempt to continue playing politics with the peoples' pocketbooks."

At that point, Mr. President, I might say that that is very reminiscent of our old friend, Franklin Roosevelt, when he used to say, "Martin, Barton and Fish." Here we have, "Politics, Peoples and Pocketbooks."

Again, quoting Senator Mahany's statement, I read as follows:

"Although the Senator did mention the possibility of our concurring yesterday at a time when many of our Senators were otherwise engaged, no formal request or agreement for usch a meeting ever was made.

"There could, therefore, have been no 'run out' such as the Democratic Minority Leader charges—and no one knows this better than himself."

Mr. President, I wondered what had happened to my very amiable friend on the other side when he would allow himself to be put into the position of calling me a liar. I do not think that he meant to do that. I will say that I, probably like most politicians, have at times elaborated on the issue, but no more often nor louder than the Senator from the other side. I do not mind name calling because I have been called names by experts. However, I wondered what had happened, and I found the answer in this morning's newspaper. I see where Jim Duff has saddled the Republican Caucus with his personal press agent and in order to start earning his keep, he starts writing for my good friend, Rowland Mahany. I do not mind what he writes, but if he is not any more factual—and he is not—than he was in the statements and has been in the statements he has prepared for the big bluffer from Washington, I do not think he will do your cause much good.

The technique of this newspaperman whom you have employed is the technique that he used to destroy Governor Fine with. It seems that there was some kind of a personal misunderstanding between Fine and Duff. I have often wondered about how Republicans operate.

Governor James was succeeded by Governor Martin and thirty days after Martin took office, he quit talking to James. Martin was succeeded by Governor Duff and within two weeks, Duff quit talking to Martin. Then Duff was succeeded by Governor Fine and before poor Fine could even get sworn in, Duff quit talking to him. Of course, the technique they used to destroy poor, old Governor Fine was that they held a long Session after the Duff forces had talked him into an income tax proposal in 1951. When Governor Fine wanted to pass a sales tax, he was then told by the Duff spokesman, Senator Walker, that he could not get it through the Senate, but that he could get an income tax through. Of course, you all know the story of that historical or hysterical Session. What happened was that Duff thought when he went to Washington, inasmuch as he had handpicked Fine, that Fine should be decent enough to let him run the State. You will remember that we had quite an argument on whether or not the dead hand from the grave could control. We had to invoke the Constitution in order that Governor Duff's appointment as Attorney General would not remain in office without re-appointment, if you will all remember the fight. I lost a very good friend over that fight. It is too bad when you have to fight for the Constitution and lose personal friends. However, sometimes you must do that because I have found in my few years of political endeavor that the Constitution is a greater document than even personal friendship, and it has a greater right to endure than even personal friendship.

Anyway, this man, McCormick, was brought in from New York State, where he was currently out of work, by this man Duff and he was put to work to cut Governor Fine down. He did not realize that when he was doing that, he was destroying the Republican Party. We are grateful to him for it. We have always said that Duff was as good a campaigner as the Democrats ever had. I am glad to see him bring this man, McCormick, back in because if this is an example of what he is going to do and the tactics he is going to use, calling us perfectly honest men over here liars and things, then I think he will end up being the greatest benefit the Democratic Party can get out of this Session of the Legislature.

In so far as the meeting yesterday, Mr. President, if Senator Mahany did not understand our conversation and when he called me later at my office, if what he said to me was not what I thought it was, then there was no meeting arranged yesterday. For that I am sorry for I understood there was. However, he did not have to go to anybody and have him write a letter like this. If he wanted me to say that there was no meeting planned, I would have been satisfied to say that.

Mr. President, it takes two to make an argument and I do not particularly want to argue over personalities with the jovial gentleman from Crawford. We have had a lot of nice arguments and discussions together. If Duff is going to saddle you boys with the cost of this personal press agent of his, I think you should get some work out of him. I think you should make him do a little work. If you are going to have him cut the Membership over here down with his little bit of foolishness, it is perfectly all right. We are tickled to death with it because we have a pretty good cutter ourselves on our pay roll. He can probably dish it out as well as take it. I do not think that I am going to hold anything against the gentleman.

Another thing, if he thinks I am a liar, that is his right to think so. If he thinks I do not tell the truth, that is all right with me, too. However, I will never say anyhing but nice things about him. I think Senator Mahany is one of the nicest fellows I have ever served with and I hope that he will be the Republican Leader so long as he wants to be. I will assure him that no one on this side will ever do any undercutting and I will refuse, under any conditions, to say that he is a liar or to say that he is inept, or say any of the things that some of his own colleagues have intimated to me. I would never say that publicly or otherwise. I think that the gentleman, as I have said, is a gentleman, and I am very much surprised that he allowed this fellow to write it. He may deny that McCormick wrote it and if he does, then I will have to assume that he wrote it. Under those conditions, I may take a dimmer view of it.

STUDENTS OF SPRINGFIELD HIGH SCHOOL, DELAWARE COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would like to change the atmosphere for just a few moments. I have the great pleasure of introducing to you, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the eleventh grade high school class from Springfield, Delaware County. Mr. Albert Jones, Chairman of Social Studies, and five other chaperones are in charge of the class.

I would like to say to all of the students from Springfield that it is certainly a real pleasure for me to have the opportunity to introduce them. I am very proud of the Springfield schools and everyone who lives in Springfield. It is a real nice Republican County.

The PRESIDENT. We are very glad to have the students from the Springfield School in the Senator's great county with us, and we are sure that if they listen here long enough some of their views will change. We welcome you here.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I listened to the remarks of my good friend, Senator Dent, with mixed emotions. I did not quite know when he got through whether I should be insulted or complimented. He was throwing—

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator yield for just a moment until the students retire?

The Senator from Crawford will proceed.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I was saying that the Senator was throwing verbal brickbats and also some bouquets along with them. Therefore, when he got through I did not know whether he meant to insult me or compliment me.

I do want to say this to the Senator, Mr. President, that anybody in leadership is bound to be criticized by not only the people on the other side but sometimes his own colleagues. When he said there had been certain of my colleagues who had intimated to him that I had some shortcomings, I think that is only natural because some of the people over there on his side at times have attacked him in like manner. I remember about four years ago that he had quite a to-do over there on his side with some of his colleagues who were calling him more appropriate names than what I have ever been able to think up for him. He probably recalls some of those names which he was called at that time by some of the people who are sitting quite close to him now. I want to say to him that at that time I sympathized with him, and I did not enter into the parade to heap any more abuse on him than was already heaped there on his head by members of his own party.

Mr. President, as far as that release is concerned perhaps it might be the voice of Jacob and the hand of Esau that I had referred to when Senator Barr read a statement which had obviously been written for him by someone else. Perhaps this is a little bit along that line. However, I do want to say that the fellow who put it into the words of the press release I think is quite capable, and I do not think that he misrepresented what I had told him about the conversation which I had relative to Senator Dent. There is no name calling in that release.

I want to say this to my colleagues, and I did tell them before the press release was given, that yesterday morning Senator Dent in a telephone conversation, among other things, said that he had some kind of a new tax program which he would like to have an opportunity of discussing with two or three of our Republican leaders and he named a couple, as I remember it. I said to him that I thought perhaps some time during the day we might be able to get together. That is the only recollection that I have relative to any agreement or disagreement about a meeting. I did not understand at that time that we had any agreement that we were going to have a definite meeting, and I did not know that it made any difference whether it was yesterday, today or tomorrow that we might have the meeting. Senator Dent advised me what the program was, and, as I remember, it he told me that it was kind of top secret at the time, but when I got out I found that I was not the only one who knew about it. It seems the press had even put the papers out on the street, which pretty much covered the program as it was announced to me. Also, many of my colleagues knew about it. Therefore, instead of taking it up with two or three leaders, I told the members of the Caucus what I understood the program to be.

Mr. President, as you know, we went into session shortly after the Caucus which lasted quite late, and then we went out for dinner and there was no opportunity of getting together with Senator Dent.

I was surprise today when a newsman handed me a release by Senator Dent, which perhaps was not a formal release but just some off-the-cuff remarks which he made, to the effect that I and other Republicans had run out on him when we had made an agreement to meet with him yesterday. I perhaps could have called him a liar or something like that, but I did not.

As I remember it, I said it was a falsehood, or something on that order, or a misrepresentation and that it was done in order to mislead the people.

I want the people of Pennsylvania, and Senator Dent and everybody else to know that we on this side are not running out on them. We have gone and met with the Governor time after time when he wanted to meet with us, and others, to see if we could work out something. Even in spite of the fact that shortly after we had these meetings, he went out and made formal speeches throughout the State saying that we were obstructionists and that we were not doing our job, that we were not cooperating with him and all those other things, we would go back the next week and have another meeting with him. I do not know how many meetings we have had with the Governor and his Democratic advisors. How he can say that we are running out on him is just beyond my imagination.

Mr. President, I hope that Senator Dent will be a little bit lenient with Mr. McCormick who, it has been announced, is now working for the Republican State Committee. Give him a little time and I believe that he will be able to come up with as many adjectives and with as tough names as your man "Poison Pen" Pennington uses on occasion. It will take a little time, but I am hopeful that sometime we will be able to get up here and hold the pace that "Poison Pen" Pennington holds when he writes those fine releases for Senator Barr and others on that side.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think that Mr. McCormick probably learned his penmanship at the hands of Mr. Pennington. I am not sure of that, but I do remember when he worked under Mr. Pennington.

I have no disregard or regard either way for Bob McCormick. I think that personally he is a nice fellow and I am glad that he got on the pay roll. However, I am glad that he is on the State Committee's payroll and not on the State Senate's pay roll as the paper said today.

Mr. President, I would just like to conclude this thing in one way and that is by saying to the gentlemen on the other side that the President pro tempore of the Senate did run out on these meetings and did not show up for the meetings in the Governor's office. I do not think that you learned anything on November 2, 1954, and I think you learned less from the election returns on November 8, 1955.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, since the gentleman does not remember too well from yesterday, I would like to refresh his memory. He said he only remembered when we decided that I would like to meet with him. We were to meet about one o'clock. Well, he called me about one o'clock—if I remember, it was ten minutes to one—and he said, "Now the boys are not all around right now. They will be back about half past one or so, and I will call you when they come."

Now I misunderstood you because I thought you meant to do it. I construed that as a definite date, and it may interest you to know that I stayed in my office and waited for the call. At the time that you called, I understood you were back in the back somewhere. That is all right. That is no matter of earth-shaking consequence and whether it is a falsehood or not is no matter of earth-shaking consequence. What does matter is that we have tried to promote the welfare of this State. I do not believe that the people are fooled by any smart talk or clever phrases. Duffs press agent quotes you as saying that it is a Democratic inspired tax squabble. We do not admit the guilt of that charge.

Mr. President, we have time and again assumed what we thought was our responsibility. If the Governor has said to the people that you are obstinate and obdurate, he may have had some reason for that statement. For the past nine months you met with the Governor, yes; in the past six weeks and eight weeks, some of you. The Minority-Leader of the House never came to a meeting after the formal meetings started. While we were meeting in the office, the Minority Leader of the House was out lambasting the Governor and the Democratic Membership of this General Assembly. While we were meeting on a so-called effort to compromise, the Minority-Leader of the House was enunciating the program of the Republicans to be nothing but a sales tax. I mean the Republican Leaders and former Speaker of the House, now minority leader of the House, Charlie Smith by name and Charlie Smith by action.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I believe that if the truth were told by the other side, you would know that I sat down at those meetings and enunciated one principle. I said that the only way that you can compromise and compromise honestly is for both sides to give and both sides to take. I told them that I had a great deal of experience across the bargaining board in labor disputes, and I found when one side was adamant in its position there was inevitably a strike or a lock out. However, even after the strike and the lock out, they still had to come to the basis of a compromise to accomplish anything. I pleaded with the representatives of the Republican Caucus to come there prepared to speak for their Caucus. I think that the people ought to know that at no time was there anyone in attendance who could speak for the Republican Membership of the Senate or the Republican Membership of the House. If after some time the Governor became exasperated with the futility of it all, I can understand.

I do not know what the Republican Party's intentions are. They have an inkling, a very clear and forthright picture of what we have in mind. They can be discussing it, and I understand they have been discussing it in their Caucus. They can take a position as to the principles of the tax program we are talking about, and the question of the rates will be a question of compromise, a question of negotiation and a question as to ironing out what we think and what you think on the basis of what the State needs for its expenditures in the next couple of years. You cannot just sit over there and say, "We are willing to sit down with the Governor; we have met with the Governor, but no matter how long or how often we sit, we still are only going to be for the sales tax." You cannot do that in honesty. The people are not fooled and they were not fooled on November the 8th.

Mr. President, people are intelligent and, as a whole, they are very aware of what is going on in Harrisburg. Again, in the remarks of the gentleman, he said we may be in Session in 1956, meaning this Session of the Legislature. There is no earthly reason for this General Assembly to be in Session in 1956. During the campaign, one of your spokesmen, a man by the name of Malone, who seems to be the spokesman for the Republican Party in western Pennsylvania, a close associate of Duff—he was not at one time but if you know Malone, you know that he is now or was until election day—was on television, Mr. President, and he had a solution for our problem. He said that all we have to do in Harrisburg to solve the tax problem is to cut everything twenty per cent. I can answer that very frankly and say to you members of this Senate on the other side that if you feel that is the solution, you can cut. You have the votes. There is nothing stopping you from doing anything you want to do.

The solution to this problem lays in an open, honest effort on the part of the Membership of this Senate to arrive at a fiscal program that will meet the needs of this Commonwealth. I do not care where you reach out to get $450,000,000, you are going to hurt somebody or something. That is almost fifty per cent of your present tax duplicate in this Commonwealth. It is a tremendous load to carry. It is not one that we relish. We would much prefer, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, to have been able to come to Harrisburg and say to the people of this Commonwealth, "There is no need for any tax increase in this State. We can survive the increasing cost of government without adding to your personal cost of government." Unfortunately, Mr. President, we cannot do that, nor can any community in this State, nor can the Federal Government, nor can any government today if it meets the challenge of our present day civilization, if it accepts the responsibility to the governed, if it acts constitutionally and gives to the people the services that the people by their vote have indicated that they want.

Therefore, Mr. President, I plead with the Membership of the Senate on the other side today to discard the voices of your outside advisors and to represent the people in your individual Districts with the over-all interest of the people of the Commonwealth in mind and at heart. If you feel that what we promote and what we propose as a tax program to be one that is politically unsound or politically unwise, tell the people that and then go out and defeat us if you will and if you can. We are not accustomed to being in office. A defeat does not destroy us and send us into a panic. We have been accustomed to wakening up on Wednesday mornings more often defeated than elected. Therefore, we do not worry about the salt river excursions. If our program for the benefit of this State means political defeat, we will accept that political defeat. However, we want it to be known to the people of this State that whatever we do, we are doing in good conscience; that we are endeavoring to pass the kind of legislation that will give this State the kind of government that we as a responsible political party stand for, harkening back to the infant days of this great Nation which has survived every war, storm and catastrophe as a single entity, that has come down over the years as a political party which has carried its banner unsoiled, high in the realms and in the skies of political principle and honesty.

Therefore, Mr. President, I beg of the Republican Membership of this Senate to sit down with the leadership on the Democratic side of the Senate now, tonight, tomorrow or any time that they say, and we will give you what we believe to be a program that can meet the needs of the Commonwealth. Let us not expect to cover up our inadequacies by employing, as the gentleman from the other side has said, a clever adjective writer. I might say that when he called Mr. Pennington "Poison Pen" Pennington, for thirteen years he worked for the Republican State Administration as their chief publicist. If he learned to dip his ink in acid and poison, he learned it at the knees of his teachers. If you are going to take that big, fine strapping, young, innocent man, Mr. McCormick, and try to make him out into the image of Pennington, you will have a hard row to hoe.

I remember Mr. Pennington, gentlemen of the Senate, when he and I operated a small newspaper together some twenty-six years ago. We operated a little weekly newspaper and when I say weekly, I spell it w-e-a-k-l-y. It was a free paper that we gave away, and when we were short of cash, which was almost every Saturday, we would go out and sell subscriptions. We both learned a little about the newspaper game in those days. Of course, I have learned that it has changed a lot since then. They use a different type of ink and I understand now, from the gentleman on the other side, that they use a different type pen. In those days, we were more interested in the truth, straight from the shoulder, and not so much in the adjectives.

However, Mr. President, the pen that the Republicans have employed will not solve the problem of the Commonwealth. The only thing which will solve the problem of the Commonwealth is the individual sense of responsibility of the individual Members of this Senate. I beg of you to reconsider your position and to allow us to assume the responsibility for the fiscal program in the State. If it is bad, the people will know it. If it is bad, the people will defeat us and praise you. If it is good, the people will benefit. You cannot always be right. We might be offered the opportunity once in twenty years of trying to at least be right.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think we spend too much time in the Senate talking about tax matters when, no doubt, the gentleman knows that these tax matters should first be discussed in the House where, under our Constitution, all taxes must originate. All revenue measures, as Senator Dent knows, must originate in the House. Until the House passes on this tax package which has recently been discussed, the Senate can do nothing officially. As far as doing something unofficially, we have told them that we are willing to do that. We have gone, as Governor Leader said, the extra mile. We have told them that when the Governor, or Senator Dent, announces that this is the Administration tax package, we will go to our Senate Caucus, and we will advise them, in advance of any work which they must do in the House in regard to getting the tax package through, whether it will be a futile effort or whether it will not. We will tell them how many Republican votes the tax package may receive in the Senate.

I think that is as much and perhaps more than what they could expect the Republican Senate to do. However, the Democrats do not seem to appreciate that. They want us to start voting over here before they even introduce the bills in the House. I note by the newspaper today that the four topflight labor leaders have discussed the tax program with the Governor and they have endorsed it. They were asked why they endorsed it and they said, "Well, what do you suppose? You do not think we are going to object to what our friends are doing?" That is the way the newspaper this afternoon carried their story.

Mr. President, we first want to know just what this tax program is. Senator Dent said it is a two per cent income tax. We want to know what deductions are in there, what business expenses may be taken credit for; we want to know how they arrive at the constitutionality of such a thing in the light of decisions of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania which upheld that you cannot have exemptions. If the Governor was doubtful about the constitutionality of the tax-on-tax program which Senator Dent was talking about a week or so ago, I cannot understand why he should not be just as doubtful about this. All this does is make the multiplication of two per cent on the figure on one line in the income tax return, which you file with the Federal Government, instead of multiplying by seven per cent of the figure on another line in the Federal return. I just cannot understand why one would be constitutional and the other would not be constitutional.

I also would like to know, Mr. President, how they figure out they can collect, let us say, a manufacture's excise tax on a manufacturer of furniture in Illinois when the manufacturer would not know whether his furniture was going into Pennsylvania or whether it was going into California. Suppose a manufacturer sells to a wholesaler, and the wholesaler sells to a retailer in Pennsylvania and the retailer sells to somebody else. How could the manufacturer out there in one of those Midwestern States know whether he was supposed to collect the tax from the fellow he sold to or whether he was not supposed to?

Mr. President, Senator Dent just cannot expect us overnight to say, "Yes, we are for that," or, "No, we are not for it." We want to have some answers to these questions. I am willing to stay over here tomorrow and try to find out from Senator Dent if he has any answers or any explanations. I would like to have answers to some of my questions relative to these proposed taxes.

Senator Dent continually tries to make out to the people of Pennsylvania that the Republicans here are not doing their jobs. We are definitely trying to do our jobs, and we are not going to be for or against taxes because we are either friendly or unfriendly toward the Administration. We are going to pass Constitutional fair taxes here if you have them to propose.

It is also a little difficult, Senator Dent, for us to come to the conclusion that we are being against what the people want. When Governor Leader ran for Governor, he did not run on the type of tax program which he is now espousing, nor did he run on the Leader Classified Income Tax. As I remember it, the impression which I got, and which many others received, was that if we elected him Governor, we would not have to worry about any new taxes. We could even forget about the sales tax, because he was going to effect so many economies in government that we would not need any more taxes. That is the issue on which he went to the people in Pennsylvania. Now he comes along and he says, "Well, I cannot be for a sales tax because I promised the people of Pennsylvania I would not be for a sales tax." All this mercantile excise tax is, is a sales tax in disguise. Now we are browbeaten because we are not only not going to be for a sales tax, which he is trying to hide, but we are also against Governor Leader trying to put an income tax on the people. We definitely remember, in his campaign, that he said time and time again that he would oppose an income tax.

Mr. President, I wish the Democrats would give us a little time to try to forget all those promises. If Senator Dent and the Governor would have been as forthright in their speeches to the people of Pennsylvania about the necessity of raising taxes to pay for the needs of the Commonwealth when the campaign was on, in which Governor Leader was elected, as you were in your fine speech that you just made about ten or fifteen minutes ago, perhaps there would have been a little different result, and we might not have the same occupant in the front office as is now there. At that time, you had a different song to sing than you have now. You are playing the other side of the record. Sometimes I wish we would have the record to play back that you played a year ago. You would probably be startled at some of the things that you and the others said at that time.

Please give us a little time now. Do not ask us to make up our minds overnight about what we are going to do. Perhaps, it may be possible for two or three to swallow something or other here and gag a bit. However, I will have to find that out.

I want to say to Senator Dent right now that at no time when I sit down with, you, or the Governor or anybody else do I have any authority to speak for the other Republican Senators as far as whether they are going to vote for or against the tax program. Until such time as they specifically state to me, personally, that they will or will not support a tax program, I have no authority to speak for them. You evidently have some way of being able to speak for all the Democrats without what you call a unit rule. I cannot do that. I could not pledge any one of these Senators to vote for a tax without first discussing it with them and finding out whether they will vote for it. If they tell me they will, I will be glad to convey the message to you as to whether you can expect their vote. Further than that, I cannot now go, nor do I expect to go in the future. With that understanding, Senator Dent, I am willing to sit down with you or anybody else at any time and try to work out something.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am at a loss to understand the gentleman from Titusville when he gets up and says that we should not even talk about taxes over here because they have to go through the House first. Then he enumerated taxes and he finally got around to saying that he is willing to go to any meetings, but if he goes to a meeting he cannot pledge even himself. I guess maybe he has to call Mrs. Mahany before he can pledge his own vote. He then went on to discuss what went on in last year's campaign.

I remember very well when jabbering Jim from Washington ran, and there was a $200,000,000 surplus. Jabbering Jim came in and spent $300,000,000 more.

Mr. President, I think we had a pretty good vote last week. At least we did out my way. I read the Philadelphia papers and every speech which was made by all major candidates, including Jabbering Jim and Harve Taylor right down here in this Market House, was on George Leader's tax program. Down in Philadelphia, we won by about 130,000 and our County Commissioners won by about 90,000. Therefore, I think that the people know pretty well what is going on.

I do not know how we are supposed to talk to you Republicans. What is the use of you coming over to these meetings if you cannot even pledge yourself? I would like to ask that question.

INTERROGATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I certainly will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Mahany, is there any need for having you in any bipartisan conference over in the Governor's Office if you cannot even pledge yourself to vote for anything?

Mr. MAHANY. Now, Senator Barr, I did not say that I could not pledge myself. I said I could not pledge any of the others. I will tell you over there, when you tell me your program, whether or not I feel that I could vote for it. I can pledge myself. As far as the others are concerned—

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have the floor, do I not?

Mr. MAHANY. All right, but I have not finished answering your question.

Mr. BARR. Oh, you had not? Pardon me, go ahead.

Mr. MAHANY. As far as the other Senators are concerned, I can pledge them after I tell them the tax program which you are espousing. Then I can come back and tell you then how many other votes in addition to my own that you can count on.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Mahany, I would like to ask you another question. With the unit rule can you pledge yourself?

Mr. MAHANY. Oh, my heavens, the unit rule does not have anything to do with that. We do not have a unit rule to start with, I told you that, but the unit rule does not obligate me to vote. In the far distant past, when I do remember that we did have a unit rule, it was always possible for a Senator to be excused from the unit rule upon asking for leave to be excused and then having the group vote to excuse him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I was here in that dismal past and I can remember the Senator from Fayette County, Senator Bowers, and you had plenty of votes to pass bills, and he came to you with tears in his eyes and pleaded with you people to be relieved from voting on some bills affecting the mine workers in his area, and you would not do it and he went down to dismal defeat. I do not ever remember a time when anyone was ever excused from the unit rule over on your side. I think perhaps it may have worked out pretty well for you because the only time you broke it up was in one Session, in 1951, when the Minority Commissioner of Allegheny County led that great band of eleven. That is the only Session I remember when you did not have a unit rule. However, we will be perfectly willing to sit down with you tonight after this Session, or tomorrow, and if there are any questions you want to ask us about any taxes which have been talked about, we will be happy to answer. Up until now, I have not seen a program espoused by the Administration, by Senator Dent, by myself or by any Member on this side given to the public or to the Republican Caucus as yet.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want to state that in face of the situation as we have found it to be and as is very apparent to the rest of us in the Senate today, I would suggest that I think it would be useless, a waste of time and energy and would serve no useful purpose for Senator Mahany to meet with me or anybody else unless Senator Mahany is willing to bring to that meeting three Republican Senators who are courageous enough to say that if they decide that this is good legislation, or that they can go along with it whether it is good or bad, they will stand up and vote for that legislation because if we cannot do that, there is no sense in us delaying until next year.

I want to further state to all the Members of this Senate right here and now that the House has been challenged time and again by the Republican spokesman, while in the same breath he states that it would be useless to start any legislation through until we have taken it up with you and see whether it is futile or not to pass it. Then in the next breath he says that the House has to originate and pass it, and when it gets over here we will talk about it.

Mr. President, I do not know which side of the street he is playing on. He told me that I am singing on the other side of the record now. Senator Mahany or no other living citizen of Pennsylvania can say that I ever, during the Leader campaign, said that this State would not require new money. During the campaign in which I ran against Senator Duff, who was running for Governor and I for Lieutenant-Governor, I told the people of this Commonwealth that we would need $120,000,000 in new money. Candidate Duff answered me, and these are matters of record, and the man who wrote his answers is now working for us, and he said that not only would they not need new money, but they had $200,000,000 in surplus. In the very first Session of this General Assembly after he was elected, he asked for $144,000,000 worth of new money. On his way down South, he got a bottle of pop in South Carolina and conceived a great, big, brilliant scheme of putting taxes on pop because the kids could not vote.

I will not meet with any delegation from the other side unless they stand on this floor and say that they have a delegation who has the courage to come out and say, if they agree with what we are going to do, that they will stand up and vote for any program that we may compromise on. A failure to compromise is no disgrace. I do not say that a meeting itself is an assurance that we will reach an agreement, but if we do reach an agreement I want enough men over there to make the constitutional majority that we require. Failing in that, Senator Mahany, I am going to ask the House Leadership if they will introduce into the House next Monday a tax program designed to meet the needs of this Commonwealth. It will not be popular. The court has often held, and many wise men have spoken and have said, that there can never be any base of taxation that has equity in it. There is no equity as such in taxation. Therefore, no matter what we come up with to raise $450,000,000 for the needs of this Commonwealth, we are going to make enemies. We will face that issue. All we ask you to do is to allow us to make the enemies if necessary, but let us keep our schools open and let us allow our hospitals to operate.

Right now today, Senator Mahany, let me tell you that you have left approximately $33,000,000 worth of borrowing power in this Commonwealth. You are going to need, by the end of November, some $92,000,000 to carry out the needs of the Commonwealth in its educational program. Come the end of this November, if we have not come closer to a solution of the problem, the Governor can do nothing but write to each subdivision of government and each State-aided institution and each school district and ask them to curtail their expenses in line with the amounts of money that they have and can raise locally. There is no other solution to the problem. I know that there is some toying with the idea that we could go in and increase the borrowing capacity by adding five per cent more to the legal limit which we have established, but I, for one, do not propose to vote for that kind of legislation. I, for one, do not propose to increase the borrowing capacity of this State. We are not going to throw millions of more dollars into the hands of the investment bankers, because all you are doing is postponing the inevitable day when you have to meet the situation anyway.

Therefore, Mr. President, I do not propose to sit here until next spring to make a campaign issue for Senator Duff or any other Republican.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I just do not follow my good friend, Senator Dent, in his argument. I have told him that I would go over and receive their program when it is officially unveiled. Senator Barr, as I remember it, said that as yet they have not placed an endorsement on any particular thing. Perhaps I misconstrued what he said, but that is how I understood his remark.

When the Democratic Party gets officially ready to unveil this tax program, which they say they are going to father, then I want to take a look at it. At that time, I have told him that I will be happy to convey it to the Members of the Republican Caucus. They might have some questions about the program, and I will be glad to try to find the answers to those questions for them if I do not have them. Then, I can go back and tell the Governor how many votes he may get for it. For me to pick out two or three Senators from this side to go up there and sit down with Senator Dent and pledge in advance that we are going to vote for something or other, no matter what it is, is just out of the question. There might be some Republican Senators here, for instance, who might want to vote for one of those bills but not the others. Contrary wise, there might be some other Republican Senators who might want to vote for the other bill and not for the bill which the other Republican Senators would vote for. In other words, there might be three or four Senators who might feel inclined to vote for a manufacturer's excise tax, but would not want to go along with the income tax. Therefore, Senator Dent, you cannot expect to have the same three Republicans, regardless of the tax, agree on any type of a tax nor can you expect us to come to you and say, "Here are the three Senators who will vote regardless of what you have."

Mr. President, we are trying to work out a solution in a workmanlike way. We feel that this is the best approach to it. If he is not satisfied with that, all I can tell the Senator is that then we are going to go along with what we should do under the Constitution. We are going to sit here in the Senate, patiently waiting for the House of Representatives to do the job which the Constitution says that they shall do, and that is to originate the taxes, pass them over there, bring them over here, have them put into a committee and the committee function according to the law of the State of Pennsylvania.

I want to go back to the unit rule again. Senator Dent and Senator Barr both know that we do not have any unit rule here which we enforce, because in the 1951 Session he knows that there were several Republican Senators who did not go along with the tax program which, at that time, was espoused by the Governor and other Republican Leaders. I do not know of any unit rule that we have had this Session. Each of these fellows over here, Senator Dent, feel that they are trying to represent the people who elected them to come down here and represent them. The only voices that they have are those of the people who sent them down here. They are trying their best to do their job in a representative way.

Mr. President, I also want to tell Senator Dent that Senator Duff nor nobody else who I know of that you have mentioned quite often has any iron hold over this Republican Caucus. The fact of the matter is that I do not know of a time when Senator Duff has told us to either vote for a tax or against a tax, or for any bill or against any bill. We are pretty much free agents over here, Senator, as far as voting on legislation. We do not wear anybody's collar. We are just trying to do our job. If you are not satisfied with the way we are trying to do it, then you do it the way the Constitution provides.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, you know that I am beginning to believe that my gentleman friend suffers from a convenient lapse of memory. If the gentleman from Crawford does not believe now that I am telling the truth, I will be glad to have the official reporter read back what he said just a few minutes ago in answer to Senator Barr. He said that he could not come to any meetings at the Governor's office because he could not speak under their unit rule program. Senator Mahany said that; it is in the record. If you do not believe that I am telling the truth now, we will have it read back right out of the record. Five minutes later, Senator Mahany said there is no unit rule and, therefore, he has a very convenient lapse of memory.

However, Mr. President, as a youngster around the coal towns, I used to do a little boxing. I learned that you never quite laid before your opponent your strategy of battle. However, the gentlemen over there would like to see the Democratic Administration take up, for instance, the two taxes that he now proposes and which he has already prejudged. He also said for the record—and I will be glad to have it read back—that in his opinion it is just as unconstitutional as the classified income tax. That settles that tax. Senator Mahany would like to have us propose $450,000,000 worth of taxes one week and then have all the people who are affected by those taxes mad at us. Then, they will sit over there smugly and say, "No, we cannot go along.' Then the next week would come up with $450,000,000 more in taxes, which would hit another group of people, and they would sit back and say, "See those Democrats; they will tax even you." Then they will say, "No." Then when we have covered everything except the people who live in New Jersey, they will come back and say, "We will only accept a sales tax."

I have made you an offer, Mr. Floor Leader on the other side, since June 7th. I have said that you will either give us sufficient votes for us to assume our responsivility to the people or you will have to take that responsibility yourselves. Either you will allow us to put the taxes on the people, no matter what they are, or you will put them on no matter what they are.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1955. No. 106.

SENATE

MONDAY, November 21, 1955.

The Senate met at 3:30 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM H. KELLY, Pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Lewisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Eternal God, our Father, as we approach another Thanksgiving Day, we are reminded to give Thee thanks, as did the Psalmist of old, when he said:

"Bless the Lord, O my soul,
"And all that is within me,
"Bless His holy name.
"Bless the Lord, O my soul,
"And forget not all his benefits."

May Thy divine blessing rest upon the Governor of this State. Guide the thoughts of the Lieutenant-Governor as he presides in the Senate this day.

Give wisdom to the Senators that they may act in all their deliberations for the best interests of the citizens they represent, and not for any selfish motive or desire.

In all things we give Thee the honor, the glory and the praise due to Thy holy and matchless name.

In Thy Name and for Christ's sake, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. McGinnis, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr MAHANY asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PECHAN, due to illness.

RECESS

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes, for the purpose of holding a Democratic Caucus.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, November 21, 1955.

To the Honorable, The Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

This Administration and this Legislature have wrestled with the problems of financing the Government of the Commonwealth for many weary months. A Budget for the State's operations was submitted on April 19th, and has not yet been finally acted upon in mid-November.

The House of Representatives passed a comprehensive tax program on July 26th, but the program was refused passage in the Senate.

Since that time a deadlock has prevailed.

Meanwhile, the financial difficulties of the State have multiplied. The fiscal biennium ended on May 31st, and since then, we have lived on a hand-to-mouth basis—without a planned Budget and without a revenue structure to support a Budget. To all purposes, we have lost eight months—one-third of the twenty-four month period in which a revenue program would normally be effective.

We are at the point where the State's heavy commitments to its public schools, its State-aided universities, its State-aided hospitals and institutions, are in default.

We are not honoring our obligations.

Through the months of August, September, and October, I have hoped that our differences could be reconciled. I repeatedly called for conferences with the leadership of the Legislature, and I regret that our meetings could not have long ago secured a bipartisan compromise of our differences on the Budget and a tax program.

I believe there is, at long last, a general realization that the State must have a revenue structure that will support its public services, and that this Legislature will necessarily enact such a program.

I believe, just as strongly as ever, that an income tax, adjusted in some manner to ability to pay, is the best tax structure for the Commonwealth and its people.

The majority in the State Senate believes otherwise, and has been committed to a tax on retail sales.

In order that all of us may proceed to carry out our basic obligations to the people of Pennsylvania, I am now ready to urge the Legislature to adopt a tax program which is neither an income tax nor a retail sales tax.

It is necessary that such a tax be sufficient in yield to raise the new revenues which are the State's minimum requirement.

It is desirable that it be a tax which will be broad in its application, permitting us to bring some order and system into the crazy-quilt tax pattern which has been applied in State taxation over so many years.

In my judgment, a manufacturers' excise tax, imposed at the rate of three and one-half per cent, will raise the needed revenues and make it possible to simplify and improve our whole system of taxation. I will approve it, if adopted by the Legislature, as a second-best to the income tax which I prefer. Perhaps it would be more accurate to describe it as the least undesirable of the taxes open to us.

I have no personal commitment from the Republican majority in the Senate to accept the manufacturers' excise tax, but the majority leader and the assistant majority leader have each been publicly quoted as stating it is acceptable to them.

Under these circumstances, it would hold the promise of breaking the deadlock. I urge, therefore, that it be promptly approved by the House, where all revenue measures must originate, and be sent to the Senate for the consideration and passage that have been publicly offered.

With no exemptions except the processing of food for human consumption, the estimated yield from the manufacturers' excise tax for a sixteen-month period, at the suggested rate, will be $420,000,000.

Some of the principles of this proposed taxation are:

It is a tax on manufactured goods, payable by Pennsylvania manufacturers on that portion of their product sold in Pennsylvania. The same excise will be levied on all manufactured goods brought into the State, payable by the recipient.

It should not affect the competitive position of Pennsylvania industry in the National market, nor in the State itself.

Raw materials or partly manufactured goods used in manufacture will not be subject to the tax, since it applies only to finished products.

The lapse of time since the Budget was presented in April has given us an opportunity to revise our estimate of both revenues and expenditures. On the basis of that revision, the manufacturers' excise tax will make it possible to finance the basic operations of the State Government; honor our commitments to the State-aided school districts and institutions; and carry out a reasonable new program centering on the admitted problems of mental health and economic development.

The Legislature has, in the same lapse of time, found it desirable to propose expenditures additional to those contemplated in the Budget. Among these additions are $31,000,000 for State support of increased teachers' salaries and about $8,000,000 for State subsidy to school building construction.

To help us finance these added costs, I suggest that the capital stock tax be put on a pay-as-you-go basis. This will increase our revenues in this biennium by an estimated $25,000,000. The nonrecurrence of this income in the 1957-59 biennium will be more than covered by our ability at that time to apply the manufacturers' excise tax on a twenty-four month collection period.

It will be possible to revise and improve our whole structure of business taxes—better adapting our tax structure to industrial growth in the Commonwealth.

It will not now be necessary to increase the rate of the corporate net income tax from five to six per cent; but the other revisions in corporate net income tax application (as proposed in House Bill 941) should be adopted.

It will also be possible to proceed with the repeal of nine nuisance taxes on business, as recommended in the Budget Message.

It is of real importance to repeal the corporate excise taxes on both foreign and domestic corporations. These taxes are an actual barrier imposed by the State against industrial and business growth; they impose tax penalties on the development of new businesses in Pennsylvania.

Further, it will be possible—and I so recommend—to reinstate the historic exemption of manufacturers from the capital stock tax, effective January 1, 1957.

It should be stressed that the yield of the manufacturers' excise tax must be maintained, if it is to accomplish its purpose as a major aid in resolving the State's fiscal crisis. If exemptions are broadened, or the rate reduced, the loss of revenue would have an immediate impact against such legislative additions to the Budget as the rise in teachers' salaries and State aid for school construction.

To my mind, the proposed manufacturers' excise tax is acceptable only as a recognition of political and legislative realities. It would not be the tax program I would advocate or accept if the Democratic Party had a majority in both House and Senate. Since we do not have a majority in the Senate, we must find a point of mutual accommodation with the Republican majority. This appears to be it.

If it is, we shall have at least this consolation.

We shall finally bring the affairs of this Commonwealth into an honest financail balance, ending the evasions and escapes which have so consistently over the years passed our financial troubles from Administration to Administration. Perhaps we have finally come to recognize that Pennsylvania can operate on a basis of solvency instead of deficits; that a Legislature and a Governor can meet their responsibilities both to the present and to the future.

We are discussing the raising of tax dollars.

Those dollars should only be raised if they are necessary for the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. Substantially, we spend tax dollars for education; we spend them for health; we spend them to help the needy; we spend them for mental care; we spend them for the maintenance of a civilized society.

The price is surely not so high that we cannot afford to pay it in this great and prosperous State.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

The PRESIDENT. This communication will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, being both young in age and in spirit in the Senate, and being desirous of paying a tribute to our esteemed colleague, Senator Stiefel, I would like to know from our genial Presiding Officer whether it would be possible to change the name of the Committee on Forests and Waters to the "Committee on Senator Stiefel."

The PRESIDENT. Your parliamentary inquiry is very well taken. I think that Senator Stiefel will agree to that.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Sena in my opinion it is becoming increasingly evident th the longer this Session of the Legislature is in Sessio the more we deteriorate.

I had a rather unusual experience today and, aft reviewing that experience, a statement came to m mind which was made by a great man who once sa "Consistency is the hobgoblin of small minds and t refuge for little statesmen." That statement proved be so true today. Mr. President, when we had a commi tee meeting, held by the Committee on Law and Ord I was always under the impression that we operat democratically under a Republican form of governme However, I found today that, apparently, we are o erating under a dictatorship. I was never aware that chairman of a committee could decide for the enti membership as to what bills will be considered and wh they would be considered.

Mr. President, I make direct reference to a couple bills which have to do with the safe operation of o railroads here in Pennsylvania. I was under the impre sion that when I attended this meeting today, it was f the express purpose of considering these two most im portant bills. I found, Mr. President, that the first b which we considered was whether or not a Great Da would be the State dog of Pennsylvania. Then, participated in a League of Nations argument over th particular problem. Then, the discussion came arou to whether or not the Pennsylvania Railroad would ha the right to sell booze on credit. From there it went whether or not beer should be sold at our baseball parl However, when it came to considering important le islation, the Chairman of the Committee on Law a Order did not have the bills. As a matter of fact, did not know where the bills were and after I inte rogated him, he said that he neither knew when he w going to hold another meeting nor when he was goi to consider these bills.

Mr. President, I am wondering if the chairman of th committee is fully cognizant of the responsibility a trust which was placed in him when he was selected act as the chief official of a very important committ

The legislation to which I refer, Mr. President, accor ing to the House History, was referred to the Committ on Law and Order, I believe, on May 10. That is Hou Bill No. 397, which passed the House on May 3 by vote of 139 to 39. Also, Mr. President, I refer to anoth bill which passed the House, House Bill No. 411, by vote of 134 to 45. It then was referred to the Committ on Law and Order on May 10, of this year. The chai man of the committee said that he was studying th legislation, and that several persons wer concern about it. As a matter of fact, he said there was one ra roader who was opposed to it. It so happens, Mr. Pre dent, that I am an ex-railroader. I happen to be a form locomotive engineer and a former locomotive firema I would say, therefore, to the chairman of that commi tee, that any railroader who is in the ranks and w opposes this legislation needs the services of a psychiatri

Mr. President, the chairman is sitting over there an I know he would like to talk. I desire to interrogate th gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, r. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Watkins, are you the Chairman of e Committee on Law and Order?

Mr. WATKINS. I was so appointed and I would say at I am the chairman.

Mr. LANE. You are?

Mr. WATKINS. Yes.

Mr. LANE. Well, did you receive House Bill No. 397 d House Bill No. 411 on or about May the 10th of is year?

Mr. WATKINS. If you say that I did, I did.

Mr. LANE. Senator, I am asking you a question. Did u receive those bills? According to the Journal you did.

Mr. WATKINS. Well, if the Journal says that, then did receive the bills.

Mr. LANE. Had you reviewed the subject matter ntained in these bills?

Mr. WATKINS. Why, certainly I have.

Mr. LANE. I see. Are you opposed to this legislation?

Mr. WATKINS. I have an open mind on it. You seem know so much about it, but when you get through lking I will tell you what I know about the bills.

Mr. LANE. I am asking you a few questions. Tell us you cannot answer them or would you rather sit down?

Mr. WATKINS. I am not personally opposed to this gislation. Whether it is good legislation or not, I would t say. I have no personal feeling against any bill. you mean personally, then I say no. I have no feeling ainst it.

Mr. LANE. Do you feel that it is good legislation then?

Mr. WATKINS. I do not, in my opinion, think that have to tell you whether I think it is good legislation not.

Mr. LANE. If you do not care to answer the question, u can be excused.

Mr. WATKINS. I am chairman of the committee, and told you today that I was studying the bills and I am udying the bills. I did not say that the bills would ver be heard.

Mr. LANE. I am asking you a question. Do you con-der this good legislation or bad legislation?

Mr. WATKINS. I must keep an open mind. In answer your question, I would not say whether it is good gislation or bad legislation at this time.

Mr. LANE. Well, you have read the bill, have you not?

Mr. WATKINS. Yes, I have.

Mr. LANE. Then you have formulated an opinion, ve you not?

Mr. WATKINS. Well, sometimes we can read bills veral times and form a lot of opinions. Sometimes the lls are even brought out on the floor and there are ll differences of opinion.

Mr. LANE. Have you read the bill several times?

Mr. WATKINS. I do not have to answer whether I ve read it several times or not.

Mr. LANE. You just stated a few moments ago that u could read it several times and formulate different inions.

Mr. WATKINS. Well, then why do you ask me again? u would make a better railroad engineer than you uld a lawyer, Senator.

Mr. LANE. I do not know about that, but I want to ask you a few more questions if you do not mind.

Mr. WATKINS. Go ahead.

Mr. LANE. Today, in committee, did you not refuse to consider these bills?

Mr. WATKINS. I did not.

Mr. LANE. You most certainly did.

Mr. WATKINS. I did not.

Mr. LANE. Did you have the bills in your possession?

Mr. WATKINS. I did not refuse to hear the bills. I said that I was not calling them up today and I say that now.

Mr. LANE. Did you call the committee meeting for the purpose of bringing up these bills or to bring out that Pennsylvania Railroad bill to sell booze on credit?

Mr. WATKINS. I certainly did not. I did not mention any bills that I was going to bring up, and I did not make my mind up until Sunday afternoon.

Mr. LANE. Who made your mind up for you?

Mr. WATKINS. No one.

Mr. LANE. I see. Then all you decided to consider today were the bills which we had before us?

Mr. WATKINS. That is right.

Mr. LANE. Did you make any statement to anyone that you would consider these railroad bills?

Mr. WATKINS. I did not.

Mr. LANE. You did not. Well, do you intend to consider these railroad bills?

Mr. WATKINS. That just depends on whether I will hear them and give them further consideration or not.

Mr. LANE. How do you mean "that just depends?"

Mr. WATKINS. If you will listen to me after you get through, I will tell you something.

Mr. LANE. I am asking you a question. Do you not care to answer it?

Mr. WATKINS. Well, it depends upon a court decision for one thing.

Mr. LANE. On what?

Mr. WATKINS. On a court decision.

Mr. LANE. On a court decision?

Mr. WATKINS. Yes.

Mr. LANE. Do you set yourself up as a constitutional lawyer?

Mr. WATKINS. No, I do not but I set the court up as an example for me to go by as a State Senator. I do not believe in wasting time with duplicate bills when the same bills are being heard by the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Did you not say in committee today that the bills are unconstitutional?

Mr. WATKINS. I said that I thought, in my opinion, that they were unconstitutional and I say that again.

Mr. LANE. Well, what makes you think they are unconstitutional?

Mr. WATKINS. Well, I think they are unconstitutional. I do not care to go any further to tell you why I think they are unconstitutional.

Mr. LANE. Do you refuse to answer?

Mr. WATKINS. When the Supreme Court decision is written I will get you a copy of it.

Mr. LANE. Can you tell me what the Supreme Court is going to do?

Mr. WATKINS. I cannot. I am no Supreme Court Judge.

Mr. LANE. Then how do you know that it is unconstitutional?

Mr. WATKINS. It has been declared unconstitutional through the litigation of a law, which is the same as the bill I have in my committee.

Mr. LANE. Not necessarily, no.

Mr. WATKINS. Oh, it has been.

Mr. LANE. Now it has been changed.

Mr. WATKINS. I say to you that it has been declared unconstitutional.

Mr. LANE. When was it declared unconstitutional?

Mr. WATKINS. It was declared unconstitutional in the Dauphin County Courts in 1940 by litigation of the same identical bill.

Mr. LANE. Who declared it unconstitutional?

Mr. WATKINS. I just told you, the Courts of Dauphin County.

Mr. LANE. The Courts of Dauphin County? There are higher courts, are there not?

Mr. WATKINS. That is right, and the higher court upheld the decision of the Dauphin County Court.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his point of order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not think that the gentlemen are talking under interrogation.

In the first place, under interrogation, I think the remarks of the gentlemen should be limited to questions asked by Senator Lane and answered by Senator Watkins and should not resolve itself into an argument between the two Senators.

Mr. President, if Senator Lane has some information which he would like to get from Senator Watkins, I think it is perfectly all right as long as it is confined within certain limitations, but to have a wrangle between the two I think is highly out of order.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is well taken. It is an interrogation which the Senator from Delaware agreed to. I wish the one gentleman, instead of both talking at once, would ask the question and then the other answer it, particularly so that the employees of the Senate will be able to get it into the record.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, will state his point of order.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, it is my understanding that any interrogation from one Member to another should always pass through the Chair and not directly from one to the other.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct. We have not followed that rule very explicitly, though.

We will allow them to go ahead. However, the Chair would appreciate it if the questions were asked and the answers were given so that we can understand what this debate is all about.

The Senator from Washington will proceed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I can readily see that Senator Watkins has his second team over there ready to advise him. They seem to make a great to-do on my type of interrogation.

I will follow through by going through the Chair, Mr. President, if those on the other side also follow that same procedure. I do not think that it is very often I take the floor and bring up a point of order in any debate. I think you can count the times on one hand during all the years that I served in the House and the Senate. However, if that is the way they want it, that is the way I will do.

Senator Watkins, could you advise the Members of the Senate when you plan on having another meeting of your Committee on Law and Order?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, at this time I cannot determine that.

Mr. LANE. Then do I take it, Senator Watkins, that House Bill No. 397 and House Bill No. 411 are dead in your committee?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would not say that. It is entirely up to the committee as to the time when they will be ready to bring the bills up.

Mr. LANE. Since the gentleman says that he does not know when he is going to hold a committee meeting and he also answered me that the bills are not dead, I wonder if the gentleman will advise as to what action he plans to take, Mr. President.

Mr. WATKINS. I did not understand his question, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington restate his question?

Mr. LANE. In answer to my interrogation, the gentleman from Delaware stated that he did not know when he was going to hold a committee meeting. He also answered, in further interrogation, that the bills were not dead. Therefore, I am wondering, and I asked the gentleman the question, what he plans to do with the bills? What is the existence of the bills? Are they living, or dead? what do you plan to do?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, at this time I have not determined what I am going to do with the bills.

Mr. LANE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, my interrogation of Senator Watkins was not on a personal basis. I just wanted to bring to the attention of the Members of this Senate. and the public as a whole, the method of legislating here in Harrisburg where a chairman of a committee can arbitrarily, if I may use the words, "kill off" any legislation which is referred to his committee. How in the world do we expect or plan to legislate intelligently for the people of Pennsylvania if we permit such conditions to continue to exist?

Here we are, men elected by the people of Pennsylvania to do a job for the people of Pennsylvania. One committee chairman, one individual, with that power can kill off the action of the House, can kill off the wishes of the Membership of the Senate, and can ignore important legislation which might jeopardize the lives of the public as well as those men who work upon the railroads.

It seems to me that at the very least we should have a hearing. We should have the right in committee to vote "yes" or "no."

Mr. President, Senator Watkins stated that he did not have the bills which were referred to him on May 10th so that we could not vote on them because they were not being considered. However, they take up a bunch mmyrot which is not of interest to the people of Pennlvania and leave this important legislation lie in committee until such a time as it is too late to consider it. iat has been the favorite practice here for years, and is time the public knows what is going on. I want the ublic to know that a chairman of a committee in the enate of Pennsylvania ignores the wishes of the mem- rship of the committee, and not just the wishes of emocrats either, Mr. President.

I do not like to take the floor and berate and talk like is, but I feel that I would be remiss in my duties as a ember of this Senate if I did not let the people of nnsylvania know what is going on. I am not the type ho is picayune and tries to pick out little flaws, but I ant you to know that I am pretty well burned up at e activities today in this committee when they ignored mething which the people want. The House of Repre- ntatives wanted it and Republicans voted for it, too. ie reason the bills were not considered today was cause the chairman was afraid they would be reported t because there was Republican support for this legis- tion. That is the reason they were not considered. I do t expect we will ever pass them.

Actually, Mr. President, I thought that when these bills ere referred to this committee we would at least get hearing. However, it seems the Republicans are heeding e calling of their master. They heed the call of their aster, but they are afraid to call up bills for the interest, elfare and safety of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think Senator Lane has en here long enough to know what the powers of the airmen of committees are. For years, the chairmen have d certain powers to either consider a bill or not con- ler a bill when they hold a committee meeting. That nothing new; that has been going on here for years. nder our rules, I do not think we can do much about it. ie chairman is given possession of the bill, and he has e right to call a meeting of his committee or not call meeting. At that meeting of the committee, he has the ll power to either consider that bill or not consider it.

That procedure is being followed over in the House. understand that at meeting over in the House, a Member the committee upbraided the chairman of the committee r even considering a bill that was Republican-sponsored. e said that before they considered bills, they should rtainly see to it that they had Democratic sponsors. ie chairman of the committee was really upbraided. If u want names, I can give them to you later on. I do t want to bring out here before the Senate something nich occurred in the House. I do not want to go into tail and give names in the Senate of Members of the ouse Committees who were guilty of those statements.

Certainly, Mr. President, if Senator Lane wants to find t how dictatorial a committee chairman can get, all has to do is go over to the other side of the Capitol ilding, and he will find out in the House that they e much more dictatorial than they are in the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the Majority Leader has ought out what might have been an isolated case. I do t know how the House operates. I have not been in e House since 1945. However, I do say this here and w. Here in this Senate, where each and every Member presents at least 200,000 people, we should act as adults d grown men. We should, at least, respect the wishes of the membership of the committee and, at least, consider the legislation. I have been defeated many times in committee. I do not come out and squawk about it. However, all we wanted was a fair chance, a chance to try to get the bills out.

It may be that the committees in the House are dictatorial; I do not know. I do not know how they operate. Here in this Senate, however, we are supposed to have a little dignity. We are supposed to be experienced men. We are supposed to know our way around on legislation. The least they can do is give us a chance to consider the legislation. That is the point I am trying to make. A dictatorial attitude is all right in some cases, but I would say to you that where a group of Senators are gathered together to consider legislation which is directly concerned with the welfare, the well-being and the safety of the people, it should be gone into. It should be gone into in detail, and if there are any arguments, settle them. If they want to vote it down, vote it down. My gripe is that we do not know when the bills are going to be considered; we do not know when there is going to be another committee meeting. The chairman did not have the bills on hand today, and he could not tell us when he was ever going to have them on hand.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the people from our respective Districts send us to Harrisburg to legislate. However, we cannot legislate here under the kind of a committee system which functions here in the Senate. I cannot talk about the House because I am not a Member of the House. I agree with Senator Lane when he said it is equivalent to a dictatorship. We may as well abolish the committee system. Although I agree with Senator Mahany that the Chairman has a right to call a meeting when he sees fit, I say that when he does call a meeting, certainly the members of that committee should have the right to call up a bill for consideration. That right has been denied to Members of the Senate this morning. Because it has been denied, I repeat what Senator Lane said, "The committee system functions here under a dictatorship and not under democratic rule." That, Mr. President, is one of the reasons why more than 400 bills, which passed the House, are lying dormant in Senate Committees.

We have been here for almost eleven months. It has cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania about $3,000,000 to keep us here. What have we done in these eleven months? We have done practically nothing. As I said before, bills which have been introduced in the Senate, and bills which have been passed by the House and referred to the Senate, are lying dormant in committees.

After the last election, Mr. President, which was somewhat disastrous to the Republicans, Senator Mahany made a statement in which he said that the time has come when the Republican Party should divorce its affiliation with big business so that people would not say that the Republican Party was the party of big business. He said that the Republican Party was going to cooperate a little more with labor, with the people who earn their bread and butter by the sweat of their brows. The conduct of the committee chairman this morning was just the opposite from the philosophy Senator Mahany expressed, and one which I though was a pretty good one. I have a considerable number of railroaders in my District and when I get back home, I am going to let them know exactly what happened at the committee meeting this morning.

I understood last Tuesday that these bills would be considered today. I went to the Chairman of the Committee on Law and Order and asked him what time the meeting was going to be held. As a matter of fact, I understood it was a special meeting to consider these and other bills. I, therefore, made it my business to be here at 12:00 o'clock today. I made it my business to be down in the committee meeting room at 12:30 o'clock. The procedure which was outlined by Senator Lane was exactly what took place.

Mr. President, let us take a look at these bills. I am not going to discuss each one of them, but why should there be any reluctance or objection on the part of the committee chairman to considering these bills? One would amend the Penal Code, to remove the possibility of placing railroad employees in double jeopardy. I understand there is a law in existence which provides for proper punishment for violations of the law for railroaders in one Act and the same thing is covered in another Act. This one bill would repeal the provisions of the Penal Code. Another bill would consider the time element in paying wages. I see nothing wrong with that. At least, I think we should consider the bill and report it out here and let everybody consider it. Another bill would staff engines with competent employees for the safety of the traveling public. Another bill would furnish flag protection to all trains occupying the main tracks, a bill which would protect the traveling public. However, the chairman refused to consider any of the bills.

I am just wondering whether Senator No. 51 did not do a pretty good job over the weekend. Of course, he had his bill brought up and reported out. His bill is one which would allow the traveling public to purchase liquor and beer in the Pullman cars on a credit basis. He got his bill out, but all the other bills were refused consideration by the chairman even though they have been in his committee since—one on May 3, another May 9 and another since last June 28. I think it is disgusting. When the chairman of the committee refused to bring up that bill and also a bill which I asked him to bring up, which I introduced on legalizing horse racing, I just got up and left the room and felt like resigning. If those of us who are on the committee cannot bring up or ask to bring up a bill while the committee is in session, then there is no sense in being on the committee

Mr. President, this sort of practice has been in vogue in the Senate since I have been here. I, for one, tried to correct it. During the 1951-1953 Session, I introduced a resolution here that was passed unanimously. This is the way it reads:

"Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission make a study of the rules and regulations of the United States Congress relative to practices and procedures on the release of bills assigned to committees."

However, the same people who seem to control the committees also control the Joint State Government Commission. Upon inquiry, I learned that even though this resolution was passed unanimously, nothing was done about it. If we are to continue to operate under this kind of a committee system, where someone interested in a bill or someone opposed to a bill can, through one person, prevent that bill from being brought up for consideration, then it is time we do something about it. I am certainly going to let the railroaders in my District know exac what happened this morning.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and gentlemen of t Senate, I certainly take exception to the remarks of S ator Lane, when he wanted to know whether I was, p haps, capable of carrying on the business of the Co mittee on Law and Order. As to whether I was the ri person to be on that committee, I say to you, Mr. Pre dent, that I have always tried to conduct myself as gentleman. I have always tried to use an air of dignity the best that I have known how. Certainly, today was exception.

It seems as though I am completely out of step a that Senator Lane and Senator Yosko are completely step. They are marching together and, according to the everything that I have done is detrimental to the Sena I did talk to Senator Yosko last week, and he asked what time my committee meeting would be held. I t him it would be held at 12:30 o'clock. At no time di ever say to any Democrat that I intended to consider bills about which they talked today; namely, House B No. 411, and the other bill number I do not have on tongue. At no time did I ever say to them that I w holding this committee meeting for that purpose. In fa as I stated under interrogation by Senator Lane, I not know exactly what bills I would consider.

Today, we had a full Democratic membership at committee meeting. Evidently, I am accused by Sena Yosko of talking to the fifty-first Senator, whoever might be. I say to Senator Yosko that if anyone talks any fifty-first or fifty-second Senator, it would lay in lap and not mine. I say honestly, without any equivo tions whatsoever, that nobody guides me and tells what to do in my committee. I think it is an ungentlema act when a man stands on the floor and accuses some of doing just that. I have always carried myself hones and tried to be decent and respectable to my colleag on the Democratic side as well as the Republican side

I have sat all Session, for ten months, and listened some of Senator Yosko's beer barrel polkas which were compelled to listen to here. I find that no one kn anything about government except Senator Yosko. I ne felt that Senator Lane thought that I lacked dignity lacked the ability to operate this Committee on Law Order as its Chairman. I think when Senator Lane thi the thing over, he will admit that I did at no time that I did not intend to bring this bill up. I told him t I was still considering it and I am.

I would like to say, for the information of the gent men of the Senate, that I have looked this bill up an have followed the history of it. I would like to say t identically the same bills which I have in my committ which were passed by the House, are in a Senate Co mittee in the State Capitol right here in Harrisburg, in some other state. These are bills which were sponso by Members from the other side. It is my understand that they were acted upon unfavorably. Why should for one reason, consider bills when Senate bills have ready been brought up and considered and which fr my understanding, about which I think I am correct, not receive approval?

Going back to Senator Lane, Mr. President, I want assure him that I am not faking. I am not string someone along. I would like to call his attention to t

This bill is identical to the Act of 1937, under the Earle Administration, which was declared by the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania to be unconstitutional. I also find that in this very same bill, an amendment was placed in it by the Attorney General of the State of Pennsylvania to try to bring back to life this Act of 1937. I understand also that last Thursday, in Philadelphia, the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania was hearing this amendment to that bill in order to act on its constitutionality. Certainly, I think it is a waste of time to follow up when you know, as a chairman of a committee, that identically the same legislation which is before my committee and which has been declared unconstitutional is being tried again on an amendment submitted by the Attorney General; I think that I should wait and see what the decision might be.

May I say this, too, Mr. President? As far as abusing any Senator, I have never abused any of them. After coming out of the committee meeting today, Mr. Sludden—I think I pronounced his name right, one of the big "H's" on the Hill, so I hear they named them the "Four H's"—came to me and said, "I will certainly spread your record to your people and tell them what you are." I do not like to be threatened by lobbyists. I do not think it is right for any Senator to be molested by lobbyists, and threatened and told what they will do to him back home. My remark to him was this, "Anything that you say about me will be a compliment."

When the steamroller pressure comes on for the bills in my committee, I will say this very candidly. They are bad bills. If I remember right, the Senator who was chairman of this committee during the last Session of the Legislature did not hold a single meeting for the simple reason that the bills were only duplicates. During this Session, the bills are duplicates of the bills which were put in since 1945 and 1947. Yet, I happen to be the one who is a terrible fellow for not considering bills which have already been presented to the Senate and bills which have been declared unconstitutional. For this reason, I must take threats from a big labor leader and do as he tells me. I say to you, Senator Lane and Senator Yosko, that no Number 51 Senator told me what to do, but I was threatened by the labor leaders.

I think, too, Mr. President, it is high time that someone on the Rules Committee of this Senate does something about the discourteous treatment that we have to receive from some people when we do not do exactly what they want us to do. I would also like Senator Yosko to come forth with any proof about anybody owning me. If anyone tells me what to do, I wish Senator Yosko would come forth with the proof. I feel as though Senator Yosko has been ungentlemanly and not one who has the dignity to be a Senator.

I would also like to say that Senator Yosko was very much upset because I did not bring out his racing bill. He blows so hot and so cold that I would not know which wind to take. He has one bill in my committee that does away with sheets which would permit the people to even know what horses are running or what the lines would be. In another bill, he wants to legalize horse racing. The good Senator certainly must know that this body voted down a referendum on horse racing, where they would not even give the people a chance to vote and say whether they wanted horse racing or not. We now should yield to the great Senator from Northampton, Senator Yosko, even though the Senate of Pennsylvania has spoken. He thinks we should bring out his bill and legalize horse racing. There is no consistency to his arguments.

As far as the procedure in the Senate of holding bills is concerned, if this were the truth and I think it is not, regarding myself and other chairmen of committees in the Senate of Pennsylvania, I would certainly like to know what the chairmen considering the Philadelphia Wage Tax Bill, which passed the Senate in the summer, has done. What consideration has he given to it? He is a Democrat. Do the Democrats operate any differently than the Republicans, if what you say is the truth, Senator Yosko? What is Senator Yosko trying to make out of us, a bunch of puppets to listen to your labor leaders and listen to the whims of some more of you? We are only to do exactly what you want us to do or else we are just terrible in obstructing justice and stymying the progress of Pennsylvania.

I say, Mr. President, that I do not intend to lower my dignity. Any committee meeting that I hold, I shall conduct as I have conducted it in the past, which has been with dignity and certainly with honesty and decency. If they wich me to have it any other way, then I suggest that they discharge the Chairman of the Committee on Law and Order and appoint someone else to run it the way they want it run. As long as I am Chairman of the Committee on Law and Order, I intend to run it on an honest basis, and I intend to consider bills that have merit to them and are forth bringing out to the floor for consideration.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Watkins, is it or is not a fact that duly elected Members of this Senate who attended a meeting of the Committee on Law and Order of the Senate of Pennsylvania, of which you are the chairman, asked you this morning to consider certain bills dealing with railroad employees and the safety operation of the railroads?

Mr. WATKINS. They did not make themselves as explicit as the gentleman from Northampton is laying it out. However, they did mention railroad bills to me.

Mr. YOSKO. Is the answer "yes" or "no?"

Mr. WATKINS. I think you would take from it a "yes." I said the members were not as explicit as you are trying to make it. They did not define just what they wanted. They did not go over a list of bills. They asked me about the railroad bill. That was the only thing they asked for.

Mr. YOSKO. Is it not a fact that Senator Lane gave you the numbers of the bills and you said that you did not have the bills with you? You said they were at home.

Mr. WATKINS. That is right, Mr. President. Senator Lane gave me two numbers and the bills are at home.

Mr. YOSKO. Is it not a fact that you refused to bring them up for consideration?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I said that I was not ready to bring them up. That is my prerogative and I stand on it.

Mr. YOSKO. Your answer is that you did refuse to bring them up?

Mr. WATKINS. No, I did not say that I refused to bring them up, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Did you bring those bills up for consideration this morning?

Mr. WATKINS. I did not.

Mr. YOSKO. And you were asked to bring them up for consideration?

Mr. WATKINS. I was

Mr. YOSKO. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, that is the gist of the whole argument. It is upon that premise that we charge here—at least, I do—that the committees are being operated under a dictatorship instead of under a democratic process. Anytime any one member of the committee, even though he be the chairman, can sit tight and refuse, upon request of one or more members, to bring up a bill for consideration, that is exactly what it is. It is dictatorship.

So far as Senator No. 51 is concerned, Mr. President, I will just pass that off by saying that when the committee meeting broke up, he was pretty jubilant back there. That speaks for itself. Actions speak louder than words.

Relative to the bills having any merit, Mr. President, I just want to call your attention to the vote in the House. One bill passed the House by 139 to 39; another 134 to 45; another 107 to 69; another, 111 to 54. The same situation prevailed over in the House last May that Senator Watkins said prevails today. Therefore, his arguments certainly do not have too much merit. There are some pretty smart people over in the House, and certainly I do not believe they would pass bills that were unconstitutional or were now before the courts pending disposition.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I did not plan on having a constitutional forum here today or to question the activities or decisions of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania However, the distinguished Senator from Delaware stated that the bills which are in his commitee, as I understand it, are identically the same bills which were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

I have in my hand a copy of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania's decision at the May Term of 1940. I also have here a booklet which sets forth the sections which were declared unconsitutional. Now that was the full crew bill. This is the minimum crew bill. If the Chairman of the Committee on Law and Order so desire I will supply him with this information, and he will find that House Bill No. 411 is not identical with the bill which was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, the sections which were declared unconstitutional are Sections 2, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 of the full crew bill and not the minimum crew bill.

I take it, from the Senator's recent speech here on the floor, that he may consider this bill. If so, I will be glad to supply him with this information.

I do not like to repeat my request, Mr. President, but I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware one or two questions, if I may.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Watkins, I have here some information which might set you right in your thinking with regard to the unconstitutionality of this bill. If you plan on holding another committee meeting, I will be glad to supply you with this information. Now my question is, do you plan to hold another committee meeting?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, at this time I cannot answer that question. I have no dates in mind at this time as to when I might have another committee meeting.

Mr. LANE. Senator Watkins, would you accept this information, which I can supply you, in regard to your question as to whether or not this legislation is unconstitutional? Will you accept this copy of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania's decision?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would be most happy to accept anything that Senator Lane can give me regarding any bills which might be in my committee that might be helpful. He is also a member of the committee, and I would be happy to discuss with him the merits of any bill that is in my committee at any time. I will accept his literature.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate, but I do say to you unless this Senate Committee takes some action on this legislation, I think the people of Pennsylvania, as a whole, are going to wonder as to the caliber of the people whom they have elected to represent them. I am very serious when I say to you that I feel this is good legislation. I am not a constitutional lawyer and I feel that the constitutionality of this legislation should be left up to the courts.

Mr. President, our job here is to legislate to the best of our ability, and I feel that the chairman is fully aware of the fact that he made a big mistake today.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the Republicans on this side of the aisle have been accused by certain Democrats of not considering House Bills. I would like to call their attention to the House Calendar today and compare it with the Senate Calendar. They will find on the Senate Calendar that we have twenty-one House Bills and nineteen Senate Bills, other than those on the Postponed Calendar. I took the time to count the number of House Bills and Senate Bills on the House Calendar, and I find that there are about sixty-five House Bills and less than ten Senate Bills. Certainly, we, in comparison with the House, are keeping up our end, and I think that nobody should have any kick coming on the number of House Bills which the Senate is considering.

I want to make the record a little bit clearer as to my statement which was made about a week or so ago. I think that Senator Yosko misquoted me. What I said at that time was that I thought the Republican Party should make its stand clear that it probably would not go overboard for either industry or labor and would try to consider legislation in the light of what is good for labor and what is good for industry.

Mr. President, I think if Pennsylvania is going to be successful in attracting industries and expanding the industries which are here, certainly we should make our legislative climate in Pennsylvania attractive to both industry and to labor. Both of them must get along together if we are going to continue to be successful in our economic system and successful in being one of the foremost industrial states of the Union.

Mr. President, we perhaps are a little bit like Pat, who was on his death bed and they sent for the priest. The priest came and said to Pat, as he was giving him his last rites, "Pat, are you ready to renounce the devil and accept the Lord?"

Pat said, "Father, I am ready to accept the Lord but as far as renouncing the devil, I am in no position right now to alienate the affections of anyone."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I did not intend to get into this discussion. I do not particularly feel too strong today and I was going to sort of take it easy, but I cannot resist following the eminent gentleman on the other side who has just told a humorous story.

They tell a story about a poor old Italian fellow who had a job on the railroad at the crossing. It seemed that one evening, toward suppertime, when he was inside the shack having a little lunch, he heard a terrible crash. He ran out, and what had happened was that two trains running on the same track in opposite directions had telescoped. In making his report on the witness stand he was asked, "Tony, tell us in your own words what happened."

'Well," he said, "I was eating my lunch when I hear a whistle blow. Then I listened a minute and I hear another whistle blow. I jump up and go outside with a lantern, but then a big smack come, and one train run into the other one."

He was asked, "Well, what did you do?"

He said, 'I call the superintendent."

The counsel said, "What did you say to the superintendent?"

Tony said, "Mr. Superintendent, this is one h——— of a way to run a railroad."

I think, Mr. President, when you get down to it that, in a few short sentences, pretty well typifies the situation we find ourselves in. To say that Senator Watkins is the only chairman who operates in the fashion that has been condemned here by the group on this side today would be unfair both to him and to ourselves, but to condone that action would be unfair to the people of the Commonwealth.

I do not know whether Senator Watkins has ever been instructed in the duties of a committee chairman in a parliamentary body, but in a parliamentary body a chairman acts as the arbiter. When an argument takes place in his committee or discussions are held, he sees that each person has an opportunity to be heard. It is his duty to take up whatever question that is properly before that committee when a member of the committee, whether he be a minority or majority member, requests it. Your rules clearly state that the committee shall consider the bills that are sent to that committee by the Presiding Officer. Nowhere in the committee rules does it stipulate that the chairman is the sole judge of any legislation which comes before the committee.

Mr. President, are we to assume then, after today's discussion, that every bill that is introduced that is killed in committee without consideration is to be blamed upon the chairman of that committee? Every particular group in Pennsylvania that is interested in legislation can honestly say, after today's discussion, "I cannot blame the members of the Committee; the chairman killed my bill."

Mr. President, I can understand the power of a chairman being such that he could possibly want to take a personal attitude on matters but, if I remember rightly, I was also the chairman of a committee in this group when we were in the majority and as chairman of that committee, Members of this Senate who served with me, and I can name them, could never stand upon this floor and say that I ever refused to consider any piece of legislation that they requested consideration for. Over the years, however, there has been a slow deterioration of the committee system. What need is there for committee membership? What use is there in going through the motions of calling committee meetings?

Early in the Session, Mr. President, if you will read back in the record, I was refused membership on all the committees of this Senate at the time that it was properly considered that the minority ought to have one person on each committee in order that he would be on an equal base with the President pro tempore of the majority party who was also a member of all committees. That was not done because there was any vanity attached to it. It was done because it makes for better government. In the parliamentary rules that govern most bodies, a minority always has one member on all committees. That has always been the procedure in a parliamentary body. I understand that some of the chairmen did not like the idea of me being on their committees because they were afraid that I would be able to persuade the membership over and above their wishes.

That is the point which must be taken from all our minds. No chairman in this group is the autocrat of the cabbage patch. He does not own the committee. He is not the sole judge of the contents of legislation, as to whether it is good or bad. He has his right, as every other member of that committee, to vote "yes" or "no." He can vote what he desires and so can any other member.

Mr. President, can you not easily understand what happens to a democratic form of government when we copy the one thing that we detest most in the most despicable form of government as we know it to be on the face of the earth, communism; when there is no free usage of committees, no free action on the part of a member of an elective body; when any person can dictatorially say, "This is all we will consider and I do not like the bill that you are interested in so, therefore, you will not have a chance to vote on it?" It is not a question of one chairman; it is a question of most of the chairmanships. If such a thing is happening in the House it is wrong there, too, but it was not always that way. Even prior to the 1936 adventure here in the Senate, when I was a member of the majority, and after that no chairman that I knew until recent years took the position that he was the sole boss of any committee. If the membership of the committee asked for a bill to be considered, it was considered and if the majority did not like the bill, it stayed in the committee. However, the position being taken today is that the chairman did not like the bills; not just this chairman but practically all the chairmen take the same position.

Mr. President, I do not know how many committee meetings of certain committees have been held, but you cannot operate this kind of a government without holding committee meetings. I would suggest that what this Senate really needs is a committee on reform within its own group. It needs a committee made up of bipartisan membership to go over and overhaul the antiquated system under which we operate and to come out with perhaps seven or eight standing committees on a permanent year-round basis. We should provide them with secretaries and committee rooms, and allow them to watch the progress of legislation even after it is passed as well as before the passage of such legislation.

For too many years this General Assembly has operated in a vacuum. It comes here for a short period of time, passes a multitude of legislation, goes home and gives to come departments the right to make rules and regulations to suit themselves. We go home ofttimes and are criticized by our constituents because we passed certain legislation. The rules and regulations do not have any bearing whatsoever upon the intent of the Legislature or the contents of the acts that we pass.

So, Mr. President, I say that the whole system is abominable. The whole system is wrong and the people cannot help but get bad legislation.

I do not know whether Senator Watkins intends to call any more meetings or not. I do not know whether the Republican side will tolerate resolutions on our side to try to discharge committees, but I can assure all of the Members of this Senate that unless some action is taken before the adjournment sine die on these important pieces of legislation and others, we shall make an attempt on this side to discharge consideration of the legislation which we feel is part of the program and part of the legislation desired by the people of this great Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I know that the gentleman on the other side, who professes to be a gentleman, Senator Watkins, is a gentleman. I do not know whether it was a slip of tongue or not, but if I heard him right, although I may not have interpreted it right, he made the statement that there are "Four H's" running around on the Hill and I do not know whether he wants to explain it, and I do not expect that he does, but in private conversation would you tell me who and what "Four H's"are?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I rise to defend some thirty-four Members of the House, who are also members of the Democratic Party, and who have been delegated as committee chairmen by the Speaker of the House, and in addition to that, some twenty Members of the Senate who belong to the Republican Party.

Mr. President, here this afternoon, by several Members of the Senate, we have had condemnation of the way chairmen handle legislation which is assigned to their committee. I should like to ask anyone in this honorable body if they believe that the 1,876 bills which have been introduced in the House and the 838 bills which have been introduced in the Senate should all become law.

Surely, Mr. President, there is not one of us who would agree that all those bills should be enacated into law. Therefore, we properly have some screening method. One of the best screening methods that has ever been adopted is the method of referring those bills to committee and let those committees consider each bill on its merit.

Senator Lane, who first spoke, according to the Histroy, has introduced some seventy bills in this body during this Session, eighteen of which have been referred to the Highways Committee. Senator Lane has not asked for the consideration of a single one of those eighteen bills in the Highways Committee which has not been considered.

Mr. President, Senator Yosko, from Northampton, has introduced fifty-two bills according to the History, four of which were referred to the Highways Committee and not a single one of those bills has been refused consideration at the request of Senator Yosko, the sponsor.

Mr. President, in the Highways Committee we have been assigned 124 Senate Bills and forty House bills, and I repeat that not a single sponsor has been refused consideration for any of those 164 bills.

Now today, Mr. President, our discussion centers around the consideration of two bills, and at this time I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. I should like to ask Senator Lane if these two bills which he questions, namely House Bill No. 411 and House Bill No. 397, were asked to be considered. Did you inform Chairman Watkins, prior to the meeting, that you should like to have those bills considered?

Mr. LANE. No, I did not, Mr. President, but I went there with the understanding that they would be considered.

Mr. WADE. That is the answer to the question. Thank you, Mr. President.

Secondly, I would like to ask whether you secured copies of those bills, which you could very easily do, and took them to the committee meeting?

Mr. LANE. Yes, Mr. President, we had copies at that time.

Mr. WADE. Did you have copies for each member of the committee in attendance?

Mr. LANE. No, I did not. I only had copies for myself.

Mr. WADE. Did you present your copy to the chariman of the committee?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the chairman refused to consider the bills.

Mr. WADE. I did not ask that, Mr. President. I asked whether you presented your copy, which you said you had in your possession, to the chairman of the committee?

Mr. LANE. No, I did not, but he would not consider them anyway.

Mr. WADE. Thank you very much, Mr. President. That is all for Senator Lane.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Yosko.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Yosko, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. YOSKO. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. May I ask you, Senator Yosko, whether you informed chairman Watkins that you would like to have House Bill No. 411 and House Bill No. 397 considered prior to the meeting?

Mr. YOSKO. I cannot answer that with a "yes" or "No." If you want an answer, I will give you one.

Mr. WADE. I should welcome your answer.

Mr. YOSKO. As I stated before, last Tuesday I was told that there was to be a meeting of the Committee on Law and Order to consider bills, among which would be these railroad bills, and I asked Senator Watkins whether there was going to be a committee meeting and what time the meeting was going to be held. If my memory serves me correctly, I stated that I understood there was going to be a committee meeting and among others, these railroad bills would come up for consideration. Senator Watkins told me that the meeting would be held at 12:30.

Mr. WADE. Do I understand that you did notify chairman Watkins that you would like these bills considered, House Bill No. 411 and House Bill No. 397?

Mr. YOSKO. I did not, but I understood that it was agreed that the bills would be considered. I understood that it was a special meeting because it was called on a Monday, which is very unusual, at 12:30. Since I have been here, we have not had one committee meeting that I know of at 12:30 on a Monday.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I understand that the gentleman's answer to the direct question is that he did not notify Senator Watkins, chairman of the committee, that he wanted these two bills considered, is that correct?

Mr. YOSKO. My answer is that I understood that the bills in question, which were argued here today, would be among those considered.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, as mush as I regret to do so, I must assume that the gentleman is answering in the negative although he has not clearly done so.

Mr. YOSKO. The answer is "no," with the qualification that it was my understanding that these bills, among others, would be considered at this meeting.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I highly respect the gentleman, but I say that that answer is very evasive.

I would like to ask you, Senator Yosko, whether you brought copies of House Bill No. 411 and House Bill No. 397 to the committee meeting, so that all the members of the committee would have that bill for consideration?

Mr. YOSKO. I had the data, plus a letter explaining the merits of each bill with me.

Mr. WADE. I repeat the question. Did you have the copies of those bills in your possession at the committee meeting?

Mr. YOSKO. I read the bills and briefed them, and I had a brief on each bill with me.

Mr. WADE. I repeat, Mr. President, that in my judgment the gentleman is carefully avoiding the question. I thank him for his answers, evasive as they were.

Mr. President, may I conclude by saying that this clearly proves to me that these gentlemen who have spoken, including Senator Dent, falsely accuse the chairman of this committee? He has complied with the requests of his committee, he has held in proper order and form his committee meeting, and these gentlemen have failed to tell him of their wishes and desires prior to the committee meeting. If you are going to do that to the Chairman of the Highways Committee, you would have the privilege of bringing some 164 bills, unbeknown to the chairman, before the committee without any prior notice.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senator Wade's speech convinces me that he certainly is confused. Let me say to Senator Wade that I not only asked the chairman to consider House Bill No. 397 and House Bill No. 411, but I also read to him the subject matter contained in the bills. Here is a brief analysis of the legislation which I read in the committee meeting to the committee chairman.

Therefore, when you get up on this floor and make a statement that we did not make the proper effort, at least that I did not, Senator Wade, I think you are badly confused.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will you ask me the same questions that you asked these two gentlemen?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I first ask the gentleman whether his is a member of the committee?

Mr. DENT. Yes, he is by accident of death. A gentleman on my side died and accidentally I got on the committee.

Mr. WADE. I am glad you are a member of the Committee, but I am sorry he had to obtain that position by that method. May I ask you, even though it is your interrogation, whether you were in attendance this morning.

Mr. DENT. Yes, sir; ask me the questions that you asked the other gentlemen and I will give you the answers.

Mr. WADE. Senator Dent, you were in attendance this morning, I understand. Did you notify Senator Watkins prior to the meeting?

Mr. DENT. It was at my request that the meeting was held.

Mr. WADE. Good, I am glad you prompted our chairman. I repeat, Mr. President, at his request, I am asking Senator Dent whether he notified Chairman Watkins prior to the meeting that he would like to have House Bill No. 411 and House Bill No. 397 considered.

Mr. DENT. And two other bills considered at the same time; yes, sir.

Mr. WADE. I am not talking about any others.

Mr. DENT. Oh, yes, there were four bills in the railroad package, and I asked that they all be considered. I sent telegrams and letters to my Members on this side who are on that committee, asking them to be in attendance. I asked them to meet me at 1200 o'clock in my office so that I could brief them on the contents to the best of my ability, which I admit is limited, but they were all briefed. I had copies of the bill, in order to anticipate your next question.

Mr. WADE. Did you have copies of the bills at the committee meeting?

Mr. DENT. Oh, yes.

Mr. WADE. That is fine. I compliment the gentleman on his foresightedness.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, and the next time you accuse me of charging somebody falsely make sure of your facts, please.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to make one observation. When Senator Lane just named the bills by number, the chairman of the committee said, 'I do not have them, they are at home," so he must have known or must have had advance notice that these bills would be called up for consideration.

May I add, too, Mr. President, that I think it is the duty of every committee chairman to have every bill which is referred to his committee on file in the committee room? If you go into the committee rooms of the Senate, you will find filing cabinets there and I am assuming that they were bought and placed there for a purpose, the purpose being to file bills that you, as the Presiding Officer of the Senate, refer to a committee chairman.

I do not think it comes in good grace for a committee chairman to say, "I will not bring those bills up. I do not have them here. They are at home, and I could not bring them up if I would want to." That is contrary to all the rules and regulations of this Senate, or should be. I think every committee chairman should be ready, willing and have at his fingertips any bill that is introduced in this Senate, or any bill that passes the House and is referred to this Senate and assigned to a committee so that if a committee member asks that a bill be brought up, the chairman of the committee will have that bill at his fingertips in the filing cabinet and not at home.

HOUSE BILL No. 834 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table House Bill No. 834, Printer's No. 1036, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 9, 1949 (P. L. 927) entitled "An act fixing and regulating the fees, commissions, mileage and other costs chargeable by the sheriff in counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes for their official acts and the services of their deputies watchmen appraisers and other agents requiring prepayment of same unless secured or chargeable to the county and delivery of itemized receipts therefor requiring certain payments by the county including the compensation of special deputies providing for the taxation and collection of fees commissions mileage and other costs requiring salaried sheriffs to account to the county for certain fees and commissions collected and repealing inconsistent laws general special or local" changing fees commissions mileage and other costs chargeable by sheriffs.

SENATE INSISTS UPON ITS AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY THE HOUSE TO HOUSE BILL No. 834

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate insists upon its amendments non-concurred in by the House to the foregoing bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bills of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 54, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for payment of the cost of necessary improvements at the Bloomsburg State Teachers College and for the Commonwealth's share of expenses incurred by the town of Bloomsburg in connection therewith.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 21, 1955.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, November 28, 1955, at 3:30 o'clock, P. M., E.S.T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, November 28, 1955, at a time to be fixed by the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

DESIGNATING THE WEEK OF MAY 12 IN EACH YEAR AS PENNSYLVANIA NURSE WEEK

Messrs. BANE, DENT, MAHANY, TAYLOR and LANE offered the following resolution which was twice read considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 21, 1955.

Whereas, The nursing profession plays a vital role in the health care of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and

Whereas, A continued renewal and extension of its ranks through the attraction of young people to the profession is of the first importance to the Commonwealth's future health and welfare; and

Whereas, There are many problems facing the nursing profession which can only be solved through the aid of an informed and sympathetic public; and

Whereas, It is proper and fitting that public attention and recognition should be focused on the great contributions, past and present, that the nursing profession in all its branches has made to Pennsylvania's welfare and security; therefore, be it

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly designate the week of May 12 in each year as Pennsylvania Nurse Week, in honor of the nurses of the state and in recognition of the vitally important service they have faithfully rendered in the promotion of health and welfare. The Governor is authorized and requested to issue annually a proclamation calling upon all the people of the Commonwealth to cooperate in the observance of such week.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I note by the public press that my good friend, Senator Dent, is aspiring to be the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate. I want him to know that due to the long affiliation which he and I have had, and he and all the Republican Members of the Senate have had, although we may not be able to do a whole lot for him in the General Election, that in the primaries we hope he wins.

If we can do anything to help him win the primary race for the United States Senate, we will be happy to do it. All he will have to do is to call on us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would indeed be an ungrateful person if I did not rise to thank the spokesman for the other side, and for their generous offer of help. I might assure them that if they can help me get through the primary, I will not need any help in the general.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I read with interest the resolution offered by our colleague, Senator Bane, and others, on nurses. It aroused my curiosity as to what happened to the practical nurses bill which was introduced by Senator Mahany, Senator Dent, Senator Pechan, Senator Bane and Senator Schmidt, and for the passage of which Senator Bane and I labored to exhaustion, let us say, and I find that it has never passed. It has gone over, and over and over in the House.

I do not know what we could do to hasten the enactment of that bill, but I think it has a longer history than any bill which has been introduced in the Legislature. I hope that my remarks might be conveyed to the House, and I do hope that they will pass that bill.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATSON asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations reported at today's Session.

CALENDAR

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 457, Printer's No. 248, on concurrence in House amendments, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 657, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 22, 1953 (Appropriation Acts 101) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Elwyn Training School at Elwyn in the County of Delaware Commonwealth of Pennsylvania . . ." increasing the per capita annual maintenance rate of wards of the Commonwealth

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I do not want to oppose this bill, but I would like to have a little clarification on it. As a matter of fact, I think the Elwyn Training School is entitled to probably a little more money than it is asking for.

If I read this bill correctly, it is a deficiency appropriation. It seems that when the bill was originally passed, during the last biennium, it was set up to take care of 600 wards of the State, at $850 per capita. The records show that this school earned on that basis $996,036.37, which left an amount to be lapsed. The amount to be lapsed was the difference between the $996,036.37 and the $1,020,000.

This bill, as amended, still calls for the maintenance of 600 patients. However, it increases the per capita from $850 to $960. If you multiply the 600 patients by the $960 you will get $1,152,000 which, at least in my opinion, should be the total figure in the bill. Therefore, the Elwyn School, based on its own figures and on the provisions of this bill, is shortchanged by $132,000. I believe it would be even more than that, Mr. President, because I checked with the Department of the Auditor General, and I find that the per capita maintenance cost for patients at Elwyn was $973.12 during the two year period of the 1953-1955 biennium. If this school could get what is really owing to it, it seems to me, if it is proper—somebody else must pass on that—the total in the bill should be increased to at least $1,152,000 so that this school could get the difference between what it earned, which is $996,036.37, and the $1,152,000. I checked with the Secretary of Welfare on this phase, and he was satisfied that this school was entitled to what it earned. As a matter of fact, I think the per capita is being increased for the next biennium.

This, Mr. President, poses another question. Senator Mahany, in the statement he released some time ago on budget reductions totaling, I think, $131,000,000, included $24,000,000 for the Department of Welfare. Of course, even though requested to pinpoint and break down this $24,000,000, to this date he has not done so and neither has anyone else on the other side. Therefore, I, for one, and I am sure others, would like to know whether or not any of this $24,000,000 that the Republicans recommend be reduced from the appropriation to the Department of Welfare would be applicable to any extent to the Elwyn Training School. If it is applicable, I think all of us are entitled to know by what amount and what proportion of that $24,000,000 before we take final action on this bill.

In addition, Mr. President, I do not think it is fair, in view of the controversy on the budget, in particular on the Department of Welfare, that we should pick out one institution, single it out and make an appropriation to give it any funds until such time as we have the whole picture before us, until such time as we settle the total appropriation to the Department of Welfare. This particular appropriation is to the Department of Welfare and it is funneled on to the Elwyn Training School. I understand it is a good school, and it is taking good care of a group of unfortunates, mentally retarded, and I think they are setting aside this week as the week to solicit funds to help finance a program for mentally retarded children throughout Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am not opposing the bill, but I do think that there should be some reconciliation between the number of patients the school is taking care of, the per capita cost and the total figure that the school should be entitled to. According to my mathematical computations and that of others, there is a discrepancy which I believe could be adjusted through an amendment.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. YOSKO. For that reason, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 657, Printer's No. 278, on final passage, go over in its order so that the bill can be discussed with the sponsor as well as the Secretary of Welfare, the Budget Bureau and, perhaps, the superintendent of the institution to make sure that the Commonwealth reimburses this school for the full amount to which it is entitled.

The PRESIDENT. Are there objections?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill going over. I can agree with the Senator's figures that, in other words, Elwyn Training School has not been fully paid by the State of Pennsylvania. I do not agree with him, though, that there is any reason why we should hold $23,963.63 that is in this fund to pay Elwyn. I cannot understand why we cannot go on and pay them this $23,963.63. However, if he would like to hold it over to discuss it, perhaps, tomorrow with me I will agree. However, I want this bill to move along because they need the money. They are State wards and Senator Yosko admits it is a good school. I say that it is the best. We think it is being operated properly.

I would be happy to let the bill go over today, but I certainly will expect Senator Yosko to find time tomorrow to sit down and discuss this matter with me so we can go on with this bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to take this opportunity to call Senator Yosko's attention to the fact that, I believe, about a week ago today, he used up about an hour of our time and a lot of space in the Legislative Journal giving us the business because we had not gotten out appropriations for a couple of hospitals in which he was interested. Today, he tells us that he does not believe that we should act on any appropriations for any institutions until we get them all over here and then act on them together.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I just want to call to the attention of the Majority Leader, and the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins, that we have information that $29,000 has not been lapsed as far as this appropriation is concerned.

I think that the reason the bill should go over in order is to iron this out tomorrow. I wish to assure the other side that I am for this legislation, but we want to have our figures correct.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to say to Senator Mahany that I was talking about medical-surgical hospitals and there are a group of them. I was talking about all of them but, in particular, those in my District. The Elwyn Training School happens to be a private school that the Commonwealth assigns patients to for custodial care and treatment. However, what I said last week still holds. I certainly hope that the medical-surgical hospitals will be taken care of for, at least, the first quarterly payment which was due them as of October 31, 1955.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Yosko.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Yosko, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. YOSKO. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to ask Senator Yosko if he was referring to hospitals such as the Titusville Hospital and the Harrisburg Hospital in his effort to obtain money for these various hospitals.

Mr. YOSKO. If the Titusville Hospital or the Harrisburg Hospital—I am assuming that you are talking about medical-surgical hospitals now—come under the category about which I talked, the answer is yes.

Mr. MAHANEY. These are State-aided hospitals. They get a certain appropriation from the State of Pennsylvania. I wondered if you were taking those into consideration in your talk of last week.

Mr. YOSKO. In my talk of last week, I was urging the approval of appropriations for those hospitals so that, at least, the first quarterly payment could be made. My argument then was that if we could not approve an appropriation for the full biennium, we should at least make a partial appropriation to take care of the first or first and second quarters.

May I remind you, Senator Mahany, that regardless of the amount which is appropriated to these medical-surgical State-aided hospitals, they must earn whatever they receive? Auditors go in there at the end of each three months and audit their reports, their records. Whatever they earn, based on the per capita allowed, that much is allocated to them on a quarterly basis. The first quarter, as I said before, was due August 31st and the second quarter will be due at the end of this month.

Mr. MAHANY. One more question, Senator Yosko. I would like to ask you whether you knew, while you were making your speech giving us the business, you might say, for not getting this appropriation bill out, that at that very time, I believe, the House was just introducing the bill in the hopper of the House to set up these appropriations for these hospitals.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Mahany, my remarks were meant for anybody who was holding up the appropriation. I, in particular, represent Northampton County. There are two of those hospitals there and I introduced appropriation bills to take care of them. So far as the Senate is concerned, I was urging release if those bills from committee as well as action on the entire 187.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I was going to suggest that if Senator Watkins, tomorrow morning, will get in touch with the Budget Director, there is a question as to whether or not the $29,000 has been lapsed or not lapsed. If it has not been lapsed, then we will have to take it into consideration on the passage of the act.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President. I can answer that now. I checked on the difference between the amount that was earned, and the $1,020,000 has not been lapsed.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 657, Printer's No. 278, on final passage, will go over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 729, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article two section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 The following amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof

That section four article two of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Upon adoption of this amendment the General Assembly shall meet at twelve o'clock noon on the first Tuesday of January of the year folowing such adoption and shall meet at such time annually thereafter and at other times when convened by the Governor At regular sessions convening in even-numbered years the General Assembly shall be in session for not more than sixty days and shall not enact any laws except laws raising revenue and laws making appropriations In even-numbered years the General Assembly shall not be convened in special session within thirty days prior to its convening or within thirty days after its adjournment sine die

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise not to debate this bill but to make a statement and to do as much as I can not to be misunderstood in my position on this.

I would like to state, first of all, that I am in favor of annual sessions and would support any annual sessions bill that I felt was a decent bill. I feel this bill is not and I feel, for reasons I explained before, while debating the other day on the amendments, that this bill goes some distance in destroying the balance between the Executive and Legislative Branches. I feel it is a radical and revolutionary departure from our constitutional system. I feel it takes away the ability of the Executive Branch to act in crisis, in conjunction with the Legislature.

For that reason, I wish to be recorded as voting "no." However, I hope that before this Session is over, either this bill, as amended by the House, or the bill which now reposes in a Senate committee, will give me the opportunity to vote for a good annual sessions bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to add to Senator Seyler's remarks that we already passed a bill last Session. That bill, in order to meet with the constitutional requirements as set up in the State Constitution, would have to pass this Session also in order for it to take the usual course of events so that annual sessions can become a fact. If we are not interested in having annual sessions and this is merely a token bill, if this bill passes this Session, we will just have to put it through next Session and if anything happens to that, we can go on ad infinitum introducing every Session a new bill.

I would like to present to the committee chairman, who has the bill which we passed last Session and which is reposing in his committee, the thought of why does he not bring this bill out and let us vote on that. If we want annual sessions, then we can pass it through the Senate this time and have it take its usual course so that we can actually have annual sessions and they will become a reality.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, inasmuch as I am convinced that this bill was introduced for purposes of delaying annual sessions and, perhaps, to eliminate annual sessions entirely and for the further reason that I introduced, with the co-sponsorship of my colleague from Lehigh County, a bill identical to the one which was passed in the 1953 Session, having introduced that bill last February, I must be consistent. For that reason, I, too, desire to be recorded as voting "no" on this particular bill.

Mr. LANE .Mr. President, I am going to be brutally frank. I am going to vote for this bill with the thought in mind that when it gets over to the House, the House will insert into it the amendments I tried to insert into this bill last week. If that is the case, naturally something will be done and perhaps we will eventually have annual sessions, providing the majority in the Senate accepts the House amendments.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Blair will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—35

Bane,	Flack,	Mahany,	Silvert,
Barr,	Fleming,	McCreesh,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Taylor,
Blass,	Harney,	Miller,	Van Sant,
Camiel,	Hays,	Mullin,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Watkins,
Dent,	Kopriver, Jr.,	Propert,	Watson,
Derk,	Lane,	Ruth,	Wolfe,
Diehm,	Madigan,	Schmidt,

NAYS—7

Mallery,	Seyler,	Weiner,	Yosko,
McPherson, Jr.,	Wade,	Whalley,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye", the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, there have been several amendments which have been suggested to House Bill No. 794, Printer's No. 1001. Rather than receive these amendments on the floor of the Senate, I feel that it is to the best interest of all concerned if we have this bill re-referred to the Committee on Rules so that the Members of the Rules Committee, which is composed of both Republicans and Democrats, may go over the various amendments which are suggested. Then we will have the bill reported out within a week in the best possible shape.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 794, on third reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of January 21, 1947 (P. L. 3) entitled "An act relating to officers and employes of the General Assembly fixing the number qualifications compensation mileage and duties of the officers and employes of the Senate and of the House of Representatives providing for their election or appointment term of office or of service removal and manner of filling vacancies and making appropriations to the Senate House of Represenatives and Legislative Reference Bureau" changing the title of and compensation of certain Senate and House employes providing for the appointment of additional employes therein and making appropriations.

be re-referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1572, as follows:

An Act relating to coal mining well operations and the underground storage of gas except in storage reservoirs excavated in rock formations specifically for storage purposes and the safety of personnel and facilities employed therein prescribing the rights and duties of well operators before during and after the drilling of wells for the production extraction or storage of any gas petroleum or other liquid regulating the underground storage of gas under workable coal seams prescribing the rights and duties of owners and operators of coal mines in relation to wells and underground storage areas granting certain corporations a limited right of eminent domain to appropriate interests in real property for surface and sub-surface operations in connection with the underground storage of gas creating the Oil and Gas Division of the Department of Mines and defining its personnel powers and duties providing for hearings and the procedures to be followed therein and imposing duties upon the courts and providing methods for the enforcement of the provisions of this act and imposing penalties

Article I

Preliminary Provisions

Section 101 Short Title This act shall be known as the "Gas Operations Well-Drilling Petroleum and Coal Mining Act"

Section 102 Definitions as used in this act

(1) "Coal mine" means those operations in a coal seam which include the excavated and abandoned portions as well as the places actually being worked also all underground workings and shafts slopes tunnels and other ways and openings and all such shafts slopes tunnels and other openings in the course of being sunk or driven together with all roads and facilities connected with them below the surface

(2) "Operating coal mine" means (i) a coal mine which is producing coal or has been in production of coal at any time during the twelve months immediately preceding the date its status is put in question under this act and any worked out or abandoned coal mine connected underground with or contiguous to such operating coal mine as herein defined and (ii) any coal mine to be established or reestablished as an operating coal mine in the future pursuant to subsection (c) of section 303 of this act

(3) "Outside coal boundaries" when used in conjunction with the term "operating coal mine" means the boundaries of the coal acreage assigned to such coal mine and which can be practicably and reasonably expected to be mined through such coal mine

(4) "Workable coal seam" means (i) a coal seam in fact being mined in the area in question under this act by underground methods or (ii) one which in the judgment of the division can be and that it is reasonable to be expected will be mined by underground methods

(5) "Coal operator" means any person as herein defined who proposes to or does operate a coal mine either as owner or lessee

(6) "Well" when used in this act means a bore hole drilled or being drilled for the purpose of or to be used for producing extracting or injecting any gas petroleum or other liquid but excluding bore holes drilled to produce potable water to be used as such

(7) "Division" means the Oil and Gas Division of the Department of Mines

(8) "Owner" means any person as herein defined who owns manages operates leases controls or possesses any well or coal property

(9) "Well operator" means any person as herein defined who proposes to or does locate drill operate plug recondition or abandon any well as herein defined in cases where a well is used in connection with the underground storage of gas the term "well operator" shall also mean a "storage operator" as hereinafter defined

(10) "Gas" means any natural manufactured or by-product gas or any mixture thereof

(11) "Storage reservoir" means that portion of any subterranean sand or rock stratum or strata into which gas is or may be injected for the purpose of storage or for the purpose of testing whether said stratum is suitable for storage

(12) "Plat" means a map drawing or print accurately drawn to scale showing the proposed or existing location of a well or wells as herein defined

(13) "Casing" means a string or strings of pipe commonly placed in wells drilled for natural gas or petroleum

(14) "Bridge" means an obstruction placed in a well at any specified depth

(15) "Cement" or "cement grout" means hydraulic cement properly mixed with water only

(16) "Linear foot" means a unit of measurement in a straight line on a horizontal plane

(17) "Oil" means the same as the word "petroleum"

(18) "Person" means any individual association partnership or corporation

(19) "Reservoir protective area" means all of that area outside of and surrounding the storage reservoir boundary but within two thousand linear feet thereof

(20) "Retreat mining" means the removal of such coal pillars ribs and stumps as remain after the development mining has been completed in that section of a coal mine

(21) "Pillar" means a solid block of coal surrounded by either active mine workings or a mined out area

(22) "Inactivate" means to shut off all flow of gas from a well by means of a temporary plug or other suitable device or by injecting aquagel or other such equally nonporous material into the well

(23) "Storage operator" means any person as herein defined who proposes to or does operate a storage reservoir either as owner or lessee

Section 103 Exclusions from effect of act nothing contained in this act shall apply to storage of gas or liquids in storage reservoirs excavated in rock formations specifically for storage purposes

Article II

Drilling and Plugging

Section 201 Well Operator's Responsibility Before and During Drilling (a) Before drilling any well which is to pass through any workable coal seam the well operator shall have a plat prepared by a competent engineer (on a form to be furnished by the division) showing the political subdivision and county in which the tract of land upon which the well to be drilled is located the name of the lessor or landowner the name of the owner or operator of all known underlying workable coal seams the acreage in the tract to be drilled the proposed location of the well determined by survey the courses and distances of such location from two or more permanent points or landmarks on said tract the proposed angle and direction of such well if the well is to be deviated substantially from a vertical course and the number or other identification to be given the well indicating the workable coal seams if any underlying said tract which are to be cased off in accordance with section 204 of this act and shall forward by registered mail copies of the plat to the division and the division shall in turn forward by registered mail a copy of said plat to the owner and lessee if any of such coal and every coal operator operating in any of said seams of coal who has the right to file objections under section 202 and who has mapped the same and filed his maps with the Department of Mines as required by law If the well operator submits to the division written approval of the proposed well location by the coal operator or owner of the coal underlying the proposed well location and no objections are raised by the division within ten days or if no such approval has been submitted and no objections are made to such proposed well location within ten days from receipt of such notice by the coal operator or owner or by the division the same shall be filed and become a permanent record of such location subject to inspection at any time by any interested person and the division shall forthwith issue a drilling permit to the well operator and the well operator may proceed with the drilling of the well at the exact location shown on the plat

(b) It shall be the duty of the well operator whose well penetrates one or more workable coal seams to keep a driller's log of such well Such log shall show the character thickness and depth of the formations passed through or encountered in the drilling of such well and show the depth at which all gas oil and water were encountered The log shall show whether the well is productive of gas oil or water the volume or quantity thereof and the initial rock pressure of such well which has been taken for a period of not less than forty-eight hours A copy of this log shall be furnished to the division within thirty days after the completion of the well and it shall be kept on file by the division

Section 202 Drilling Permit Agreed Location of Wells Docket of Proceedings (a) In case any well location referred to in subsection (a) of section 201 is made so that the well when drilled will penetrate anywhere within the outside coal boundaries of any operating coal mine or coal mine already projected and platted but not yet being operated or within one thousand linear feet beyond such boundaries and the well when drilled or the pillar of coal about the well will in the opinion of the coal owner or operator unduly interfere with or endanger such mine then the coal owner or operator affected shall have the right to file objections in accordance with subsection (h) of section 501 to such proposed location within ten days of the receipt by the coal operator of the plat provided for in subsection (a) of section 201 An alternative location at which the proposed well could be drilled to overcome such objections shall if possible be indicated If no such objections to the proposed location are filed or if none are raised by the division within ten days after receipt of the plat by the coal operator or owner or if written approval by the coal operator or owner of the location is filed with the division and no ojections are raised by the division within ten days the division shall forthwith issue to the well operator a drilling permit authorizing the well operator to drill at such location

(b) If any objections are filed by any coal operator or owner or are made by the division the division shall fix a time and place for a conference in accordance with section 502 not more than ten days from the date of the service of such objections on the well operator at which conference the well operator and such coal operators or owners as are present or represented shall consider the objections and attempt to agree upon a location If they fail to agree upon a location the division shall direct that a hearing be held within five days of such conference in accordance with section 502 and after such hearing shall by an appropriate order determine a location on such tract of land as near to the original location as possible where in the judgment of the division the well can be safely drilled without unduly interfering with or endangering such mine Such new location as agreed upon by said parties or as determined by the division shall be indicated on the plat on file with the division and shall become a permanent record whereupon the division shall promptly issue a drilling permit authorizing the well operator to drill at the location agreed upon by the parties or as determined by the division

(c) Within one hundred and twenty days after the commencement of drilling operations the coal operator shall accurately locate the well by a closed survey on the same datum as the mine workings or coal boundaries are mapped and file the results of the survey with the division and forward by registered mail a copy to the well operator

(d) No well shall be drilled through a workable coal seam except in accordance with a permit issued under this section

(e) Drilling permits shall not be required for wells which do not pass through one or more workable coal seams However the well operator shall have a plat prepared in the form and manner prescribed in subsection (a) of section 201 of this act and shall forward such plat along with a driller's log as described in subsection (b) of section 201 by registered mail to the division within thirty days after the completion of the well In cases where more than one well is to be drilled as part of the same development project the well locations may be shown on a plat prepared on a lease or project basis provided that such plat is filed with the division within thirty days after the completion of the first well

Section 203 Coal Operator's Responsibility Upon Approaching Wells Already Drilled or Located (a) Hereafter at any time prior to removing any coal or other underground material or extending the workings in any coal mine within five hundred feet of any oil or gas well of which the coal operator has knowledge or any approved well location of which the coal operator has knowledge the coal operator shall forward by registered mail to or file with the well operator and the division a copy of such relevant part of its maps and plans which it is presently required by law to prepare and file with the Department of Mines showing the pillar which the coal operator proposes to leave in place around each oil or gas well in the projected workings Following the filing of said maps and plans the coal operator may proceed with his mining operations in the manner projected on said maps and plans but he shall not remove any coal or cut any passageway within one hundred fifty feet of any such well or approved well location until a permit has been issued as hereinafter provided If in the opinion of the well operator or the division such plan indicates that the pillar proposed to be left around any such well or approved well location is insufficient in size then the well operator affected shall attempt to agree with the coal operator upon a suitable pillar subject to the approval of the division but failing to agree such well operator may within ten days from receipt by them of such plan file objections in accordance with subsection (h) of section 501 to such proposed plan indicating the size of the pillar to be left with respect to each such well If no objections are filed within said ten day period or if none are raised by the division the division shall forthwith issue a permit to the coal operator reciting the filing of said maps or plans that no objections have been made thereto and that the pillar proposed to be left for each such well is approved in the manner as projected

(b) If any objections are filed by such well operator or are raised by the division the division shall direct that a conference be held in accordance with section 502 within ten days of the filing of such objections At such conference the coal operator and the person who has filed such objections shall attempt to agree upon a proposed plan showing the pillar to be left around each well which will satisfy such objections and be approved by the division and if such plan is agreed upon the division shall forthwith issue to the coal operator a permit reciting the filing of said plan and that the pillar to be left for each such well is approved as agreed upon If no such plan showing the pillar to be left with respect to each well can be agreed upon at such conference the division shall direct that a hearing be held within five days after such conference in accordance with section 502 and after such hearing shall in accordance with the standards set forth in this section and by an appropriate order determine the pillar to be left with respect to each such well In any proceeding under this section the division shall follow as nearly as is possible the original plan filed by the coal operator The division shall not require the coal operator to leave a pillar in excess of one hundred feet in radius except that if it is established that unusual conditions exist requiring the leaving of a larger pillar the division may require a pillar up to but not exceeding one hundred fifty feet in radius The pillar to be left with respect to each well as determined by the division shall be shown on the maps or plans on file with the division as provided in subsection (a) of this section and the division shall thereupon issue to the coal operator a permit approving the pillar to be left for each such well

(c) Whenever a permit shall have been issued by the division under this section approving or requiring a certain plan for the leaving of a pillar of a specified size in the projected workings and it shall thereafter be demonstrated by further mining operations in the area that such a pillar is insufficient in size the well operator shall subject to the approval of the division attempt to agree with the coal operator upon a suitable pillar but failing to agree such well operator or operators may file a petition with the division to review such plan and following the procedure hereinabove in this section prescribed the division may by an appropriate order determine subject to the limitations set forth in this section a different plan showing the pillar to be left thereafter with respect to each such well and an amended permit shall thereupon be issued approving the pillar to be left for each such well

(d) Application may be made at any time to the division by the coal operator to leave a pillar of less size than that shown on the plan filed by him or approved or determined by the division pursuant to the provisions of this section If any such application is filed the division may following the procedure hereinbefore in this section prescribed by an appropriate order determine a different plan showing a pillar of less size with respect to any or all wells covered by such application and an amended permit shall thereupon be issued approving the pillar to be left with respect to each such well

(e) No coal operator shall without the written approval of the division after notice and opportunity for hearing as prescribed in this section remove any coal or cut any passageway so as to leave a pillar of less size with respect to any oil or gas well than shown on a permit or amended permit issued under this section

(f) Nothing in this act shall be construed to require a well operator to pay for any coal pillar required by the act to be left around any well drilled prior to the effective date of this act Nothing contained in this act which may require a coal operator to leave a pillar of coal of a certain size around a well drilled after the effective date of this act shall in any way affect (1) any right which the coal operator would have had prior to the effective date of this act to obtain payment for such coal nor (2) any duty or right which the well operator storage operator or land owner may have had prior to the effective date of this act to pay for or not to pay for such coal

Section 204 Method of Casing Through Coal Seams (a) When a well is drilled through a coal seam in a location from which the coal has been removed the hole shall be drilled at least thirty feet below the coal seam and of a sufficient size to permit the placing of a steel pipe liner not less than ten inches in diameter and of at least one-quarter inch wall thickness the liner shall extend from a point not less than twenty-five feet below the coal seam to a point not less than twenty-five feet above it The bottom end of the liner shall be fastened and sealed to the casing and the casing shall be centrally located within the liner The annular space between said casing and liner shall be filled with aquagel cement or such other equally nonporous material as the division may approve pursuant to an application filed under section 207 The casing shall be raised at least ten feet off the bottom of the hole and cement shall be placed in the well through the casing to a depth of at least twenty feet After the cement has been placed the casing shall be lowered to the bottom of the hole In each case where cement is used to set such liners or casing strings sufficient time shall be allowed for the proper setting of the cement before drilling is resumed The casing string shall be equipped with either an approved packer or casing shoe A liner may be run and cemented as a eparate string of pipe or such alternate method of pro-ecting the coal seam may be employed as the division ay approve pursuant to an application filed under sec-on 207 Such representative of the division as the deputy ecretary shall have designated and the coal operator hall be given at least seventy-two hours notice by the ell operator when the work described above is to be one

(b) When a well is drilled through two or more coal eams in a location from which the coal has been re-oved such liner shall extend not less than twenty-five eet below the lowest seam penetrated and shall extend o a point not less than twenty-five feet above the high-st such seam In such multiple coal seams in a location rom which the coal has been removed the liner may be un and cemented as a separate string of pipe or such lternate method of protecting the coal seams may be mployed as the division may approve pursuant to an pplication filed under section 207 Such representative f the division as the deputy secretary shall have desig-ated and the coal operator shall be given at least eventy-two hours notice by the well operator when the asing is to be cemented through the coal seam

(c) A well penetrating one or more workable coal eams in a location from which the coal has not been re-oved shall be drilled to such depth and of such size s will permit the placing of casing and packers in the ole at such points and in such manner as will exclude ll oil or gas from the coal seam except such as may e found naturally in the coal seam itself Each string f casing run in the hole shall be provided with a steel asing shoe collar packer or other suitable device firmly xed on the bottom of such string of casing The outer tring of casing run through any workable coal seam hall be of at least one-quarter inch wall thickness and hall be seated at least thirty feet below such coal seam r if run through more than one workable seam then at east thirty feet below the lowest of such coal seams in t least twenty feet of cement aquagel or other such qually nonporous material or such alternate method as he division may approve pursuant to an application filed nder section 207 and such casing string shall extend to he surface The space behind the largest diameter casing xtending through a workable coal seam or seams shall e filled to the extent possible to the surface with cement quagel or such other equally nonporous material or such lternate method as the division may approve pursuant o an application filed under section 207 Such represent-tive of the division as the deputy secretary shall have esignated and the coal operator or owner shall be given t least seventy-two hours notice by the well operator vhen the well is to be cased through such coal seam

(d) In the event that gas is found beneath a workable oal seam before the size of the hole has been reduced packer shall be placed below such coal seam and above he gas horizon and the gas by this means shall be di-erted to the inside of the adjacent string of casing hrough perforations made in such casing and through t shall be passed to the surface without contact with he coal seam Should oil or gas be found between two vorkable seams of coal in a hole of the same diameter rom seam to seam two packers shall be placed with erforations in the casing between them permitting the gas o pass to the surface inside the adjacent casing or the as may be sealed off by cement or by some other nethod approved by the division pursuant to an applica-ion filed under section 207 In either of the cases here pecified the strings of casing shall extend from their eats to the top of the well

(e) In the event that a well becomes commercially roductive of natural gas or petroleum all coal-protecting trings of casing shall remain in place during the life of he well and until such well is properly plugged The nnular space between the various strings of casing adja-ent to workable seams of coal shall be kept open except s provided in subsection (d) of this section and the top nds of all such strings shall be provided with casing eads or such other suitable devices as will permit the passage of gas into the air or into a pipeline and prevent the obstructing or filling of such annular spaces with dirt or debris

Section 205 Notice of Intention to Plug a Well and Filing of Plugging Certificate Prior to the abondonment of any well in an area underlain by a workable coal seam the well operator shall notify the coal operator and the owner of all known workable coal seams to whom notices are required to be given by the well operator under section 201 and such representative of the division as the deputy secretary shall have designated of his intention to plug and abandon any such well and submit a plat (on a form to be furnished by the division) showing the location of the well and fixing the time at which the work of plugging will be commenced which time shall be not less than seventy-two hours after the time when such notice is received in order that their representative may be present at the plugging of the well Such notice may be waived by the division and said coal operator or owner and either of them may likewise waive his right to be present but such waiver shall be in writing and a copy thereof attached to notice of abandonment filed with the division under this section Whether or not such representatives appear the well operator may if he has fully complied with the requirements of this section proceed at the time fixed to plug the well in the manner hereinafter described When such plugging has been completed a certificate shall be prepared (on a form to be furnished by the division) by two experienced and qualified men who participated in the work setting forth the time and manner in which the well was plugged One copy of this certificate shall be mailed to each coal operator or owner to whom notice was given by registered mail and another copy shall be mailed to the division

Section 206 Plugging and Pulling Casing (a) Upon abandoning or ceasing to operate any well in an area not underlain by a workable coal seam the owner or operator thereof shall plug the same in the following manner

The well shall be filled with sand pumpings mud or other equally nonporous material as the division may approve pursuant to an application filed under section 207 from the bottom of the well to a point twenty feet above the top of the lowest stratum bearing or having borne oil gas or water or a permanent bridge shall be anchored thirty feet below the lowest stratum bearing or having borne oil gas or water and from such bridge the well shall be filled with sand pumpings mud or other equally nonporous material as the division may approve pursuant to an application filed under section 207 to a point twenty feet above such stratum at this point there shall be placed a plug of cement or other equally nonporous material to a depth of at least twenty feet which will completely seal the hole a sufficient lapse of time shall be allowed after the introduction of the cement or other material for it to set properly before proceeding Between this sealing plug and a point twenty feet above the next higher stratum bearing or having borne oil gas or water the hole shall be either filled or bridged and filled in the manner just described and at such point there shall be placed another similar plug of cement or other equally nonporous material to a depth of at least twenty feet which will completely seal the hole

In like manner the hole shall be filled and plugged or bridged filled and plugged with reference to each of the strata bearing or having borne oil gas or water Whenever such strata are not widely separated and are free from water they may be grouped and treated as a single horizon and the aforesaid filling and plugging may be performed as though there were but one horizon After plugging all strata bearing or having borne oil gas or water as aforesaid a bridge shall be anchored approximately thirty feet below the water string of casing and there shall be placed another similar plug of cement or other equally nonporus material to a depth of at least ten feet which will completely seal the hole after which said casing may be drawn a final plug shall be anchored approximately ten feet below the bottom of the largest casing in the well and from this point to the surface the well shall be filled with sand pumpings mud or other equally nonporous material

(b) In an area not underlain by a workable coal seam when it is desired to pull the casing in any well the well may be produced through tubing placed on a packer and after cement has been poured on the packer to a depth of not less than twenty feet and the annular space outside of the tubing and above the cement plug is filled with cement aquagel or other equally nonporous material or such alternate method as the division may approve pursuant to an application filed under section 207 up to the bottom of the smallest water string of casing then the casing or casings may be pulled

Upon the abandonment of such well a plug or bridge shall be placed in the tubing at a point near the depth at which the packer was set and cement placed on top of said plug or bridge to a depth of not less than thirty feet After the tubing has been parted above the plug and pulled a bridge shall then be set at a depth of not less than thirty feet from the surface and the hole completely filled from that point to the surface with sand pumpings mud or other suitable material With the approval of the division pursuant to an application filed under section 207 some other equally effective method of pulling casing or plugging may be used

(c) Upon abandoning or ceasing to operate any well which passes through a workable coal seam the owner or operator of said well shall plug the same in the following manner

The well shall be filled with sand pumpings or other equally non-porous material as the division may approve pursuant to an application filed under section 207 to the top of the lowest stratum bearing or having borne oil gas or water and at such point a suitable type of plug approved by the division shall be placed The space above the plug shall be filled for at least twenty feet with cement or other equally nonporous material as the division may approve pursuant to an application filed under section 207 A sufficient lapse of time shall be allowed after the introduction of the cement or other material for it is to set properly before proceeding All other formations encountered in the well which bear or have borne oil gas or water shall be plugged and filled in the same manner A final plug shall be anchored approximately ten feet below the bottom of the smallest coal protecting string of casing but not less than forty feet below the lowest workable coal seam and the hole above filled with approximately twenty feet of rock or gravel After the inside casing has been drawn there shall be placed on top of the rock or gravel above the final plug a vent pipe at least two inches in diameter with a bell fitting or other suitable device to carry any free gas into the vent pipe The vent pipe shall extend above the surface at least six feet and shall be fitted at the top with a tee and two street ells or similar devices to prevent debris from entering the vent pipe The space surrounding the vent pipe and immediately above the bell fitting or other device shall be filled with at least five feet of sand pumpings or fine gravel and then the space from this point shall be filled with cement to a point not less than twenty-five feet above the highest workable coal seam From this point to the surface the space around the vent pipe shall be filled with sand pumpings or other equally nonporous material In a storage reservoir subject to section 304 the vent pipe shall be maintained in good repair by the storage operator If approved by the division pursuant to an application filed under section 207 an alternative method of plugging and venting may be employed

(d) Upon abandoning or ceasing to operate any well pursuant to this section where any of the strata bearing or having borne oil gas or water in a well has been shot thereby creating cavities which cannot be readily filled in the manner above described the well operator shall use either of the following methods unless he has approval of the division pursuant to an application filed under section 207 to use an alternative method

(1) Should the stratum which has been shot be the lowest one in the well there shall be placed at th nearest suitable point but not less than twenty fe above the stratum a plug of cement or other equal nonporous material to a depth of at least twenty fe which will completely seal the hole a sufficient lap of time shall be allowed after the introduction of th cement or other material for it to set properly befo proceeding In the event however that the shooting h been done above one or more strata bearing or havi borne oil gas or water in the well plugging in th manner specified shall be done at the nearest suitab points to not less than twenty feet below and not le than twenty feet above the stratum shot from a poi immediately above the above mentioned plug the we shall be plugged in accordance with subsection (a) (b or (c) of this section whichever is applicable

(2) When such cavity shall be in the lowest stratu bearing or having borne oil gas or water in the well liner shall be placed which shall extend from not le than twenty feet above to a solid bottom in the stratu in which the shooting has been done In the event hov ever that the shooting has been done above one or mo strata bearing or having borne oil gas or water in th well the liner shall be so placed that it will extend n less than twenty feet above nor less than twenty fe below the stratum in which shooting has been done Fo lowing the placing of the liner in the manner here specifie it shall be completely filled with sand pumpings mu or other equally nonporous material as the division ma approve pursuant to an application filed under section 2 from a point immediately above the top of said lin the well shall be plugged in accordance with subsectio (a) (b) or (c) of the section whichever is applicable

Section 207 Alternative Method (a) Whenever provisio is made in this act by reference to this section for using a alternative method or material in carrying out an obligation imposed by the act the person seeking th authority to use such alternative method or material sha file an application with the division describing such pro posed alternative method or material in reasonable deta Notice of filing of any such application shall be given b registered mail to any coal operator or operators affecte Any such coal operator may within ten days followin such notice file objections to such proposed alternati method or material If no objections are filed within sa ten day period or if none is raised by the division th division shall forthwith issue a permit approving suc proposed alternative method or material

(b) If any such objections are filed by any coal operat or are raised by the division the division shall direct th a conference be held in accordance with section 502 withi ten days following the filing of such objections At suc conference the person seeking approval of the alternati method or material and the person who has filed suc objections shall attempt to agree on such alternati method or material or any modifications thereof and such agreement is reached and approved by the divisio the division shall forthwith issue a permit approving th alternative method or material If no such agreement reached and approved the division shall direct that hearing be held in accordance with section 502 here provided however that if the alternative method material involves a new development in technology technique the division may before such a hearing is he grant such affected parties a period not to exceed nine days to study and evaluate said proposed alternati method or material Following such hearing if the div sion shall find that such proposed alternative method material will furnish adequate protection to the workab coal seams the division shall by order approve such alte native method or material otherwise the division sha deny the said application

Article III

Regulation of Underground Gas Storage Pools in Certain Areas

Section 301 Filing of Maps and Data by Persons Operat ing or Proposing to Operate Gas Storage Reservoirs (a Any person who on the effective date of this act is in ecting gas into or storing gas in a storage reservoir which nderlies or is within three thousand linear feet of an perating coal mine which is operating in a coal seam that xtends over the storage reservoir or the reservoir protective area shall within sixty days thereafter file with he division a copy of a map and certain data in the orm and manner provided in this subsection

Any person who on the effective date of this act is inecting gas into or storing gas in a storage reservoir vhich is not at such date under or within three thousand inear feet but is less than ten thousand linear feet from n operating coal mine which is operating in a coal seam hat extends over the storage reservoir or the reservoir rotective area shall file such map and data within such ime in excess of sixty days as the division may fix

Any person who after the effective date of this act proposes to inject or store gas in a storage reservoir located s above shall file the required map and data with the ivision not less than six months prior to the starting of ctual injection or storage

The map provided for herein shall be prepared by a ompetent engineer or geologist It shall show the stratum r strata in which the existing or proposed storage eservoir is or is to be located the geogprahic location f the outside boundaries of the said storage reservoir nd the reservoir protective area the location of all nown oil or gas wells which have been drilled into or hrough the storage stratum within the reservoir or within hree thousand linear feet thereof indicating which of nese wells have been or are to be cleaned out and plugged r reconditioned for storage and also indicating the proosed location of all additional wells which are to be rilled within the storage reservoir or within three thouand linear feet thereof

The following information if available shall be furished for all known oil or gas wells which have been rilled into or through the storage stratum within the torage reservoir or within three thousand linear feet nereof name of the operator date drilled total depth depth f production if the well was productive of oil or gas the nitial rock pressure and volume the depths at which all oal seams were encountered and a copy of the driller's og or other similar information At the time of the filing f the aforesaid maps and data such person shall file a etailed statement of what efforts he has made to determine (1) that the wells shown on said map are accurately ocated thereon and (2) that to the best of his knowledge ney are all the oil or gas wells which have ever been rilled into or below the storage stratum within the roposed storage reservoir or within the reservoir protective area This statement shall also include information s to whether or not the initial injection is for testing urposes the maximum pressure at which injection and torage of gas is contemplated and a detailed explanation f the methods to be used or which theretofore have been sed in drilling cleaning out reconditioning and plugging vells in the storage reservoir or within the reservoir rotective area The map and data required to be filed ereunder shall be amended or supplemented semiannually in case any material changes have occurred prooided however that the division may require a storage perator to amend or supplement such map or data at nore frequent intervals if material changes have occurred ustifying such earlier filing

(b) The requirements of this section shall not apply o the operator of an underground gas storage reservoir so ong as said reservoir is located more than ten thousand near feet from an operating coal mine provided however nat such storage operator shall give notice to the divion of the name of each political subdivision and county n which said operator maintains and operates a gas torage reservoir In those political subdivisions and counes where both gas storage reservoirs and coal mines are eing operated the division may request the storage perator to furnish maps showing the geographical locaion and outside boundaries of such storage reservoirs he division shall keep a record of such information and nall promptly notify both the coal operator and the torage operator if it is found that the coal mine and storage reservoir are within ten thousand linear feet of each other

(c) At the time of the filing of the above maps and data and the filing of amended or supplemental maps or data the division shall give written notice of said filing to all persons who may be affected under the provisions of this act by the storage reservoir described in such maps or data Such notices shall contain a description of the boundaries of such storage reservoir When a person operating a coal mine or owning an interest in coal properties which are or may be affected by the storage reservoir requests in writing a copy of any map or data filed with the division such copy shall be furnished by the storage operator

(d) For all purposes of this act the ouside boundaries of a storage reservoir shall be defined by the location of those wells around the periphery of the storage reservoir which had no gas production when drilled in said storage stratum provided however that the boundaries as thus defined shall be originally fixed or subsequently changed where based upon the number and nature of such wells upon the geological and production knowledge of the storage stratum its character permeability and distribution and operating experience it is determined in a conference or hearing under section 502 that modification should be made

Section 302 Filing of Maps and Data by Persons Operating Coal Mines (a) Any person owning or operating a coal mine shall within thirty days from the effective date of this act file with the division a map prepared by a competent engineer showing the outside coal boundaries of the said operating coal mine the existing workings and exhausted areas and the relationship of said boundaries to identifiable surface properties and landmarks Any person who is storing or contemplating the storage of gas in the vicinity of such operating coal mines shall upon written request be furnished a copy of the aforesaid map by the coal operator and such person and the division shall thereafter be informed of any boundary changes at the time such changes occur The division shall keep a record of such information and shall promptly notify both the coal operator and the storage operator if it is found that the coal mine and the storage reservoir are within ten thousand linear feet of each other

(b) Any person owning or operating any coal mine which on the date of the enactment of this act is or which thereafter comes within ten thousand linear feet of a storage reservoir and where the coal seam being operated extends over the storage reservoir or the reservoir protective area shall within forty-five days after he has notice from the division of such fact file with the division and furnish to the person operating such storage reservoir a map in the form hereinabove provided and showing in addition the existing and projected excavations and workings of such operating coal mine for the ensuing eighteen month period and also the location of any oil or gas wells of which said coal operator has knowledge Such person owning or operating said coal mine shall each six months thereafter file with the division and furnish to the person operating such storage reservoir a revised map showing any additional excavations and workings together with the projected excavations and workings for the then ensuing eighteen month period which may be within ten thousand linear feet of said storage reservoir provided however that the division may require a coal operator to file such revised map at more frequent intervals if material changes have occurred justifying such earlier filing Such person owning or operating said coal mine shall also file with the division and furnish the person operating said reservoir prompt notice of any wells which have been cut into together with all available pertinent information

Section 303 Notice by Persons Operating Coal Mines (a) Any person owning or operating a coal mine on the effective date of this act and having knowledge that it overlies or is within two thousand linear feet of a gas storage reservoir shall within thirty days notify the division and the storage operator of such fact

(b) When any person owning or operating a coal mine hereafter expects that within the ensuing nine months period such coal mine will be extended to a point which will be within two thousand linear feet of any storage reservoir he shall notify the division and the storage operator in writing of such fact

(c) Any person hereafter intending to establish or reestablish an operating coal mine which when established or reestablished will be over a storage reservoir or within two thousand linear feet of a storage reservoir or which upon being established or reestablished may within nine months thereafter be expected to be within two thousand linear feet of a storage reservoir shall notify the division and the storage operator in writing before doing so and such notice shall include the date on which it is intended the operating coal mine will be established or reestablished

Any person who serves such notice of an intention to establish or reestablish an operating coal mine under this subsection without intending in good faith to establish or reestablish such mine shall be liable for continuing damages to any storage operator injured by the serving of such improper notice and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor under this article and subject to the same penalties as set forth in section 504

Section 304 Obligations to be Performed by Persons Operating Storage Reservoirs (a) Any person who on the effective date of this act is operating a storage reservoir which underlies or is within two thousand linear feet of an operating coal mine which is operating in a coal seam that extends over the storage reservoir or the reservoir protective area shall

(1) Use every known method which is reasonable under the circumstances for discovering and locating all wells which have or may have been drilled into or through the storage stratum in that acreage which is within the outside coal boundaries of such operating coal mine and which overlies the storage reservoir or the reservoir protective area

(2) Plug or recondition in the manner provided by subsection (c) of section 206 and subsection (e) of this section all known wells (except to the extent otherwise provided in subsections (e) (f) (g) and (h) of this section) drilled into or through the storage stratum and which are located within that portion of the acreage of the operating coal mine overlying the storage reservoir or the reservoir protective area provided however that where objection is raised as to the use of any well as a storage well and after a conference or hearing in accordance with section 502 it is determined taking into account all the circumstances and conditions that such well should not be used as a storage well such well shall be plugged provided however that if in the opinion of the storage operator the well to which such objection has been raised may at some future time be used as a storage well the storage operator may recondition and inactivate such well instead of plugging it if such alternative is approved by the division after taking into account all of the circumstances and conditions

The requirements of clause (2) of this subsection shall be deemed to have been fully complied with if as the operating coal mine is extended all wells which from time to time come within the acreage described in said clause (2) are reconditioned or plugged as provided in subsections (e) or (f) of this section and in subsection (c) of section 206 so that by the time the coal mine has reached a point within two thousand linear feet of any such wells they will have been reconditioned or plugged so as to meet the requirements of said subsections (e) or (f) and of subsection (c) of section 206

(b) Any person operating a storage reservoir referred to in subsection (a) of this section shall within sixty days after the effective date of this act file with the division and furnish a copy to the person operating the affected operating coal mine a verified statement setting forth

(1) That the map and any supplemental maps required by subsection (a) of section 301 have been prepared and filed in accordance with section 301

(2) A detailed explanation of what the storage operator has done to comply with the requirements of clauses (1) and (2) of subsection (a) of this section and th results thereof

(3) Such additional efforts if any as the storage opera tor is making and intends to make to locate all oil an gas wells

(4) Any additional wells that are to be plugged reconditioned to meet the requirements of clause (2 of subsection (a) of this section

If such statement is not filed by the storage reservo operator within the time specified herein the divisio shall summarily order such operator to file such statemer

(c) Within one hundred twenty days after the recei of any such statement the division may and it shall so requested by either the storage operator or the co operator affected direct that a conference be held accordance with section 502 to determine whether th information as filed indicates that the requirements section 301 and of subsection (a) of this section hav been fully complied with At such conference if any pe son shall be of the opinion that such requirements hav not been fully complied with the parties shall attem to agree on what additional things are to be done an the time within which they are to be completed subje to the approval of the division to meet the said r quirements

If such agreement cannot be reached the division sha direct that a hearing be held in accordance with sectio 502 At such hearing the division shall determine wheth the requirements of section 301 an of subsection (a) this section have been met and shall issue an ord setting forth such determination If the division sha determine that any of the said requirements have n been met the order shall specify in detail both the exte to which such requirements have not been met and th things which the storage operator must do to meet suc requirements The order shall grant to the storage o erator such time as is reasonably necessary to comple each of the things which he is directed to do If in carry ing out said order the storage operator encounters co ditions which were not known to exist at the time the hearing and which materially affect the validity said order or the ability of the storage operator to com ply with the order the storage operator may apply f a rehearing or modification of said order

(d) Whenever in compliance with subsection (a) this section a storage operator after the filing of th statement provided for in subsection (b) of this sectio plugs or reconditions a well he shall so notify the div sion and the coal operator affected in writing settin forth such facts as will indicate the manner in which th plugging or reconditioning was done Upon receipt there of the coal operator affected or the division may reque a conference or hearing in accordance with section 502

(e) In order to meet the requirements of subsectio (a) of this section wells which are to be plugged sha be plugged in the manner specified in subsection (c) section 206 When a well located within the storage rese voir or the reservoir protective area has been plugge prior to the enactment of this act and on the basis the data information and other evidence submitted the division it is determined that (1) such plugging w done in the manner required in subsection (c) of sec tion 206 or in a manner approved as an alternati method in accordance with section 207 and (2) said plu ging is still sufficiently effective to meet the requir ments of this act the obligations imposed by subsectio (a) of this section as to plugging said well shall be co sidered fully satisfied

(f) In order to meet the requirements of subsectio (a) of this section wells which are to be reconditione shall be cleaned out from the surface through the sto age horizon and the following casing strings shall b pulled and replaced with new casing using the sam procedure as is applicable to drilling a new well provided for in this act (1) the producing casing (2 the largest diameter casing passing through the lowe workable coal seam unless such casing extends at lea twenty-five feet below the bottom of such coal sea nd is determined to be in good physical condition pro-ided however that the storage operator may instead f replacing the largest diameter casing replace the next argest casing string if such casing string extends at least wenty-five feet below the lowest workable coal seam and 3) such other casing strings which are determined not o be in good physical condition In the case of wells to e used for gas storage the annular space between each tring of casing and the annular space behind the argest diameter casing to the extent possible shall be illed to the surface with cement or aquagel or such qually nonporous material as is approved by the division ursuant to section 207 At least fifteen days prior to he time when a well is to be reconditioned the storage perator shall give notice thereof to the coal operator r owner and to the division setting forth in such notice he manner in which it is planned to recondition such vell and any pertinent data known to the storage op-rator which will indicate the then existing condition f such well In addition the storage operator shall give he coal operator or owner and such representative of he division as the deputy secretary shall have designated t least seventy-two hours notice of the time when such econditioning is to begin The coal operator or owner hall have the right to file within ten days after the re-eipt of the first notice required herein objections to the lan of reconditioning as submitted by the storage op-rator If no such objections are filed or if none is raised by he division within such ten day period the storage opera-or may proceed with the reconditioning in accordance vith the plan as submitted If any such objections are filed r are made by the division the division shall fix a time nd place for a conference in accordance with section 02 at which conference the storage operator and the erson who has filed such objections shall endeavor to gree upon a plan of reconditioning which meets the equirements herein and which will satisfy such objec-ions If no plan is approved at such conference the ivision shall direct that a hearing be held in accordance vith section 502 and after such hearing shall by an ppropriate order determine whether the plan as sub-nitted meets the requirements set forth herein or what hanges if any should be made to meet such requirements f in reconditioning a well in accordance with said plan hysical conditions are encountered which justify or ecessitate a change in said plan the storage operator r the coal operator may request that the plan be hanged If said parties cannot agree upon such change he division shall arrange for a conference or hearing n accordance with section 502 to determine the matter n the same manner as set forth herein in connection vith original objections to aid plan Application may be nade to the division in the manner prescribed in sec-ion 207 for approval of an alternative method of re-onditioning a well When a well located within the stor-ge reservoir or the reservoir protective area has been econditioned prior to the enactment of this act or was o drilled and equipped previously and on the basis of he data information and other evidence submitted to he division it is determined that

(1) Such reconditioning or previous drilling and quipping was done in the manner required in this sub-ection or in a manner approved as an alternative method n accordance with section 207

(2) Such reconditioning or previous drilling and quipping is still sufficiently effective to meet the re-uirements of this act the obligations imposed by sub-ection (a) as to reconditioning said well shall be con-idered fully satisfied Where a well requires emergency epairs this subsection shall not be construed to require he storage operator to give the notices specified herein efore making such repairs

(g) When a well located within the reservoir pro-ective area is a producing well in a stratum below the torage stratum the obligations imposed by subsection a) of this section shall not begin until such well ceases o be a producing well

(h) When a well within a storage reservoir or the reservoir protective area penetrates the storage stratum but does not penetrate the coal seam being mined by an operating coal mine the division may upon application of the operator of such storage reservoir exempt such well from the requirements of this section Either party affected may request a conference and hearing with respect to the exemption of any such well in accordance with section 502

(i) In fulfilling the requirements of clause (2) of subsection (a) of this section with respect to a well within the reservoir protective area the storage operator shall not be required to plug or recondition such well until he has received from the coal operator written notice that the mine workings will within the period stated in such notice be within two thousand linear feet of such well Upon the receipt of such notice the storage operator shall use due diligence to complete the plugging or reconditioning of such well in accordance with the requirements of this section and of subsection (c) of section 206 If the said mine workings do not within a period of three years after said well has been plugged come within two thousand linear feet of said well the coal operator shall reimburse the storage operator for the cost of said plugging provided such well is still within the reservoir protective area as of that time

(j) When retreat mining approaches a point where within ninety days it is expected that such retreat work will be at the location of the pillar surrounding an active storage well the coal operator shall give written notice of such approach to the storage operator and by agreement said parties shall determine whether it is necessary or advisable to inactivate effectively said well temporarily The well shall not be reactivated until a reasonable period has elapsed such reasonable period to be determined by said parties In the event that said parties cannot agree upon either of the foregoing matters such question shall be submitted to the division for decision in accordance with section 502 The number of wells required to be temporarily inactivated during the retreat period shall not be such as to materially affect the efficient operation of such storage pool This provision shall not preclude the temporary inactivation of a particular well where the practical effect of inactivating such well is to render the pool temporarily inoperative

(k) The requirements of subsections (a) (l) and (m) of this section shall not apply to the injection of gas into any stratum when the sole purpose of such injection (such purpose being herein referred to as testing) is to determine whether the said stratum is suitable for storage purposes provided however that such testing shall be conducted only in compliance with the following requirements

(1) The person testing or proposing to test shall comply with all of the provisions and requirements of section 301 and shall verify the statement required to be filed thereby

(2) If any part of the proposed storage reservoir is under or within two thousand linear feet of an operating coal mine which is operating in a coal seam that extends over the proposed storage reservoir or the reservoir protective area the storage operator shall give at least six months' written notice to the division and to the coal operator of the fact that injection of gas for testing purposes is proposed

(3) The coal operator affected may at any time file objections with the division in accordance with subsection (h) of section 501 If any such objections are filed by the coal operator or if the division shall have any objections the division shall fix a time and place for a conference in accordance with section 502 not more than ten days from the date of the notice to the storage operator at which conference the storage operator and the person who has filed such objections shall attempt to agree subject to the approval of the division on the questions involved If such agreement cannot be reached at such conference the division shall direct that a hearing be held in accordance with section 502 At such hearing the division shall determine and set forth in an appropriate order the conditions and requirements which it shall deem necessary or advisable in order to prevent gas from such storage reservoir from entering any operating coal mine The storage operator shall comply with such conditions and requirements throughout the period of the testing operations In determining such conditions and requirements the division shall take into account the extent to which the matters referred to in subsection (a) of this section have been performed If in carrying out said order either the storage operator or the coal operator encounters or discovers conditions which were not known to exist at the time of the hearing and which materially affect said order or the ability of the storage operator to comply with the order either operator may apply for a rehearing or modification of said order

(4) Where at any time a proposed storage reservoir being tested come under or within two thousand linear feet of an operating coal mine either because of the extension of the storage reservoir being tested or because of the extension or establishment or reestablishment of the operating coal mine then and at the time of any such event the requirements of this subsection shall become applicable to such testing

(1) Any person who after the effective date of this act proposes to establish a storage reservoir under or within two thousand linear feet of an operating coal mine which is operating in a coal seam that extends over the storage reservoir or the reservoir protective area shall prior to establishing such reservoir in addition to complying with the requirements of section 301 and subsection (a) of this section file the verified statement required by subsection (b) of this section and fully comply with such order or orders if any as the division may issue in the manner provided for under subsection (b) or (c) of this section before beginning the operation of such storage reservoir After the person proposing to operate such storage reservoir shall have complied with such requirements and shall have thereafter begun to operate such reservoir he shall continue to be subject to all of the provisions of this article

(m) When a gas storage reservoir (1) is in operation on the effective date of this act and at any time thereafter it is under or within two thousand linear feet of an operating coal mine or (2) when a gas storage reservoir is put in operation after the effective date of this act and at any time after such storage operations begin it is under or within two thousand linear feet of an operating coal mine then and in either such event the storage operator shall comply with all of the provisions of this section except that the time for filing the verified statement under subsection (b) shall be sixty days after the date stated in the notice filed by the coal operator under subsections (b) or (c) of section 303 as to when the operating coal mine will be at a point within two thousand linear feet of such reservoir provided however that if the extending of the projected workings or the proposed establishment or reestablishment of the operating coal mine is delayed after the giving of the notice provided in subsection (b) and (c) of section 303 the coal operator shall give notice of such delay to the division and the division shall upon the request of the storage operator extend the time for filing such statement by the additional time which will be required to extend or establish or reestablish such operating coal mine to a point within two thousand linear feet of such reservoir Such verified statement shall also indicate that the map referred to in subsection (a) of section 301 has been currently amended as of the time of the filing of such statement The person operating any such storage reservoir shall continue to be subject to all of the provisions of this article

(n) If in any proceeding under this act the division shall determine that any operator of a storage reservoir has failed to carry out any lawful order of the division issued under this act the division shall have authority to require such storage operator to suspend the operation of such reservoir and to withdraw the gas therefrom until such violation is remedied In such an event the gas shall be withdrawn under the following conditions The stor age operator shall remove the maximum amount of ga which is required by the division to be removed fro the storage reservoir that can be withdrawn in accord ance with recognized engineering and operating pro cedures and shall proceed with due diligence in so fa as existing facilities used to remove gas from the reservo will permit

Section 505 Effective Date This act shall take effect in sixty days

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am going to vote for this piece of legislation. However, inasmuch as large quantities of natural gas are presently being stored at high pressures beneath four very large operating coal mines, located in my District, the District which I represent, I am definitely of the opinion that this bill does not give as great a degree of protection to the several thousand mine workers employed in these mines as if the bill had been so drawn as to prohibit the storage of natural gas under any operating coal mine. Nevertheless, I realize that the present bill is a practical step and it is a step in the right direction. I intend to vote for the bill, Mr. President, and hope that in the near future this legislation may be amended to include such a provision.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 151, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 20, 1919 (P. L. 521), entitled, as amended, "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death, and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death; . . ." exempting certain persons corporations and organizations from tax on the transfer of property inherited or received by them.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 173, on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment of police pension funds or pension annuities in certain boroughs towns and townships and the regulations and maintenance thereof providing for continuance of existing funds or transfer thereof to funds herein established prescribing rights of beneficiaries and repealing certain acts.

be placed on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I had held up this legislation since we are working on Senate Bill No. 403 and its amendments in regard to the social security legislation. However, this bill need not be held up or put on the Postponed Calendar, because the legislation in Senate Bill No. 403 will not be applicable to this particular piece of legislation. As far as I am concerned, it can be moved up and passed.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, Senator Fleming has taken upon himself the job of trying to work out some amendments to this House Bill which would take away, perhaps, the opposition of the boroughs association and others that might imperil this bill if we allowed it to go up on Final Passage. Therefore, I think that we, by amendment, can work this out so that it will be satisfactory to both the policemen and to the boroughs. That is the reason I asked that the bill be put on the Postponed Calendar so that we might be able to do some thing with it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I wish to support th motion to Postpone. I feel that such a procedure as ha been described by the Majority Leader is necessary befor this bill is in shape to be voted upon.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 670, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," revising and expanding the state mental health program providing for the appointment of a Deputy to be known as Commissioner of Mental Health and creating an advisory council on mental health in the Department of Welfare prescribing their powers and duties and chaging the powers and duties of the boards of trustees of the several State mental institutions.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the amendments which I am about to offer consist of two sets. The first set covers a typographical error in the printing of the bill, and the second set provides for staggered terms for all boards of trustees of State institutions.

Mr. President, these amendments are being offered not only on my behalf but on behalf of the Minority Floor Leader, Senator Dent, as well.

May we be at ease, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, it has been suggested that I withdraw those amendments so that we can combine them in order to avoid further confusion. Accordingly, I withdraw the amendments at this time.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 670, Printer's No. 1088, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend Doctor Viggo Swensen, Pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church, Harrisburg, guest Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Gracious Heavenly Father, Creator, Guide and Saviour, we thank Thee for the privilege of worship and now for opportunity of work. Grant to these servants of the State wisdom and courage and faith in Thee as they put their minds and hearts to the great issues of the day. May they in common with all men, give Thee their first allegiance, assured that only thus can the highest welfare of the state be effectually served.

Pour down upon us Thy loving, empowering mercy; forgive us the sins of which our conscience is afraid, and give us those good things that we can obtain only from Thee. So shall we in humble gratitude to Thee, Almighty God serve Thee and our nation, to Thy honor and glory. Through Jesus Christ Thy Son our Lord, Amen.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

MESSAGE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, November 21, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

This Administration and this Legislature have wrestled with the problems of financing the Government of the Commonwealth for many weary months. A Budget for the State's operations was submitted on April 19th, and has not yet been finally acted upon in mid-November.

The House of Representatives passed a comprehensive tax program on July 26th, but the program wa srefused passage in the Senate.

Since that time a deadlock has prevailed.

Meanwhile, the financial difficulties of the State have multiplied. The fiscal biennium ended on May 31st, and since then, we have lived on a hand-to-mouth basis—without a planned Budget and without a revenue structure to support a Budget. To all purposes, we have lost eight months—one third of the twenty-four month period in which a revenue program would normally be effective.

We are at the point where the State's heavy commitments to its public schools, its State-aided universities, its State-aided hospitals and institutions, are in default.

We are not honoring our obligations.

Through the months of August, September, and October, I have hoped that our differences could be reconciled. I repeatedly called for conferences with the leadership of the Legislature, and I regret that our meetings could not have long ago secured a bipartisan compromise of our differences on the Budget and a tax program.

I believe there is, at long last, a general realization that the State must have a revenue structure that will support its public services, and that this Legislature will necessarily enact such a program.

I believe, just as strongly as ever, that an income tax, adjusted in some manner to ability to pay, is the best tax structure for the Commonwealth and its people.

The majority in the State Senate believes otherwise, and has been committed to a tax on retail sales.

In order that all of us may proceed to carry out our basic obligations to the people of Pennsylvania, I am now ready to urge the Legislature to adopt a tax program which is neither an income tax nor a retail sales tax.

It is necessary that such a tax be sufficient in yield to raise the new revenues which are the State's minimum requirement.

It is desirable that it be a tax which will be broad in its application, permitting us to bring some order and system into the crazy-quilt tax pattern which has been applied in State taxation over so many years.

In my judgment, a manufacturers' excise tax, imposed at the rate of three and one-half per cent, will raise the needed revenues and make it possible to simplify and improve our whole system of taxation. I will approve it, if adopted by the Legislature, as a second-best to the income tax which I prefer. Perhaps it would be more accurate to describe it as the least undesirable of the taxes open to us.

I have no personal commitment from the Republican majority in the Senate to accept the manufacturers' excise tax, but the majority leader and the assistant majority leader have each been publicly quoted as stating it is acceptable to them.

Under these circumstances, it would hold the promise of breaking the deadlock. I urge, therefore, that it be promptly approved by the House, where all revenue measures must originate, and be sent to the Senate for the consideration and passage that have been publicly offered.

With no exemptions except the processing of food for human consumption, the estimated yield from the manufacturers' excise tax for a sixteen-month period, at the suggested rate, will be $420,000,000.

Some of the principles of this proposed taxation are:

It is a tax on manufactured goods, payable by Pennsylvania manufacturers on that portion of their product sold in Pennsylvania. The same excise will be levied on all manufactured goods brought into the State, payable by the recipient.

It should not affect the competitive position of Pennsylvania industry in the National market, nor in the State itself.

Raw materials or partly manufactured goods used in manufacture will not be subject to the tax, since it applies only to finished products.

The lapse of time since the Budget was presented in April has given us an opportunity to revise our estimates of both revenues and expenditures. On the basis of that revision, the manufacturers' excise tax will make it possible to finance the basic operations of the State Govvernment; honor our commitments to the State-aided school districts and institutions; and carry out a reasonable new program centering on the admitted problems of mental health and economic development.

The Legislature has, in the same lapse of time, found it desirable to propose expenditures additional to those contemplated in the Budget. Among these additions are $31,000,000 for State support of increased teachers' salaries and about $8,000,000 for State subsidy to school building construction.

To help us finance these added costs, I suggest that the capital stock tax be put on a pay-as-you-go basis. This will increase our revenues in this biennium by an estimated $25,000,000. The non-recurrence of this income in the 1957-59 biennium will be more than covered by our ability at that time to apply the manufacturers' excise tax on a twenty-four month collection period.

It will be possible to revise and improve our whole structure of business taxes—better adapting our tax structure to industrial growth in the Commonwealth.

It will not now be necessary to increase the rate of the corporate net income tax from five to six per cent; but the other revisions in corporate net income tax application (as proposed in House Bill 941) should be adopted.

It will also be possible to proceed with the repeal of nine nuisance taxes on business, as recommended in the Budget Message.

It is of real importance to repeal the corporate excise taxes on both foreign and domestic corporations. These taxes are an actual barrier imposed by the State against industrial and business growth; they impose tax penalties on the development of new businesses in Pennsylvania.

Further, it will be possible—and I so recommend—to reinstate the historic exemption of manufacturers from the capital stock tax, effective January 1, 1957.

It should be stressed that the yield of the manufacturers' excise tax must be maintained, if it is to accomplish its purpose as a major aid in resolving the State's fiscal crisis. If exemptions are broadened, or the rate reduced, the loss of revenue would have an immediate impact against such legislative additions to the Budget as the rise in teachers salaries and State aid for school construction.

To my mind, the proposed manufacturers' excise tax is acceptable only as a recognition of political and legislative realities. It would not be the tax program I would advocate or accept if the Democratic Party had a majority in both House and Senate. Since we do not have a majority in the Senate, we must find a point of mutual accommodation with the Republican majority. This appears to be it.

If it is, we shall have at least this consolation.

We shall finally bring the affairs of this Commonwealth into an honest financial balance, ending the evasions and escapes which have so consistently over the years passed our financial troubles from Administration to Administration. Perhaps we have finally come to recognize that Pennsylvania can operate on a basis of solvency instead of deficits; that a Legislature and a Governor can meet their responsibilities both to the present and to the future.

We are discussing the raising of tax dollars.

Those dollars should only be raised if they are necessary for the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. Substantially, we spend tax dollars for education; we spend them for health; we spend them to help the needy; we spend them for the maintenance of a civilized society.

The price is surely not so high that we cannot afford to pay it in this great and prosperous State.

The SPEAKER. Here is a matter of possible interest to the respective Floor Leaders. The Speaker would like to have their attention.

The Speaker holds in his hand a remarkable electronic device. It is calculated to register the heat engendered by disagreement. It is calibrated from 30 to 110.

From 30 to 50 is a dangerous period. If there is no more heat than that, there is no cerebration, nobody is doing any thinking at all.

From 60 to 70 things warm up. When it registers 80, the danger point is reached. At 90 the Minority Leader may simply collapse.

So when our device registers 70, in due deference to the Minority Leader's heart the Chair will ask the privilege of calling a recess until this remarkable electronic device swings back to 60.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have often said, and I want to repeat, I am the easiest fellow in the world to get along with as long as you let me have my own way.

MEMBERS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is pleased to note in the Hall of the House the Member from Bucks, Mr. Keller, who seems to have recovered from his long illness. The Chair welcomes the gentleman back to his post of duty.

And there is added reason for good fellowship and good cheer. The Chair also notes that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McKeever, is with us today. The Chair welcomes him back to his post of duty.

CALL OF THE HOUSE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in order to determine who is present today and who is not, I would like at this time to suggest the absence of a quorum.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, suggests the absence of a quorum. The Sergeant-at-Arms will close the doors of the House, keep them closed and admit only Members and officers of the House. Members now in the Hall of the House are not permitted to leave the Hall of the House until the quorum call has been completed.

The Clerk will call the roll and Members will answer distinctly to their names as they are called.

The roll was called and the following Members were present:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1295 as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Agriculture to assist the Commonwealth's 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America dairy show program by paying the expenses of holding the six existing 4-H Dairy Club and F F A district dairy shows and in addition a State-wide show to be held in the Fall of the year as preliminary to the State Farm Show

Whereas It has been demonstated that the work of the 4-H Dairy Clubs and the Future Farmers of America has been instrumental in developing an interest in Agriculture among the rural youth of Pennsylvania and provides supervised training for the farm boys and girls and encourages qualities of leadership among our youth

Whereas A large proportion of Pennsylvania's farm people are encouraged in dairy farming

Whereas It has been demonstrated that the apprentice training offered 4-H and F F A youths has encouraged a scientific approach to agriculture and thus increased efficiency on Pennsylvania farms

Whereas The most effective apprentice training for 4-H and F F A members on selection raising fitting and showing of dairy animals has resulted in the creation of local county and district shows and also has created the need for a State-wide dairy show The county and district shows have been financed by local contributions

Whereas The fast expansion of these shows and the necessity of further expansion to meet the educational requirements of farmers of today has made it impossible to finance these shows beyond the county level entirely by local contributions Therefore

Section 1 The sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the next biennium to the Department of Agriculture to pay the expenses of holding six annual 4-H dairy club and Future Farmers of America district dairy shows and one State-wide show to be held in the Fall as preliminary to the State Farm Show

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1002, as follows:

An Act relating to conditional sales made prior to July 1 1954

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Definitions As used in this act

(1) "Uniform Conditional Sales Act" means the act of May 12, 1925 (P. L. 603) entitled "An act concerning conditional sales and to make uniform the law relating thereto" as amended from time to time while the act was in effect

(2) "Conditional sale" means any contract for the sale of goods made and filed prior to July 1, 1954 and which either was filed prior to that date pursuant to the Uniform Conditional Sales Act or was shown before that date on a certificate of title for a motor vehicle trailer or semi-trailer pursuant to the vehicle code of May 1 1929 (P. L. 905) as amended under which possession was delivered to the buyer and the property in the goods was to vest in the buyer at a subsequent time upon the payment of part or all of the price or upon the performance of any other condition or the happening of any contingency

(3) "Buyer" means the person who bought the goods covered by the conditional sale or any legal successor in interest of the person

(4) "Filing district" means the subdivision of the State in which conditional sale contracts or copies thereof were required to be filed by the Uniform Conditional Sales Act or are permitted to be filed by this act

(5) "Goods" means all chattels personal other than things in action and money and includes emblements industrial growing crops machinery and equipment attached to real estate and things attached to or forming a part of land which were agreed to be severed before sale or under the conditional sale

(6) "Performance of the condition" means the occurrence of the event upon which the property in the goods is to vest in the buyer whether the event is the performance of an act by the buyer or the happening of a contingency

(7) "Purchase" includes the creation of a security interest

(8) "Purchaser" includes a person in whose favor there is a security interest

(9) "Seller" means the person who sold the goods covered by the conditional sale or any legal successor in interest of the person

(10) "Filing officer" means a person in charge of the office for filing conditional sale contracts in a filing district

Section 2 Filing Records The filing officer shall continue to keep the separate book which he was required to keep by the Uniform Conditional Sales Act in which he was required to enter the names of the seller and buyer the date of the contract the day and hour of filing a brief description of goods the price named in the contract and the date of cancellation thereof

Section 3 Refiling The validity of a filing or refiling pursuant to the Uniform Conditional Sales Act or this act may be extended for successive additional periods of one year from the date of refiling by filing in the proper filing district a copy of the original contract within thirty days next preceding the expiration of each period with a statement attached signed by the seller showing that the contract is in force and the amount remained to be paid thereon The copy with statement attached shall be filed and entered in the book kept by the filing officer and he shall be entitled to a fee of three dollars ($3)

Section 4 Cancellation of Contract Any contract filed in the office of the prothonotary may be cancelled by satisfaction noted on the docket in the same manner as judgments at law are satisfied In lieu of satisfaction after the performance of the condition upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer or any other person having an interest in the goods the seller shall execute acknowledge and deliver to the demandant a statement that the condition in the contract has been performed If for ten days after demand the seller fails to mail or deliver a statement of satisfaction he shall forfeit to the demandant five dollars ($5) and be liable for all damages suffered Upon presentation of the statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall file it and note the cancellation of the contract and the date thereof on the margin of the page where the contract has been entered For filing and entering the statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall be entitled to a fee of seventy-five cents (75¢)

Section 5 Prohibition of Removal or Sale Without Notice Unless the contract otherwise provides the buyer may without the consent of the seller remove the goods from any filing district and create a security interest in the goods or sell or otherwise dispose of his interest in them but prior to the performance of the condition no buyer shall remove the goods from a filing district in which the contract or a copy thereof is filed except for temporary uses for a period of not more than thirty days unless the buyer not less than ten days before the removal shall give the seller personally or by registered mail written notice of the place to which the goods are to be removed and the approximate time of the intended removal nor prior to the performance of the condition shall the buyer create a security interest in the goods or sell or otherwise dispose of his interest in them unless he or the secured party or the person to whom he is about to sell or otherwise dispose of the same shall notify the seller in writing personally or by registered mail the name and address of the secured party or the person to whom his interest in the goods is about to be sold or otherwise transferred not less than ten days before the creation of a security interest or sale or other disposal If any buyer does so remove the goods or does so create a security interest in them or sell or otherwise dispose of his interest in them without notice or in violation of the contract the seller may retake possession of the goods and deal with them as in case of default in payment of part or all the purchase price The provisions of this section regarding the removal of goods shall not apply however to railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock

Section 6 Refiling on Removal When prior to the performance of the condition the goods are removed by the buyer from a filing district in this State to another filing district in this State in which the contract or a copy thereof is not filed the reservation of the property in the seller shall be void as to any purchaser from or creditor of the buyer who without notice of the contract purchases the goods or acquires by attachment or levy a lien uopn them unless the conditional sale contract or a copy thereof shall be filed in the filing district to which the goods are removed within ten days after the seller has received notice of the filing district to which the goods have been removed The provisions of this section shall not apply however to railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock The filing shall be valid for a period of three years The provisions of section 3 regarding the necessity for refiling and the duration of the validity thereof shall apply to contracts or copies which are filed in a filing district other than where the goods are originally kept for use by the buyer after the sale

Section 7 Fraudulent Injury Concealment Removal or Sale When prior to the performance of the condition the buyer maliciously or with intent to defraud shall injure destroy or conceal the goods or remove them to a filing district where the contract or a copy thereof is not filed without having given the notice required by section 5 or shall sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of the goods under claim of full ownership he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to imprisonment for not more than one year or to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500) or both

Section 8 Retaking Possession When the buyer shall be in default in the payment of any sum due under the contract or in the performance of any other condition which the contract requires him to perform in order to obtain the property in the goods or in the performance of any promise the breach of which is by the contract expressly made a ground for the retaking of the goods the seller may retake possession thereof Unless the goods can be retaken without breach of the peace they shall be retaken by legal process but nothing herein shall be construed to authorize a violation of the criminal law

Section 9 Notice of Intention to Retake Not more than forty nor less than twenty days prior to the retaking the seller may serve uopn the buyer personally or by registered mail a notice of intention to retake the goods on account of the buyers default The notice shall state the default and the period at the end of which the goods will be retaken and shall briefly and clearly state what the buyer's rights under this act will be in case they are retaken If the notice is so served and the buyer does not perform the obligations in which he has made default before the day set for retaking the seller may retake the goods and hold them subject to the provisions of sections 11 12 13 14 and 15 regarding the sale but without any right of redemption

Section 10 Redemption If the seller does not give the notice of intention to retake as provided in section 9 he shall retain the goods for ten days after the retaking within the state in which they were located when retaken during which period the buyer upon payment or tender of the amount due under the contract at the time of retaking and interest or upon performance of any other condition as may be named in the contract as precedent to the passage of the property in the goods or upon performance or tender of performance of any other promise for the breach of which the goods were retaken and upon payment of the expenses of retaking keeping and storage may redeem the goods and become entitled to take possession of them and to continue in the performance of the contract as if no default had occurred Upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer the seller shall furnish to the buyer a written statement of the sum due under the contract and the expense of retaking keeping and storage For failure to furnish the statement within a reasonable time after demand the seller shall forfeit to the buyer ten dollars ($10) and also be liable to him for all damages suffered because of such failure If the goods are perishable so that retention for ten days as herein prescribed would result in their destruction or substantial injury the provisions of this section shall not apply and the seller may resell the goods immediately upon their retaking The provision of this section requiring the retention of the goods within the State during the period allowed for redemption shall not apply to railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock

Section 11 Compulsory Resale by Seller If the buyer does not redeem the goods within ten days after the seller has retaken possession and the buyer has paid at least fifty per centum of the purchase price at the time of the retaking the seller shall sell them at public auction in the State where they were at the time of the retaking the sale to be held not more than thirty days after the retaking the seller shall give to the buyer not less than ten days' written notice of the sale either personally or by registered mail directed to the buyer at his last known place of business or residence The seller shall also give notice of the sale by at least three notices posted in different public places within the filing district where the goods are to be sold at least five days before the sale If at the time of the retaking five hundred dollars ($500) or more has been paid on the purchase price the seller shall also give notice of the sale at least five days before the sale by publication in a newspaper published or having a general circulation within the filing district where the goods are to be sold The seller may bid for the goods at the resale If the goods are railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock the parties may fix in the conditional sale contract the place where the goods shall be resold

Section 12 Resale at Option of Parties If the buyer has not paid at least fifty per centum of the purchase price at the time of the retaking the seller shall not be under a duty to resell the goods as prescribed in section 11 unless the buyer serves upon the seller within ten days after the retaking a written notice demanding a resale delivered prsonally or by registered mail If the notice is served the resale shall take place within thirty days after the service in the manner at the place and upon the notice prescribed in section 11 The seller may voluntarily resell the goods for account of the buyer on compliance with the same requirements

Section 13 Proceeds of Resale The proceeds of the resale shall be applied (1) to the payment of the expenses thereof (2) to the payment of the expenses of retaking keeping and storing the goods and (3) to the satisfaction of the balance due under the contract Any sum remaining after the satisfaction of the claims shall be paid to the buyer

Section 14 Deficiency on Resale If the proceeds of the resale are not sufficient to defray the expenses thereof and also the expenses of the retaking keeping and storing the goods and the balance due upon the purchase price the seller may recover the deficiency from the buyer or from any one who has succeeded to the obligations of the buyer

Section 15 Rights of Parties Where There is No Resale Where there is no resale the seller may retain the goods as his own property without obligation to account to the buyer except as provided in section 17 and the buyer shall be discharged of all obligation

Section 16 Election of Remedies After the retaking of possession as provided in section 8 the buyer shall be liable for the price only after a resale and only to the extent provided in section 14 Neither the bringing of an action by the seller for the recovery of the whole or any part of the price nor the recovery of judgment in such action nor the collection of a portion of the price shall be deemed inconsistent with a later retaking of the goods as provided in section 8 but the right of retaking shall not be exercised by the seller after he has collected the entire price or after he has claimed a lien upon the goods or attached them or levied upon them as the goods of the buyer

Section 17 Recovery of Part Payments If the seller fails to comply with the provisions of sections 10 11 12 13 and 15 after retaking the goods the buyer may recover from the seller his actual damages if any and in no event less than one-fourth of the sum of all payments which have been made under the contract with interest

Section 18 Waiver of Statutory Protection No act or agreement of the buyer before or at any time of the making of the contract nor any agreement or statement by the buyer in the contract shall constitute a valid waiver of the provisions of sections 10 11 12 13 and 15 except that the contract may stipulate that on such default of the buyer as is provided for in section 8 the seller may rescind the conditional sale either as to all the goods or as to any part thereof for which a specific price was fixed in the contract If the contract provides for rescission the seller at his option may retake such goods without complying with or being bound by the provisions of sections 9 to 17 inclusive as to the goods retaken upon crediting the buyer with the full purchase price of those goods So much of this credit as is necessary to cancel any indebtedness of the buyer to the seller shall be so applied and the seller shall repay to the buyer on demand any surplus not so required

Section 19 Validity of Conditional Sales Refiled on or after July 1 1954 Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller shall be valid as to any purchaser from or creditor of the buyer who after the effective date of this act purchases the goods or acquires by attachment or levy a lien upon them if the filing of the contract was valid under the uniform conditional sales act at 12:01 a m on July 1 1954 by reason of (1) having been filed (i) during the period beginning July 1 1951 and ending three years prior to the effective date of this act or (ii) in the case of railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock during the period beginning July 1 1939 and ending fifteen years prior to the effective date of this act or (2) having been last refiled during the period beginning July 1 1953 and ending July 1 1954 and if the contract or a copy thereof was refiled on or after July 1 1954 and prior to the effective date of this act pursuant to the method prescribed by the Uniform Conditional Sales Act or is refiled within sixty days after the effective date of this act pursuant to the method prescribed by section three hereof The refiling shall be valid for a period of one year from the date of refiling or sixty days from the effective date of this act whichever is longer

Section 20 Effective Date This act shall take effect immediately

Amend Section 1 (Section 696 (e)) page 4, line 5, by striking out the words: "the surplus funds" and inserting in lieu thereof: "any money over and above capital and reserves"

Amend Section 1 (Section 696 (f)) page 4, line 9, by striking out the following: "and surplus" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "reserves and any money over and above capital and reserves"

Amend Section 1 (Section 696 (f)) page 4, line 12, by inserting after the word "of" and before the word "its" the following "the total of"

Amend Section 1 (Section 696 (f)) page 4, line 13, by striking out the first word which is "and" and also by striking out the following words: "surplus combined" and inserting in lieu thereof the following "reserves and any money over and above capital and reserves"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1773, as follows:

An Act further amending the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due to the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" making certain information regarding refunds available for public inspection changing certain provisions as to the imposition and remission of penalties and granting of refunds and clarifying provisions as to settlements

Section 1 Clauses (a) (b) and (c) section 503 of the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 343) known as "The Fiscal Code" as last amended by the act of January 19, 1952 (P. L. 2178) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 503 Refunds of State Taxes License Fees Et Cetera The Board of Finance and Revenue shall have the power and its duty shall be

(a) To hear and determine any petition for the refund of taxes license fees penalties fines bonus or other moneys paid to the Commonwealth and to which the Commonwealth is not rightfully or equitably entitled and upon the allowance of any such petition to refund such taxes license fees penalties fines bonus or other moneys out of any appropriation or appropriations made for the purpose or to credit the account of the person association corporation body politic or public officer entitled to the refund A list of the final amounts of any such refunds or credits in excess of five thousand dollars ($5000.00) hereafter granted for corporation taxes the names of the corporations entitled thereto and a brief summary of the reasons therefor and a list of the names and final amounts of any such refunds or credits in excess of two hundred dollars ($200.00) hereafter granted to any persons or corporations shall be available for public inspection The jurisdiction of the Board of Finance and Revenue to hear and determine a petition for refund as aforesaid shall not be affected or limited (1) by the fact that proceedings under sections 1103 or 1104 of this act involving the same tax or bonus and period for which a refund is sought are pending have been withdrawn or have been otherwise closed provided such proceedings relate to other objections than those raised in the petition for refund or provided such petition for refund is based upon a final judgment or decision of a court of competent jurisdiction holding the Act of Assembly under which the petitioner paid the tax or other money involved to be unconstitutional or to have been erroneously interpreted or (II) or the fact that a petition under section 1102 of this act involving the same tax or bonus and period and involving either the same or different questions than those raised in the petition for refund is pending has been withdrawn or has been otherwise closed All such petitions for refund must be filed with the board within two years of the payment of which refund is requested or within two years of the settlement in the case of taxes or bonus whichever period last expires except

(1) Where a petition for refund filed by a domestic or foreign corporation involves the valuation of its capital stock or in case of a foreign corporation the valuation of its tangible property for bonus purposes or where a petition for refund filed by a bank title insurance or trust company involves the valuation of its shares of stock such petition must be filed with the board within one year of the payment of which refund is requested or within one year of the settlement of such taxes or bonus whichever period last expires

(2) When the estate upon which any transfer inheritance tax has been paid shall have consisted in whole or in part of a partnership or other interest of uncertain value or shall have been involved in litigation by reason whereof there shall have been an overvaluation of that portion of the estate on which the tax has been assessed and paid which overvaluation could not have been ascertained within said period of two years In such case the application for repayment shall be made to the Board of Finance and Revenue within one year from the termination of such litigation or ascertainment of such overvaluation

(3) When a court of record has adjudged a person to be legally dead and thereafter in the settlement of his or her estate a transfer inheritance tax shall have been paid on such estate and after such payment has been made such person shall reappear and the court shall rescind its order and adjudication In such case the petition to the board shall be filed within six months after the court shall have rescinded its order and adjudication

(4) When any tax or other money has been paid to the Commonwealth under a provision of an Act of Assembly subsequently held by final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or under an interpretation of such provision subsequently held by such court to be erroneous In such case the petition to the board may be filed either prior or subsequent to such final judgment but must be filed within five years of the payment of which a refund is requested or within five years of the settlement of such taxes bonus or other moneys due to Commonwealth whichever period last expires The board shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine any petition for refund filed prior to such final judgment only if at the time of the filing thereof proceedings are pending in a court of competent jurisdiction wherein the claims of unconstitutionality or erroneous interpretation made in the petition for refund may be established and in such case the board shall not act upon the petition for refund until the final judgment determining the question or questions involved in such petition has been handed down

(b) To hear and determine any petition for the remission of penalties imposed and paid for failure to file any tax or bonus report within the time specified by law If the board be satisfied that the failure to file the report was not wilful that the report was actually filed within thirty days after it was due and that the amount of tax or bonus exclusive of penalty admitted to be due was paid to the Commonwealth within thirty days after the date when payment of the tax or bonus became due it may allow the petition and refund the amount of the penalty or any part thereof out of any appropriation or appropriations made for the purpose or credit the account of the person association corporation body politic or public officer by whom or which the penalty was paid but no such petition shall be considered unless it be filed within two years after the penalty was paid

In the case of petitions for the remission of penalties imposed and paid for failure to file tentative reports for the year 1953 or fiscal years beginning in 1953 under Section 4 (b) of the Corporation Income Tax Law as reenacted and amended the Board may allow such petitions if it is satisfied that the failure to file the tentative report was not wilful that the tentative report was actually filed within one (1) year after it was due and that the amount of tax required to be paid with such tentative report was paid to the Commonwealth within one (1) year after the date when payment of such tax became due but no such petition shall be considered unless it is filed prior to the first day of July 1956

(c) To hear and determine petitions for the remission of penalties imposed but not paid for failure to file any tax or bonus report within the time specified by law If the board be satisfied that the failure to file the report was not wilful that the report was actually filed within thirty days after it was due and that the amount of tax or bonus exclusive of penalty admitted to be due was paid to the Commonwealth within thirty days after the date when payment of the tax or bonus became due it may strike off the penalty or any part thereof but no such petition shall be considered unless it be filed within two years after the penalty was imposed

In the case of petitions for the permission of penalties imposed but not paid for failure to file tentative reports for the year 1953 or fiscal years beginning in 1953 under Section 4 (b) of the Corporate Net Income Tax Act as reenacted and amended or under Section 4 (b) of the Corporation Income Tax Law as reenacted and amended the Board may allow such petitions if it is satisfied that the failure to file the tentative report was not wilful that the tentative report was actually filed within one (1) year after it was due and that the amount of tax required to be paid with such tentative report was paid to the Commonwealth within one (1) year after the date when payment of such tax become due but no such petition shall be considered unless it be filed prior to the first day of July 1956

Section 2 Clause 730 renumbered 731 of the said act as last amended by the act of July 9 1941 (P L 305) is further amended to read as follows

Section 731 Confidential Information Any information gained by any administrative department board or commission as a result of any returns investigations hearings required or authorized under the statutes of the Commonwealth imposing taxes or bonus for State purposes or providing for the collection of the same shall be confidential except for official purposes and except that such information may be given to any other state or to the Government of the United States where such state or the United States by law authorizes the furnishing of similar information to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Any person or agent divulging such information shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00) or to undergo imprisonment for not more than three (3) years or both in the discretion of the court

For purposes of this section information regarding refunds or credits and the names of the persons or corporations entitled thereto which is available for public inspection under the provisions of this act shall not be deemed confidential

Section 3 Clause (b) of Section 801 of the said act as last amended by the Act of February 2 1937 (P L 3) is further amended to read as follows

(b) All such settlements shall as far as possible be so made that notice thereof may reach the taxpayer before the end of the year succeeding the year for which the tax or bonus report or return was made or ought to have been made Where notice of the settlement has not reached or does not reach the taxpayer before the end of a year after the tax report was required to be made the settlement shall nevertheless be valid and binding upon the taxpayer

Section 4 Section 806 of the said act as last amended by the Act of August 19 1953 (P L 1146) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 806 Interest on Taxes and Bonus Due the Commonwealth All tax and bonus due the Commonwealth as provided by law shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date they are due and payable until paid Provided That in the case of all taxes and bonus which other provisions of this act require taxpayers to compute and pay at the time of filing the report or return if a settlement is not made within one year after the date upon which the report or return was filed no interest whatsoever shall be imposed for the period between the end of such one year and sixty days after the date of the approval of the settlement unless the taxpayer has filed a written waiver permitting interest to run after the end of said one year Provided further That no penalties imposed under sections 1701 [and] 1702 and 1705 of this act for failure to file bonuses or tax reports on time shall bear any interest whatsoever The payment of interest as aforesaid shall not relieve any person association or corporation from any of the penalties or commissions prescribed by law for neglect or refusal to furnish reports to the Department of Revenue or to pay any claim due to the Commonwealth from such person assiciation or corporation

Whenever the tax or bonus liability of a taxpayer is so affected by any settlement or resettlement as to change the interest liability which has been settled against such taxpayer such interest liability shall be adjusted by the Department of Revenue and the Department of the Auditor General so as to correspond to the tax or bonus liability as changed without the necessity for the filing of any petition or request by the taxpayer or by said departments

Section 5 Section 1705 of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1705 Failure of Bank Savings Institution Title Insurance Company or Trust Company to Make Report Pay Tax or Post Notice of Settlement If any bank or savings institution having capital stock incorporated by or under any law of this Commonwealth or under any law of the United States and located within this Commonwealth or any title insurance company or trust company as defined in section 712 of this act shall fail or refuse to make the report required by section seven hundred eleven or section seven hundred twelve of this act at the times therein specified or shall make any false statement in such report or shall fail or refuse by its officers to appear before the Department of Revenue or shall fail or refuse to produce its books for examination when required to do so by the Department of Revenue the department shall after having ascertained the actual value of each share of the capital stock of such company from the best information it can obtain add the following percentages thereto [ten percentum] as a penalty assess the tax and proceed according to law to collect the same from such company On the first one thousand dollars of tax ten per centum on the next four thousand dollars five per centum and on everything in excess of five thousand dollars one per centum [and] If the president secretary or treasurer of any such company shall neglect or refuse to post a copy of the settlement in a conspicuous place in such company's place of business immediately upon the receipt of the same so as to give notice to the shareholders such president secretary or treasurer shall be adjudged to be in default and as a penalty for such default such company shall be responsible to the Commonwealth for the amount of the tax assessed against the shareholders of such company

Section 6 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment The foregoing amendment to Section 801(b) being intended as a clarification of existing law and as an expression of legislative intent shall apply to all tax settlements heretofore made as well as to those hereafter made

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, just a while ago we were called into a meeting of the Welfare Committee and while attending that meeting copies of House Bills 1879 and 1880 were supposed to be placed on our desks. As I understand most of the Members of the Welfare Committee did not receive either copy, nor did I. Are there any available or will there be any available?

The SPEAKER. If those who do not have copies of the bill will rise the Clerk will see that they are supplied with copies. The Clerk will arrange for immediate distribution.

The Clerk informs the Chair that only sufficient copies are available to supply every Member of the House and members of the press. A bill was placed upon the desk of each Member. Let those on the Majority side who have copies of the bill present them to Members on the Minority side who do not have copies.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make another suggestion—that we get some copies from the Legislative Engineers.

The SPEAKER. That is a very good suggestion and the Chair observes occasionally there is ground for suspicion, that is exactly what some Members of the House do.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUESTED TO READ HOUSE BILLS 1879 AND 1880 FOR FIRST TIME

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise for the purpose of asking unanimous consent of the House to have House Bills 1879 and 1880 read for the first time.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for House Bills 1879 and 1880 to be read for the first time?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

HOUSE RULES 14, 41 AND 43 SUSPENDED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the objection, I move that House Rules 14, 41 and 43 be suspended for the specific purpose of reading for the first time House Bills 1879 and 1880, which were reported from the Ways and Means Committee as committed today.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINTS OF ORDER

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order at this time rather than on the motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Would the Speaker give the House an interpretation of House Rule 17?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would interpret Rule 17 as dealing specifically only with the introduction of bills.

Rule 17 reads:

> "Bills shall be introduced by filing with the Chief Clerk to be by him numbered and handed to the Speaker for reference to appropriate committees, and report at the session following the day of presentation.
> If the Speaker shall neglect or refuse to refer any bill or bills (whether House or Senate) within two days after presentation, x x x x"

If there is any disposition upon the part of any considerable number of Members in the House that Rule 17 should also be suspended, it is as easy to suspend Rule 17 as Rules 14, 41 and 43, but the Chair would hold that this Rule does not apply to this particular situation.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my point of order if that is the ruling of the Chair.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, here in Pennsylvania we have a Constitution. Whatever some of us think of that Constitution, it was drawn up, as all of us know, by the people who lived before us to protect the rights of the people.

Here today we are being asked to give unanimous consent to the suspension of a Rule of this House of Representatives, which requires that 24 hours elapse between the time a bill is reported from committee and is given first reading.

What bill is this that requires such great haste? What is the great emergency that is involved here? What bill is this that requires this haste at a moment when we have waited for many months?

The bill we are talking about, Mr. Speaker, happens to be Governor Leader's excise tax bill. He has dictated to this House like a tyrant. Before he even consulted any of the leaders of the House, he made his dictatorial statement to the newspapers of this state, and it was that this bill must pass by 1:00 a. m. Wednesday. That was the Governor talking before he conferred with anybody.

Just think of this, Mr. Speaker, a tax bill to raise $500 million from the people of Pennsylvania must be acted on in 36 hours from the hour it is introduced until the hour it is finally voted upon in this House because a man in the front office is taking the power in his hands to override us of the Legislature. Governor Leader said it must be passed.

We don't know what is in this bill and you don't know what is in this bill. I am glad that the gentlemen are admitting they don't know. If one of them who knows so much about it would like to be interrogated and will take the floor, I will take the opportunity of doing it, if the Speaker will allow.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia has the floor and he has been speaking within his privilege. The Chair requests that he be not interrupted, except by a point of order if such occasion should arise. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The Press of Pennsylvania, and I have talked to them personally, have been unable to find out what the provisions in this bill are. And if the Press can't find out, how do we expect the people of Pennsylvania to know what is in it. In fact, I believe if I had the right to question the Members of the Ways and Means Committee, where this bill originated, I doubt that they would know too much about what is in this bill. I doubt of the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee knows. He is a friend of mine and I would not embarrass him by asking him. I know that the Members of the Committee on our side have not had the opportunity to learn of its provisions. The bill was just given to us this very minute. In fact, I timed it, it was 9:05 when the bill was handed to us.

What is going to happen if we read this bill for the first time today? Just let us look at the mechanics of the thing. Here is what will happen. The first news of what is in this bill, the details of its provisions and how it is going to affect the people of Pennsylvania will appear in the early morning papers of tomorrow. Twenty-four hours later, when the readers of those very same newspapers pick up their papers, the bill will have been acted upon and passed by this House and sent to the Senate by order of the Governor.

I know that in the past somebody could criticize the Republican party for introducing a bill and doing the very same thing. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, if this bill were a bill that the people of Pennsylvania knew something about, we would not stand here today and try to get you people not to read it for the first time.

But let us go back to 1951. How many of us did not know what the accelerated net income tax was when we did this? How many of the people did not know what an increase in the inheritance tax meant? How many people did not know what an increase in the gross receipts tax meant? And how many people did not know what a real estate transfer tax meant at two per cent?

It was known by the people of Pennsylvania, Mr. Speaker, but today you have a bill, a brand new bill, one which has never been tried in this country. There is not one state that has this type of legislation, and nobody knows what effect it will have. In fairness to the Majority Leader and the rest of you, you don't know and you can't be expected to know. I don't know and neither do any of the others.

No one who is going to be affected by this bill, and keep in mind it is going to affect everybody in Pennsylvania, will ever have a chance to tell us—we who are the elected representatives of the people—their opinions or their views. They will be denied their right of petition, and keep that in mind, by our Bill of Rights the public has the right of petition and the public is being deprived of that right today at this very moment. We might just as well tear that right out of the Constitution because you on the other side of the House are foolish, because of the dictates of the man in the front office, taking the right of petition away from the people of this great state.

I must refer to you at this time, Mr. Speaker, not personally, but because of the time you did carry the minority vote on the other side, and I know that when you spoke you not only spoke for yourself but I think you spoke for the thinking of the minority. We have had a Speaker in the past who has upheld the rights of the people. Again and again in other sessions he has spoken against haste and has spoken against speed when important legislation was before this House. On that point he has always taken the side of and fought for the rights of the voter. Let me ask you, Mr. Speaker, why aren't you out here fighting today on the same basis?

I would like to read some quotes, not of yours, Mr. Speaker, but I assume that they were the quotes of the minority party at the time.

Mr. Andrews in 1951 said: "The real criminal in this proceeding is not whoever it was that formulated the program. The real criminal in the proceeding is whoever it was that decreed that this program should not be submitted to public scrutiny by means of a public hearing."

It was Mr. Andrews of the Minority Party, it was Mr. Petrosky, it was Mr. Lovett, who hollered and screamed for a public hearing. We would be interested in reading some of the quotes.

Mr. Andrews also said: "Public hearings are the only protection the taxpayer has. The groups entrenched here on Capitol Hill, with all the means of disseminating information that they may have, cannot carry their story to the public except by means of a public hearing, and it is only as the newspapers hand out news stories can they tell the people what is going on."

This one, Mr. Speaker, is a masterpiece:

"There are some 10 million people in Pennsylvania and at the present time I do not suppose that 500,000 of them really know the sort of murder that we are planning here in Harrisburg."

Mr. Speaker, let me say to you, and I know that you were quoting your party, not only yourself, if there are ten people in the state of Pennsylvania, citizens, who know what is in this bill, it is a lot, not 500,000. Today you and your Members, who in the past have asked for public hearings, sit there mum and deny the right of the people to ask for a public hearing on this piece of legislation. There is not a voice raised today for a public hearing.

I don't know, possibly you didn't mean that when you said it, possibly your party didn't mean it, perhaps they were playing politics. If they were, they certainly were not sincere.

Surely if there was ever a bill that needed the fullest kind of explanation, this is it, believe me. This tax has never been tried in any other state before, and no one knows how it will work, not even the Governor.

It is the greatest experiment in state financing that has ever been attempted anywhere. We are not talking about the merits of the bill, it is the principle of what you are doing with an entirely new piece of legislation.

All we are asking for is an extra day. I know you are going to say: What can you do in an extra day? At least, the Press can get another newspaper story out of it. Morally, and if you live the way you talked in the past, you will hold up final action on this bill for at least a week. After eleven months certainly another week will not destroy our Commonwealth. But we are not pleading for that, we are only asking for an extra 24 hours, that is the only thing we plead for, and we do it with all the sincerity I can convey to you Members. Please, for your sake, for the sake of the people of Pennsylvania and for the sake of your own party, give us 24 hours so the people may know that we are not rushing this thing through, just because the man in the front office has dictated to the Legislature. If it means, Mr. Speaker, that we have to stay here until Thanksgiving, we are willing to stay here.

Today every Member of the House received a copy of a letter from our Speaker. I want to quote one sentence from that letter.

> "We are being depicted in the public prints and in various forums—political and non-political—as a set of quibbling, dilatory misfits who are more interested in party politics and major political intrigue than we are in matters of public concern."

Mr. Speaker, I am glad you said those words. Our Speaker, you know, has always been foremost in upholding the prestige of this Legislature. I agree with him that the Press has been saying more and more that we are not showing statesmanship and, Mr. Speaker, what concerns me is that this criticism is not directed at Republicans or is being directed at Democrats, it is being directed at the Legislature—you and I, and every man and woman sitting in this House. What are we doing in the public eye? We are going down lower, and lower, and lower.

Mr. Speaker, our Government has been built on the basis of a strong executive, a strong legislature, and you know that, and a strong judiciary, and they should be separate units. I am not so naive as to believe that the Governor does not have the right to say to us what he wants us to do, and to say that to you as his party. I don't deny him that right, but I do deny the right of the Governor to play politics to the point that he is playing it now.

The Governor talks and acts and looks like a very young, fair, honest, sincere individual, but, Mr. Speaker, his mind is the mind of a political boss of old when he dictates in that manner. He is tearing down your party, and our party, and the prestige of this great House of the Legislature when he tells you to do what you are doing today.

If you go through with this plan of the Governor's to bulldoze this tax through this House in 36 hours, you will be proving what the Press has been saying in editorials is right, I will grant them they are right and I am willing to agree they are right when they said those things about us.

You will be proving that we follow the dictates of a boss politician in the front office. We are going to follow him like sheep. If you are going to follow him like sheep, you don't belong here as the elected representatives of the people when it coms to this type of legislation. I say that in all sincerity.

You are going to turn back the pages of history to the old boss rule of other times. Mr. Speaker, you and I and many of us have heard the stories of what happened in the past because of boss rule in Pennsylvania. You know and I and many of us have heard the stories of what happened in the past because of boss rule in Pennsylvania. You know and I know, and you have been proud and I have been proud, and there are many Members on the other side of the House and on this side of the House who have been proud, that we have gotten away from that type of government. It wasn't good government. It wasn't good government for us as individuals in the Legislature and it wasn't good government for the people of Pennsylvania

Mr. Speaker, no matter what your Governor looks like on television, no matter how young, how naive he looks, he is getting the mind of a boss politician, regardless of what he says when he dictates to you, to me and to this Legislature like he is dictating today and has dictated in the past.

If we keep on doing the Governor's bidding, we will not only lose what little prestige we have left—and let me say, Mr. Speaker, I agree with you it is very little—but we will lose our power as a branch of government. None of us want that kind of goverment. It is not good for us and it is not good for the people of Pennsylvania.

Four months ago, if you will remember, we had another tax bill before us. Then the Governor dictated that it be delayed, and like serfs and like sheep you on the other side of the House took it and swallowed it and broke all precedent. He was the one who said the bill should be delayed. Why? Because he had political reasons, he hoped to do something in the Senate, and because of politics he broke the precedents of this House which had lasted for hundreds of years.

Today what does he do, he takes a complete flop-flop because it is to his advantage to get rid of a hot potato and try to put the blame on a Republican Senate. He wants to get it there as fast as he can before the heat gets on. Let's be honest about it, you know it and I know it. Sure, it is smart politics, but, Mr. Speaker, the Governor of this state should show a little more statesmanship and a little less politics. We are getting a little bit too much of it.

The Governor has dictated that this bill must pass in 36 hours, the orders now are for speed and not for delay. Again you are going to follow, you are going to follow like serfs, like Huey Long's representatives did in Louisiana where they had a bell up at the Speaker's desk. It won't be long before we probably will find one there from our Governor if he keeps up this attitude of telling you when he wants a bill delayed and when he wants it hurried up, and particularly a bill that the people know nothing about.

We are not discussing the merits of this tax and we don't intend to. We couldn't do it even if we were permitted to do so. We just don't have enough information on it believe me, nor do the people have enough information. A tax genius at this point of the business would be unable to say what the impact of this tax bill will be. He would be unable to say how it is going to affect the individual voters. Mr. Speaker let me say that we don't have any tax geniuses in this House.

I think today you are seeing the prestige of this House sink to a lower level than it has been for many years. I don't say this with any political thought in mind. I have been proud to be a Member of this House, I think there are many of you on the other side who have been proud, I know you have been proud Mr. Speaker, and many Members on our side have been proud to be Members.

Mr. Speaker, if these things continue, let me again remind you it is bad for your Democratic Party. They are not the principles it was built upon. They are not the principles this great Commonwealth was built upon, and they are not the principles our nation was built upon.

Mr. Speaker, we don't want dictators who dictate to the Legislature on this type, this terribly important kind of legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I again plead, and all the Members on this side plead with you to please give us one extra day so that the people of Pennsylvania will at least get an even break, and not have this thing stuffed down their throats before they know what has happened.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, all of us revere Thanksgiving Day and what it stands for. While I listened to the Minority Leader's spech, I was thinking that it was unfortunate that Thanksgiving comes on Thursday of this week, and prevents him from having the much wanted additional twenty-four hours. I think the gentleman well knows that this House would not stay in session on Thanksgiving Day for the purpose of considering this or any other bill.

He has spoken at great length about how we are perverting the system which we followed for hundreds of years. He mentions the Constitution with reverence and so forth. All he wants to gain is an additional twenty-four hours.

Let me say this, that the Constitution of Pennsylvania, under which we operate, wisely provided that each bill shall be read in this House on three different days before it is considered and voted on. We are strictly following the Constitution of Pennsylvania in what we are doing and proposing to do. The bill was read today, or will be I hope; it will be read again at length tomorrow and it will be again read on Wednesday of this week.

It is now ten o'clock on Monday, I would say that the reading time of House Bill 1879 should not be more than one hour, and that of 1880 perhaps twenty minutes. We are going to meet at noon tomorrow and we shall probably be in session six hours during which time this bill will be called up for second reading, and as the gentlemen on the other side and this side know is fully debatable on second reading. Anybody can offer amendments to it, anybody can discuss the merits of it, and I assure you that I shall be fully prepared, and other of my colleagues on this side will be tomorrow to answer any questions you may have about sections of this tax act.

You are entitled to that information. You represent the people of Pennsylvania, we do too, and what we do here we are doing for them, and what we do here is going to affect them.

The gentleman speaks about a public hearing. I would like to inquire whether in his memory there has ever been a public hearing on a tax measure. I have been here nineteen years now, and I can remember no public hearing on any tax revenue-raising bill. That does not mean that there cannot be one, it does not mean that there will not be any in the future, but I say to you tonight, and I think the gentleman will have to agree, that if we were to have hearings on every proposal for a major tax measure, we would never enact any, because there is no tax that is not going to fall rather heavily on some people, and they would always be here in great numbers to protest against the imposition of any kind of a tax.

The gentleman has spoken about the lowering of the prestige of this House. He may be right in part, but I think he has exaggerated the point. I think people, if they are criticising us, are criticising us for the fact that we have been in session as long as we have been without being able to solve our tax problems.

We had another session in 1951 which lasted just about the same length of time, or the same time that this one will last. That was unfortunate too, we could not solve the tax problems then in a hurry. But now, the Majority party which stated a long time ago that we accept the responsibility of enacting a tax program has made a decision, and has decided to go ahead with it, and he complains bitterly because we do not delay another week or ten days or even twenty-four hours. What does he hope to gain by that delay? He speaks about newspaper publicity. I have ben reading the papers too, and the papers seem to have covered the subject quite well concerning this manufacturers' excise tax which is embodied in House Bill 1879. They have stated what the rate is; they have stated that the estimated yield is $420 million or roughly that, even though the gentleman uses the figure $500 million.

The gentleman on the other side, and some of the Members of the body on the other side of this Capitol building have made many, many statements since last Thursday, stating in their opinion that this is just a hidden sales tax. What does the gentleman want the public to know? This bill will be fully debated tomorrow, the newspapers will carry the story of what was said about this tax and what the tax calls for. The people will learn long before this bill ever gets to the Governor's desk exactly what is in it and exactly what it will mean to them.

We think it is a good program; we think it is going to be a fair tax and we intend to pass this tax. If the gentleman would succeed in his endeavor to delay us until next Monday or Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, we would still pass this tax bill because we think it is the best one obtainable under the circumstances.

He well knows what we proposed in the first instance and how it died. If the Senate of Pennsylvania, the co-ordinate branch of this legislative part of the government, can kill the bill that we worked on for six months in one day or two days as it did, certainly there should be no shame in our passing another tax program in three days. It just so happens that because of Thanksgiving we are not meeting at the normal time on Wednesday, we want to let our Members go home Wednesday night if possible, or Tuesday night rather, so that they can spend Thanksgiving Day with their families and their friends. But they would like to make us look like ogres and devils and so forth because we have decided what to do and we are intending to do it. If the public thinks ill of us for taking firm steps to enact a tax program in this House after following the Constitution specifically, then the public will be greatly mistaken, and I say that the gentleman is wrong when he says that anybody will condemn us for the speed with which this program is passed. I think it is right, and I think we should all vote in favor of this motion.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we ask for a slow roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair assures the gentleman from Philadelphia that if there had been no request for a roll call the Chair would have requested the privilege of making such a request from the Floor of the House himself.

The request for a roll call was seconded by Messrs. HELM and KENT.

The roll was called and was as follows:

(Following the calling of the roll and before the result was announced)

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I hope the Chair will not rule me out of order while the Clerks are counting the roll. We will not ask for a verification and I would like to congratulate the Majority Leader on the job he did getting the Members in their seats.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I deeply appreciate the compliment just paid me by the Minority Leader, but my hands are so tied and I am so busy debating and doing other things that I should not be given that credit. It should go to my good assistant, the Whip of the House and his assistants. They did an excellent job and I hope they can continue to do it the rest of the session.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent for House Bill No. 1879 to be read for the first time.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. TOMPKINS.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 124.

In the House of Representatives, November 21, 1955.

During the past several years, riots and disturbances have occurred in many of the prisons and correctional institutions of this Commonwealth.

Charges and accusations of an unfavorable nature have more recently been levelled against certain of the Juvenile Correctional and Mental Institutions of this Commonwealth.

The riots and disturbances become a useless, unwarranted and additional expense to the Commonwealth in the destruction of property, jeopardy to health, limb and life, and a threat to the peace and security of the community.

The charges and accusations are detrimental to the health and welfare program of this Commonwealth, in making it difficult to retain present personnel, to procure new and additional personnel required for the efficient and proper operation and administration of our institutions, and in creating extremely disturbing conditions among and with the population of the institutions.

It appears that the conditions and circumstances which induced the riots, disturbances, charges and accusations could have been avoided by a closer and more constant inspection of these institutions; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a permanent committee of six members of the General Assembly be created; three from the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, and three from the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore, whose duty it shall be from time to time to make unannounced visits to and inspections of all Commonwealth-owned, and Commonwealth-aided institutions, and to make periodic reports thereof to the House of Representatives and Senate when in session, and to the Governor, the Speaker of the House, and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, when the General Assembly is in recess.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. SARRAF and VAUGHAN.

RESOLUTION No. 125.

In the House of Representatives, November 21, 1955.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes the trucking industries as one of its leading industries. In peace and war, trucks are used to haul vast amounts of freight both in intrastate and interstate commerce.

Because of the great sizes and weights of trucks, the steady flow of traffic on our public highways is impeded and in some instances, especially in mountainous or hilly sections, traffic habzards are created.

The health and welfare of the public would be promoted and the flow of traffic and the transportation of freight expedited if highways were constructed whereby trucks could by-pass hilly or mountainous areas; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission study the advisability of constructing highways which would result in trucks by-passing hilly or mountainous areas in this State; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission make a report of its findings together with appropriate legislation to the next General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. BRANCA from the Committee on Workmen's Compensation, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1159, entitled:

An Act to further amend subdivision (3) of subsection (1) of section four of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide money for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by extending the provisions thereof to include employes of the State and political subdivisions.

Mr. ROVANSEK from the Committee on Workmen's Compensation, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1352, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 21, 1939 (P. PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to take just a moment of the time of the Members to inform them that according to present plans we are going to meet tomorrow at 12 o'clock, and we are going to meet Wednesday morning at 12:01 a. m. for the purpose of considering legislation.

We have caused letters to be sent out to every Member sometime ago requesting you to let the Chief Clerk's office know if you needed a room for tonight or tomorrow night. I beg your pardon, we did not say anything about tomorrow night, we wanted to make arrangements to make sure you had a bed to sleep in tonight. But we are now advising you that we will have a session at 12:01 a. m. on Wednesday of this week, and we are asking that all Members be present as it will be a very important session.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1955. No. 107.

SENATE

TUESDAY, November 22, 1955

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM H. KELLY, Pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Lewisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, our Father, before Whom we humbly bow, we recognize Thy greatness and omnipotence. We realize our weaknesses and failures. We come to ask Thy divine guidance this day, knowing that of ourselves we fail to be and to do. May we lift grateful hearts to Thee for the manifold blessings Thou dost share with us, the children of men.

May Thy rich and continuing presence continue upon the present President of the United States of America. God grant that the improvement of his health continue until complete recovery.

Guide and direct the affairs of the State this day, and in particular the business of the Senate. May all of us ever sense Thy interest in us. May Thy will ever be done and may Thy divine purpose be carried out above party and personality for the betterment of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Teach us Thy eternal truth that we may ever walk in the pathways of righteousness, justice and brotherhood.

May all things redound to Thy name's honor and glory. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, November 22, 1955

The House met at 12:00 o'clock noon.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend Viggo Swensen, Pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Harrisburg, guest Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

God of the Nations Who art pleased to be called our Father we gather in Thy name honored to be called Thy children. Of ourselves we are not adequate for the great tasks confronting us. Do Thou be pleased to make us adequate not simply for the sake of our own well-being, but for the fulfilling of Thy purposes for this world. Grant us courage always to strive for the truth, and whenever there is conflict to place the truth above our own or any partisan interests. We acknowledge that too often we know what is right but need strength to sustain our convictions. Empower us, we pray thee! And may our only fear be that of offending Thee the just, Holy and loving Father. Through Jesus Christ Thy Son, our Saviour. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, November 21, 1955 will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears none.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence, bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 729.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article two section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. OLSEN, SARRAF, KAMYK, VERONA, Mrs. MONROE, Messrs. MULLEN, GRANVILLE E. JONES, BAZIN, MATT S. ANDERSON, HOLT, JENKINS, WALSH, FLOYD and McLAUGHLIN.

RESOLUTION No. 126.

In the House of Representatives, November 22, 1955.

The barbarous and unpunished murder of the Negro child, Emmett Till in the State of Mississippi has shocked all the civilized nations of the world and subjected our country to scorn and hatred by reason thereof, and

Our Declaration of Independence proclaims that all men are created equal, and

Section 1 of the XIVth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States provides:

(1) "All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside.

(2)" No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States;

(3) "Nor shall any State deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the law."

Section 4 of Article IV of the Constitution guarantees to every State a representative form of government through legal and properly conducted elections of officers.

The XVth Amendment to our Constitution provides:

"The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State, on account of race or color."

Paragraph 1 of section 5 of Article I of the Constitution provides:

"Each House shall be the judge of the Elections, returns and qualifications of its own members.

Section 2 of the XIVth Amendment to the Constitution provides:

"Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State."

It is charged that the State of Mississippi acting through its officials, has violated the above provisions of the Constitution of the United States in that native-born adult Negro citizens of the United States and of the State of Mississippi and entitled to vote therein have been forcibly prevented by the officials of said State of Mississippi from registering in order to be able to vote, as required by the law of Mississippi; And further, that such action has resulted in the exclusion of Negro citizens from jury service in said State because its laws require that the names of prospective jurors appear on the voting lists, and Negro residents of the State of Mississippi who may be charged with crime are thus deprived of the Constitutional right to trial by a jury chosen without regard to race or color and are thereby denied the equal protection of the law, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense, desire and request of the members of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania in meeting assembled,

(1) That the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States use their great and potent powers to protect the Constitutional and civil rights of all persons residing in the State of Mississippi without distinction as to race, creed, color or national origin.

(2) It is respectfully urged that said Houses of Congress, investigate the above charge and if the same be found to be true, that each said House thereupon declare invalid the purported elections whereby the persons presently holding seats in each body as representatives of the people of the State of Mississippi became members thereof, and declare said seats to be vacant.

(3) That thereupon steps be immediately taken by each House of the Congress to provide for the holding of lawful and properly controlled elections in the State of Mississippi in order to fill such vacancies and that at such elections all duly qualified Negro citizens of said State shall have the free and untrammelled right and opportunity to Register and to vote for candidates of their choice; and thereby likewise be made available for jury service; and be it further

Resolved, and requested that meanwhile the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States take immediate steps to reduce the numerical quota of representation in said House to which the State of Mississippi would otherwise be lawfully entitled, in accordance with the provisions of section 2 of the XIVth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and be it further

Resolved, That all of the above, we, the members of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania respectfully urge and recommend to the favorable consideration of the Congress of the United States; bearing in mind that "We, the People" did ordain and establish the Constitution of our glorious country, the United States of America, "in order to establish justice, . . . promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity," and be it further

Resolved, That duly authenticated copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Clerk of the Senate and to the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the Congress and also to every Congressman and to the Senators representing the people of the State of Pennsylvania in said Congress.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. FRANK and Miss LEIBY.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 127.

In the House of Representatives, November 21, 1955.

Employes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are not under the provisions of Federal Social Security at the present time, thus constituting a lack of protection for the future welfare of themselves and their families.

Employes are constantly entering the employ of the Commonwealth, having heretofore contributed to and enjoyed the protection of such Social Security System.

By virtue of their employment by the Commonwealth, available benefits under such Social Security System are endangered through lack of participation.

Numerous employes by virtue of employment by the Commonwealth are now members or required to become members of the State Employes' Retirement System. All benefits accumulated or to be accumulated in the continuance of said retirement system shall remain in effect, and the institution of social security privileges shall in no way endanger or dissolve the existing State Employes' Retirement System; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby pledges itself to give thorough and understanding attention to the consideration of bills which have been introduced to provide for the extension of social security benefits to State employes.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GELFAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in reading through the Dickinson Law Review, a publication from one if the finer law schools of Pennsylvania, in October I noted a very informative article by one of our colleagues, Mr. Sherman. This article is particularly appropos to the business of this House inasmuch as it deals with a problem which was mentioned in House Bill 667, the problem of comparative negligence.

This is very important to all the residents and operators of motor vehicles in Pennsylvania. The legislotion that was introduced in the early part of this session has yet to be considered. However, for the edification of the Members of the Committee and all the Members of the House I would like to incorporate this article in the records of this body.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the article will be incorporated in the record. The Chair hears no objection.

COMPARATIVE NEGLIGENCE

By

HON. LOUIS SHERMAN *

The present laws of Pennsylvania is, that a person who by his own negligence contributes in any degree, however small, in causing his injury, may not recover anything from the defendant, no matter how definite the latter's negligence and its causal connection with the harm.

The query is, should the case of the uncompensated victim be considered or should his misconduct, no matter how small, be considered of such penal basis as to deprive him completely of a recovery no matter how negligent the defendant was? Should a negligent defendant be encouraged and go scot free regardless of his blame and notwithstanding the fact that the plaintiff was only slightly at fault?

The usual case is that of a motorist who enters an intersection and fails to yield the right of way on the mistaken assumption that the speeding defendant will slow down for him. Another case may involve a plaintiff who saw or should have seen, a defendant driving carelessly.

The strict rules of the Common Law have been modified in cases of intentional tort.

Though it may be difficult to apportion loss on the basis of comparison of fault with fault between a pedestrian not looking and a driver who runs him down, yet this is not any more accurate than one based on the arbitrary conclusion that 100 percent responsibility rests with plaintiff and none whatsoever with defendant.

A closer approximation of substantial justice is to divide the damages equally between the parties rather than to deny all recovery.

As a result of the present decisions and clamor for legislation, a bill has been introduced in the House, called House Bill 667 which, if enacted, would change Pennsylvania law so as to conform to the law in other states and be in accord with our own decisions on the subject.

* Member of the General Assembly, House of Representatives, Member of the Pennsylvania Bar.

House Bill 667 provides for the determination and effect of comparative negligence in actions of tort and provides that contributory negligence shall not bar recovery:

"Section 1

(a) In all actions hereafter brought for death or personal injuries or damage to property caused by unlawful violence or negligence the fact that the person injured or killed or the parties suing or the owner of the property or the person having control over the property may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery.

(b) In any action the damages to be recovered shall be diminished in proportion to the amount of contributory negligence attributable to any such person

(c) The determination of the proportion of contributory negligence in any action shall be a matter entirely for the jury or in cases tried without jury for the trial judge.

(d) If having regard to all circumstances of the case the fact finding body shall not find it possible to determine the respective degrees of faults between the plaintiffs and the defendants they shall be deemed to be equally at fault and the damages shall be diminished by one-half."

Great injustice is done by the doctrine of contributory negligence. The defense of contributory negligence absolves from all fault and liability, whereas that of proportionateness goes merely to the reduction of damages.

In the United States there are forty statutes on the books and in apparently successful operation, dealing with the subject of comparative negligence.

The apportionment of damages was first brought home to most of the United States in 1908 by the Federal Employers' Liability Act which applied to all negligence actions in the Federal or State Courts for injuries to railroad employees engaged in interstate commerce. The apportionment provision was incorporated by reference into the Jones Act and the Merchant Marine Act which were enacted in 1915 and 1920 and are applicable to injuries to maritime employees. The provision was repeated in a series of State Employers' Liability Acts covering railroad and other employees enacted in eighteen states.

Comparative Negligence Statutes in one form or other have been enacted in Mississippi, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Virginia and Wisconsin.

Where both parties have been guilty of negligence, both must share responsibility and the plaintiff may recover a portion of the damages suffered according to the negligence attributable to him.

Courts of Admiralty showed their displeasure with the common law rule of contributory negligence and early claimed that if both parties contributed to the loss, the damages should be divided between them.

The Maritime Conventions Act of 1911 in England has provided, along the line of the present proposed legislation, that where it is diffitult or impossible to allocate the degrees of blame on both ships but where it is proven that both were at fault in some degree, the rule of division of loss would not be altered and each wrongdoer should bear one-half of the total loss.

Legislation forced the doctrine of comparative negligence in the employer-employee relationship in cases of common carriers. In the field of workmen's compensation acts involving master and servant, the common law rule of contributory negligence proved too harsh. The most striking features of the workmen's compensation law is the provision abolishing the common law defenses of contributory negligence and assumption of risk.

The operation of the principle of contributory negligence is unjust and untenable. No matter how negligent the defendant is, if the person injured has failed to exercise proper care on his part, he cannot recover.

A Mississippi Act,[1] provides that in all personal injury or death or property damage actions, contributory negligence "shall not bar a recovery but damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to the person injured, or the owner of the property, or the person having control over the property."

Perhaps the rule of contributory negligence may have acted as a deterrent in the early days in England, commencing with the case of Butterfield v. Forrester,[2] but experience has shown that it is unjust to allow negligent defendant to escape the consequences of his negligent conduct.

In the light of present decisions, if the defense propounds a question to show that plaintiff failed to continue to look while crossing an intersection, plaintiff would be non-suited.

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court has realized that the doctrine of contributory negligence is unsuited to modern conditions, and where left to the jury, after the most careful charge, juries nonetheless bring in verdicts for the plaintiff but generally in a smaller amount than would otherwise be the case. Lawyers act on these facts in valuing cases for settlement.

The application of the rule of comparative negligence is best illustrated in our own court decisions:

In the case of Karcesky v. Laria,[3] the plaintiffs, while crossing in the middle of the block from east to west, were struck as they were in the center of the highway, by the defendant's northbound automobile at about the time the additional defendant's southbound automobile passed them. Plaintiff's last saw defendant's automobile about a block away when they had walked to the center of the street but never looked again to their left, from which direction defendant's car was coming.

The court held that the circumstantial evidence in this case was sufficient to make out a prima facie case of negligence on the part of defendant. Plaintiffs were held not guilty of contributory negligence as a matter of law. The male plaintiff suffered a fracture of the left clavicle and severe contusions to the left forearm and left shoulder. The expenses for himself and wife totalled $1,700; the wife suffered fractures of three front teeth, a fracture of the sacrum and of the pelvis and of the left fibula, a sprain of the lower back, hematoma of the left thigh and small bruises, and her total loss of earnings approximated $4,000. The verdict of $3,000 for the husband and $2,000 for the wife was permitted to stand. It was obviously a sympathy verdict due to the jury's belief that the plaintiffs stepped into the path of defendant's car without looking and consequently contributed substantially to their own accident. The Court held:

> "The doctrine of comparative negligence or degrees of negligence is not recognized by the courts of Pennsylvania, but as a practical matter they are frequently taken into consideration by a jury. The net results, as every trial judge knows, is that in the large majority of negligence cases, where the evidence of negligence is not clear, or where the question of contributory negligence is not free from doubt the jury brings in a comprehensive verdict."

The jury renders a compromise verdict which is much smaller in amount than they would have awarded (a) if defendant's negligence was clear and (b) if they were convinced that plaintiffs were free from contributory negligence. As stated by Mr. Justice Musmanno, in a strong dissenting opinion in said case, the doctrine of comparative negligence must be applied methodically and not spasmodically. This court or the legislature will need to establish procedure and norms of appraisal, such as those which are now embodied in the Federal Employers' Liability Act.

An example of an injustice done by the doctrine of contributory negligence is the case of Good v. Pittsburgh.[4] It was a trespass case against a municipality to recover damages for personal injuries and partial destruction of a house resulting from an explosion, in which it appeared that a hole had exploded in a public highway in front of plaintiff's home, and that trucks were violently jolted when their wheels traversed the hole, causing vibrations in plaintiff's house which finally caused a crack to develop in the gas pipe in plaintiff's cellar through which gas escaped and exploded. A recovery was denied.

The court stated that the plaintiff has the burden of establishing by a preponderance of the evidence the fault of the defendants as the proximate cause of the injury.

As Section 463 of the Restatement of Torts defines it, "Contributory negligence is conduct on the part of the plaintiff which falls below the standard to which he should conform for his own protection and which is a legally contributing cause, cooperating with the negligence of the defendant in bringing about the plaintiff's harm."

Contributory negligence may stem either from a person's careless exposure of himself to danger or from his failure to exercise reasonable diligence for his own protection.[5]

As a result of the decisions of our appellate courts, there is great confusion and the legal profession is left in a quandry as to what advice to impart to injured citizens seeking its services and intervention in behalf of justice.

Successful application of the doctrine of comparative negligence in the several special fields, as in admiralty, workmen's compensation acts, employers' liability acts and in automobile guest cases, reveals the practicability of this change in the rules of negligence. Judging from the practical experience of admiralty courts and other courts applying special statutes dealing with comparative negligence, there are no hidden pitfalls in the doctrine into which courts may fall other than certain other problems in connection with proper instructions by trial courts governing the mode of division or apportionment of damages.

If enacted, comparative negligence law would demand thought and study, but legal problems have been effectively solved in the past and the solution of this problem should be hastened by the precedents available in sister jurisdictions. The subject is neither new or revolutionary. Steady encroachments upon the doctrine of contributory negligence have weakened its claim of authority.

At present the proposed Bill 667 is in the hands of a subcommitteee of the Judiciary Committee, for study.

It is felt that the legislature will be taking a tremendous step forward in the field of social legislation if it adopts this bill. The problem certainly deserves the attention of the legislature.

It is hoped that this small note will help the legislature give the doctrine legal status.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 68, entitled·

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled "An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws" authorizing the transfer of certain retail licenses to clubs without affecting the number of licenses thereafter granted in any municipality

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 68 was drawn for the purpose of permitting a club, a bona fide club, to secure a license.

It is still my understanding that club licenses are within the quota. We have tried from time to time to make it possible for clubs, bona fide clubs, to get a liquor license, without any success.

We fell that this bill is properly drawn so that we can do that particular thing, and what this bill will do, it will permit a bona fide club, a certified bona fide club, to secure a retail license. This should not affect the quota because the club licenses are part of the quota.

When this retail license is secured by a club, it automatically becomes a club license but is still a part of the quota. Therefore, from interpretations I have received from capable lawyers, it would not create a vacancy in the particular political subdivision in which this might occur.

There are a lot of districts where the quota is considerably over the number allowed in that locality and, of course, it would have no effect there because it would not create a vacancy. As I have stated, the number of licenses is away over in that particular location.

I feel that this bill is a badly needed bill. It will help the veterans' clubs and many other clubs throughout the state which have been trying for a long time to secure licenses for their clubs. I believe this bill will be a step in the right direction and I cannot see why we should run into opposition because it would not create a vacancy, and, therefore, no one would be able to apply for a license where a transaction of this type might take place.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Smith, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman from Beaver address his question about eliminating a retail license and making a club license out of it to the attorneys over in the Liquor Control Board, or to Mr. Caley, the Director of Licensing?

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, no, I did not. I discussed this with the Attorney General's office and they are of the opinion that it would create a vacancy. However, on the other hand, I consulted with other attorneys, not being an attorney myself, and there is some question in their minds. They feel they are either in the quota or out of the quota. If they are in the quota, they are part of it.

In debate on prior bills we always ran into the question that they were included in the quota. If they are included in the quota, they must be part of the setup. Therefore, if a transfer was made, they would still be within the quota and would not create any vacancy.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would not want anyone to vote on this bill under a misapprehension. Clubs technically are in the quota if certain things exist. Take an example, if a community is allowed three retail liquor licenses and if they only have two retail liquor licenses, the quota is open and you could have one new retail liquor license.

While the quota is open and there is opportunity to have one new liquor license, the Board by the way they are interpreting the law, would permit 50 club licenses to be granted in that community, but the minute the last retail license is taken up and the quota is filled on retail liquor licenses, then automatically the quota becomes filled on club licenses. That sounds peculiar to you, but that is the law today and it is the way it is being interpreted by the Liquor Control Board.

Therefore, and this is what Mr. Smith, our Floor Leader, asked the gentleman when it was up several weeks ago, the question we are propounding is in this community with three licenses if that retail license becomes converted into a club license by reason of this bill, then there will be two liquor licenses only in that community and the quota will then be open for another retail liquor license. Until somebody takes up that retail liquor license, 50 new club licenses could come in. That is the way we were interpreting it and we were asking the gentleman to clarify that particular point.

I would say offhand that is what would prevail if this bill passes. I am not saying it is not a good thing to be able to change a retail license into a club license, because we all know that we have many Legion Clubs throughout this state that perhaps should have liquor licenses. During the war when these fellows were fighting abroad others back home here were organizing clubs and took up the club quota. It presumably would be a good thing for a retail license to be converted into a club license, but there is some question whether by doing that the quota would be open so that say 50 additional clubs could come under the wire.

I do not believe you have made that point clear and on my part I think that is a reasonable interpretation of this bill if you have a community with three licenses.

However, if this community which under the quota law would be entitled to three liquor licenses but has six licenses now by reason of people coming under the wire before we put in the quota system, and you transfer one of them to a club license, that will leave five retail licenses in the community and the quota on clubs will be filled, So I grant you it would only apply in a place where they have just three liquor licenses, where that is all they would be entitled to.

I realize that is a rather complicated explanation, but that is the way I see it. I think you ought to clear that with Mr. Caley, who is the Director of Licensing.

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from McKean makes my point even stronger. When the original liquor bill was drawn clubs were not to be included in the quota. It is a different interpretation that brought about this situation. I believe this bill is a bill that will clarify that situation once and for all.

Now, they are neither in the quota or they are not in the quota. And I think this is a step in the right direction. It is just a matter of interpretation and, as I say, you men have heard it said before on the floor of this House by men who drew this liquor law that the clubs were not to be a part of the quota. Now, we find but that they are. Well, I think that they are and some of the attorneys I have talked to don't think they are, and I believe that this particular bill here will clarify the situation.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I must confess that we on this side thought the gentleman would get a ruling from the Liquor Control Board people on this point. I wonder if he would hold this bill over and let us ourselves get a determination because we are not against him on this and the end that he is trying to achieve, but if he is opening a blind door by this bill, that is something else. We think that in quite a number of cases that is what will hoppen.

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's remarks, I ran into this, the Liquor Control Board, I don't recall the man's name that I was supposed to have talked to, but I was given to understand that they were very hostile to this type of legislation.

Now, I can see no point in talking to those people because they have evidently made up their minds, and whether this bill is right or whether it is wrong doesn't make any difference to them. We have been elected here by the people and I believe that regardless of how hostile they feel towards this bill, that it is a good bill and I think that the Members of this House should pass this bill and allow the chips to fall where they may. It is either a good bill or a bad bill, and I believe it is a good bill, and some of the attorneys to whom I talked believe it is a good bill, and they are not interested in clubs.

I feel that we as elected Members should run this show and not let somebody who is hostile to this type of legislation try to tell us what to do.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman, if I may.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I don't like to take up any more time on this bill but it seems to me, the gentleman is being, shall I say, stubborn about it. If the gentleman would just have an amendment prepared which would not open the door, as we have suggested, I think he would probably get some support for his bill, but if this question is going to be left up in the air, I don't know what will happen to it.

It seems to me you could get us a written opinion from the Attorney General's office here about the situation, rather than just some fragmentary advice that you have received. I want to repeat I think you should pass the bill over to give us a chance to look into this matter.

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am not stubborn. I don't know where they got that word, but they seem to use it an awful lot. I am just trying to be fair, as Mr. Lovett would say.

I feel that an elected representative here has a right to introduce legislation if he is properly advised that it is good legislation by competent attorneys, and not be stopped from doing so just because somebody on the Liquor Control Board opposes it. I don't know how long he has been over there or just what their idea is. Now if this gentleman were friendly I wouldn't mind going over there and having a talk with him but I can see no point in going over there and talking to somebody who has simply made up his mind that it is a bad bill.

However, I will ask for a five day extension on this bill to try to iron the tangles out, so it will be satisfactory to you people on the other side of the House.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE BILLS NOS. 1823, 1825 and 1311 MADE SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1823, Printer's No. 1030 on page 20; House Bill No. 1825, Printer's No. 1032 on page 22 and House Bill No. 1311, Printer's No. 1024 on page 13 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, be made a special order of business immediately in that order.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, House Bill No. 1823, on page 20 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1823 as follows:

An Act to further amend subsection (i) of section four of the act, approved the eighteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred foty-nine (P. L. 604), entitled "An act to promote the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth; creating a State Highway and Bridge Authority as a body corporate and politic with power to construct, reconstruct, improve, maintain, equip, furnish, and operate highway and bridge projects, and roadside rests, and to lease the same, and to fix and collect fees, rentals, and charges for the use thereof; authorizing and regulating the issuance of bonds by said Authority, and providing for the payment of such bonds, and the rights of the holders thereof; and to enter into agreements with the Government of the United States or any Federal agency; and authorizing the Department of Highways to grant, assign, convey or lease to the Authority lands, easements, or rights of way of the Commonwealth and interests therein, and to acquire lands therefor; authorizing said Authority and the Department of Highways to enter into agreements providing for mutual cooperation in furtherance of the construction of any project hereby authorized; granting the right of eminent domain; empowering said Authority to sell and convey projects and property to the Commonwealth; and providing that no debt of the Commonwealth or any of its political subdivisions shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act; and making an appropriation," by increasing the power of the Authority to borrow money and issue evidences of indebtedness therefor in certain cases.

On the question,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Messrs. MOSCRIP, STROUP, BANKER and TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 4, page 13, line 4, by striking out "Fifty-five" and inserting in lieu thereof "Sixty."

Amend Sec. 4, Page 13, line 12, by striking out "Forty-five" and inserting in lieu thereof "Forty.'

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a brief statement on behalf of this amendment which has just been offered.

In order to do that we must look at the background of this matter that is before us now, which is the regular appropriation or allocation, whichever you wish to call it, for our rural roads.

Traditionally the policy has been to help the roads in the rural areas, in other words, those roads of districts and municipalities that are least able to help themselves. Examination of this will show that the funds for maintenance constitute one of the biggest items in the road budget for a rural township, which is usually second class,

It is also valuable to keep in mind that one of the reasons for this money having to be appropriated for this purpose is that these roads run through a lot of wasteland, land of low volue. In many cases the land along these roads could be sold and the total proceeds you would receive would not pay the price of building the road. But, nevertheless, the municipal officers are under a legal duty to keep these roads open and to keep them passable, and also from the moral standpoint, in order to enable our rural people to reach more populated areas.

This amendment is designed to correct what I consider a basic inequity in House Bill 1311. Under the formula of 55/45, as you know, the item 55 applies to the weight to be given mileage, 45 applies to the ratio to be given population.

It is true that under this bill generally an increase in the total funds received by a municipality will be affected. They will receive more dollars. The township officers are also achieving a point for which they have been fighting for some time and that is a specific allocation of the funds realized from the so-called gasoline tax. However, an examination of the mechanics of this bill will show that under various provisions of the bill and the amount of money which will be raised by the bill it is very possible for a township to end up with less money for maintenance under this bill than it is receiving under existing legislation. As I have pointed out before, maintenance is the big item in the road budget for a rural municipality.

It has also been pointed out that the second class townships of the state will show a certain percentage of increase. This figure varies, but the lowest of those figures is 19-20 per cent increase in total sums received by second class townships.

Mr. Speaker, this is an average figure. You will find a great many second class townships throughout the rural areas of our Commonwealth who are away below this average figure. I have taken the trouble to make a study on some figures based on the theory that the 20 per cent which is allocated here will in the first year produce about $24.5 million and find, for instance, that Albany township in my own county will only have a 2 per cent gross increase in funds actually received, that Albany township in Berks County, for instance, will receive only 13 per cent gross increase, Millstone Township in Elk County will receive about 10 per cent, Union Township in Fulton County about 12 per cent, Abbot Township in Potter County about 10 per cent, and Davidson Township in Sullivan County about 15 per cent.

Applying the provisions of this bill, you will also find that all of these townships I have mentioned will receive less money for maintenance than they are presently receiving because under the provisions of the bill a certain percentage of the funds received must be used for construction and reconstruction.

Therefore, I have offered these amendments to raise the ratio from 55/45, as proposed to 60/40, which is the present ratio under which our appropriations to the municipalities is operating.

As I say, this is a bill that was originally and traditionally designed for the rural areas due to the fact that we are scattered. This we need. Perhaps you may call it special legislation, but it is a condition peculiar to our rural areas, and roads are the backbone of our existence in the rural areas.

Even if this 60/40 change went through, it is true it might well mean less money for the cities, but even under the 60/40 ratio I am advised that Philadelphia will receive upwards of $900 thousand in increased funds. The change will, of course, give more weight to the mileage factor.

It will help our second class townships so that they get more money, and for that reason I ask the support of the Members of the House for this amendment.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Bradford, Mr. Moscrip, and fully recognize the import of the amendments that he was referring to on the several political subdivisions he cited would be such as he spoke of, a very minimum increase. However, his percentages of increases that he refers to and averages for the monies to be received under this legislation in the various political subdivisions throughout the state is grossly in error. He must recognize that the townships, the second class townships specifically, will receive an over-all 50 per cent increase under this legislation.

I believe that we should debate this matter at great length, if necessary, on third reading and final passage of this legislation. The amendments that he propose were fully discussed. This matter of returning the fuel monies to the municipalities has been deliberated at great length since February of this year, and the formula which we are now proposing to this House is one that has been arrived at after careful consideration in trying to correct all the inequities that had existed under previous legislation in allocating these funds.

Your second class townships under the 55/45 formula will receive 52.39 per cent of the monies, which is over fifty per cent increase of prior allocations which amounted to in the neighborhood of $10 million for second class townships and which will now amount to over $15 million for second class townships.

This, in effect is sufficient argument for us to recognize a proper and equitable formula that has been written into this road legislation and, as I said earlier, a full discussion of the bill on final passage will be had before the House. I ask all the Members of the House, the Members on the Republican side and the Members on the Democratic side, to vote against the amendment offered by the gentleman from Bradford, Mr. Moscrip.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask you to bear with me for a minute because I realize that possibly I am going to be out of order.

Originally I had intended to interrogate the sponsor, or one of the sponsors, of this bill on third reading to ask him certain questions. The administration has offered amendments to the measure, which amendments I have not had a chance to study and with which I am not familiar. On top of that, the gentleman from my side of the House, Mr. Moscrip, has offered further amendments.

There are certain people back in my county who are very much interested in this measure, but I admit to the Members of this House that with two sets of amendments being offered, one of which I have heard and the others with which I am unfamiliar, I am in a state of confusion.

I suppose if I try to debate the bill at this point I would be out of order. I had intended to debate it, so I presume, Mr. Speaker, the best thing I can do is to sit down and wait until I see the first set of amendments and debate the bill on third reading, together with interrogating the sponsor.

However, I am put in the position now where I must vote on the amendments offered by the gentleman from my side of the House and, as I said before, I am at this point rather in a state of confusion.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to confuse this issue with a lot of figures. They can be reeled off here by the pageful. However, in all fairness in reply to Mr. Petrosky, while it is true the second class townships will receive over 50 per cent of the total monies allocated under this program, I think the pertinent question to be looked at is how much of the increase we have worked to achieve.

The figures that I have available show that at the present time second class townships under existing legislation have available for them a total potential of upwards of $10 million. Under the new bill they will receive something in the neighborhood of $12,800,000—plus, but the key question, as I see it, is how much of the increase they will get. There will be a statewide increase in these funds, as I see it, of a little over 36 per cent. When you compare the amount of the increase coming to the second class townships, there is where you find what I believe is the inequity, and one of the corrective measures to be taken is to amend the formula to help our sparsely settled districts more.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman from Bradford, Mr. Moscrip, has brought up the 12 million figure and since that figure has been bandied around by certain irresponsible people in delivering their message throughout the state of Pennsylvania, I think the thing should be clarified at this time. Possibly for the information of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, his position on the amendments should be clarified and pinpointed much in this respect.

The $12 million figure that is to be allocated to the townships under this legislation that the gentleman from Bradford speaks about, Mr. Speaker, is erroneous. It is a statement that is deliberately being put out to the public in an effort to scuttle one of the finest home rule programs that has ever been placed on the floor of this House The figure is upwards of $15 million that will go into the fund, and that will be brought out in full in debate on final passage.

For the information of the gentleman from Delaware, I know he is primarily concerned with first class townships, and in the event this amendment of the gentleman from Bradford, Mr. Moscrip, would prevail upon the floor of this House, the percentage of increase to the first class townships would be 5.02 per cent. Under the present formula proposed in House Bill 1311, upon which we stand, the percentage of increase in return of monies to those municipalities would be 5.41 per cent. That may enlighten him as to what position he should take upon the amendment that has been offered by the gentleman from the other side.

As I said earlier, this bill is set up so as to correct the glaring inequities that have prevailed in prior legislation of this nature in Pennsylvania.

I sumbit to the Members of the House that we have a good formula, one that has been agreed to by the people that were really concerned and interested in this program throughout this state in eight months of deliberations. I ask again that the Members of the House recognize this, recognize that the 60/40 basis would create havoc and possibly tend to have the people who are interested in this program endeavor to write off that and bring the bill back to its original form, which was at the time a 50/50 allocation as to mileage and population.

Members of the House, I ask you to vote down the amendments offered by the gentleman from Bradford, Mr. Moscrip.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make just one point for the clarification of Mr. Petrosky. Whether it is a home rule bill or what it is, my motives in rising were only because of a genuine concern for the second class townships, particularly in my county and in the state of Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. MOSCRIP, BANKER and TOMPKINS and were as follows:

YEAS 75

Agnew,	Gibb,	Leisey,	Steckel,

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Messrs. STROUP, MOSCRIP, TOMPKINS and BANKER.

Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3, page 12, line 6, by striking out "TWENTY" and inserting in lieu thereof "twenty-five."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to theamendment?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I realize you are very weary of listening to amendments on House Bill 1311. However, if you will bear with me for just a few moments, I believe I will be able to call your attention to sufficient factors which merit your close attention. I ask the privilege of your attention, ladies and gentlemen, first, to present our reasons, and I have co-sponsors on this amendment to House Bill 1311, and, second, in order to explain the effect of the amendment on this bill.

I understand that we have about 100,000 miles of public roads and streets in Pennsylvania. Of that amount of roads, of that mileage, we have 41,100 miles of state highways, 5,883 miles of city streets, 6,050 miles of borough streets, 760 miles of country roads, 2,263 miles of first class township roads and 44,798 miles of second class township roads.

I call your attention, ladies and gentlemen, to Governor Leader's speech of September 27th before our Legislature at which time he said, and I believe I quote correctly and exactly:

> "It can hardly be necessary to emphasize the importance of the state highway system to its economy, to its living standards, and to the desires of its people. There can be no argument as to the need; no phase of our public work has more nearly unanimous support."

Ever since the Governor took office last January, indeed prior thereto, I think we can be postitive in saying he has promised our political subdivisions particularly in our rural areas, an increase in highway appropriations of approximately $30 million.

In his various television appearances and in his public addresses before various audiences in the state of Pennsylvania, and particularly in Independence Hall last June, Governor Leader definitely promised to the political subdivisions the sum of $30 million.

Referring to his address before this House on September 27th, I quote:

> "In all, the municipalities should receive about $60,000,000 in the biennium from the State's collection of the liquid fuels tax. This is an increase of $24,000,000."

This amendment which I have submitted along with several co-sponsors has been brought to your consideration because Section 3 of the bill does not provide $30 million to the political subdivisions as has been guaranteed by our Governor and by this administration. The amendment which I offer to you and ask you to give thorough consideration to ladies and gentlemen enures to the benefit of all the municipalities of our Commonwealth. There is no discrimination in this amendment whatsoever.

If I may have your close attention, I will ask you to take the Department of Revenue figure accepted by all, which shows that one cent of gasoline tax in 1955 brought in $27,300,000. That is our basic figure.

Section 3 as presently constituted in the bill provides 20 per cent of four and one-half cents of gasoline tax as a permanent allocation to all political subdivisions. If you will take your pencils my friends and multiply $27,300,000, the one per cent receipt, by four and one-half cents, you will get $122,850,000 each year. If you divide that figure by 20 per cent, or one-fifth, you find that you have $24,500,000 being allocated to the local political subdivisions each year, not the $30 million which has been guaranteed.

This amendment which I offer changes the proportion of the allocation from the 20 per cent to 25 per cent, thereby allocating to the political subdivisions the sum of $30,712,000. This is the amount which was promised to our people by the Governor, this is the amount which was promised to the people by the administration, and this is the amount which Secretary Lawler, over a letter which I hold in my hand, promised to the political subdivisions just last week, and I read:

> "Because of the numerous queries posed to the Department of Highways on proposed highway legislation, particularly House Bills 1311 and 1824, we deem it imperative to submit to each political subdivision of the state a very brief summary of this proposed legislation."

And now listen closely:

"Under existing law, 18 million dollars is returned to the local communities by the State for highway and street purposes. If House Bills 1311 and 1824 are enacted into law, the amount returned to the communities would be increased to approximately 30 million dollars per year."

Ladies and gentlemen, that is exactly what the amendment now offered to House Bill 1311 accomplishes. Our people over this state in all our municipalities excepted it, they have been relying upon it, and I am asking you to vote for it. We ask you to vote for the amendment which permanently assures, and understand that word "permanently" because that is a beautiful part of this entire bill, to all municipalities this $30 million instead of the $24,500,000.

Mr. Speaker, if you please, I will ask for a roll call on this amendment.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, at the outset I would like to say to the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, that I am in sympathy with his amendments. I have demonstrated that in the past on the floor of this House, not only in voting for the various grants and ollocations that were returned to the local political subdivisions, but if you will look into the record you will also observe that I also voted for the tax measures that afforded these funds to be allocated to local political subdivisions. However, at this time, I must oppose this amendment and ask the membership on both sides of the House to oppose this amendment.

The gentleman speaks about House Bill 1311 containing only $49 million for the biennium for return to the local political subdivisions for road purposes, he is in error, Mr. Speaker, for under this figure we are allocating $49 million and taking 20 per cent of the four and one-half cents of the gasoline tar.

We also take into consideration that we are including $10 million of Appropriation Act 18-A, and amendments which I will offer in a short while to this House will clarify the section to a degree that it will be spelled out. You know at the outset of this session we said to you there would be no smokescreens, we would not have government as usual as it was operated in the past, but that we would have government operated out in the open and every figure would be disclosed to the press and the public to show what this administration has done.

Under House Bill 1311 there will be $60 million for distribution. The accelerated pace of collections from year to year in the revenues received from the fuel tax show that there will be approximately $50 million, or slightly more, from the increases we have noted from year to year in those collections. We have $10 million that we will allocate under Appropriation Act 18-A which has come from the one cent emergency fuel tax, from which source $30 million was to go for the disaster in the flood areas for the state highways and bridges, $15 million to the local municipalities who suffered in the disaster from that hurricane and flood and the remaining $10 million would be allocated under the allocation system of existing law to the municipalities.

Mr. Speaker, I submit to this House, we carry no suspicious factors in any legislation that we propose. This is the first time in the history of this Commonwealth that we are setting up a permanent allocation system of a home rule program for the local municipal subdivisions. The Governor said there would be $60 million in the legislation, there is $60 million in the legislation.

Inasmuch as I would like to go further, however, the commitments of the program of the Highway Department and the respective circumstances surrounding the conditions which we found the Department in just give us enough leeway to give to the local political subdivisions $60 million at this time and we cannot extend it to $72 million.

I wonder where these voices were, whether they were crying in the wilderness in prior sessions, when we found that the allocations granted to the local political subdivisions were so meager that it took a last-ditch fight to get an additional $2 million in the last session of the General Assembly.

Mr. Speaker, I submit to you that we cannot go along with the additional increase of $12 million at this particular time. I would like the Members on both sides of the House to vote against this in line with good government in the highway departments of both the state and the local municipalities.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I ask for just a moment to consider Mr. Petroskys remarks.

In the first place, it should be pointed out, it seems to me, and I do not believe Mr. Petrosky intended to eliminate or to ignore that fact, that the $10 million from 18-A is but a temporary allocation, it is not on a permanent allocation basis. After the two year period in 1957 it no longer becomes a part of this bill and you are limited to 20 per cent of four and one-half cents, or $24,500,000 each year. This is a permanent bill, I am asking you to make it permanent.

In the second place, there has been no charge, I am sure, of any suspicious element. In so far as this bill is concerned, this is an excellent bill. It is quite a step forward and we are very heartedly in favor of it, but all we ask you to do is to give us what you told us you would give us. I have talked to great numbers of people in the second class townships in various meetings and they are asking for and they need this money, and you need it in the cities.

I do not like to take too much time here, but I could produce figures for you which would very definitely show that with the amount of money from this six cents that you are getting now in gasoline tax and the projected possibility of tax under your excise tax bill, which you are so gently pressing and easing through this House, it would seem to me that you are going to have a considarable sum of money in the highway fund. As a matter of fact, when you are finished with the one-half cent to the counties when you are finished with the $27,300,000, one cent of which goes to the flood relief, and if it goes to $30 million you will still have somewhat of an overage, and when you give the $24,500,000 here, you will have only spent an allocation of $65,520,000, leaving an over-all balance in the highway fund of $105 million. I feel very positive that the Highway Department can afford to give us this additional $6 million.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr Speaker; for the purpose of the record and to reply to the references of the gentleman from the other side of the House as to the permanent allocation set up in this bill, I want to say that the Members on this side in this administration at the time when it becomes necessary will have the courage to go forward and amend the bill to provide those additional monies.

I believe that I have shown at this time by what is facing us in the over-all highway program of this administration that we cannot allocate the additional $12 million. But rest assured we will not hide from anything, we will amend the bill at the proper time and insert the additional monies to have the bill comply with the $60 million on a permanent basis after the one cent emergency tax has expired.

We believe in that type of government, we believe in taking a forthright position, and we have the courage to carry it out.

I again ask the Members of the House to vote against the amendment at this time.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which read as follows:

In the Senate, November 21, 1955.

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, November 28, 1955 at 3:30 o'clock p. m. EST, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene (Monday, November 28) Wednesday, November 30, 1955, at a time to be fixed by the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. CAPANO from the Committee on Judiciary, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1738, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions: and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," providing for Commonwealth ownership of patentable matters developed in State institutions.

Mr. PRICE from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1821, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Welfare to enter into an agreement with the City of Philadelphia; granting a license to the city to construct and maintain a sanitary and storm drainage right-of-way in, over and under the grounds of the Phialdelphia State Hospital.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GIBSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I observe there is considerable difference in the ages of the members of the Senate and the Members of the House in the date set for convening next week. Also, recognition of that age and the number of doe licenses that we sold in Warren County, must have been taken into consideration because the deer season opens next Monday.

The SPEAKER. This House is always inclined zealously to serve the interests of the deer season in Warren County.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a former Member, Honorable Chester A. Mohn of Berks County.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if we are going to recess at this point for approximately an hour, I would like to inform the Minority Members, the Republican Members, that there will be a caucus immediately. They are to come up to the caucus as soon as possible in the old House Caucus Room.

The SPEAKER. For what length of time does the Majority Leader desire a recess?

Mr. READINGER. One hour. May I state, Mr. Speaker, that the Democratic Members should enjoy themselves for the next hour.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess for one hour. The Chair hears none.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. DAVIS and GOLDSTEIN.

HOUSE BILL No. 1903.

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," prohibiting the interception of jury deliberations and prescribing penalties.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. KRATZ. RESOLUTION No. 128.

In the House of Representatives, November 22, 1955.

The public schools and taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are saddled with an outmoded, depression born compulsory school age law, designed to keep youth off the labor market and streets.

The results of the compulsory school age law have brought an uncalculated burden upon the taxpayers of the Commonwealth.

Evidence at hand shows far too many youth of today, both male and female, attending school regularly or irregularly who refuse to be interested in instruction offered them, however modern the methods of presentation may be; have reached the end of their tested learning span; have been devoting too many after school hours in the pursuit of youthful gangster activities; prevent, when present in school, because of hoodlum behavior, learning by those in their classes willing to learn; and prove by such actions or their inability to learn, that they are knowingly or unknowingly occupying needed and expensive school building space and requiring unwarranted attention of costly school personnel; therefore be it

Resolved, That in preparation for the legislative year 1957, the Joint State Government Commission shall conduct a State wide investigation of the above problems to determine:

(1) How many male and female pupils now attending the Commonwealth's high schools have reached the end of their academic learning span or are below the accepted intelligence standards to do acceptable high school work leading to an honestly earned and awarded diploma.

(2) How many male and female pupils now attending the Commonwealth's high schools are merely putting in time until of the age which will under the depression compulsory school age law permit them to leave.

(3) How many disciplinary problem pupils are in the Commonwealth's public high schools, presenting unsolvable problems for teachers and administrators, due to the outmoded school age law. yet requiring teachers for attempted instruction, school facilities and in some instances police protection for law abiding pupils forced to attend the same schools; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Commission in its report to the General Assembly outline its recommendations for enactment of laws covering the following:

(1) Reconsideration of the present compulsory school age law in terms of today's data concerning ability to learn on the part of pupils, willingness to learn, disciplinary problems presented by them and changes needed to remedy these problems for the schools.

(2) Estimate the total cost to the State and local communities in terms of teachers' salaries, building facilities, materials and supplies which under the present law must be expended annually on the uneducable and unwilling to learn in our schools.

(3) A system of apprenticeship to industry to begin at a determined age or at end of the ninth grade when above tendencies of unwillingness to learn, end of learning span has set in, or discipline problems develop, instituted with the cooperation of industry, labor unions and educators, and in no way designed to provide underpaid youthful labor to industry in competition with adult, union wage labor.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. AUKER, FILO, WILLIAM B. SMITH and BANKER. RESOLUTION No. 129.

In the House of Representatives, November 22, 1955.

The issuing of licenses and tags for the hunting and killing of antlerless deer is a matter of great concern to all sportsmen as well as to the general public.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission is given considerable power in determining the number of antlerless deer to be killed each year and regulates the number of licenses and tags to be issued.

The House of Representatives requires for its use information concerning the equitableness and fairness of the method of issuing licenses and tags for the hunting and killing of antlerless deer; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Conservation and Wildlife Committee of the House of Representatives be directed to study and investigate:

(1) The present method of issuing hunters' licenses and tags for antlerless deer.

(2) Restrictions that should be imposed on Commonwealth agents with respect to the issuance of hunters' licenses and tags for antlerless deer to out-of-state residents, out-of-county residents and residents of counties wherein the killing of antlerless deer is authorized.

(3) The feasibility and advisability of issuing licenses and tags for periods of one, two or three years and the assignability of such special licenses and tags when the holder thereof is ineligible to hunt antlerless deer because he has killed a male deer.

(4) Methods of issuing hunters' licenses and tags so as to insure equitable and fair distribution thereof among the many resident and non-resident hunters; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee report to the Pennsylvania Game Commission its findings and recommendations; and be it further

Resolved, That, if the committee is of the opinion that legislation is necessary to accomplish its recommendations, it report to the House of Representatives as soon as possible, its findings and recommendations, together with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, November 22, 1955.

On November 21, 1955, another important event in the history of the Holy Family College took place, to wit, the dedication of the college by His Excellency, the Most Reverend John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., D.D.

The History of Holy Family College has been made, in the main, by the constant and unrelenting work and prayers of the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth.

After many years of hard work and planning, on September 2, 1952, permission was granted by the Archdiocese of Philadelphia to the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth for establishing and building a new college. On January 31, 1953 an application for a charter was filed with the State Council of Education, and on September 4, 1953, the use of the name "Holy Family College" was approved by the State Council of Education.

A charter was granted to Holy Family College on February 11, 1954 and a month later ground was broken for the new building of the school. At about the same time, St. Mary's residence hall for college students, was acquired.

Opening of the first full-time academic year occured on September 28, 1954 with 22 girls and a faculty of 5 Sisters, one priest, one layman and two laywomen. On February 27, 1955, the laying of the cornerstone was held in a private ceremony and on May 31, 1955, the first issue of the college school paper, The TRI-LITE, was published

Opening of the second academic year in the new building, with 44 students, took place on September 27, 1955, which was followed by the solemn religious dedication of the Holy Family College on the Feast of the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, November 21, 1955.

Holy Family College is conducted by the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth at Torresdale, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The President of the College is Reverend Mother M. Neomisia, and the Dean, Reverend Sister M. Florence. The great sacrifices, hard work and prayers of the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth has borne fruit and will undoubtedly continue in the future; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives commend the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth for the many years of unselfish and outstanding work in the field of religion, Catholic education and Catholic action and for the building of the Holy Family College; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to His Excellency, the Most Reverend John F. O'Hara, Archbishop of Philadelphia, to Reverend Mother M. Neomisia, President of the College and to the Dean, Reverend Sister M. Florence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Section 2 The act is amended by adding after section 689 five new sections to read

Section 690 Establishment and Maintenance of Unearned Premium Reserve (a) Each company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act shall in addition to other reserves establish and maintain a reserve to be known as the "unearned premium reserve" for title insurance which shall at all times for all purposes be deemed and shall contstitute the unearned portions of the original premiums and shall be charged as a reserve liability of such company in determining its financial condition

(b) The unearned premium reserve shall be retained and held by such company for the protection of the policyholders' interest in policies which have not expired Except as provided in section 691 of this act assets equal to the amount of such reserve shall not be subject to distribution among depositors or other creditors or stock-holders of such company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act until all claims of policyholders or holders of other title insurance contracts or agreements of such company have been paid in full and all liability on the policies or other title insurance contracts or agreements whether contingent or actual has been discharged or lawfully reinsured Income from the investment of the amount of such reserve shall be the unrestricted property of the company

Section 691 Amount of Unearned Premium Reserve Release of Earned Premium (a) The unearned premium reserve of every company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act shall be cumulative and shall consist of

(1) The amount of the reinsurance reserve fund title reserve fund and title reserve held or which should have been held as of the effective date of this act pursuant to or under permission granted by any prior act of assembly and

(2) The amount of all additions required to be made to such reserve by this section less the withdrawals therefrom as permitted by this section

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection every company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act shall add to its unearned premium reserve in respect of each policy or contract or reinsurance agreement issued by it a sum of money out of its receipts from the fees for such title insurance made by it net of all reinsurance applicable thereto a sum equal to one dollar for each such policy or contract or agreement plus ten cents for each one thousand dollars ($1,000) face amount of retained liability and shall each year separately record the amounts so set aside in respect of policies contracts or agreements written in such year but if substantially the entire outstanding liability of any such company shall be reinsured then the unearned premium reserve of the reinsurer shall be equal in amount to the reserve of the ceding company in respect of such outstanding liability so reinsured

(c) The amounts set aside as additions to the unearned premium reserve shall be deducted in determining net profits of any company having the powers of title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act

(d) Whenever any policy or contract or reinsurance agreement of title insurance is surrendered or cancelled by the holder or liability thereon is discharged or reinsured after the year in which the policy or contract or reinsurance agreement was issued the unearned premium on such policy or contract or agreement shall be withdrawn from the unearned premium reserve for the year in which the insurance was issued and shall be considered as part of net profit of the year in which the withdrawal is made

(e) The remaining balance of any addition or presumed addition to such reserve which has been held or which pursuant to the provisions of this subsection is deemed to have been held for a period of twenty (20) years shall be released shall no longer constitute a part of the unearned premium reserve shall constitute a part of net profit for the year in which the release is made and may be used for any corporate purposes including the payment of dividends For the purposes of making withdrawals from the unearned premium reserve established hereby the reinsurance reserve funds title reserve funds and title reserves established and maintained by any company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act pursuant to or under permission granted by any prior act of assembly shall be presumed to have been established out of income in twenty (20) equal annual additions over the past twenty (20) years whether or not such company shall have been in existence for that period

(f) For the purposes of determining the amounts of the unearned premium reserve that may be withdrawn and the interest of the policyholders therein under section 692 of this act all policies contracts or reinsurance agreements of title insurance shall be considered as dated on July 1 in the year of issue

Section 692 Use of Unearned Premium Reserve (a) If a company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act becomes insolvent or is in the process of liquidation or dissolution or in the possession of the insurance commissioner such amount of the assets of such company equal to the unearned premium reserve as is necessary shall be used to pay for reinsurance with the written approval of the Insurance commissioner of the outstanding liability of such company upon all in-force policies or contracts or reinsurance agreements of title insurance or if reinsurance cannot be obtained shall be distributed to the holders of in-force contracts and policies of title insurance in proportion to the unearned premiums thereon

(b) If by any reason of depreciation in the market value of investments or other cause the amount of the assets eligible for investment of unearned premium reserve of any company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act should on any date be less than the amount required to be maintained by law in such reserve and the deficiency shall not be promptly cured such company shall forthwith give written notice thereof to the Insurance Commissioner and shall make no further policies or contracts or reinsurance agreements of title insurance until the amounts of such eligible investments shall have been restored and until it shall have received written approval from the Insurance Commissioner authorizing it to again issue such policies or contracts or agreements

Section 693 Reserves for Unpaid Losses and Loss Expense (a) Each company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act shall at all times establish and maintain in addition to other reserves (1) a reserve against unpaid losses and (2) a reserve against loss expense and shall calculate such reserves by making a careful estimate in each case of the loss and loss expense likely to be incurred by reason of every claim presented or that may be presented pursuant to notice from or on behalf of the insured of a title defect in or lien or adverse claim against the title insured that may result in a loss or cause expense to be incurred for the proper disposition of the claim The sums of the items so estimated shall be the total amounts of the reserves against unpaid losses and loss expenses of such company

(b) The amounts so estimated shall from time to time be revised as circumstances warrant

(c) The amounts set aside in such reserves in any year shall be deducted in determining the net profits for such year of any company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act

Section 694 Investment of Reserves The amount of the required reserves applicable to the title insurance business of each company having the powers of a title insurance company as defined in section 685 of this act shall be invested by each such company in securities which shall be designated for such reserve and shall consist of the classes of investments authorized by this act for the investment of the reserves of life insurance companies organized under the laws of this Commonwealth except policy loans and shall be subject to the same general investment provisions and restrictions that govern investments of Life Insurance companies organized under the laws of this Commonwealth

Section 3 This act shall take effect on the first day of the calendar month next following the date of approval hereof

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(b) Any licensee desiring to practice chiropractic in a branch office other than the office where his certificate is displayed shall apply to and be granted by the board a branch office certificate for each such branch office or place of practice Applications thereof shall be on a form prescribed by the board and the applicant shall pay such fee therefor as may be fixed by the department Branch office certificates shall be subject to the same annual registration provisions as applicable to licensure No person shall practice chiropractic at a branch office other than the office where his certificate is displayed unless he shall have first applied for and received a branch office certificate which shall be displayed in such branch office

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker. I wish to call to the attention of the Members of this House that this is the bill which legalizes a system whereby a group of individuals can compel chiropractors to take annual courses. It is my estimate that it will cost the chiropractors of Pennsylvania $50,000 a year to renew their licenses.

Such a system does not apply to any other profession. I do not believe it to be in the public interest and I ask everyone to vote against it on both sides of the House.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 369 as follows:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled "An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws" further defining the powers of courts on appeals

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

The jurisdiction of the county court of Allegheny County conferred hereby shall be exclusive within the territorial limits of its jurisdiction

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the sponsor of the bill tell me and some of the other Members that are a little confused just what this bill attempts to do.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to read some comments on this bill so that you might understand it. House Bills 369 and 370 are companion bills.

When the Legislature passed the original liquor laws, it provided for situations where licensees and others would not be satisfied with decision of the Liquor Board. The Legislature provided that in such cases appeals could be taken to the various Courts of Quarter Sessions. The Legislature stipulated that such appeals should be rehearings, at which the court would hear testimony from the very beginning and thus be able to make an independent decision without being bound by the testimony and findings of the Liquor Board.

Despite this intention, litigation, over the course of years, resulted in a different view. The Superior Court ultimately held that when an appeal was taken from the refusal of the Liquor Board to grant, refuse or transfer a license, the various Quarter Sessions Courts would not be permitted to disturb the administrative discretion of the Liquor Board, not to substitute the court's discretion for that of the Liquor Board.

On appeals from penalties of suspension and revocation of the Liquor Board, the decisions wound up saying that even though the court held independent hearings and heard its own testimony, the court could, nevertheless, not change any penalty unless it found different facts than the Liquor Board.

In order to rectify and clarify its original intention, the Legislature in 1949 passed various amendments. These amendments were carried over into the 1951 Code and appear in that Liquor Code today.

In connection with appeals from the refusal to grant, renew, or transfer a license, the Legislature in 1949 amplified the law to say that the Quarter Sessions Courts, when they heard these cases of appeals, should have the right to deal with questions of fact, administrative discretion, and such other matters as were involved at the time.

However, all decisions of the upper court which have come to our attention have indicated that it is still of the opinion that there has been no change in the law, as originally found by it before these amendments were drawn. There is no reference in the opinions as to the existence of the 1949 amendments.

Accordingly, House Bill 369 is an attempt to strengthen the declaration of the Legislature. The amendment contained in House Bill No. 369 says that the court, when it hears these cases anew, may deal with questions of fact and law and shall make a decision in the court's own discretion.

It is hoped that this clear language will reinstate the original views of the Legislature to such a degree that the courts will thoroughly understand the Legislature's intention.

That is the purpose of this bill.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman, my friend from Washington, Mr. Capano.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have permission to say just a few words in connection with this bill.

I think the House should be aware that this bill is a well-calculated and a well-designed effort to place the burden of the determination of facts and law upon the local courts of common pleas in each locality. This in itself will be an effort and may result very definitely in opening up different questions which should be decided by the Liquor Control Board.

If you are going to pass House Bill 369, you may as well forget about your Liquor Control Board and its functioning at all. You are delegating and taking away all power from that Board and throwing it into your courts of common pleas. You are going right back to where you were before. That is the reason for the opinions of the courts and the Superior Court heretofore, to support the Liquor Control Board, its investigations and its findings of fact.

Heretofore the courts of common pleas could not possibly reverse the Liquor Control Board unless they found abuse of discretion in that Board.

Now regardless of what they find, even though the Board has in no way abused its discretion and may be correct on its interpretation and enforcement of the law and the Liquor Control Act, nevertheless the courts themselves can make an independent decision. You are placing the entire burden upon the courts of common pleas, which is, as I say, a well-calculated and well-designed effort to open that whole field up again.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 370, as follows:

An Act amending the act of April 12 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled "An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws" further defining the powers of courts on appeals

Section 1 Section 471 act of April 12 1951 (P. L. 90) known as the "Liquor Code" is amended to read

Section 471 Revocation and Suspension of Licenses Upon learning of any violation of this act or any laws of this Commonwealth relating to liquor alcohol or malt or brewed beverages or of any regulations of the board adopted pursuant to such laws of any violation of any laws of this Commonwealth or of the United States of America relating to the tax-payment of liquor or malt or brewed beverages by any licensee within the scope of this article his officers servants agents or employes or upon any other sufficient cause shown the board may within one year from the date of such violation or cause appearing cite such licensee to appear before it or its examiner not less than ten nor more than fifteen days from the date of sending such licensee by registered mail a notice addressed to him at his licensed premises to show cause why such license should not be suspended or revoked Hearings on such citations shall be held in the same manner as provided herein for hearings on applications for license Upon such hearing if satisfied that any such violation has occurred or for other sufficient cause the board shall immediately suspend or revoke the license notifying the licensee thereof by registered letter addressed to his licensed premises Such suspensions and revocations shall not go into effect until twenty days have elapsed from the date of notice of issuance of the board's order during which time the licensee may take an appeal as provided for in this act When a license is revoked the licensee's bond may be forfeited by the board Any licensee whose license is revoked shall be ineligible to have a license under this act until the expiration of three years from the date such license was revoked In the event the board shall revoke a license no license shall be granted for the premises or transferred to the premises in which the said license was conducted for a period of at least one year after the date of the revocation of the license conducted in the said premises except in cases where the licensee or a member of his immediate family is not the owner of the premises in which case the board may in its discretion issue or transfer a license within the said year In all such cases the board shall file of record at least a brief statement in the form of an opinion of the reasons for the ruling or order In the event the person whose license was suspended or revoked by the board shall feel aggrieved by the action or penalty of the board he shall have the right to appeal to the court of quarter sessions or the county court of Allegheny County in the same manner as herein provided for appeals from refusals to grant licenses Upon appeal the court so appealed to shall in the exercise of its discretion sustain reject alter or modify the findings conclusions and penalties of the board based on the findings of fact and conclusions of law as found by the court The aforesaid appeal shall act as a supersedeas unless upon sufficient cause shown the court shall determine otherwise The licensee or the board may within thirty days from the filing of the order or decree of said court file an appeal therefrom to the Superior Court In those cases where the board shall suspend a license the board may accept from the licensee an offer in compromise as a penalty in lieu of such suspension and thereupon rescind such suspension In the case of a manufacturer of malt or brewed beverages the offer in compromise shall be at the rate of one hundred dollars ($100) for each day of suspension in the case of a liquor importer sacramental wine licensee and a malt or brewed beverage importing distributor thirty dollars ($30) in the case of a distributor of malt or brewed beverages twenty dollars ($20) for each day of suspension and in the case of a hotel restaurant and club liquor licensee and a retail malt or brewed beverage dispenser or transporter for hire ten dollars ($10) for each day of suspension No offer in compromise may be accepted by the board in those cases where the suspension is for a period in excess of 100 days

Where the court shall order a suspension it shall also direct the board to accept or reject an offer in compromise for all or a portion of the period of suspension

The jurisdiction of the county court of Allegheny County conferred hereby shall be exclusive within the territorial limits of its jurisdiction

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask Mr. Capano one question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAPANO. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether or not these liquor bills have the approval of the Liquor Control Board?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I have not taken them up with the Liquor Control Board.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, are they administration bills?

Mr. CAPANO. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I don't like to belabor this issue and appear before you again on this subject but here again in this bill you are making it possible for the courts of our Commonwealth to include in any order they make a direction to the Board to accept or reject an offer of compromise for all or a part of any suspension period.

Your present Liquor Control Board has been trying very much to tighten up on compromises on suspensions. It was looked upon as something of an evil for a considerable time. Your present Board has really tightened up and done a fine job. Now you are taking away all discretion from your present Liquor Control Board on compromise, they have no discretion at all. Your courts of common pleas will now hand down an order and say it must accept $20 a day in compromise. If you keep that up for a period of time, then your violators can continue violating, if only they have the favor of the courts or some influence in your particular locality.

Therefore, ladies and gentlemen, I ask you to give this bill very thorough consideration. You are practically tying the hands of the Liquor Control Board behind their backs. I am sure you do not wish to open up the doors any wider than they have been heretofore.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, the suggestion has been made that we are taking away all the discretionary powers of our Liquor Control Board.

This bill does not actually do that. This bill provides that where an appeal has been taken to the court and the court after hearing all the facts sustains a suspension, they may go further and act on the question of compromise, whether or not the compromise should be accepted or repected.

In all cases where there is no appeal taken the Board will continue to act as they have heretofore. This does not take away the power of the Board except where there is an appeal. Since we do allow appeals and since the law has always allowed appeals, I think that it is no more than proper that the court, having the say on the suspension, having the say on the facts, should also have something to say about the final disposition of the suspension and the compromise.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, in reply to my friend from Cameron County, if this bill becomes law you will have a flood of appeals to your courts in order to get the court to sustain, first, a suspension if it should be sustained, and then persuade the court to order a compromise. This is the actual effect of the bill.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, to which I must retort that I have confidence in the courts of Cambria County. We already have a law which permits these appeals. We are merely making that law more explicit. We have never had a liquor control law which did not permit an appeal from the Board, the appeal was always permitted. The only thing we have was an attempt by the upper court, the Superior Court, to make law of its own, trying to set forth the extent of the appeal. I think the Acts of Assembly heretofore were pretty clear, but the Superior Court has ruled that in these appeals, which were to be de novo, according to law, the court did not have discretionary powers and could not overrule the Board under certain circumstances.

I have never understood that to be the law, and all we are doing now is trying to clarify it so that the final decision will rest upon our courts. As I said a while ago, I have confidence in our courts and I think appeals should be allowed at all times and the court in its proper discretion should make the decision.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, since this amendment would require the Board to accept an offer of compromise, even though the Board after decision feels that an offer of compromise should not be accepted but that the suspension should stay in effect, I think we are reducing the Liquor Control Board to a clearing agency for the purpose of issuing licenses. We are taking away all of the power that the Board heretofore had under decisions of the Superior Court I think we ought to introduce a bill, if we continue to pass legislation like this, outlawing the Board altogether.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. The Chair will declare a recess if the gentlemen of the Press, while the House is in session, consult with Members of the House. It is perfectly in order if there is a recess; distinctly out of order unless this House is in recesse.

If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a short recess. The Chair hears none.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

The SPEAKER. With the permission of the House, the Chair will return to page 6 of today's calendar, bills on second reading. This Chair hears no objection.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1879, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for Commonwealth purposes by imposing a tax on the sale of certain tangible personal property and on the use storage or consumption of certain tangible personal property providing for the reporting and payment of tax payment of interest and penalties assessments collection liens reviews and appeals conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue public officers manufacturers wholesalers retailers and individuals.

The first Article was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Article?

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker I move that this bill be placed upon the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, possibly a lot of the younger Members of the House do not remember several old maxims or several old adages that come to my mind at this time, I know the Speaker will, and probably a lot of the older Members will. One of them is, "It's a long lane that doesn't have a turning." The other one is, "What's good for the goose is good for the gander."

I would like to take you back to 1953, on April 8th, when the sales tax bill was up in this House for consideration. It was on second reading and had not yet passed second reading.

At that time the Speaker of the House, who was then the Minority Floor Leader, made a motion that those particular two sales tax bills be put upon the postponed calendar. Now we find the situation just reversed, and in all fairness to the Speaker, who was at that time the Minority Floor Leader, I am going to place in the record the entire remarks of the gentleman which were made at that time and will at this time only read in certain excerpts from that record and the remarks made by the gentleman.

I quote, this is from the record, Mr. Andrews speaking:

> Mr. Speaker, we are not in a position to close our revenue raising program. We have not as yet heard any intimations from the responsible Committee concerning the financial demands of the General Appropriation bill and the other appropriations which this House will undoubtedly make.

Now the appropriation bills have already been passed the House, except the general hospital bills, with which we are all perfectly familiar, but we also know there is considerable dispute between the House and the Republican Senate as to just what appropriations are needed and what are really the basic budget demands necessary to carry this state over the next 16 months.

I read further and I might add, Mr. Speaker, as a side remark that very much against my good judgment I voted for the appropriation bills when they came up the second time on the assumption and the understanding I had received that the budget demands and the budget would be ironed out between the Democratic and Republican leaders of the House and the Senate and the Governor of this Commonwealth. I felt that would not be done, and time has proven me right, because they certainly are not at this period in any shape or form, or in any degree ironed out. They are still the same mess as they have been for the last 11 months.

I read further:

> To arbitrarily—I repeat the word—To arbitrarily decide at this time before there has been a review by any responsible body representing this House as to how much money we will need, and to try in that case to fix an ultimate tax figure, is to fly in the face of sound reasoning.

Gentlemen, we are flying today in the face of sound reasoning if you vote this tax bill through in the next 36 hours.

I quote further:

I have no notion and you have no notion as to the amount the general appropriation bill will carry.

We have no notion today until they are passed finally by the Senate how much these general appropriation bills are going to carry.

I quote further:

There has been upon the part of this House no basic study made concerning the actual necessities of the various departments.

That possibly is not true with regard to the differences on tax bills before us today, but, as I said before, they certainly are not resolved between the House and the Senate.

I quote further:

While we all know that there was no possibility of making a flat ten per cent reduction in expenditures across the board, many of us—now this is the Minority Floor Leader speaking in 1953—many of us—and that includes us over on this side of the House this time—are convinced that in some instances decided reductions could be made.

I believe the Republican-controlled Senate still has that very strong idea.

I want to quote further, Mr. Speaker, and this is very important—this is a little like murder, I hate to do this, but here it is:

The bill now under consideration is scarcely dry from the Printer. No basic study has been made concerning our actual financial needs. I repeat, this bill before us is scarcely dry from the printer.

Just two years ago the Speaker of the House, the then Minority Floor Leader, said these very words about that very sales tax bill which had been in print, many, many weeks before it was brought to the floor of this House.

I will quote further:

There have been no available copies to send out to interested groups that wanted to know what we were thinking about in this bill.

Now, Mr. Speaker, if that was true in 1953, certainly it is many, many, many times more true this very day in consideration of this very bill, because here we have a bill that has never been tried before by any state in this union.

In regard to the sales tax bill in 1953, you did have the experience of some 35 or 38, or more, states which had tried the sales tax bill in meeting their needed revenues for welfare and educational purposes and had found that to be the best broad base tax to be used for those purposes. That is your experience from other states.

We quote further, Mr. Speaker—here is probably more murder:

There is no need for further study. Even if you are going to pass the kind of bill that you have been considering, surely you do not want to close the door on your fund raising program until you have in your possession the sound, basic information concerning your actual needs. And if anybody in this House as yet knows what the actual financial needs are I have not heard about it.

I quote further:

There is no need—I repeat that, Mr. Speaker—There is no need for the haste that has characterized the career of this bill. It is unprecedented that a committee meeting called hurriedly on a Monday—now remember that, these are the words of the Minority Floor Leader at that time—should present a tax program that became a must on the following Thursday.

Here we have a bill that comes out on a Monday and must be passed by 12:30 or 1:00 o'clock on Tuesday night. Why, there is no comparison between the two programs.

Now that motion was defeated. The reason I am making this motion because as you gentlemen will probably remember I was the only Member on the Republican side of the House at that time that voted along with you to delay action on the sales tax bill. I was for the bill, that is true, but I felt the implications and the contents of that bill, certainly in a new kind of a tax bill for this state, should have every consideration and every possible study that we could possibly give it. You people thought so, too, because all of you voted that way. If you are just as sincere today as you were in 1953, I say you will have to support my motion.

I am going to read further, Mr. Speaker, and I will soon be through.

I repeat, interested groups that wanted copies of our tax legislation have been unable to obtain copies because there were not a sufficient number in print.

That is true today.

Now it is proposed that we amend this bill and pass it before anybody outside the confines of this Chamber knows what is in the document.

How true that is right this very minute.

I quote further, Mr. Speaker:

So I say it would be sound practice—I repeat—that, Mr. Speaker—So I say it would be sound practice to have less haste and put this bill on the postponed calendar while we do a bit of studying concerning the actual needs of the Commonwealth * * *

Then I quote further:

I repeat, in the name of common sense and economy to have a little less haste and a little more patient consideration concerning our Commonwealth's financial needs.

That is the reason why I suggest and move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

Mr. Speaker, that is why I am moving that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

(Following is the material placed in the record by Mr. Auker.)

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we are not in a position to close our revenue raising program.

We have not as yet heard any intimations from the responsible Committee concerning the financial demands of the General Appropriation bill and the other appropriations which this House will undoubtedly make.

To arbitrarily decide at this time before there has been a review by any responsible body representing this House as to how much money we will need, and to try in that case to fix an ultimate tax figure, is to fly in the face of sound reasoning.

I have no notion and you have no notion as to the amount the general appropriation bill will carry. There has been upon the part of this House no basic study made concerning the actual necessities of the various departments. There has been no consideration of either branch of the General Assembly as to whether the Chesterman Committee findings were sound or were not sound. So far as I know those findings are simply in the process of being tossed out the window.

While we all know that there was no possibility of making a flat ten per cent reduction in expenditures across the board, many of us are convinced that in some instances decided reductions could be made.

The bill now under consideration is scarcely dry from the Printer. No basic study has been made concerning our actual financial needs. I repeat, this bill before us is scarcely dry from the Printer. There have been no available copies to send out to interested groups that wanted to know what we were thinking about in this bill.

There is a need for further study. Even if you are going to pass the kind of bill that you have been considering, surely you do not want to close the door on your fund raising program until you have in your possession some sound, basic information concerning your actual needs. And if anybody in this House as yet knows what the actual financial needs are I have not heard about it.

There is no need for the haste that has characterized the career of this bill. It is unprecedented that a committee meeting called hurriedly on a Monday should present a tax program that became a must on the following Thursday.

I repeat, interested groups that wanted copies of our tax legislation have been unable to obtain copies because there were not a sufficient number in print. Now it is proposed that we amend this bill and pass it before anybody outside the confines of this Chamber knows what is in the document. So I say it would be sound practice to have less haste and put this bill on the postponed calendar while we do a bit of studying concerning the actual needs of the Commonwealth, and find out whether or not all of this talk of economy that we have had is to be tossed out the window along with the Chesterman Committee Report, along with the ambitious design to make cuts clear across the board.

I repeat, in the name of common sense and economy to have a little less haste and a little more patient consideration concerning our Commonwealth's financial and actual needs.

That is the reason why I suggest and move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

Of course, Mr. Speaker, I would desire a roll call.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion made by the gentleman from Blair, and I ask the Members on this side of the House to vote against the motion.

The gentleman obviously spent a lot of time preparing his speed and I thought it was very well done. However I would like to remind him that during the summer of 1953, if my recollection is correct, his own party, and I do not remember his objecting when they very, very hurriedly had the retail sales tax act drawn, introduced and amended. As a matter fact, when the bill was first introduced in the House, through some error, having been copied after the Ohio law, it was so drawn that the persons who would have collected the tax, the retailers, would have been allowed to keep two per cent. They only collect one per cent, but they were allowed to keep two per cent. In other words the retailers would have kept the entire amount collected and the Commonwealth would have gotten nothing as the bill was originally drawn.

I can distinctly recall calling to the attention of the ten Majority Leader the fact that the bill looked rather silly the way it was drawn. It was very hurriedly amended, and the only reason your party did not shove that bill through with or without mistakes at that time was because you could not find enough votes to pass it. So when you criticize us for moving rapidly and with firmness and decision, even though you say the ink is not dry on the bills and so forth, you are in effect criticizing the tactics of your own party in 1953, had they not been stopped by the fact that some of your other Members disliked the retail sales tax so much that they had to be beaten on the head before they would vote for it. So, I ask the Members once again on both sides to vote against this motion to delay by putting it on the postponed calendar.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, just a brief reply to the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, the Majority Floor Leader. If the gentleman will examine the record on the vote on that date on the sales tax he will find that I voted against my party at that time and voted with the minority party. And, Mr. Speaker, I did so with the sound conviction and with the utmost sincerity in my heart, knowing that that bill was bad, even going against my own party, which I disliked to do, and I am asking the other side of the House in all sincerity to give us time to study this bill because if I had time now, and I am not going to take the time because other colleagues will do it for us, they will tear this bill apart and make it seem like a bunch of feathers, which I think it is at the present time. It so full of loopholes and inconsistencies and so forth, that it is not even funny, and we certainly by all means ought to delay action on this until this new type of a tax bill can be given every study possible.

Mr. READINGER. Just one brief reply, Mr. Speaker. I do not want the gentleman to think I was criticizing him or his motives or anything else. I was merely reminding him that his own party was on the verge of cramming a bill through this House, shoving it through this House with great speed, and if he objected at that time and voted against his own party I commend him, but I still say that what we are doing here is no different at all from what was attempted back in 1953. I do not think that the gentleman should be telling his colleagues how to vote. He may vote against it if he likes, but I do not think that he is very persuasive when he asks his colleagues to do so.

Mr. AUKER. Another old maxim that goes "Two wrongs never make a right."

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair be content with a division?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, the Minority Leader in 1953 had a roll call on the same motion, so I feel that I have every right to ask for a roll call on this motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has the right to ask for a roll call if there is a second to it.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman stated that in 1953 the sales tax bill was hurriedly amended, I believe that was the language he used. I would like to ask him if any amendments are proposed to the present bill?

Mr. READINGER. There are.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. READINGER. Not to correct the same type of errors though.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would further request the gentleman to state what errors he is going to correct.

The SPEAKER. I have no doubt the Majority Leader will in due season present his table of corrections.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

The second article was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the article?

Mr. READINGER offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 202, page 5, line 18, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "of" the following: "food or".

Amend Section 202, page 5, by inserting after line 18 the following: (1) food (2) fertilizer on the farm

Amend Section 202, page 6, line 1, by striking out after the word "sale" and before the word "to" the following: "by a licensed manufacturer"

Amend Section 202, page 6, line 1, by striking out after the word "to" and before the word "licensed" the follwing: "another" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "a"

Amend Section 202, page 6, by inserting between lines 2 and 3 the following:

(c) the sale or use of tangible personal property

(1) sold by any public utility subject to the tax on its gross receipts derived from the sale of such tangible personal property

(2) the proceeds from an excise tax on which are required by the Constitution of this Commonwealth to be used solely for a limited and specified purpose

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we have had a copy of these amendments for the last half hour or so. The amendments go farther than were explained to the Members of our caucus. Rather than ask to have the amendments read at length I believe the Majority Leader should rise in his place and explain with particularity what these amendments do, particularly those amendments which have to do with the taxing of the commodity, and so forth.

I don't know that we are so much interested in the administrative features in the tail end of the amendment but we are interested in what has now been exempt and what is included under the bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, this set of amendments exempts from this tax fertilizer to be used on a farm, when it is sold by manufacturers, it is not taxed.

Most of the other amendments on page 1, are simply rewording of the bill to make that amendment fit in.

If you will refer to your bill on page 6, there is an insertion made between the lines 2 and 3 on page 6. And two important changes are made in the bill by this amendment. The first is that property sold by any public utility which is subject to the tax on its gross receipts derived from the sale of such tangible personal property, is exempt under the provisions of this bill.

The second important amendment is that the proceeds from an execise tax on which the revenue is required by the constitution to be used solely for a limited and specified purpose. That revenue is also exempt under this bill.

As originally drawn the bill had not specifically exempted a tax on fertilizer only to be used on a farm, nor these sales of tangible personal property by a public utility, nor did it exempt the sale of a commodity, the proceeds of which would have to be paid into, for example, the motor license fund. The way the amendment now changes this bill, all those items will be exempt from this tax.

Did I answer the gentleman's question completely?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman just offered the amendments which are on two pages so far?

Mr. READINGER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. You offered the amendment.

Mr. READINGER. I have only offered the two page amendments which are to Aritcle II of the bill. I intend to present other amendments.

Mr. JOHNSON. I would suggest the gentleman present the other amendments and then explain them. Then I will probably want to interrogate him on the amendments.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask for a ruling from the Chair as to whether or not it is proper to vote on these amendments prior to the introduction of the other amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the House vote on these amendments since they have been offered separately. Then if possible the gentleman present the amendments to all the other sections so that the amendments as a whole may be debated and there be one roll call on all the amendments succeeding these or a division whichever the floor leaders elect.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, for the benefit of the Members of the House, particularly on the minority side, this first set of amendments takes out of the taxing features of the bill, fertilizer on the farm. It also eliminates from taxation tangible personal property sold by any public utility subject to the tax on its gross receipts derived from the sale of such tangible personal property, and also eliminates from the bill those products, gasoline, motor fuel, products of motor transportation which are presently earmarked by the Constitution to go to the motor license fund. That is the gist of this first set of amendments. Am I not right, Mr. Readinger?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, did I understand you to suggest that we should offer all the other amendments and discuss them before voting on them?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that the matter now before the House are the amendments under discussion by the Majority Floor Leader.

The question is will the House agree to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if I may just get into this now, I think some Members might want to vote on the fertilizer exemption and probably not on the oil. I think the amendments should be taken individually if it meets with the approval of the Chair.

The SPEAKER. That is the way the Chair is now taking them.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I thank the Speaker.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, do these amendments contain the fertilizer amendment?

The SPEAKER. That is right.

The SPEAKER. There appears to be some confusion.

The Chair thought the Majority Leader explained very clearly what the amendments now pending covered. They cover the exemption of fertilizer on the farm; they cover the exemption of food; they cover the sale of tangible personal property by utilities. Also they cover the proceeds of the excise tax that are specifically dedicated to some specific purpose under existing law of the Commonwealth.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid I wasn't following your thought. But I would suggest that the Minority Leader desires that we vote on the amendment to Section 202, page 5, which is fertilizer exemption. And thereafter vote on the amendments to page 6, which deals with the other exemptions.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader asks for a division of the question.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On a rising vote, one hundred and six Members or more than a majority having voted in the affirmative, the amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments on page 6 of the bill.

They were agreed to.

Mr. READINGER offered the following amendment to Article II.

Amend Section 201, page 5, line 9, by inserting after the word "property" and before the word "purchased" the following: "manufactured."

Amend Section 201, page 5, line 11, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "the" the following: "purchase," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "acquisition."

Amend Section 201, page 5, line 14, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "been" the following: "claimed," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "determined."

Amend Section 201, page 5, line 15, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "three" the following: "(d)" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "(c)."

Amend Section 201, page 5, by inserting between lines 15 and 16 the following: "(c) use of all alcoholic beverages purchased by the Liquor Control Board of the Commonwealth after the effective date of this act for use within the Commonwealth payable at the time of acquisition thereof except in any case where tax previously has been or is paid under subsection (a) or (b) of this section upon the use or sale of such alcoholic beverages and with respect to which credit has not been determined pursuant to section two hundred three (c)."

Amend Section 203, page 6, line 3, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "Tax" the following: "There shall be allowed to every."

Amend Section 203, page 6, by striking out lines 4 to 7, inclusive, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "(a) Allowance of Credit There shall be allowed to a licensee a credit equal to the tax paid under this act with respect to tangible personal property.

(1) shipped to locations outside the Commonwealth for use outside the Commonwealth.

(2) sold to the United States.

(3) except for alcoholic beverages sold to the Commonwealth instrumentalities or political subdivisions thereof. Provided however That in any case in which a licensee claiming the credit cannot support the claim by proper documentary proof of the amount of tax paid the department may allow such credit in an amount equal to the probable tax paid with respect to such tangible personal property Upon the failure of the licensee claiming such credit to establish to the satisfaction of the department the probable tax paid on any tangible personal property the department shall disallow all credit with respect to such property."

Amend Section 203, page 6, line 8, by striking out at the beginning of the line before the word "Tentative" the following: "(a)," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "(b)."

Amend Section 203, page 6, line 9, by striking out after the word "department" and before the word "issue" the following: "shall," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "may."

Amend Section 203, page 6, line 10, by striking out at the beginning of the line before the word "upon" the following: "taxpayer," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "licensee."

Amend Section 203, page 6, line 11, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "credit" the following: "for projected probable out-of-state shipment of tangible."

Amend Section 203, page 6, by striking out lines 12 and 13.

Amend Section 203, page 7, line 2, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "credit" the following: "against the tax liability to which he."

Amend Section 203, page 7, by striking out lines 3 to 6, inclusive, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "for the period covered by such return in accordance with such certificate."

Amend Section 203, page 7, by striking out lines 7 and 13, inclusive, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"(c) Actual Credit In filing the return required by section four hundred twenty (b) a licensee shall be allowed the credit provided for in subsection (a) of this section with respect to all such tangible personal property either sold to the United States or the Commonwealth instrumentalities or political subdivisions thereof or shipped to locations outside the Commonwealth."

Amend Section 204, page 7, line 14, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "tax" the following: "allowed" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "determined by."

Amend Section 204, page 7, line 15, by striking out after the article "a" and before the word "under" the following: "taxpayer" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "licensee."

Amend Section 204, page 7, line 15, by striking out after the word "three" and before the word "is" the following: "b)" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "(c)."

Amend Section 204, page 7, line 15, by striking out after the word "greater" and before the word "the" the following: "that" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "than."

Amend Section 204, page 7, line 16, by striking out after the word "the" and before the word "shall" the following: "balance" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "difference."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader for just a moment on that particular amendment?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is within his rights. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, am I to understand that we are now exempting for instance a power bill which comes from a public utility which pays its tax on the gross receipts, is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. A power bill did you say?

Mr. DONALDSON. The power company from paying the tax.

Mr. READINGER. Is the gentleman speaking about a bill for electricity?

Mr. DONALDSON. That's right.

Mr. READINGER. We are exempting that. But only as long as the utility is covered by the gross receipts tax.

Mr. DONALDSON. But then if a particular municipality operated its own power plant it would have to pay the tax?

Mr. READINGER. No, municipalities are exempt or will be exempt under another amendment.

Mr. DONALDSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. READINGER I desire to offer the following amendments to House Bill 1879.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for the information of the House.

The Chair would like to inquire from the Majority Leader whether we are now in a position to vote on all of these other amendments to Article II as a unit?

Mr. READINGER. If it is agreeable to the minority side it is certainly agreeable to me.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to inquire the thought of the Minority Leader as to the manner in which these amendments should be handled.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I think it will meet with our approval if it does with the Chair's that we vote on all of these other amendments at one time because they are all very similar.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman. The Clerk will read the further amendments of Article II.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members of the House I would like to discuss these amendments as briefly as possible. Many of them are designed to make more clear the intent of this bill and to make more effective the method of collection of this tax.

For example there is an amendment included herein which will be inserted on page 3 defining manufacturers' sale price, more specifically than the original bill described it.

On page 3, an amendment is being inserted to specifically except from the imposition of the tax the purchases or sales made by political subdivisions by bodies politic or corporate, but not including the United States or the Commonwealth.

In other words the intent of these amendments is to remove from the necessity of paying the tax the Commonwealth, the subdivisions under the Commonwealth and the United States, with one exception, and the exception is that liquor purchased by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board shall remain taxable.

There is an amendment to be inserted on page 6 concerning the allowance of credits which makes it more clear than the original bill that goods manufactured in Pennsylvania and shipped to locations outside of the Commonwealth for use outside of the Commonwealth are exempt from the tax, also goods sold to the United States and goods sold to the Commonwealth, its instrumentalities or political subdivisions.

There are more amendments on page 7 relating to the computation of the actual credit to be given to a person who apparently owed the tax, but because of shipments of interstate commerce or sales to municipalities and so forth it actually is not liable for the tax.

There are amendments inserted on page 13, inserting the penalty, or what should happen where a taxpayer fails to file a return.

There are other sections to be added to page 23 or amendments to be inserted on page 23 concerning the penalty imposed for evading or trying to evade or violating the tax act here.

Then on page 28 there is a section amended or added concerning cooperation with other governments in connection with the administration of this tax act. In other words the bill as originally drawn has been carefully gone over since it was originally drafted and these amendments are being offered not to change the substance of the law as originally introduced but to clarify and to spell out in certain instances those persons who are not to be included in this tax.

I will be happy to answer any questions that I may be able to answer concerning these amendments, but I do not see much advantage in reading them all in detail because as I say most of them are correctional amendments or clarifying amendments. I ask the membership of the House to vote for them as it will improve the original draft of the bill.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say to the membership, and particularly to those on the minority side, that having had some opportunity to glance at the amendment on page 1 while the Majority Leader said that the amendments on that first page were correctional he did inadvertantly omit the fact that the word mining is inserted which would have the effect of excluding from the definition of manufacturing, mining.

Then on page 2 in determining the price of an article which would be subject to this tax in the absence of any figures as to what the manufacturer sales price is, I take it from these amendments that the sale price shall be presumed to be the actual price paid for the tangible personal property by any taxpayer, meaning that if you as an individual go out into Ohio and buy something for $250, if you do not know what the manufacturer's sale price is and can not ascertain it, the price on which you will compute the 3 and one-half per cent will be the retail price that you have paid for it. I mean that is my interpretation of it. I could be wrong, and I expect to have something to say about that later.

It is true that under this bill it definitely spelled out that the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions and United States government are not subject to the tax but they do make this important exception. When the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board buys liquor outside of Pennsylvania they will presumably, under this amendment, pay into the coffers of the state the use tax. Why I don't know, but there may be some reason for a gimmick like that. As we understand this particular amendment, the Liquor Control Board will have to pay the use tax on the liquor. That will raise the price of liquor perhaps, and the markup will be based on the extra three and one-half cent excise tax, I presume.

The remainder of the pages of amendments are correctional and make the bill stronger from a collection standpoint, and are a little too involved for us to digest at this time.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the Minority Whip for his comments. I completely overlooked the amendment concerning the insertion of the word "mining" so that it would be clear that coal would not be included as a taxable item. I think his comments on the other amendments were well thought out and well phrased I appreciate his assistance in this matter on a rather involved set of amendments to a rather involved bill. I think both of us are doing our best to make clear to the membership what you are being asked to vote on.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has stated that these are involved amendments with which I agree. After listening to the explanation they are about as clear as mud to me. I would appreciate the gentleman stating to the Members how long he has had to consider these involved amendments before making his explanation to the Members.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say I had an ample amount of time to read them, consider them and discuss them with the Minority Leader.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say that he has had approximately an hour to look at them?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have had them longer than that.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman had all the amendments longer than an hour?

Mr. READINGER. I have.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, assuming that we come back here at 12:01 a. m., and assuming that the amendments are to be printed in the bill before we vote on it, will the gentleman estimate approximately how long the Members will have to see the bill with the amendments in it before we vote on it?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I assure the gentleman that I will withhold asking for a final vote on the bill until he and his colleagues have had ample time to read the bill in full. I would say that would take approximately 20 minutes.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state whether the bill is now in print with all the amendments that have just been offered in it?

Mr. READINGER. What was the question?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Will the gentleman state whether the bill with the amendments that have been discussed in the last few minutes is now in print.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say it is not.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state when it will be in print?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, my best guess would be approximately 12:01 tonight.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Readinger.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALLACE. It mentions here about mining, what amendments are in this bill about mining?

Mr. READINGER. The amendments that are now before us provide for the addition or insertion of the word "mining" on page 2, line 16, of the bill, which now reads, I will start reading on line 14 in order that the gentleman may know where the word "mining" is inserted. This is under the section of definitions, subsection d, following the word manufacture.

> The performance of the operation or operations which place tangible personal property in a form different from that in which it is acquired except that harvesting and at this point the word "mining" is inserted "transportation and operations incidental thereto shall not be considered as operations bringing about a change of form or condition for the purpose of this definition.

In other words this excludes coal which is mined from the definition of manufactured goods.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, coal is not a manufactured product, it is a processed product. The hard coal areas produce, I would say, 30 million tons of coal, and I am going to say this, if you are going to exempt coal, I don't think there should ve a tax on gas, or there should not be a tax on oil.

I have stated here once before that they are trying to exempt coal, and if you are going to exempt processed coal you are going to lose $5,500,000 on 30 million tons of coal that are processed. I don't think that is fair. Eeverybody is going to jump in here with amendments. I think every Member in this House is entitled to know what is going on.

A few of the items have been mentioned. When the word "mining" was mentioned, I don't think everybody understood just what was said. I am going to say this. I do not think it is fair to you people that use gas, you people that use oil, when you are going to exempt coal. I come from a hard coal section.

I am going to say this, that the coal companies are destroying our properties, and I say they should pay their proportionate taxes on the price of a ton of coal.

I say this amendment insofar as mining is concerned, should be stricken out, and I for one am going to vote against the amendment if it is in there. I don't think the definition is being clarified to the people of this House. I say what is fair for one should be fair for everybody. Everybody is trying to make a grab. Let us exempt fertilizer, let us exempt coal, let us exempt clothing, and that is what you are going to get in this bill.

I say this, the coal industry is over a billion dollar industry, and I say I think they should pay their portion of the tax in order to help the Commonwealth. What we are fighting for today is taxes for the good of everybody.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, being also a Representative from a coal producing county, and the largest bituminous coal county in Pennsylvania, Greene County, we definitely want that amendment in there to eliminate bituminous coal which is a mined commodity.

We produce in our county alone an average of 75 thousand tons of bituminous coal a day which goes to the captive mines, from the captive mines to the steel mills to be used in steel products. They are taxed, the steel is taxed. It is a double taxation and all of the bituminous coal representatives here are in favor of the amendment which excludes mined products.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I come from the hard coal region and we certainly want that exemption in the hard coal region.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader and ask him several questions regarding coal by-products.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. In Allegheny County a product known as Wisco which is processed from coal is generally sold to householders. Will this be exempt from the tax?

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman what this product is? You have given the name of it, but I don't recognize it. Is it a coal briquette, something that is fashioned by a process after the coal as been mined?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. That is correct substantially.

Mr. READINGER. In my opinion under the terms of this bill, if coal is taken and fashioned into something other than its original state, whether it be pressed into briquettes or made into the shape of an image or something of that kind, it would be a manufactured product and as such it would be taxable.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will coke be taxable under this act?

Mr. READINGER. I would say it would be. It is a manufactured product, manufactured from coal.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. READINGER. In my opinion many other by-products of coal, such as tar removed therefrom and sold as a manufactured product which is taken from coal would be taxable also.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, may I ask who has offered this amendment insofar as mines are concerned, or coal?

The SPEAKER. The amendments now pending are offered by the Majority Leader.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Readinger.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALLACE. Will the gentleman please tell me who offered this amendment to exempt coal from taxation?

Mr. READINGER. I have offered it in behalf of the administration.

Mr. WALLACE. You offered it. Will you please tell me now if coal is taxed or bituminous coal is taxed?

Mr. READINGER. Whether it is taxed now?

Mr. WALLACE. That's right.

Mr. READINGER. I say it is not taxed.

Mr. WALLACE. Doesn't the gentleman think, I have mentioned this before, and you have your Department of Commerce here to verify it, that the coal industry is a billion dollar industry? I think it is the biggest industry in the state of Pennsylvania today. I am talking about bituminous and anthracite coal. Don't you think that they should be taxed?

Mr. READINGER. I do not.

Mr. WALLACE. Why?

Mr. READINGER. We are dealing here with a tax on manufactured goods. In my opinion coal that is mined is not manufactured goods and should not be taxed under this bill. In my opinion it should not be taxed at all.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, do you realize that when a man goes into the bowels of the earth, two men, they move from eight to eighteen cars of coal, and at the price of coal today, that with the profit on that coal, the coal companies are paying a dividend today. Each and every one of the coal companies are paying a dividend today. Don't you think that they should be taxed? The only thing they would be paying is about 5 cents on a ton of coal. Don't you think that it is only fair that every individual corporation, whether they are a manufacturer or a processor, in this state should be taxed? Why exempt one and not the other?

You are going into something here, you are offering amendments, whether you are doing it for patriotism, I do not know. I come from a coal mining town and I come from an anthracite county and I think that everybody should be taxed in proportion.

I am asking you this question, why is this being offered? I don't think you are telling the truth when you say you offered it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is distinctly out of order in making a personal reflection. The gentleman is not really discussing the intent of this bill. He will confine himself to the subject before the House and refrain from personal allusions.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, could I tell something that is the truth?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will certainly be permitted to tell the truth, if he will confine himself to a discussion of the matter before the House.

Mr. WALLACE. If I am making an unjust accusation then I am sorry. But it has been told to me that there is a certain lobbyist in this House—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is distinctly out of order.

Mr. WALLACE. I am not, I am trying to convey my point.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will either be in order or take his seat.

Mr. WALLACE. I am only trying to convey what has been told to me.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is distinctly out of order.

Mr. WALLACE. I think the Members deserve to know the truth. Insofar as exonerating the coal companies from this tax, that has been presented by a lobbyist representing the United Mine Workers.

The SPEAKER. The only matter before this House are the amendments proposed by the Majority Leader.

Mr. WALLACE. I am asking for the truth and I think the question is being evaded.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is obviously agitated and does not believe me when I say—

The SPEAKER. The Chair has forgotten his mental thermometer to register heat. He should have brought it.

Mr. READINGER. It would be good on the subject of coal.

The gentleman, I say, does not seem to believe me when I say that this amendment was offered on behalf of the administration, and it represents the administration's thinking as to what should and should not be included in this tax.

I do not know what his personal opinions are about the sociological aspect of taxing or not taxing, and at the moment I am not interested. We are dealing with a manufacturer's excise tax. In my opinion and the opinion of the administration, mined coal is not a manufactured product and does not belong in this act. This amendment specifically says that it is not in this act. That is about all there is to it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On a rising vote, one hundred and six Members or more than a majority having voted in the affirmative, the amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Article as amended?

It was agreed to.

The third article was read and agreed to

The fourth article was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the article?

Mr. KENT offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 480, page 26, line 1, by striking out "may" and inserting in lieu "shall."

Amend Sec. 480, page 26, line 4, by inserting after "property."

This evidence shall include in the bill, invoice and sales tag a statement that the "Pennsylvania 3½% Excise Tax has been (or will be) paid." In case of small articles to which the retail dealer prefers not to have individual sales tags attached, open displays of such articles shall be made including the said tax payment statement in a conspicuous place.

Any violation of this section will subject the Licensee to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars ($50.00) upon a summary conviction for each offense, and/or the suspension by the Department of his license for a period of not less than thirty days.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not think there is any point in jockeying for position in this field. I am rising to ask the membership to vote against this amendment offered by the gentleman from Crawford.

The vocal members of the Republican party have been making a great deal out of the fact that the tax as proposed in this bill is a hidden sales tax. They apparently are well determied to keep it from hiding.

This amendment which was just read to us provides for an amendment which says that the Department of Revenue may establish by rules and regulations a procedure whereby sellers of tangible personal property may provide purchasers of such property with evidence that the tax imposed has been paid.

I would have no objection whatsoever if the gentleman had offered an amendment to this section stating that the Department shall establish rules and regulations concerning furnishing of such evidence, but it goes further than that. It says in effect that if it is something that a tag can be placed on immediately, it should contain a tag which says the Pennsylvania three and a half percent excise tx has been or will be paid. But, of course, if the tag doesn't fit, then his amendment says that open displays of such articles shall be made, including the said tax payment statement, in a conspicuous place.

I think this is more of a political move than anything else and I am asking the membership to vote against it. If necessary an amendment putting the word "shall" in this section can be made in the Senate and it will be carried out. I can't imagine the Department of Revenue not issuing such a ruling or regulation, however, since the bill says "may" they might not do it. But that thing goes much further in my opinion than is necessary.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, first of all I would like to assure the Majority Leader that there is no political intent contained in this amendment. The person who drafted this bill, and I don't presume that it was the Majority Leader, must have had the same idea in mind as is contained in the amendments when they did provide for the provisions which are in Section 480, subsection B, which Mr. Reading has just read.

There is a great field open under this tax bill, for serious and expensive fraud to be brought upon conscientious, honest manufacturers, dealers, and retailers in Pennsylvania, as well as upon the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the people who are ultimately going to pay this tax.

The sole purpose of this amendment is to make the law such that it is not left up to the discretion of a board or a department or bureau within our government but I thing it is important that this legislative body itself more clearly define that the tax is being paid on the manufactured goods on which they are being paid. That is the only purpose of this amendment, and I don't think it would be fair at all to the taxpayers or manufacturers who are dealing honestly with the government and the people to subject them to unfair competition from unscrupulous dealers, and it is not beyond conception by any means that a dealer or retailer could go outside of the state of Pennsylvania and bring in valuable goods and products and sell them over the counter. He would still be licensed under the Act, but sell them over the counter at a lower price and in unfair competition with the honest retailer who is trying to meet the requirements of the law as it would be if this bill is passed. That is the only purpose, so that the people who buy goooods and are paying taxes into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for all the benefits and services which they receive from this state of Pennsylvania. It is only right that they should know or have some guarantee or some protection against unscrupulous people with whom they are dealing, and know that their money is going to the things which they think it is going to, and that it ultimately arrives here in the Department of Revenue in Harrisburg rather than in the pocket of some unscrupulous retailer, manufacturer or dealer who is covered under the law.

For this reason, we think, Mr. Speaker, that in fairness, not only to the people of and to the Commonwealth, but to the legitimate dealers, retailers of Pennsylvania that this amendment should be included in the bill so that they do have at least the protection which they deserve and that it should not be left to the wisdom which may be good or bad of some bureau head or department head.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the article?

Mr. READINGER offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 461, page 19, line 16, by inserting after the word "Where" and before the word 'no" the following: "an incomplete return is filed or".

Amend Section 461, page 19, line 17, by inserting at the end of the line after the word "time" the following: "as to taxable transactions not reported".

Amend Section 472, page 23, line 19, by inserting after the word "thereof" and before the word "shall" the following: "or assists any other person to evade or defeat the tax imposed by this act the payment thereof or to receive a refund improperly."

Amend Section 473, page 25, line 1, by inserting after the word "person" and before the word "shall" the following: "or shall provide any person with a false statement as to the payment of tax with respect to particular tangible personal property."

Amend Section 480, page 26, line 3, by inserting after the word "with" and before the word "evidence" the following: "documentary."

Amend Section 480, page 26, line 3, by inserting after the word "evidence" and before the word "that" the following: "of manufacturer's sale price and/or."

Amend Section 482, page 26, line 16, by inserting after the word "any" and before the word "taxpayer" the following: "person, licensee or."

Amend Section 482, page 26, line 16, by striking out after the word "taxpayer" and before the word "including" the following "or supposed taxpayer."

Amend page 28, by inserting between lines 3 and 4 a new section to read as follows:

"Section 484. Cooperation With Other Governments. Notwithstanding the provisions of section four hundred eighty-three, the department may permit the Commissioner of Internal Revenue of the United States or the proper officer of any state or the authorized representative of either such officer to inspect the tax returns of any taxpayer or may furnish to such officer or his authorized representative an abstract of the return of any taxpayer or supply him with information concerning any item contained in any return or disclosed by the report of any investigation of the return of any taxpayer. Such permission shall be granted only if the statutes of the United States or of such other state as the case may be grant substantially similar privileges to the proper officer of the Commonwealth charged with the administration of this act."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendments?
They were agreed to.
The Article as amended was agreed to.
The fifth article was read.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the article?
Mr. READINGER offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 501, page 28, line 6, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "Clause" the following: "Nothing contained in this act shall be."

Amend Section 501, page 28, by striking out lines 7 and 8, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Notwithstanding anything contained in any law to the contrary, the validity of any law or any ordinance or part of law or of any ordinance or any resolution or part of any resolution and any amendments or supplements thereto, now or hereafter enacted or adopted by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof providing for or relating to the imposition levy or collection of any tax shall not be affected or impaired by anything contained in this act."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendments?
They were agreed to.
The Article as amended was agreed to.

Amend Section 2, page 4, line 4, by inserting after the word "sells" and before the word "to" the following: "tangible personal property"

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendments?
They were agreed to.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. VARNER. First of all, Mr. Speaker, I want to say to you that some months ago, back on July 26, I predicted that the day would come when we would be passing another tax program here in the House. Well, the day is here. I am getting a little hungry, a little tired and I do not want to take too long, but I do want to ask some questions about this bill.

I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. Readinger, if I am permitted to do so.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know how much it will cost to administer this excise sales tax program?

Mr. READINGER. The best figure that I have been able to obtain as an estimate is $4 million a biennium.

Mr. VARNER. $4 million a biennium? Mr. Speaker, I would also like to know how many hundred employes the administration figures to have collecting this tax money from the people of Pennsylvania?

Mr. READINGER. I have no figures on that, but I presume it would be many, many less than were necessary to administer the retail sales tax. There would not be as many outlets.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, how many was that?

Mr. READINGER. I have no figures on it. I would estimate somewhere in the vicinity of fifteen hundred people. That is purely a guess on my part, though.

Mr. VARNER. I would like to know if natural gas is going to be taxed under this bill? I listened to all this hot air and these BTU's that they were shooting off here a while ago and I still do not know whether natural gas is going to be taxed under the bill. Mr. Readinger, I would like to have that answer.

Mr. READINGER. I would answer the gentleman by saying that I believe this session of the Legislature will impose a gross receipts tax on gas, and therefore, if that happens the gas will not be taxable under this bill. But if the gross receipts tax is not imposed upon gas, it is expressly taxable under this bill.

Mr. VARNER. If you refer to line 14, page 2 under manufacturer, I cannot see where natural gas is a manufactured product. It is a natural product and in most cases in western Pennsylvania, which I am familiar with, and a lot of our people here are, we believe that natural gas is a natural product. It is not manufactured. There is in certain areas manufactured gas. Of course, I am not satisfied with your answer but I know it is probably as good as you can give me at this time.

Now, Mr. Readinger, I would also like to know if this is a manufacturers' excise tax as the title of the bill states, why are retailers required to register and pay a $2 fee for registering?

Mr. READINGER. The reason for this is that the state must know where every outlet for this sale of manufactured goods happens to be so that their auditors may go around and check. For example, a retailer might buy thousands of dollars worth of goods from a manufacturer in another state and if we did not even know where the retailers were, we might have a little trouble collecting the tax. We do not want that trouble, we want to know where they are and we want to visit them, we want to ask them what they have been buying and see their receipts and make sure, in line of what Mr. Johnson spoke of awhile ago, that we are collecting all the tax that is due the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so that there is equity among the taxpayers, nobody escapes.

Mr. VARNER. Thank you Mr. Speaker; thank you, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. VARNER. I would just like to say briefly that the events of the past few months have shown, as it was shown during the campaign last year in 1954, that mandated expenditures for public services could not be cut as Governor Leader had so glibly promised in that campaign. Instead they have been increased.

Now I charge here today again that Governor Leader campaigned, and was elected to the state's highest executive office on bad faith. He is continuing this course of action here today by advocating a tax program which is rank in its inequities and a further breach of his many campaign promises. We had amendments prepared today to amend out clothing and shoes for the people of Pennsylvania, they are going to have to pay on prescription medicines, but we would be fighting a futile battle to offer these amendments, and we are not going to take the time of the House to do that. But I do feel that these things should be amended out of this bill.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, are seeds and spray materials taxable under this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Seeds and what?

Mr. WORLEY. Spray materials used for agricultural purposes.

Mr. READINGER. I would say they are not exempt. I would not consider a spray a fertilizer. I am not much of a farmer but is a spray a fertilizer? I do not know whether they spray any fertilizer so if they do I would say that type of spray would be exempt.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, are straw and hay taxable under this bill?

Mr. READINGER. I would say they are not. The definition of manufactured goods exempts it by putting in the word "harvesting". The definition of "manufacture" which I read a little while ago says, "except that harvesting, transportation and operations incidental thereto shall not be considered as operation bringing about a change of form or condition for the purpose of this definition." So since hay and straw are harvested, they clearly are not taxable.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker would the gentleman care to tell me what his interpretation of the word "harvesting" is as used in this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Well, from a lawyer's viewpoint, when a man raises wheat or alfalfa or something else and cuts it down, puts it into a bundle and puts it into the barn or sends it somewhere, that is "harvesting."

Mr. WORLEY. Is that all the gentleman would say the bill includes?

Mr. READINGER. When you gather in crops I consider that to be harvesting, whatever the crop happens to be.

Mr. WORLEY. Is that all the gentleman says it will include in his opinion?

Mr. READINGER. Well, the gentleman is asking the wrong gentleman. I do not know much about harvesting.

Mr. WORLEY. Well, Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman.

Would the gentleman care to tell me whether bailed straw is taxable if sold from one farmer to another?

Mr. READINGER. I would say it is not taxable. It is incidental to the harvesting of that commodity and it is incidental to the transportation of that commodity. It is expressly exempt in the definition of "manufacture."

Mr. WORLEY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, since I have many agricultural constituents, one of whom is the President of the United States, I am very happy that the sponsor took his time at this time to answer my questions for my constituents.

Mr. JOHNSON. I, too, would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker, as long as I hold out.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Readinger, I am going to interrogate the gentleman on some of the phases of the bill, and I will first want to interrogate him about the problem of the retail merchant in Pennsylvania if this bill passes.

The first thing I want to ask, is what forms will the retail merchants have to file with the Department of Revenue if this bill becomes law?

Mr. READINGER. He will not have to file any forms except his application for a license, unless he purchases directly from an out of state concern any manufactured goods which he then sells in the state of Pennsylvania. He must then file a return because he will have to pay a use tax.

Mr. JOHNSON. Then he will file a use tax return, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. That is right.

Mr. JOHNSON. And how often will he have to file this use tax return?

Mr. READINGER. Each month. He must file a return before the end of the calendar month following the month in which he makes the purchase.

Mr. JOHNSON. Am I right, the month following his purchase? Let us take the example of the merchant who sells wearing apparel and goes to New York City. attends a style show, shall we say, and from a jobber purchases at the jobber's price say $10 thousand worth of merchandise and has it shipped into Pennsylvania. Am I right in the conclusion that in the second month after he receives the merchandise he will file a use tax return and he will pay a three and one-half per cent excise tax?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct, I think.

Mr. JOHNSON. And the tax will be not on what he has paid the jobber but on the manufacturer's sale price to the jobber, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. If he can find out what that is. Otherwise under the amendment he pays it on the price he paid.

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct and if he cannot ascertain what the manufacturer charged the jobber, which he of necessity will not be able to find out, because the jobber does not want him to know what he paid the manufacturer, he will then pay the three and one-half per cent tax on what he paid the jobber. Is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct and I bet he will find a new jobber the next day, too.

Mr. JOHNSON. But under the terms I am right so far in my analysis of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. May I interrupt the gentleman to state that he is up to the $50 thousand mark now?

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, we shall stay at $10 thousand. That is easier to figure and more in my bracket.

All right, the merchant has this merchandise in his inventory on which he will have paid the three and one-half per cent tax or the $350. Is that not right?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct.

Mr. JOHNSON. Now, when he sells these dresses or coats or whatever he has purchased, in order to get back what he has paid, he will then add to his price the three and one-half per cent that he has paid, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. I would not think he would, if he does not have to. If he can absorb it, he will probably be happy to do so and sell more dresses. He might pass it on, he might not.

Mr. JOHNSON. In other words, the merchant unless he can pass it on, will be stuck with the three and one-half per cent.

Mr. READINGER. Not stuck, he would just make a contribution to the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. JOHNSON. That is what I thought. If by reason of obsolescence of his goods that he has not been able to sell, if they remain in his stock, he will then have merchandise on which he has paid a three and one-half per cent excise tax and he will then, of course, be thoroughly stuck with the tax, is that not right?

Mr. READINGER. I would say that he is stuck to the same extent he is stuck with any of the Federal excise taxes proposed by the Eisenhower administration. Yes.

Mr. JOHNSON. We shall debate that. Of course we are getting a little far afield. The so called luxury taxes in Washington were, I think, inspired and put on by President Roosevelt and continued by President Truman and lowered by President Eisenhower.

Well, then, Mr. Majority Leader, this same merchant in addition to paying the three and one-half per cent on goods he purchases out of the state on which he will file a monthly use tax return, he will then pay to a Pennsylvania manufacturer or jobber the three and one-half per cent tax on goods he purchases in Pennsylvania from a manufacturer. Is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. I would not say that is correct. I say that the manufacturer who sold it has paid that tax and if he passes it on to the jobber and the retailer in the price, then the jobber or retailer will be paying. But it does not necessarily get passed on.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, then there are instances under this bill where the tax is placed on the manufacturer and then of course the tax is also placed on the retailer if he happened to buy the goods outside of the state.

Mr. READINGER. That is correct.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well then, I think the position of the merchant in Pennsylvania is clarified. I hope the merchant reads the newspaper resume of this.

Now let us take the individual who happens to go out of the state, shall I say, to buy an article. If an individual, not a retailer, not a manufacturer, but say myself, if I go to Buffalo, New York, and purchase a refrigerator for $250 and bring it into my home town, I have brought an article into the state for use. What is my obligation under the bill?

Mr. READINGER. Your obligation, if you bought it outside of the Commonwealth and brought it back, you bought it for use in this Commonwealth, is to pay a tax.

Mr. JOHNSON. The tax would be based on the $250 I paid unless I am able to ascertain what the manufacturer's selling price was. Am I correct?

Mr. READINGER. I think that is right.

Mr. JOHNSON. That is right. You are in the same position as any retailer who would buy something from out of state for use in this state or sale in this state. Then who would this purchaser, this individual, pay the tax to?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the Department of Revenue. They get everything.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, where would that be located as far as my town of Smethport is concerned?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, probably in Reading, Pa. No, I do not have any idea where the regional offices would be set up to administer this tax. I do not even know if there is a retail sales tax regional office in your area.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, how often would this individual purchaser who is not a retailer, not a manufacturer, have to make a return and pay his tax?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, that I will have to look up. I think within the same period as the other person, before the end of the calendar month following the month in which he makes his purchase and brings it into Pennsylvania.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think the bill is a little nebulous on that point. Would he be subject to the same penalties under the bill that the manufacturer or the retailer would be if he fails to file a return, wilfully fails to report, wilfully fails to pay the tax, and so forth?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman insist on an answer to that one immediately?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, Mr. Speaker. We will wait until midnight. Just some thoughts on the bill which I would like to have answered.

Let's take the individual now. Supposing under the, shall I say, storage phase of the bill, he has a boat in New Jersey in the summer or has it in the Chesapeake Bay, but brings it into Philadelphia and stores it in Philadelphia for the winter, would he, having brought that boat into Pennsylvania for purposes of storage, under the definition of storage be subject to the tax under this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would think he would because he is using it. He has it stored and he can go look at it and enjoy it. I call that a use. I would say that he would be liable.

Mr. JOHNSON. I think the gentleman is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I answer the gentleman's last question now?

I think on page 23 the penalty for any person who wilfully attempts to evade or defeat the tax, and so forth, shall pay a certain penalty. I think the same penalty would apply to an individual who buys something without the state for use within the state and wilfully and deliberately does not pay the tax. I think he is subject to the same penalty as a retailer or a wholesaler. The degree of his crime would be much less than a person who would do it on a wholesale scale.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, let us take the individual who happens to move into Pennsylvania, let us first take an automobile he has purchased after the effective date of this act and then he decides to move into Pennsylvania with his car. Would he, having brought this car into Pennsylvania for use in this state, be subject to the use tax and have to file a return on his car within 30 days after the end of the calendar month?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say he would not be subject to the use tax unless he bought it in another state with the intention to move into Pennsylvania and use it in Pennsylvania, in my opinion he would not be subject to the use tax.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, is that spelled out in the bill or is that the gentleman's . . .

Mr. READINGER. No, Mr. Speaker, it is clearly set forth on page 5 of the bill under the title, "IMPOSITION OF TAX AND CREDITS." I will check and see if there is an amendment to it. It is rather difficult to read this at the present time since we have adopted some amendments to that section, but I will do my best to read it for you.

One of the amendments we have adopted is to Section 201 on page 5, subsection (b), starting on line 9, and reads as follows:

> "Use of all tangible personal property manufactured, purchased or leased after the effective date of this act for use within the Commonwealth payable by the person who uses such property."

In other words, you are taxed on the use of tangible personal property which you purchased for use within this Commonwealth. Obviously, if the person is a resident of New Jersey, buys a car and just a week later decides he is going to move into Pennsylvania, he did not buy that for use in Pennsylvania and, therefore, he would not be taxable. But if a Pennsylvanian goes over to New Jersey and buys a car and brings it back after a week's vacation, he has obviously bought it for the purpose of using it in Pennsylvania and it would be taxable.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's answer would be the same then when he moved his household goods into Pennsylvania, he not having purchased them with the intention of using them in the state, they would be tax free? Is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think that is exactly right. It depends on where he lives at the time he buys it and whether he at that time intended to bring it into Pennsylvania and to use it. If he did not, it is not taxable. If he did, it is.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to further interrogate the gentleman.

We will go back to the merchant for a minute. Conceivably, there are exemptions in the bill for manufactured articles which are purchased for use in manufacturing a further article to make the end product. Won't that mean, Mr. Speaker, that every business establishment in Pennsylvania will have the same exemption certificate scheme that was used in the late sales tax we had in this state?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am not too familiar with the late and unlamented retail sales tax, but this bill very clearly spells out the fact that the component manufactured parts of another manufactured article are not taxable until they have been put into the ultimate product, at which time it is sold and becomes taxable.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe that is correct. Then the gentleman would agree with me that in order to effect this exemption it will be necessary to file exemption certificates with the various merchants, dealers and manufacturers as was true under the sales tax? Is that true?

Mr. READINGER. That is right, Mr. Speaker. I think the same or a comparative system is being used in exempting people from the imposition of this tax where it is not intended to be taxed.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, let us take the manufacturer himself in Pennsylvania, the manufacturer who manufactures component parts to be used in another article, the end product. He, too, would have to obtain exemption certificates from the person buying from him an article to be used for the purposes of further manufacture, isn't that correct?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think that is right. In other words, a manufacturer of radio tubes, for example, might sell tubes to one customer who would use part of them as part of a radio set, and would also sell the other tubes for replacement in existing sets, and I think he would be taxable in one case and not taxable in the other.

Mr. JOHNSON. All right, Mr. Speaker. Let us look at the great automobile industry in this state. A dealer who buys an automobile in Buffalo, New York, for shipment to the northern tier counties, the distributor is in Buffalo, New York, and the cars come into the northern tier counties. When the dealer goes to Buffalo and buys a new car, he will not pay the three and one-half per cent excise tax, isn't that true?

Mr. READINGER. Not unless New York has one, Mr. Speaker. He certainly would not pay it under ours.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I mean he will not pay the Pennsylvania tax?

Mr. READINGER. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, then the automobile dealer within 30 days after the end of the month will file and pay a Pennsylvania excise tax of three and one-half per cent on the car?

Mr. READINGER. In my opinion he will, Mr. Speaker, on the manufcaturer's price.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, then the Pennsylvania dealer when he sells the car must add the three and one-half per cent to the selling price of the car or absorb it himself, isn't that true?

Mr. READINGER. That is right, Mr. Speaker. He might sell that car after he brings it into Pennsylvania to a man in Ohio, in which case, as I understand this act, he would not be taxed at all.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, would an automobile, being an instrument of transportation, be exempt under the transportation exemption of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. An automobile, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. It certainly will not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. It will not be exempt, Mr. Speaker? The dealer when he sells the car and has a trade-in allowance, will he be permitted to any refund on the excise tax by reason of a trade-in allowance, as was the case in the sales tax?

Mr. READINGER. I think not. I think this will be paid by the person buying it at the manufacturer's price. That is what the act says on page 2.

Mr. JOHNSON. I just have a few more questions, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Correction—page 5, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, there has been adopted today the mining amendment exempting products which have been obtained as the result of mining. Quarrying rock, is that mining and would that be exempt under this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, unless you can say that digging rock out of the earth is not mining, then I would say it is exempt. I am not aware of much difference between the meaning of the words "mining" and "quarrying." To me they both mean digging something out of the ground.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, couldn't the answer also be that the taking out of rock or a valuable mineral other than coal, would not be manufacturing?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say it is not manufacturing. The removal of stone, which is usually called quarrying, would be considered the same as mining.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, would not the mining of coal be non-manufacturing and therefore would not the amendment have been unnecessary that you just put in the bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would not say it was unnecessary. I think as long as there is any question about it it should be made clear, and I think it was made clear. It should not be left to conjecture. There could be some argument, I believe, as to whethher a piece of coal that is dug out of the ground and then sized, sorted, cleaned, and so forth, became manufactured goods. If you just dug a piece of coal out of the ground and sold it to the consumer, there would not be much doubt about it, but since coal is not sold that way, since it is broken into sizes, sorted into sizes, washed and then sold on the market, there would be a question as to whether or not it would be a manufactured product.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say then that the mining exemption would make tax free coal that had been washed and sized and made ready for sale and maybe——

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that definitely excludes such coal from this tax.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe in some areas they sell what they call "blue coal." I believe that was Mr. Goldstein's question, they add a blue dye to it. That would still be non-taxable, would it not?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say it is non-taxable.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, just one final question. I believe the gentleman said that under this bill, unless natural gas is subject to the gross receipts tax, it would be definitely taxable under this bill. I would just like to have the gentleman refer to the section of this bill which makes natural gas taxable as a manufactured article?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot point to any specific section and I could be in error in saying that natural gas would be taxable hereunder. I believe that most natural gas is mixed with manufactured gas and, if that is true, it probably would be considered a manufactured product because certain operations take place to produce the mixture. But in answer to the gentleman's specific question about natural gas, I cannot point to any section and I could be wrong as to whether that will be or will not be taxable under this act.

Mr. JOHNSON. All right, Mr. Speaker. How about our growing industry, that is, the storage of natural gas that has been brought in from Texas, shall I say, and stored underground in Westmoreland County, would that be taxable under the storage phase of this act at three and one-half per cent?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, there is another bill pending before the Legislature now which proposes to tax the storage of gas. That has not passed, and my answer to your question would be the same relative to the stored gas as it would be to gas that is flowing in and being used immediately. It is a question of ownership. If it is construed to be tangible personal property and purchased by a Pennsylvanian for use in the Commonwealth, it would be taxed. If it is not considered or construed to be a manufactured good, and natural gas may not be, then it would not be taxable.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, an amendment has been added today to the use tax phase of the act which I believe specifically spells out the fact that an article brought into Pennsylvania, in order for it to be subject to the tax, would have to be a manufactured article. Was that the intention of that amendment?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman point out which amendment he is talking about?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, it is under the taxing phase of the act, section (b), before the word "purchase" you have added the word "manufactured."

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the intent of this whole act is to tax manufactured articles.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, then gas in its natural state brought in from Texas would not be a manufactured article unless it was mixed with manufactured gas, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, that is a reasonable supposition. I am not an expert in the field of gas and I am afraid I cannot give the gentleman any better answer than I have. I have admitted that I could be wrong in saying that natural gas might be taxable.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe that will be all. I have some other questions I want to ask Dr. Sarraf, but I believe the hour is getting late, so I will dispense and yield to the next speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker . . .

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, we have been in this House now for eight hours. I have been here for nine hours without so much as a recess for luncheon or a recess for dinner. When I am at work, I carry a union card in a union shop. If something like this went on, you would have a walk-out on your hands. I would like to know when we are going to eat, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that we are going to eat as soon as the interrogation on the part of the minority ceases. We assure the gentleman from Delaware that the minority is privileged to walk out any time it wishes.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, this interrogation can go on forever. I know several gentlemen around me have a lot of questions they want to ask.

The SPEAKER. The Chair suffers in common with the gentleman from Delaware and other fellow sufferers, but there is nothing he can do about it.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would move that this House recess for dinner for one hour.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order.

Mr. READINGER. I wish to remind the gentleman that we are going to meet after dinner, if we ever get to eat, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JUMP. I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader for just about two minutes.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron has the floor.

Mr. JUMP. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron yields to the gentleman from Luzerne.

Mr. JUMP. First, Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the Majority Leader for including anthracite coal in his amendments. I, too, come from Luzerne County.

I just received a telegram and I would like the Majority Leader to listen very closely because I would like to have an answer. You see we have another industry in Luzerne County besides anthracite coal.

"Representative James Jump,
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

If food definition H. B. 1879 is to be passed please propose that grocery definition include peanut butter peanut oil salted peanuts salted nuts and peanut candies. These items as you know are purchased in grocery stores for home consumption just like other grocery foods. These are all wholesome food products in competition with cookies pretzels potato chips cake raisins fresh fruits and the like. We appeal to your fairness and that of your colleagues for favorable consideration of this request. Thank you.

Planters Nut & Chocolate Co
F A English Vice President"

I would like to have an answer as to whether that includes food?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks will answer, but the Chair suggests that the gentleman from Luzerne is trying to knock us out with a Planter's Punch.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I say in answer to the gentleman's question that in my present state of hunger, if I were inclined to say that those things were taxable, I would immediately say they are not. But I wish he would stop torturing us by mentioning all those wonderful foods which all of us would all like to have to eat right now.

Seriously, those are items of food which would be exempt. They are not confections and they are not beverages, so, therefore, they are exempt under the tax.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would yield to the gentleman from Bedford.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron yields to the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I rise to interrogate the Majority Leader very briefly, please.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker. I don't know why they keep the top brass until I am real weak. They should have started out with these men.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, could the Majority Leader tell us whether or not the three and one-half per cent excise tax is deductible from the Federal income tax return?

Mr. READINGER. By the person paying it Mr. Speaker?

Mr. STROUP. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, then from that standpoint if the manufacturers pay the three and one-half per cent excise tax and take a deduction on their Federal income tax returns, may they then pass that three and one-half per cent tax on to the wholesaler, retailer and consumer?

Mr. READINGER. They may, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Does that not, therefore, Mr. Speaker, provide a considerable leverage to the manufacturer who can take a deduction from the tax which he pays and still pass that three and one-half per cent on to the consumer eventually, who cannot get deductions?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that it does. We have for years been fighting for better breaks for manufacturers to get them to come into Pennsylvania and stay here, and that is exactly what this will help to do.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, are you not, therefore, in this excise bill providing a benefit indirectly to the manufacturer and a complete burden and an onerous tax upon the consumer, the everyday citizen of Pennsylvania?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that it is about even Steven. I think we are imposing a burden on industry and we are granting them indirectly some benefits.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, if I may make just a comment upon that. It seems from the answer to the interrogation which the Majority Leader has given us that we are in the excise tax providing the manufacturer, if he pays the tax, a deduction on his Federal income tax, be he a corporation, individual, or company, partnership, or association, and at the same time he is able to add that three and one-half per cent tax on his manufactured item, pass it on to the wholesaler, retailer and consumer and the entire burden of the tax is placed upon the little fellow that you gentlemen as the Democratic Party so vehemently protest you are protecting.

After having made that comment, Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader further?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated further?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I should insist on answering the gentleman before answering his next question, but I will let them accumulate and answer them all at one time.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the indulgence of the Majority Leader.

Just one brief question. A contractor who builds a building for the Commonwealth or a political subdivision, would he be exempt from the three and one-half per cent tax on that contract?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the question is when a contractor builds—

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, if a contractor builds a building for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or one of its political subdivisions, is the contractor exempt from that three and one-half per cent tax because he is doing business with the Commonwealth?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say not. Because he is selling to the Commonwealth or to the municipality, that would exempt him. But I say he is not selling tangible personal property, he is creating what is known as real estate and then selling a piece of real estate.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, the contractor purchases manufactured materials to use in the building, is that not true?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I could not understand the question.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I say the contractor purchases manufactured materials to be erected or placed in that building, is that not true?

Mr. READINGER. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, would he not, therefore, be required to pay three and one-half per cent tax upon that manufactured article which he has purchased?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if he purchases outside the state of Pennsylvania, I would say yes. If he purchases it in Pennsylvania from a Pennsylvania manufacterer the manufacturer would have paid it.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, would there be an exemption certificate provided to the contractor by the Commonwealth in the event he has to pay the tax?

Mr. READINGER. At the moment I cannot answer that question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, if I had a couple more to yield to, I could perhaps get all my questions answered that I have on my sheet.

Nevertheless, I think this bill is so important, and is being rushed through with such great haste that it is imperative that these questions be asked so that we get some little understanding as to what is in this bill. I do not believe by the time we finish we will cover half the interrogations that perhaps should be asked in connection with it.

I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader on a couple of points that I have left here on my sheet.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman has stated flatly that he only has a couple of questions left, I shall be glad to.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I believe one of the amendments specifically kept alcholic beverages in the provisions of this bill, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, are cigarettes and tobacco products covered by the provisions of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. They are, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, are not both of those products today separately taxed by separate legislation?

Mr. READINGER. Very emphatically, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Would not the tax collected under the provisions of this bill constitute a double taxation on these products and therefore be unconstitutional, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. READINGER. No, simply additional taxation. Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire additionally in connection with these two products whether or not if the tax imposed upon, we will say, beer, for instance, should amount to a cent a bottle the beer drinker can go in and buy a bottle of beer for 26 cents instead of having it cost him 30 cents?

Mr. READINGER. Centainly he can, Mr. Speaker. It is a matter of pricing on the part of the person who sells it. He can sell it for fifteen cents, if he likes.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I don't drink beer, Mr. Speaker, but I wish the gentleman would give some of my friends a certificate to that effect.

Will newspapers, magazines, periodicals, publications, books and printing be included in the tax under this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, they will, but don't tell the press.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, let us take a newspaper; will purchase of a newspaper, that is to say, the paper upon which the news is printed, be taxed? He pays a tax on that roll of paper when he gets it and would there be a tax on that roll of paper when he sells it?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, are sideline coaches allowed on the floor of the House?

The SPEAKER. They are not if the Speaker sees them operating. I believe the gentleman to whom the gentleman from Allegheny refers is a Member of the House. Members of the House have certain privileges that are denied other lobbyists.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, getting back to our newspaper, let us take the Harrisburg Evening News, for instance. When they purchase their rolls of paper for their news print, do they pay the three and one-half per cent excise tax upon that paper when they buy it?

Mr. READINGER. I would say no, Mr. Speaker. I would say that is a component part of the manufactured product that they are manufacturing.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, when, however, the news print gets on that paper it becomes taxable when they sell it and distribute it?

Mr. READINGER. I would say so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Are building and construction materials taxable under the provisions of this bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if it is a finished manufactured product, I would say it was—or they were. If it is a building material that is just in the process of being manufactured, half finished, or to be finished by somebody, I would say the ultimate seller or manufacturer must pay the tax.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, if they go into the construction of a house, is the house also taxable?

Mr. READINGER. Not under this bill, Mr. Speaker. It is taxable under the real estate transfer tax that you gentlemen imposed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what will be done with prefabricated houses? You have building materials that go into the construction of your sections of a prefabricated house and you sell a prefabricated house, are both of those taxable?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say the finished manufactured product, if manufactured in Pennsylvania and sold to a man who is going to assemble it on a piece of ground, would be taxable under this act, the manufactured articles.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, churches and hospitals would be subject to the provisions of this tax for any materials they might purchase?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if they purchase from a Pennsylvania manufacturer, no. If they purchase out of the state and bring it in, yes.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, how about the equipment for a hospital, would that be taxable?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if it is a finished manufactured product, yes. If it is a piece of pipe that goes into plumbing, and so forth, that would not be—well, it depends on the type of pipe.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, articles of equipment used in churches, and so forth, would also be taxable?

Mr. READINGER. And synagogue, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Religious books and publications would be taxable, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. READINGER. That's right, any manufactured product, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Will restaurant meals be taxable under the provisions of this bill, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. READINGER. No, food is exempt.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, under Section 1-C of Article I of the act, does "drinks" as used in that act include milk, fruit and vegetable juices? You define drinks as malt beverages and soft drinks, and then you refer to drinks which are taken by human beings and animals. Does that also include milk, fruit and vegetable juices under that section?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, no, I would say food as defined herein would include the things you mentioned. Yes. They are not confections nor are they malt geverages.

Mr. TOMPKINS. They would not be taxable, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. READINGER. They would not be, no, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what is the definition of an animal as contained in that section?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I suppose an animal is anything that is not a human being, or a bird, or a fish.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman would interpret animal there as being also a fowl and fish, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. No, Mr. Speaker. I say an animal would be any creature which was not a human being, or a fish, or a fowl.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand then that food, and feed, and so forth, which is purchased in the raising of chickens would be taxable under the provisions of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, my side line coaches are interrupting me, Mr. Speaker. Will you repeat that question.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand as a result of your answer that feed which is purchased for the raising of chickens would be taxable under the provisions of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. No. Mr. Speaker, the definition of food says tangible personal property commonly taken by man or other animals—or are you referring to feed for fowl?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman just said that animal did not include fowl or fish.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman got me down on this question of semantics. I gave him what my definition of an animal was, but I could be wrong. I will say in my opinion that feed given to a chicken would be taxable unless a chicken is an animal. I don't know.

My side line coaches inform me that a chicken is an animal.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is a fish an animal, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. I am informed that it is, Mr. Speaker. I am learning something all the time.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, that is why we are asking these questions, we want enlightment ourselves.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is entitled to ask all the questions he has in mind. I cannot guarantee to give him the right answer, or all the answers, but I will do my best.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me whether or not fuel oil which is used for home heating is taxable.

Mr. READINGER. I would say it is, Mr. Speaker. I see nothing in the act that would exempt it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, would this tax be applied to machinery and tools of production?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if the machinery bought by somebody is a finished product to be used in further production, I would say it is taxable.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, then the machines which coal companies buy for the mining of coal, machines which an electronic plant would buy for the manufacture of electronic equipment, do I understand that if they are bought as a completed product they would be taxable?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, they are taxable to the manufacturer that sells them, yes.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, would farm machinery be taxable under the provisions of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. It would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what will we do with the numerous Chambers of Commerce in the state of Pennsylvania who are trying to induce industry to come into this state, who are going to find themselves burdened with a three and one-half per cent tax on all of the machinery which they bring into the state for their production?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that the Chambers of Commerce of Pennsylvania overcome all obstacles in their zeal to bring industry into Pennsylvania. This won't stop them.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to fathom the gentleman's reasoning in that respect. A million dollar manufacturing concern which comes into this state is going to have to pay a tremendous tax in order to be able to set up in business. I just wonder if they will favor Pennsylvania or some Southern state.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would consider that in the realm of conjecture and argument rather than questioning.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am talking about the inducements to industry to come into the state of Pennsylvania. We are asking for $30 million to try to bring them in. Now we are going to club them over the head with a three and one-half per cent tax for the privilege of setting up in business in Pennsylvania.

Mr. READINGER. I do not accept the gentleman's ideas. Mr. Speaker, if he wishes to make a speech and argue, I will be glad to answer him later on, but I can't answer that question—

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, that was in answer to the gentleman's statement that the finished product machine would be taxable under the provisions of this bill.

How about a freight car in connection with the transportation provisions of this bill? A freight car is manufactured in another state and brought into this state for use, would that freight car be subject to tax?

Mr. READINGER. I think it would, Mr. Speaker. It is the transportation of things which is defined under the definition of "Manufacture" on page 2. Not being part of a manufacturing process, the transporting of them from one place to another, it is not part of the manufacturing process. A freight car is very definitely a manufactured product, it would be taxable.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this tax would apply to all freight cars which are manufactured for the use in transportation, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, even if they were not used for transportation, they would be taxable, as long as they were manufactured in Pennsylvania and sold for use here. If they use it for a dining car and did not even move it, it would still be taxable.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, trucks, I suppose, purchased under the same circumstances are also taxable under the provisions of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what would be done about a shoe repair shop? Would a shoe repair shop be compelled to charge a tax upon its finished manufactured product if he repairs a shoe?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say if any shoe repairman bought rubber heels from out of the state for the purpose of repairing shoes, putting them on, he would be taxable. He would not be taxable on his services for doing so, but he certainly would be made to pay the same tax on the price he pays the manufacturer. It is a manufactured product.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, the Minority Leader, desire to be recognized at this time?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Kratz.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, the Minority Leader, yields to the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Kratz.

Mr. KRATZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Majority Leader just two questions.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader consent to reply to two interrogations?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KRATZ. Mr. Speaker, as a manufacturer's representative I occupy a rather unique position in the field of distribution. I negotiate sales principally between out-of-state manufacturers, the negotiated sale is made to the party in Pennsylvania. Now who is responsible for collecting the tax on that sale?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, who takes title to the tangible personal property concerning which you negotiate? Do you take title to it from out-of-state people?

Mr. KRATZ. No, Mr. Speaker, I take no title at all, I am simply in there as an intermediary or a negotiator between the manufacturer and the person who is buying the manufactured material. In my case it would primarily go into buildings.

Mr. READINGER. Then I would say, Mr. Speaker, to answer the gentleman's question, the person with whom the gentleman negotiates, who is the purchaser, is responsible for the payment of the tax on the article after he has purchased it.

Mr. KRATZ. And he would also be responsible for reporting it, is that correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. The person who is the purchaser is defined as the taxpayer in this act and not the person who is the broker who negotiates for the sale.

Mr. KRATZ. Mr. Speaker, my reason for asking that question is this, I am forced by the United States Government on their various form sheets to actually swear to lies every time I have to put in a report on sales. That is because the Department of Commerce and several others cannot distinguish between a manufacturer's representative, who negotiates the sale and yet does not make a sale, and a man who buys and resells merchandise. That is the reason for my question.

Now my other question is simply this, for some of the manufacturers whom we represent we carry a warehouse stock that does not belong to us, it is simply put in Philadelphia for the convenience of the customers. Is there a tax on that stock that belongs to an out-of-state manufacturer and, if there is, what is the method of collecting it?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, there would be no tax on that until it were sold to someone in Pennsylvania or for use in Pennsylvania. If it were kept in the wharehouse and then sold to somebody in New Jersey, or somebody outside of Pennsylvania, it would not be taxable at all.

Mr. KRATZ. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. The gentleman anticipated my question on that second part. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. READINGER. In this business you have to anticipate everything .

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I have a very simple question, but I think it is rather weighty.

I have in front of me the Constitution of the United States and I Call your attention to Article I, Section 9, Paragraph 5, which reads:

"No Tax or Duty shall be laid on Articles exported from any State."

To my way of reasoning, where you have an export from the State of Delaware into the state of Pennsylvania that is the same as an import into Pennsylvania. We have been talking all afternoon of taxing imports into this state under the use theory. To your knowledge, has there ever been a case in the United States Supreme Court involving a tax on imports under a manufacturers' excise tax?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, there may be no cases, I do not have any idea whether there are, but I think the cases which the Supreme Court of the United States has already decided under the Constitution, relative to taxation on interstate commerce, has verly clearly laid down the established law to be that no matter where goods come from, once they have come to rest within a state they become taxable at the discretion of that state.

For example, if something comes in from Delaware and it is at the railroad yard waiting to go to another state, even though it is there three months, it still would not be taxable under the interstate commerce laws, and so forth, but once it comes to rest here as the property of a Pennsylvanian to be used here, it is clearly taxable, and that is what we are doing in this case.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, my point I am bringing up here is to put the majority party on notice that in my humble opinion you are skating on very thin ice, and the entire fiscal program of this Commonwealth might be tied into something which has not been decided by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I in answer to the gentleman's last remarks state that in the retail sales tax bill, which recently expired, there was a section on use and the tax imposed thereon, and to the best of my knowledge nobody raised a question of whether it was constitutional or not. I am sure the gentleman, if he was a Member in 1953, voted for it believing that it was constitutional to do so. We are doing nothing more in this bill.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I was not present in 1953 and I am not accountable for certain laws passed in 1953. The fact that there was a tax imposed by an act in 1953 which was not challenged does not make that tax constitutional. Of course, I didn't want to spoil the gentleman's dinner with this hot potato, Mr. Speaker, but I think this House should look into the constitutionality as well as the other factors.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I say in answer to the gentleman's last remark that I think his hot potato is a dead duck? I think the courts have already decided this question.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I want to find out what dinner, Mr. Speaker, is going to be spoiled.

Mr. Speaker, I had a nice speech here, but I don't think the Members would appreciate it right now. I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader just on a few questions as a matter of clearing up the record.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. Will somebody get me a chair? I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. First of all, Mr. Speaker, I think the Majority Leader should be congratulated on standing here and answering a tremendous number of questions which, in all fairness, he did not have to do. If the front office had been fair about this thing and had not tried to bulldoze a bill through, the Majority Leader would not have been confined all afternoon, probably for five or six hours answering questions, but it just seems nobody knows too much about this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Minority Leader, is that a question?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. No, that was just a word of thanks, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. Speaker, under this present excise tax bill, 1879, we are led to believe that automobiles are to be taxed?

Mr. READINGER. In my opinion that is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, what I would like to do as just a matter of legislative intent. The constitution says: "All proceeds from gasoline and other motor fuel excise taxes, motor vehicle registration fees and license taxes, operators' license fees and other excise taxes imposed on products used in motor transportation."

If automobiles are to be taxed as a matter of legislative intent, I think this is terribly important, will that tax go to the general fund or will it go to the highway fund under the constitutional provision of Article 9?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in my opinion it will go into the general fund, it will not go into the highway fund.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, can we definitely state here that it is the legislative intent of both parties that this amount of money go into the general fund?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I will be willing to so state.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman states that it is the legislative intent. I wanted to clear that up because there seems to be some difference of opinion in the thinking among the legal talent we have on this side of the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman just a little bit more. Under the original bill coal, I understand, was in the bill, fertilizer was in it, and gas and oil products. Am I right on that, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, partly and partly not. I think that the definition of "Manufacture" on page 2 of the bill did not include coal, but in order to make it very clear that coal was not to be included the word "mining" has been inserted. I think if you read it without the word "mining," it still would exclude coal as not being a manufactured product.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, was it the intent that coal be in the bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it was the intent that coal not be in the bill.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Not be in the bill, all right. Mr. Speaker I ask the gentleman if I remember correctly, the Governor in his message insisted that any exemption would reduce the revenue, and I am quoting, from $420 million. Could the gentleman give me an estimate knowing, and I am giving him these figures, that there is 2.6 billion gallons of gas in this state and there is approximately $200 million of fertilizer used in this state, how much money that is going to reduce the Governor's original estimate of $420 million?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think the estimated loss of revenue on fertilizer is between $2.5 and $3 million for the rest of this biennium. I have no figures on the gas. It is our hope that the gross recipts tax on gas, which I think we have already passed in the House and is now in the Senate Committee, will be enacted. Therefore, it would not be taxable under this bill.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I might not have made myself clear, but I am talking about gasoline. There are 2.6 billion gallons of gasoline used in this state. Do you have any estimate of what that would take off of the Governor's estimate of that $420 million?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding from the best estimate I have been able to obtain that it will reduce it from $420 million to $410 million, a loss of $10 million dollars:

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. That is another reason Mr. Speaker, that we have asked another day to hold this bill up. We get authentic figures that it probably will reduce it by approximately $30 millions. We could be wrong, we could be right, Mr. Readinger could be wrong and he could be right. We are just trying to prove when we say that, that there certainly is need for further study of this bill. The Governor when he made his speech was very insistent that there be no exemption. All the exemptions that are there in the bill were put there by the Governor's office.

I would also like to add, Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman tell me how you arrived, or how the Governor arrived, if that is possible, on $194 million on each one percent.

Mr. READINGER. Of this excise tax, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I believe the Governor quoted that one percent would bring in $194 million dollars, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if he was speaking about that balance of the biennium, I think—

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. No, I say Mr. Speaker, one per cent for the biennium. He stated that it would bring in, three and one-half per cent for the balance of the biennium, $420 million. Let us put it that way. Would you tell me how he arrived at the $420 million figure?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think when the decision was made to exempt all food, our economists, our assistants, and so forth, made the best estimate they could and arrived at the figure of $90 million a year for one per cent and, of course for the balance of the biennium, being more than a year, it would raise more than three and one-half times 90. I cannot give the gentleman the breakdown on the analysis, I know that Federal reports were taken on the sales of products, and so forth, in the state of Pennsylvania, including all types of commodiites, and based on the total reported sales for, I suppose the last year of 1954, the computations were made and the estimated yield was figured out.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, again not trying to pinpoint the gentleman too much, but are any of those figures available for anybody on the minority side or anybody on the Press so that we could have them and study those figures before this evening?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would not know where to obtain them at the moment. Those figures have been available for everybody in the Commonwealth for a long time, they are published reports. I imagine the United States Department of Commerce has published many of these reports. I do not have the tax study reports before me but various estimates were set forth in them. That document has been in our hands for months. It is simply the best estimate of what this tax would yield based on the facts which are available to the public. We could be very low, we could be over or under—estimating this by some millions of dollars, but, after all, we must compute these things in some way. I think when the gentleman had the problem of computing the yield of the retail sales tax he had the same problem and no doubt used the same basic figures that we are using in this estimate, the amount of sales in Pennsylvania on which the tax would fall.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I think the point I was trying to prove was that the Governor's estimate of $420 million—and I never like to use the Governor's words because when I do I always have to be very careful. I would say this is just what he uses, his own terminology, it is not an estimate, it is just a doggone good guesstimate. The Governor was accusing us continually of guessing. If anybody is guessing, if those are the kind of answers we get, and I do not condemn the Majority Leader for that because he is in the dark as much as anybody else is, these are not accurate figures and I would like somebody to prove them. Our figures would be considerably more. If the Governor would like to give us some figures before tonight, before we vote on this bill, we would like to have them, but I personally do not think the Governor has any figures. He is guessing. He could be within 50, he could be within 100, he could be within 200 million, because, Mr. Speaker, those figures are just not available for anybody to use, they are guesstimates.

The Majority Leader is unfortunately placed in a spot where he even has to admit to that. I blame the Governor in the front office again for pushing this bill, giving it to the people of Pennsylvania, and you and I do not know when this Bill is voted on tonight whether it will bring $700 million of taxpayers' money, or $800 million, or $400 million. Nobody knows.

Again I am pleading with you to give us a break and give the people a break at knowing what money it is going to bring in, so that we can talk to them and so you can go home without hanging your head.

I will save the speech for tonight, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the last question and the comments of the Minority Leader, may I say that the Pennsylvania Economy League personnel has been used extensively by this administration in its research work. I think all of us know enough about the Pennsylvania Economy League to have a great deal of faith in the thoroughness and the honesty with which they approach a problem and do this research work.

I had a conference with a gentleman connected with the Economy League this afternoon and I know he has spent a great deal of time going over the basic data upon which an estimate of this kind must be based. I know that I value his opinion highly and I know that the administraion does.

While the gentleman on the other side chooses to call it a guesstimate—it is a nice work—it is still an estimate. I must say that in my years as a Member of this Legislature I have seen lots of estimates go sour, including the one that the gentleman's own party made concerning the yield of the retail sales tax. So I am telling you that in our best judgment based on the best advice we have been able to obtain, we think this bill will raise $410 million between now and May 31, 1957. If we are off by $40 million one way, we could be off by $40 million the other way. We still must base our estimated revenues on something, and we have done the best that it is possible to do.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, are these figures the figures given to the gentleman by the Pennsylania Economy League? Is this their report?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, this $410 million figure was given to me by a Professor who is connected with the Pennsylvania Economy League.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, is the entire tax given to you by the Pennsylvania Economy League?

Mr. READINGER. The entire tax on what, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The basic tax, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. The basis of it, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. No, Mr. Speaker. I have not seen the actual totals of sales of manufactured goods purchased in the state of Pennsylvania, I have not seen those figures. I know he has them available.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. What I would like to say is this, Mr. Speaker, and I am not at this point privileged to divulge any names, I am not trying to hide behind that statement, but when something is given to me in confidence I keep it insofar as the gentleman who gives it to me is concerned. I have had a member of the Pennsylvania Economy League tell me they can be wrong or right by $200 million.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if I am in order in discussing the bill on second reading and if we are not going to discuss it on third reading?

The SPEAKER. The bill probably will be discussed at length on third reading. The gentleman is in order, if he desires to discuss the merits of the bill on second reading. The bill can either be passed or defeated by this House on second reading, but it will be discussed on third reading.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Minority Leader. He seems to have had it very easy all during the debate.

The SPEAKER. Will the Minority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The victuals are still getting cold. I shall, Mr. Speaker. I just want the gentleman to remember to be fair, because I have a big speech I shall read back at him if he asks them too tough.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to be tough at all. The Minority Leader yesterday was quite worried about the fairness of the Minority party, back a few years ago on having public hearings on bills. I have always felt that we should have public hearings. I would like to ask the Minority Leader at this time if he has any requests for a public hearing on this particular tax bill?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the public unfortunately have been placed in a position where even if they sent this thing by carrier pigeon, they do not even know about the tax yet. Today is the first day that most people knew about it. The average John Doe citizen does not know yet what is going to hit him and, therefore, I would say the time element alone has eliminated any public requests up to this time. I have not checked my mail since around 12:00 noon when I left the office today.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say if we had a period of time he feels he would have requests for public hearings on this legislation?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I shall guarantee it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I might say to the gentleman that I may be wrong in my statement here. I think back in 1935 or 1937 when we had tax bills there were public hearings granted, but I think they were granted in the Senate. I am not sure of my statement, but to my knowledge I think at that time there were public hearings.

I would like to further ask the gentleman if during the debate that we have had on the bill he has been enlightened and knows pretty well what the bill does?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I certainly believe that anyone sitting through a debate of eight hours would have a pretty low intelligence if he did not know a little bit more than when we started. I presume that both of us know more, is that right, Mr. Lovett?

Mr. LOVETT. I would say that is right, we both know quite a bit more.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to further ask the gentleman if he really considers this a sales tax, hidden sales tax or a sales tax, if he really considers it such?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader please?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland has the floor.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Westmoreland yield so that I may interrogate the Majority Leader?

Mr. LOVETT. I shall be glad to, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland yields to the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, the Majority Leader.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, how did I get into this?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I believe, Mr. Majority Leader, you would be in the confidence of the Governor, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. I would hope so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, did the Governor say that he would sign this tax program he is asking us to pass?

Mr. READINGER. He did not have to tell me that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Will the Governor sign it, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. READINGER. I presume he will, Mr. Speaker. He is espousing it.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I think, Mr. Speaker, that will be the answer to the question of the gentleman from Westmoreland. The Governor has said he will veto the sales tax, the Governor states in all his messages that this is a manufacturers' excise tax. I only give him the Governor's word.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask further of the gentleman if in his own personal opinion, not the Governor's opinion, he himself feels this is a sales tax?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will read every speech I have made he will never find that I have referred to this as a sales tax. I have used the words that the Governor has used, "the manufacturers' excise tax."

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I take it from that the gentleman does not think this is a sales tax in any form?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I believe I answered the gentleman on it, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his answer on that.

Now I would like to further interrogate him, if I may.

During the debate on the classified income tax that we had I recall the gentleman referring to that act as a wage tax. If the gentleman can explain why he contends very strenuously that this is an excise tax now, and construed a classified income tax as a wage tax, then I shall appreciate his explanation of how he can accomplish that.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I will try. I think the gentleman will agree, and I will have to then interrogate him in turn, Mr. Speaker. If a bit of money is taken from an individual's wages or salary, what kind of a tax would that be? Would that not be a wage tax? In Philadelphia where we take from the people's salary a percentage of it, is not that a wage tax? Or shall we dress it up by calling it a classified income tax? It comes out of the man's wages.

Mr. LOVETT. You can dress it up by calling it a income tax.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. But it is a wage tax.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman agree with me that it is . . .

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the gentleman a question. Is it a wage tax?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, it is an income tax.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I see. Does the average working man when he gets his envelope come home and say to his wife, "Darling, here is my income," or does he say "Here are my wages?"

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, when I go home I say to my dear wife, "Darling, this is my income."

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Of course, Mr. Speaker, it depends on what bracket you are in.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to make the interrogation funny. I feel that if the gentleman had requests for public hearings I was perfectly willing to go along and have a public hearing. I feel the gentleman well knows that the manufacturer will pass this on to the consumer, is that correct? Do you feel that will happen?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I presume that the manufacturer after passing it on to the jobber, after passing it on to the distributor, it will be a pyramided excise tax passed on to the consumer, yes.

Mr. LOVETT. Now Mr. Speaker, we are going to pass an excise tax on to the consumer, is that it?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, that is what it is. The Governor says so. I do not want to make this gentleman a fabricator, he says it is an excise tax, here is his message.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, in order to make my point —I thank the gentleman very kindly for his answers, he certainly is evasive in the thing. He, to my knowledge, has advocated a sales taxes all during the session of the Legislature, he has advocated that the Governor swallow his pride and that we have a sales tax. To my mind this is a sales tax, it will be passed on to the consumer and will be a sales tax. The responsibility for this sales tax that we now have, or that we are going to vote for, comes from the demand of the other side of this House that we have a sales tax and not an income tax. So, therefore, Mr. Speaker, I just would like to make it clear that I do not feel that the responsibility for this sales tax is over here on this side of the House, the responsibility is over there on that side of the House.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman is correct, the Governor will not be able to sign it. Either he does not agree with the Governor or the Governor does not agree with his thinking, because the Governor has continually said he would veto a sales tax. If the Governor signs this bill, it will prove to anyone who has listened to him that it is not a sales tax. The Governor is bound by his own promise, unless he chooses to break that one too, and signs a sales tax.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1880, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections twenty and twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" by requiring additional reports and changing the due date of certain payments of capitol stock tax and franchise tax and changing the gross receipts fraction applicable to foreign corporations

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, November 23, 1955.

The House met at 12:01 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend Viggo Swenson, Pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Harrisburg, guest Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and most merciful Father, who has promised that where two or three are gathered together in Thy name Thou wilt be in the midst of them, be present with us now, we humbly pray. Give clarity of thought and depth of insight to these assembled legislators. May they ever be conscious of being watched by people who yearn for peace, freedom and economic well-being. But watched also by people who desire unmerited gain and special privilege. May Thy servants here keep before them the ideals for which the Pilgrims risked their lives. May they bend their efforts to maintaining these ideals. Let neither unjust criticism nor misunderstanding of their motives ever cause them to swerve from their duty. Where people refuse to understand or appreciate their efforts, give each of them the assurance of Thy approving, "Well done, good and faithful servant." In the Master's Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, November 22, 1955, will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. LIMPER, CIANFRANI, FRASCELLA, COMER, BRANCA, GELFAND, EILBERG, MULDOWNEY, Mrs. VARALLO, Messrs. PETTIGREW, GRANVILLE E. JONES, FINEMAN, HOLT, Mrs. SARA A. ANDERSON, Mrs. MONROE, Mr. MULLEN, Mrs. PASHLEY, Messrs. McCORMACK, FLOYD, DOUGHERTY, HEAVEY, BAZIN, ROSEN, TAYLOR, KOLANKIEWICZ, McGEE, TOLL and LEVEN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, November 23, 1955.

The late Honorable Miles W. Lederer was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on December 30, 1897, and died on December 25, 1953. He was married to the former Susan A. Scullin.

In the earlier years of his life he attended Northeast High School and Business College, then became an auditor investigator with the Department of Auditor General for twelve years. In addition thereto he was leader of the Eighteenth Democratic Executive Committee and member of the Democratic State Executive Committee.

During World War I he served overseas and upon his return became very active in many social, fraternal, political and civic organizations, including the American Legion, Elm Tree Post 88, Shackamaxon Civic Association, Penn Treaty Parent-Teachers Association, 18th Ward Community Council, was active in organizing the Shackamaxon Boys Club, now under the supervision of the Crime Prevention Association, and advocated a program to make Penn Treaty Park a National Shrine. His great interest in the police force of the City of Philadelphia rewarded him the office of Secretary of the Police Pension Fund.

In 1948 he was elected to the House of Representatives from his district and served for three successive terms with a devotion to his duties and a keen interest in his community. His life was a model of diligence, humility and self-sacrifice. His wise and valuable counsel was sought by his associates in all walks of life. His generosity and kindness to others was evidenced by his extensive and relentless efforts to help his fellow citizens on every possible occasion; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby extends its heartfelt sympathy and condolences to Mrs. Susan A. Lederer, the bereaved widow of the late Representative Miles W. Lederer and to his children; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Susan A. Lederer and the children.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. AMARANDO asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Motor Vehicles to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. MUSTO asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Townships to meet during the session of the House.

JUDGE WOODSIDE WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the Hall of the House of the Honorable Robert E. Woodside, former Member of this House, a former Floor Leader, and now a Judge of the Superior Court.

Without objection, the Chair asks Judge Woodside briefly to adress the Members of the House. The Chair hears no objection.

ADDRESS BY JUDGE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE

JUDGE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and

Members of the House, judges are not accustomed to making speeches at this hour of the night, although I had a lot of experience here in the old days of talking around this hour and a great deal later. I have gotten out of the habit of talking at night and most other times, too.

This is the first time I have been back in the House of Representatives while it was in session this year, and I certainly want to say hello to all my old friends. It is sort of like coming back to "homecoming" at college to be back in the House of Representatives and see all my old friends. I know the importance of the work you are doing. You have an opportunity to do a lot of constructive work in the House of Representatives. I often said that getting out of the House of Representatives and getting on the Bench was a little bit like getting out of a baseball game and starting to umpire. It is really more fun to play baseball than it is to umpire. You are here in a very important capacity and are doing a very important job.

I am certainly privileged to be back here and I congratulate the Speaker on the splendid work he does. I know when I was over on that side of the House and he was over on this side, I was always very careful in my debate, because I knew he was going to answer and I knew he always had very keen remarks, very logical, and the witty and sharp barbs were always very interesting. It is a great pleasure to be back here and to say "hello" to all of you.

SENATOR MAHANY WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair also notes the presence in the Hall of the House of the distinguished Senator, the Majority Leader in the other branch of this General Assembly. The Chair invites the distinguished Senator to occupy a seat on the rostrum and, if he is so disposed and is so graciously inclined, to make a few remarks to the Members of this group. The Chair hears no objection.

ADDRESS BY SENATOR ROLAND B. MAHANY

SENATOR ROLAND B. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I, too, am glad to return to the scene of my first crimes in Harrisburg, along with Judge Woodside. He has gone a lot farther than I have. I have just gone to the upper House and he has gone on beyond so that he ca ninterpret all the things that we do here.

I am a little bit suspicious that all the Speaker is doing here in calling on us old Members is to stall around a little bit so as to be sure all the Democratic Members are in their seats before you vote on this tax bill tonight.

I want you to give it all due consideration, because when you fellows get through with it and send it over to the Senate, we expect to scrutinize every paragraph of it We expect to go into all the details and certainly want to find out how far the word "fertilizer" goes and see if we canont put in some good exemptions for the benefit of our farmers.

It is always nice to be back here and visit with you. I will say this, you have a lot more spirit over here at times than we do over there and sometimes I long to be back here and engage in the tussles you have on the floor of the House of Representatives.

I do want to take this opportunity, however, to bring you greetings from the great branch this is known as the "Upper House" of the Legislature, the great Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. Where they ever got that stuff of th "Upper House," I really would not know. I think it is a inheritance from the English tradition where the Hous of Lords was on one level and the House of Common on the other. So the House of Lords got the appellatio of the "Upper House." But I call your attention to th record of history, the time came when the British Hous of Lords ceased to exercise its sovereinty and became th subject of the lower house, the British House of Commons

CALENDARS DISTRIBUTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the Chief Clerk t distribute calendars for Wednesday, November 23rd. An Members who have not received a copy of the calenda will contact the Chief Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. SNIDER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be reported from Committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the Hall of the House of a distinguished Democrat, the Honorable Guy J. Swope, and his charming wife. Mr. Swope has served as Governor of Porto Rico, he was a member of General MacArthur's staff in Tokyo and a member of High Commissioner McCloy's staff in Germany. The Chair invites the Honorable Guy J. Swope to address the House.

ADDRESS OF HON. GUY J. SWOPE

Mr. SWOPE. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I would like to take just a moment to express to you the extreme devotion that I have for the representative system of the American government and the government of the various states and Commonwealths of this union. Having been General MacArthur's officer on the recreation of the Japanese parliament following the war and working with the new German Bundesrath in Germany after the war, two bodies which were created upon the ashes of two other parlimentary bodies which did not do the basic work that a parlimentary body is supposed to do and brought ruin to both of those countries. Therefore, knowing something about the American system before I went over there, when I came back I had an added devotion to the system which we follow in this country with two responsible and responsive parties openly fighting out the battle on the floors of our various legislative bodies, and coming eventually to the decision which is the will of the people.

Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional sentence section clause or part thereof not been included herein

Section 503 Effective date The provisions of this act shall take effect on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-six

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I believe there are some other Members on this side of the House and I would yield to the other Republican Members and speak last, if it meets with your approval.

The SPEAKER. To whom does the Minority Leader yield?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, the Minority Leader, yields to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, in connection with the interrogation of the Majority Leader, last evening he admitted that the production of coke would be within terms of bill 1879.

I would like to call to the attention of the House the impact of this admission. Coke is one of the necessary items used in the production of steel. Steel is the main product and the lifeline of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. If this item of coke has an increased cost of three and one-half per cent, the devastating influence upon our steel mills should be realized by everybody regardless of party affiliation. It means that the steel mills of western Pennsylvania, the steel mills in central Pennsylvania and the new steel mills in eastern Pennsylvania will be at a disadvantage with those companies which are operating in West Virginia, Ohio and Maryland.

This is a sad way in which to increase the economic strength of this Commonwealth, and we say to you that if you pass this bill and impose an additional cost of three and one-half per cent on the coke products used in the production of steel, you will be taking jobs away from steel workers throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I want to be as brief as possible, but I would like to call to your attention another industry which will be affected by bill No. 1879. I have before me a telegram from the Pittsburgh Wholesale Jewelers Association representing 34 wholesale jewelers and manufacturers. This telegram reads in part as follows:

> "We solicit your cooperation in defeating the three and one-half per cent manufacturers' tax which they consider a detriment to business in Pennsylvania in general and to the retail and manufacturing jewelers' business in particular. The law tries to make all manufacturing businesses the same regardless of product and must increase the consumer price up to ten per cent on all manufactured goods on its enactment."

In the brief time which we have had to have this legislation reviewed by people who are interested in the welfare of the Commonwealth, you must realize that when this bill is passed, if it is passed, you will receive complaints from every line of industry as to the impact not only upon the industries but upon the consumer.

The Majority Leader very, very lightly passed off the question as to who would be the individual who would eventually have to bear the burden of this particular tax. Anybody familiar with the facts of business in Pennsylvania today, or in any other state, knows that the average net profit of the business of a department store or a manufacturing establishment is less than five per cent and in most cases approximately three per cent. Industry, retail, manufacturing, or otherwise cannot bear the burden of this particular tax, it must be passed on to the consumer.

I will give you this example, if you have a three and one-half per cent manufacturing tax, when it is passed on to the wholesaler he has a mark-up of 20 per cent, and when it is passed on by the retailer to the consumer there is a markup of 40 per cent. I will say to you that when this tax is eventually paid by the consumer, by the everyday citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvasia, the cost to him will be five per cent. This is a tremendous burden upon the citizens of this state, and I say to you if you want to keep industry in this state, if you want to be fair to the average taxpayer, you want to be fair to the man who has to buy clothing and shoes, defeat this tax.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I request the privilege of interrogating the Majority Leader for just a moment, please.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, may I call your attention to Article II, Section 201, subsection (b), and ask you is there any definition of the phrase "tangible personal property" in this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think there is no definition of tangible personal property.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, may I ask what is your definition of tangible personal property.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would say that in the ordinary definition in the dictionary of the three words as to the meaning of tangible personal property, tangible means something you can touch, see, feel; personal means other than real estate, and property means property.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman, and I agree with him. That, therefore, excludes what we term choses in action, is that true?

Mr. READINGER. I would say yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, under subsection (b) would a herd of cattle be tangible personal property?

Mr. READINGER. I would say yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, if I, who represent a number of dairy farmers should purchase a herd of cattle in Ohio under this section and bring them into Pennsylvania, must I pay a three and one-half per cent excise tax on that purchase?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say no, cattle is not a manufactured product.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, then may I ask the gentleman why you do not phrase subsection (b) as follows: "Use of all manufactured tangible personal property," rather than just "tangible personal property," so that it might be clarified.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman speaking of subsection (b)? On which page?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, subsection (b), Article 2, Section 201. In other words, my inquiry is directed to the fact that there is no proper definition of tangible personal property in this particular section and under that particular section it could well be interpreted that a herd of cattle brought into the state would be taxable unless you use the word "manufactured," because it is no place thus defined. I grant you it is a technical question, but it could very well come up after this bill becomes law.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I call to the attention of the gentleman to the fact that the entire meaning of this act all the way through relates to manufactured products and not to such things as animals, straw, hay, and other items which are not manufactured.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry. I beg the gentleman's pardon. I find you now have it in the new bill and it has been corrected. I apologize for my inquiry. It is here in the new bill, the very question that I am asking, and I apologize sincerely.

Mr. READINGER. No apologies necessary.

Mr. STROUP. It is there and I was not aware of it. This is again an illustration, Mr. Speaker, of the fact that we here in the Hall of the House who try to study our bills and know what their import is, have such little opportunity to realize where it comes to us on such very short notice. I erred because of the fact that I have not had an opportunity to look at these amendments.

May I, Mr. Speaker, comment just a little bit further and very briefly upon the particular bill which is now before the House? Beyond any question in my considered but very humble opinion, and I ask the gentleman of the opposition to listen to the words I say, the entire burden of this manufacturers' excise tax is being imposed upon the general public of the state of Pennsylvania. It is not a tax upon the manufacturer at all because he will be able to relieve himself of the burden of that tax by tax deduction under his Federal income tax. It will be passed along to the average citizen. This is a much more onerous an dburdensome tax than your wage and income tax which you submitted to us, it is certainly a much more onerous and burdensome tax than the sales tax the Republican party had in the last administration, and I ask you to consider well the fact that the citizens of Pennsylvania will be paying the price, paying token to this administration in the increased cost of the goods they purchased by reason of the passage of this tax.

The SPEAKER. The Minority Leader has the floor. To whom does he yield?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, may I briefly interrogate the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I tried to get the answer to this from the gentleman before, and since I have read the bill I am not sure that he understood my question, so I am going to have to go over it again.

Mr. Speaker, as I understood it, a power company which furnishes light to customers would be exempt from the payment of this tax because they pay a tax on their gross receipts, is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, if a borough, or township, or any political subdivision, of the Commonwealth had its own power plant and furnished power only to the inhabitants of that borough or township and, therefore, paid no tax on its gross receipts, would they be subject to this tax?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, No. Electricity is not tangible personal property.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, they would not be subject to the tax on the basis that electricity is not a tangible personal property?

Mr. READINGER. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Forest, Mr. Davis.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I request permission to file a statement of my reasons for voting against House Bill 1879.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman, and his statement will be filed with the Clerk and noted in the Journal.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, it so happens that these reasons are set forth in an article I have written and which will appear in my local newspaper, The Forest Press, on Thursday of this week. This article is submitted as my statement:

LEADER'S MANUFACTURERS' TAX HARD ON INDIVIDUAL

Governor Leader's manufacturers' excise tax probably will have passed the House before this is read in print. Heaven willing, and barring drastic change in the bill, I will have voted against it.

Granted that the measure, by a bulky margin, is an improvement over a wage tax—some call it an income tax. Nevertheless, a manufacturers' excise tax, and this proposed one in particular, carries features that are unfair to the people and discriminatingly burdensome to manufacturers and businessmen in this Commonwealth.

And heaping burdens upon industry means, after a certain point is reached, that new industries will pass us by, and existing industries will naturally seek greener pastures beyond our State borders. All of this, of course, means jobs; fewer jobs, if added tax burdens bring about an anemic state of industry.

But it is the unfairness with which this manufacturers' excise tax works directly upon the people themselves, which commands my greater concern. This kind of tax was quite fully discussed in our Republican House Caucus some two and a half years ago. We passed it up rather quickly, and primarily because such a tax, initially imposed at the point of manufacture, creates a psychological inclination all along the channels of distribution to the consumer, whereby each distributing handler adds just a bit more to the price.

These middlemen know that the ultimate, and pyramided, price to the consumer will be blamed upon the manufacturer and the initial excise tax. Such has been the experience in the few places where this sort of tax has been used. Now this is no criticism of the ethics of the middlemen. They are in business to make a profit. The point is: a manufacturers' excise tax creates an atmosphere where a progression of price-adding gets started, and every middleman must mark up his own extra bit to keep going in a highly competitive field.

Still, the man who ultimately pays, not only the excise tax itself, but also that the jacked-up price-differential, is the consumer. He pays the tax plus an added and uncalled for straight price increase; uncalled for, because this kind of a tax, by its very nature attracts a succession of market-place mark-ups.

Yet, there are other features unfair to the people. Aside from the extra-charge burden, above this excise tax is essentially a sales tax collected at the point of manufacture. Bearing upon this point, it was my position in 1953, and it is now, that a sales tax must exempt the necessities for a man bringing up a large family while laboring under small income. Such necessities as food, clothing, shoes, drugs, some degree of exemption on car-trade-ins, and the like.

But Governor Leader's manufacturers' excise tax exempts only food, and the small salaried, large family provider will be slapped with sizeable price increases for clothing, drugs and other necessities. His budget load will be made much heavier than would be the case under a straight sales tax.

Then, there is an added burden to all taxpayers in Pennsylvania, the great cost of administering and policing a manufacturers' excise tax. Under the Ohio sales tax system of using stamps, only a relatively small force is needed for administration, practically none for enforcement.

In contrast, the Leader manufacturers' excise tax will require a large corps of auditors, snoopers and field men. Of course, these appointments will create many jobs for partisan patronage-needs of the administration in power, but the salary, office, travel and other costs involved will mean just one more inroad into the pocketbooks of individual Pennsylvanians.

Now, I understand that counsel prevails in the Senate that this excise tax is the best compromise that can be worked out with Governor Leader; that these marathon, year-long sessions of the Legislature are bad politically and that the Republicans lost too many local elections two weeks ago for Republican Senators and Representatives to continue a party to the tax stalemate in Harrisburg.

These counsels may well be the considered judgment of legislators far more seasoned and wise than I. Nevertheless, I cannot in good conscience agree or conform. It is my purpose to vote "no."

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, today I congratulate the Majority Leader on the very excellent job he did answering questions.

I think now, Mr. Speaker, that it is no more than fair to congratulate your curly-headed jailer in the back, Dr. Sarraf, for keeping the Members from going out. I noticed he has been doing a very excellent job back there. He seems to have disappeared at this time—there he is.

The SPEAKER. The Chair salutes the gentleman from Allegheny, Dr. Sarraf.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The turnkey has done a very good job.

Mr. Speaker, Governor Leader has said in his releases that this is a "second-best" tax, I believe they are his words. We certainly agree with him, it is the second-best tax. We say that because we feel that it will take more than $700 million from the pockets of the people as a hidden tax to raise $500 million in revenue for the Commonwealth.

You may be a little startled by that. but nevertheless you and I know, and everybody else knows who has anything to do with an excise tax, that an excise tax is bound to pyramid. It just can't be helped, because the dealers include it in their markup. A dealer has a certain markup on an article and, if it is there as a tax, the tax is included in the markup. So therefore it will pyramid.

I say to you that a good part of that money will never reach the Revenue Department of Pennsylvania, and you know that too.

The Governor says that his three and one-half per cent tax will raise approximately $425 million. We ask, How does he know that? I think today we proved on the floor that there is no accurate figure as to what this tax will raise. The very gentlemen that are supposed to have computed this tax for the Governor admit that themselves, that it could vary anywhere between $100, $150 and $200 million either way. It is a new tax. Nobody knows what it is going to bring in. It has never been tried in this country. There never has been one state that tried it. So all that it is is guesstimates of the Governor.

We believe it will raise probably more than a half a billion dollars, which is more money than the state can ever spend. Two years from now, when the tax is in effect for a full biennium, the take will probably go into $750 million of tax money from the people of our state. and the cost to the man on the street will be more than a billion dollars. That is what you want to put into effect in thirty-six hours.

Mr. Speaker, if the caucus in the rear would keep quiet, we probably would not have to holler so loud and might get rid of this speech a lot quicker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair begs the pardon of the gentleman from Philadelphia. The Chair had failed to note the disturbance, otherwise the Chair would have relieved the gentleman of the unpleasant obligation of calling attention to the disregard of the rules of decorum to which this House is properly devoted.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I thank the Speaker.

Now that is what is going to happen and that is the type of a tax that you are putting into effect in thirty-six hours. Yesterday we told you what was going to happen.

I would like you to take House Bill 1879 and keep one thing in mind. Thirty-six hours ago House Bill 1878 was put into this House, that was the original excise tax bill. House Bill 1878 never came from Committee. It died there because there were so many mistakes in it. It had not been given enough time by the administration in their anxiety to put over a political tax bill to the Senate. So House Bill 1879 was put in, and again we said that there was not enough time for the people of Pennsylvania to know, or for the Press to report to the people of Pennsylvania, what was in the bill.

What has happened? Take a look at the bill. There are thirty-five pages and there are not six pages that do not carry amendments, because the Governor was so anxious to get this bill passed. You are passing a bill today now, in less than thirty-six hours, with amendments, so that nobody knows what is taxable in it except the Majority Leader and a few other individuals in this House.

Mr. Speaker, you are rubbing it into the people of Pennsylvania like it has never been rubbed in before. I say to you that this is one of the worst disgraces in the lives of the people of Pennsylvania that we have ever had in this House. Take a look at the bill, if you think I am kidding. Take a look at it, if you think I am playing politics today with the people of Pennsylvania, and it is the man in the front office and he does not seem to care.

The permanent tax you are putting into effect today in this House—and keep that in mind, it is permanent—is going to add a half billion dollars to the cost of living every year in Pennsylvania—whether you think it or not, it is bound to do so.

A second-best tax is a good description. This is one place again where we agree with the Governor. It is certainly not as fair as a retail sales tax, which is honest and certainly does not sneak up on you and pick your pocket when you are not looking, and that is exactly what this excise tax will do. The public may not have liked the pennies they had to pay under the Republican sales tax, but they certainly knew they were paying them. It was not buried down in the price somewhere at one or two times the amount of the tax, and that is exactly what this is going to do. Nor does the retail sales tax fall on the necessities of life, as this tax will.

We predict that the cost of living will go up just about the rate of this tax, even though food will be exempt. We predict that this tax will work like a pay cut for everybody in Pennsylvania, and as a result we will be forced to pay out more for public assistance, it is only natural, and every item for which our government spends tax money is now going to cost them more under this bill.

Certainly we shall take in more money, we are perfectly willing to agree with that, but we are going to spend an awful lot more, too.

Governor Leader has asked the legislature to appropriate more money to local municipalities for streets and roads, and then he turns around and wants to take most of it away again in the form of an excise tax on everything they buy. And keep that in mind, your local municipalities are going to pay more. If you think and the Governor thinks that any manufacturer is going to absorb this tax, let me tell you folks something, think again, because every cent of it is going to be passed on and it is going to be pyramided when it is passed on.

The amount of money from this levy is going to amount to approximately seven per cent. We predict that and we shall be right, see if we are not. It is going to hit your pocketbook over the head. Every time the poor pocketbook's head is turned, somebody is going to hit it over the head with this tax, and it will not be three and one-half per cent, mark my words

The only people this tax will benefit is the legal fraternity. You could see that today, Mr. Speaker. With all the legal brains in this House, I do not believe yet that we have had two of them decide one question unanimously. It is just that complicated. The legal profession is going to have a field day in court with this bill as litigation piles up over what is taxed and how much it is going to be taxed.

Let us look at this one little item. For example, here we find that the tax is imposed on the manufacturer's sale price. Certainly, as all of us know, a lot of our people buy a lot of material and a lot of goods from mail order houses. Everything from shoes to lawnmowers. Now they will be liable for this tax, but what tax will they pay? The Majority Leader today said that if someone went out of the state and bought something from out of the state, that they, the individual who bought it, would be liable for the tax, and two breaths later he said that it would be easier to collect this tax than it was the sales tax. Well, I do not know who he thinks he is fooling. He is certainly not fooling us, and I certainly do not think that the Governor has been fooled very much because from what I can see most of the sales tax staff in the little offices over the state have been kept intact and in many cases increased. I presume, if what the Majority Leader says is true, half of the sales tax office personnel will be laid off, but that has not been the truth nor is it the truth up to this point.

When a fellow goes out of the state, what is he going to pay? What kind of a tax is he going to pay? The bill says the rate is three and one-half per cent on the manufacturer's sales price. But how do we find out what is the manufacturer's sales price? Let us be a little practical about that. No manufacturer is going to put on the article what his sales price is. You know and I know that it is a trade secret. So the Majority Leader admitted today under questioning that the individual who bought something out of state will be paying on the retail price. I believe that is right, if they catch up with the individual. Who is going to tell them what the manufactnrer's sales price is—anybody? No. Is the mail order house going to? They are like fun, you know it and I know it, because they do not have to collect the tax. Is the state going to tell them? The state will tell them if its tax collectors catch up with the individuals, that is the only way, or are they going to guess what it is? So in guessing, if they are caught, they are going to have to pay a penalty probbably, and they are probably going to have to pay that on three and one-half per cent tax. If they pay it on the price they pay the mail order house, they will be paying too much, because they pay on the retail price, according to the bill, because that is the retail price and this is the manufacturer's excise tax. I do not believe there is any doubt of that.

So what is going to be the result of this provision? I shall tell you what the result will be. There will be an invitation to wholesale evasion of this tax by the individuals who live on the borders of the state, and I cannot say I blame them. If it were an honest and above-board tax, like the retail sales tax was, there would never be any question and the rate would be a lot lower.

Why must the people be saddled with this big bill? And keep in mind, it is going to amount to about $700 million, whether you admit it or not. And all these headaches of people trying to reach a tax collector to pay ther bills! Why is it necessary to use this club, this club of House Bill 1879, to raise the money for our schools and our hospitals? I will tell you why. One man went up and down this state last year and made a lot of phony promises, and one was, "Death to the sales tax." We all remember it.

He had his wish, he abolished the one per cent retail sales tax. Keep in mind that retail sales tax cost the people about $130 million in a twenty-four month period. Now look what he is putting in its place, an excise tax that will take from the people of Pennsylvania approximately $700 million; again let me repeat because of pyramiding, so that he can build or try to build a $500 million political machine and the greatest one that the state has ever seen. That is what this bill is going to do.

Furthermore, under the sales tax, what we paid the state as tax could be used to reduce our Federal income tax. But we will not be able to do that under this excise tax. That was admitted today also under interrogation. This will mean another potential loss to our taxpayers of $100 million, because the taxpayers cannot take any of this excise tax from their Federal income tax. Yet every little taxpayer, no matter how small he was or how large he was, was able to deduct the sales tax, the terrible, horrible sales tax. But this one he does not deduct.

While the Republican Members of this House are not going to vote for this tax, I am not sure at all that it will not become law because of the desperate plight of our schools and our hospitals as the result of the stubbornness of one man, Governor Leader.

Governor Leader, through his stubbornness and his insistent demands for a wage tax in the face of almost universal opposition, has brought our state's fiscal affairs to such a point where even a second-best tax, such as he now has proposed, seems better than the chaos that threatens our public affairs.

We cannot allow our state to go bankrupt. If the Governor holds a gun to our heads and says this is it, this is it, the Leader three and one-half per cent excise tax that is being given to the people of Pennsylvania without the people knowing what is being given to them, with the only idea of rolling it and bulldozing it to get it into the Senate, as I said before, because he knows that this House or no other House is going to be able to take the heat when the people find out what it is. They will find out. We have been telling them, and thank goodness the Press has been telling them in the short period of time it has had. When the people find out what it is and realize what the Governor has done, I think they will start realizing some of the things we have said, that the Governor is not such a nice-looking, naive, young individual. He has the brains and the mind of a boss politician and is ruling the House and now is trying to dictate to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Hewitt, of Indiana.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not in his seat at this time. If I could serve for him I would be perfectly willing to be interviewed by the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Minority Leader if the co-sponsor on Mr. Hewitt's sales tax is in the House, I don't recall his name.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I understand from some of the individuals that Mr. Hewitt sponsored the sales tax bill by himself and he had no co-sponsor.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, while I didn't get the information that I wished to get from the Minority Leader I will at least accept him as a substitute for Mr. Hewitt.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I hope I will be a capable substitute, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles C. Smith, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Only as a substitute.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if in his honest opinion of a sales tax he does not admit that when a tax is paid by the consumer eventually that the only difference between this tax and Mr. Hewitt's sales tax is the difference that there are a few more boys being in trouble with the sales tax.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I certainly could not agree with that kind of thinking. I don't believe that you could consider a tax paid by any individual, just because it was ultimately paid by the consumer, a sales tax, as the gentleman said.

We have thousands of taxes that are ultimately paid by the consumer which are not sales taxes and in no way shape or form appear to be a sales tax. The fact that the consumer ultimately pays it does not necessarily designate it as a sales tax, in my humble opinion.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I further ask the gentleman that if he agrees that when the individual who buys the article pays the tax, that it is a sales tax?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Will the gentleman just repeat the first part of that question? That, who pays the taxes?

Mr. LOVETT. The consumer, the individual who eventually buys the article, pays the tax, is it not a sales tax?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, no, I would not say that, because a sales tax is designated strictly as a sales tax to be collected by a retailer in a designated amount, which would be over and above the retail price.

In other words the gentleman is saying that any tax paid by the consumer is a sales tax, and he is not correct in my estimation in that statement. I could be entirely wrong but I think I am right.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I say this to the gentleman that when the individual buys the article that the original tax was put on and he doesn't pay that tax until he makes that purchase. he then is paying a sales tax that has been put on somewhere along the line.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. If that would be true, Mr. Speaker, could I then ask the gentleman why the Governor calls this an excise tax?

Mr. LOVETT. May I answer the gentleman by saying that I don't quarrel with the Governor of Pennsylvania. The Republican party has insisted that a sales tax is the proper tax in Pennsylvania. Now, if the Governor was smart enough to use some other words than a sales tax and tie in a few more individuals who were not bothered with the original sales tax, the manufacturers of the state of Pennsylvania and they are tied in here, and the merchants pass it on down the line, each one of them have to bother with a sales tax,—if the Governor was smart enough to put a tax in here that could fool Mr. Smith on the other side of the House that it is not a sales tax and the Governor will then sign it, I find no fault with the Governor.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we seem to have a differential of words. Of course the gentleman's opinion whether the Governor is smart enough to do this, I don't know. I would like to say, and I don't like to say it, but I am forced to, I have heard rumors that the gentleman from Westmoreland is going to vote against the tax. If the gentleman is trying to justify his vote against this tax to get me to admit it is a sales tax, I am afraid I in all sincerity cannot do it. I don't believe it is a sales tax. I don't believe that the United States government believe it is a sales tax. Because as I just reminded you a few minutes ago, a sales tax is directly deductible from your income tax. Mr. Speaker, from all I can understand from all of the attorneys and from your own Majority Leader, this tax is not deductible from your income tax. Now there must be a difference. I can't say anymore than I have, but certainly I am not designating the difference. The governor is designating it, your own Majority Leader is designating it, and everyone else seems to be. You can't deduct this tax, you can a sales tax. You tell me the answer.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, thank the gentleman very kindly, and I might say to him that while he says that the individual cannot deduct this from his income tax he also admits the manufacturer can deduct it from his income tax.

Therefore, the deduction is in there some place. It is just a matter in my mind of adding a few more people in this sales tax.

One of the gentlemen who spoke a few minutes ago said that a classified income tax was a better tax than this tax is. But the same gentleman voted against the classified income tax. Now, what tax does he want the Governor to give them in Pennsylvania that he is going to vote for? What do you want? What are you asking of the Governor? You want to sit down and write the thing out for the Governor, you have insisted that the sales tax is the thing. If this isn't a sales tax all the newspapers in Pennsylvania are a little daffy. I noticed in the Philadelphia paper tonight, if you read it, Mr. Speaker, they will tell you that it is a sales tax. All the papers will tell you that. They will tell it to all you men over there. Now, what do you want? Even though I vote against this tax program, that is no reason why you fellows that have insisted upon a sales tax, should vote against it. You should vote for it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair believes parliamentary courtesy would entitle the Majority Leader to close the discussion. Are there any other Members of the House who desire to be heard?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I would not ask for the floor again except that the gentleman, Mr. Lovett, I believe, was commenting upon my presentation to the House. Therefore, I want to answer his question.

The tax I want is a sales tax. Mr. Lovett claims through his presentation to us, that this is a sales tax in disguise. Now, if it is a sales tax in disguise and the public is not going to know it, if that is true, then indeed it constitutes a deception upon the people of Pennsylvania because they are paying a sales tax and not an excise tax.

That is nothing new insofar as Democratic policy is concerned in this House this year.

Mr. PETROSKY, Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to enter into a general discussion of the bill that is before us, and cover a point or two of reflections that have been bandied about in this House concerning the leadership of this administration and state government at the present time, especially in reference to this particular tax measure.

Now, we have heard the Minority Leader time and time again get up and talk about the phony promises made by our Governor. We have heard the big guns of the Republican party trained upon our Governor, I say to you, in a futile attempt and endeavor to discredit him and his administration in office.

We have heard the charge of politics being played with a tax program. Now, I want to say to the gentlemen on the other side of the House, this administration has embarked upon a program of good government. We feel that good government is good politics. That is the way that we are going to survive in this administration.

We have nothing to hide. The facts and the figures that are computed to show the estimated return in this tax have been compiled from sources that are accurate and reliable. They have been computed by people that are known throughout this Commonwealth as being persons that are irreproachable as far as character is concerned and as far as effective economy, in government is concerned. In fact, they have at all times endeavored to bring about the best possible for the welfare of the state of Pennsylvania.

Now, when the gentleman talks about phony promises I believe I know a little bit about the campaign last November, being one of the participants in that campaign. It was clearly stated then that we would weed out the discrepant and deteriorating way of government and the way it was administered in the past, because of the politics as usual that was played and the ambition of the people who didn't give one tinker's dam for the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania.

Today we have initiated a new program in government in Pennsylvania. Good government is good politics and we have a program here that we can put it into effect for the people of Pennsylvania. I want to say that even though a classified income tax was the best program that we could have possibly given to the citizens of Pennsylvania, here we have a well rounded program that is going to give the essentials that are needed for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the way of the mental and health programs, the welfare program, the redevelopment of Pennsylvania, one that the people of Pennsylvania will be proud of, and this administration will take the responsibility for the tax program. I know that the people will recognize the needs of this administration as they have been written, and will show it in future elections by returning this administration to power again.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire to be recognized.

Mr. READINGER. I do, Mr. Speaker, unless somebody else desires to speak on this bill.

The SPEAKER. If there is any other Member who desires to address the House, the Majority Leader will yield, otherwise it is understood that the Majority Leader will close the discussion. The Majority Leader will proceed.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, we have labored long and hard today and it is rather late. I do not intend to apologize for taking whatever time I feel is necessary to discuss this most important tax bill, even though it is late and we might be tired, because as I said quite some time ago when we were on the subject of taxes and passed our first tax program, this is not a matter in which anybody should have to apologize to somebody else for taking up his time late at night.

Much has been said during the debate this afternoon and tonight about this particular tax bill, but very little has been said about the reason why we come to a point such as this, and why it is necessary to ask the people of Pennsylvania to pay such a substantial tax bill.

I would like to take just a minute once again to remind the membership of this House of the fact that during the last 25 years Pennsylvania has not only grown in size and population, industrial production and so forth, but has grown tremendously in its acceptance of the social responsibility to its people and particularly its children

One of the main reasons why we must wrestle with this eternal tax problem is the cost of education. Not very long along, as a matter of fact yesterday, I guess it was, we passed a Senate bill which will increase our educational costs by another $31 million.

When the Governor gave us his budget message earlier this year, he estimated he would need $52 million in new revenue over and above that expected to be raised by the then existing tax bills. Since that time there have been innumberable budget discussions between the Members of the House and the Members of the Senate concerning the matter of how much this administration should be allowed to spend for various functions of state government. After much labor and a lot of thought, and care, and research certain reductions were made, or rather were agreed on, but the fact still remains that we are going to need about $465 million of new money over and above what we were raising before. That, I say, poses a very, very difficult problem for any administration.

This is only a second-best tax program. Earlier this session the membership of this House passed what we thought was a right and equitable tax program. It was rejected summarily by the State Senate and the question was thrown right back in our laps as to how shall we raise this money. A lot of thought was given to the matter of how this should be raised, and when the decision was finally made by the administration, advanced by the administration and put into the form of this bill and presented to the Democratic Caucus of this House, the Democratic Caucus decided that this bill should be accepted as our tax bill, as our means to raising this money, and we are here tonight ready to vote for it, to accept the responsibility for it.

The Minority Leader would like to have us believe, or have you believe rather, that we Democrats are simply serfs and slaves of the Governor and we jump to his dictation and his bidding. Let me tell you that we have a lot of very strong-minded men on this side of the House and they make up their own minds. It is true the administration proposed this bill, but if the Democratic membership did not like the bill I assure you it would reject it just as you tell us you are going to reject it tonight.

So we are here, admittedly after a very short time for discussion, proposing to vote for a bill which will raise $410 million.

Mr. Smith in his discussion speaks about this bill raising $700 million. He offers no explanation of how he arrives at that figure. He states that somebody connected with the Economy League admits that our estimate might be off by $100 million. That is true, it might be. We might only get $320 million on this bill, or we might get $500 million, we just don't know. The best we can do is gather the figures that are available and tell you what they are and tell you that we expect to raise that amount of money and therefore help to balance our budget.

Furthermore, speaking of burdens of taxes, we are not only going to have to pass this tax bill, but we are going to have to pass some other ones to make up the difference between $410 million and $465 million.

I don't intend to discuss the details of this bill tonight. We have listened to that all afternoon. I might point out in passing that some of the Members of the opposition have gone as far as they possibly could to point out certain unpopular and unfortunate things about a bill of this kind.

I believe it was Mr. Tompkins who made a great point of the fact that churches will have to pay on their purchases in certain iinstances, so will hospitals, so will schools, private schools would. Of course, we expect that. Whenever you propose a bill, I guess we get up and shoot it full of holes if we can, point out all of the inequities, and what not, it is normal to expect it of you, and I certainly wasn't surprised. But I say there is no tax bill that can be written which will not be burdonsome to somebody and particularly burdensome to some.

The Minority Leader speaks about the burden of this falling on the public. One of the gentlemen on the other side spoke about it falling on the little fellow, and so forth. Let me tell you that there is no type of broad base tax, and this is a broad base tax, which isn't going to fall to some extent one the consumer. We don't expect industry to absorb $410 million in the next 16 months. We know it won't, but neither do you know that they are going to pass the whole $410 million down to the consumer.

I would like to analyze this business of pyramiding for just a moment. Under the retail sales tax the one per cent tax was a mark up on the retail price. Now the retail price must necessarily have included the cost to the manufacturer plus his profit, the cost to the wholesaler plus his profit, the cost to the retailer plus his profit, and whatever the ultimate of the price was your one per cent was added by law to that and by law passed on to the consumer. He very definitely knew that he was paying a sales tax, there is no question about it. You kept him reminded constantly of it when a merchant said I need three pennies, or I need ten cents, or I need two dollars tax. You had the courage to pass what you thought was right and we are going to pass what we think is right.

But let us analyze the method by which this tax will be computed. If a manufacturer decides he is going to pass the entire tax on, he adds the three and one-half per cent at his price. If the wholesaler because of competition decides that he was making enough profit on that item before when he received the $10 we paid for it, he can mark it up to $10 plus three and one-half, or $10.35. He can sell it to his retailer plus his markup with no more pyramiding. The retailer can say, "Well, 35 cents has been added to my cost, I will put my normal markup on the cost, and I won't add anything more than the 35 cents and I'll be in a good competitive position." I say to you that there will be thousands and thousands of instances where the only thing that is passed on to the consumer will be the actual tax paid by the manufacturer. Of course, we can assume that somebody can pyrimid if he wants to. I think most businessmen, if they are able by competition and under competitive conditions, to make more money than they were making before, they will mark their prices higher. It is only normal to make what a person considers a reasonable profit. If a person has an excellent market, he will make more than a reasonable profit. It is the way business is transacted. I don't think anybody is in business for the sheer pleasure of making something and selling it to somebody at the lowest possible price whether he makes any money or not. That isn't the way business is conducted.

And so it goes. We could argue forever, I suppose, as to how much of this tax is going to be passed on to the consumers, but when you say a lot of it is going to be passed on, I say you are right, it will be. And who is receiving the benefit from the money that we are raising and spending by the state but the people of the state? Our children are going to the schools, we are using the parks, we or our relatives, someday might need these mental hospitals we are building and we are enlarging. We want all of these things, and we are going to pay for them. You and I will pay for them. It is a question of how it is to be done.

I don't think this tax is going to be particularly popular. I don't expect it to be. I don't think any kind of a tax would be popular, but you know and I know that the people of this state do not want any flat income tax. They rejected it once before back in 1951 through the State Senate. We should have a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania, which I think many of us on both sides would very much like to see, then we could really have a tax based on ability to pay. So we must work within the framework of our constitution and this is our solution as to how it should be done.

I don't think anybody is being kidded about whether or not the public is going to have to pay a lot or most of this tax. We Pennsylvanians are fairly honest and know what is going on and if we pay a few cents more on the completed manufactured product and it is passed on down to us we will pay it. When we needed more money for roads and highways, we imposed additional taxes on gasoline, and the people paid that. It is true that the amount of the tax specifically earmarked and the people know how much is tax, but, nevertheless, it is paid and it is paid willingly in most cases because we want the roads and we want the highways.

Mention has been made tonight about the efficiency of collection. I am not going to dwell on that subject except to say that I think this tax, just as any other tax that we might see fit to impose, will be collected as efficiently as good, honest employes of the state can do it. We will employ enough people to collect it reasonably and we do not expect to find any wholesale chiseling, and, if we do find it, we are going to prosecute. Any good government would do that. The Federal government does it and so will the state of Pennsylvania. I don't know what the cost of collecting the retail sales tax was per thousand dollars, but I do believe that the cost, the actual cost of collecting this per thousand, will be less. Not that that makes this a particularly good tax, but I do think it is certainly as collectible as a retail sales tax and that the collection will be made honestly and efficiently.

This has been called a political tax bill tonight. What the reason might have been to call it a political tax bill I wouldn't know. I don't think it is particularly pleasant for any administration to have to impose taxes. It certainly was not very pleasant back in 1935 when the Democrats were in control of this Legislature to have to pass half a dozen emergency taxes so the people wouldn't starve in the state of Pennsylvania. But the need was there and it was done. The need is here today and we are going o pass a tax program, and we hope the Senate sees fit to pass it.

We have been here now practically 11 months. The public is getting the general idea that we cannot make decisions that we do not know how to get together on any thing, but our party is willing to accept this responsibility whether it is popular or unpopular. I know a great deal of political capital will be made out of this. No matter what tax we pass there will be a lot of political capital made out of it.

You have been urging on the other side that the Governor capitulate. For a long time you have been asking why is he so stubborn, why doesn't he just take the retail sales tax, raise the percentage, take out all the exemptions except food, and say this is it. Why should he do it? He does not believe the retail sales tax is fair and equitable. He has said so many, many times and so have many Members in this House, and there is no reason why he should take that type of a tax if he thinks it is wrong. I admire him for his stand.

I will say again that he has not dictated to this Legislature on this tax bill any more than any Governor you ever had dictated. I think it is a function of the executive branch to suggest means and methods of raising money. He has done that. He has done nothing more. We are here in our capacity as legislators. We have considered this. We think it is a good bill. We think it is the best bill that is obtainable under the circumstances in view of our Constitution, and I am now asking the membership of this House to support it.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. BANKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like at this time to state my reason for opposing this bill at this time.

Were I its sponsor, I would still oppose its passage this morning. I sincerely think I would be wrong in doing otherwise before the people of this state had ample opportunity to know its contents and express their desires concerning same.

I see no reason for the haste demanded by the Majority Party in its consideration. A very good example of such action was the passage of flood emergency relief bills some weeks ayo when we placed an additional one cent tax on cigarettes and gasoline which was designed to raise some 50 odd million dollars within the next 24 months. I opposed this action for the very same reason and was most happy I had taken this stand when it was disclosed a few days later that 44 million dollars had been discovered in the Motor Fund without allocation. I am sure this was not just not an accident, but must have been known at the time we were rushed into frantic action through a great "flag waving" appeal to help the unfortunate victims of the disastrous flood in our state at that time.

No, Mr. Speaker, I will not be rushed now! Had we given the people an opportunity to express themselves on the program you are asking it is possible that I might have voted differently. That would have rested with the people of Huntingdon County.

(During the calling of the roll there was a response to the name of Mr. Hewitt.)

The SPEAKER. Someone responded to the name Mr. Hewitt. Has the Clerk recorded Mr. Hewitt as being present?

The SECRETARY. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not present in the Hall of the House. The Clerk will strike his name. This incident is a reproach to the integrity of this body.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the next bill on special order fixed for this time. House Bill No. 1880 on page 38 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1880, as follows:

An Act to further amend sections twenty and twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" by requiring additional reports and changing the due date of certain payments of capital stock tax and franchise tax and changing the gross receipts fraction applicable to foreign corporations

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section twenty of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" as last amended by the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 606) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 20 That hereafter except in the case of corporations of the first class nonprofit corporations and cooperative agricultural associations not having capital stock and not conducted for profit banks savings institutions title insurance or trust companies building and loan associations and foreign insurance companies it shall be the duty of every corporation having capital stock every joint-stock association limited partnership and every company whatsoever now or hereafter organzed or incorporated by or under any laws of this Commonwealth and of every corporation joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever now are hereafter incorporated or organized by or under the law of any other State or Territory of the United States or by the United States or by any foreign government and doing business in and liable to taxation within this Commonwealth or having capital or property employed or used in this Commonwealth by or in the name of any limited partnership or joint-stock association company or corporation whatsoever association or associations copartnership or copartnerships person or persons or in any other manner to make annually on or before the fifteenth day of March for the calendar year next preceding a report in writing to the Department of Revenue on a form or forms to be prescribed and furnished by it setting forth in addition to any other information required by the Department of Revenue

First The amount of its capital stock at the close of the year for which report is made together with the highest selling price per share and the average selling price thereof during said year

Second Its debt account

Third Its income account together with the disposition of any net income and its profit and loss statement

Fourth Its general balance sheet

Fifth Its real estate and tangible personal property if any owned and permanently located outside of the Commonwealth and value of the same and the value of the property if any exempt from taxation

Sixth A valuation and appraisal in the manner hereinafter provided of the capital stock of the said corporation company joint-stock association or limited partnership at its actual value in cash as it existed at the close of the year for which the report is made

The affidavit of two of the officers of such corporation limited partnership joint-stock association or company shall be attached to said report Such affidavit shall be in the form required by the Department of Revenue but shall state in addition to any other averments required by the department that with fidelity and according to the best of their knowledge and belief the affiants have estimated valued and appraised as shown in said report the capital stock of the said corporation at its actual value in cash as it existed at the close of the year for which report is made taking into consideration first the average which said stock sold for during the year and second the price or value indicated or measured by net earnings or by the amount of profit made and either declared in dividends expended in betterments or carried into the surplus or sinking fund and third the actual value indicated or measured by consideration of the intrinsic value of its tangible property and assets and of the value of its good will and franchises and privileges as indicated by the material results of their exercise taking also into consideration the amount of its indebtedness

For the purpose of making payments on account of tax payable under this act for the taxable year one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and thereafter it shall also be the duty of every corporation liable to pay tax under this act to transmit in like form and manner an additional tentative report on or before the fifteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and annually thereafter which report shall set forth (a) the capital stock tax or the franchise tax estimated by the corporation to be due for the taxable year next preceding and reported to the department under the provisions of this act (b) the amount of the latest settlement or resettlement of capital stock tax or franchise tax made against the corporation for a preceding year and (c) such other information as the department may require The additional tentative report of any corporation which reports on a fiscal year basis shall be filed on the same date as the annual report for the preceding taxable year Upon the date its tentative report is required herein to be made every corporation shall pay on account of the tax due for the current year either (a) eighty per cent (80%) of the amount of the estimated tax as reported for the preceding taxable year or (b) eighty per cent (80%) of the amount of the tax last settled or resettled against the corporation for a preceding taxable year whichever amount is greater If the "preceding taxable year" is a portion of the year the eighty per cent (80%) payment on account of the current year shall be computed against such multiple of the tax estimated settled or resettled for such preceding taxable year as the entire year bears to the portion of the preceding year for which the tax was estimated settled or resettled

The remaining portion of the tax due for the current year shall be paid upon the date the corporation's annual report thereof is required herein to be made In the event that the tax paid on account with the tentative report is in excess of the amount of tax finally determined to be due the department shall grant a credit to the corporation for the amount of such excess

Interest or penalty assessed by reason of failure to file a tentative report or make a payment on account of the tax shall be assessed in the same manner as now provided by law for capital stock and franchise taxes but such interest and penalty shall be limited to an amount equal to eighty per cent (80%) of the tax liability for the current year as finally determined Any interest or penalty imposed in excess of this amount if unpaid may be stricken off or if paid may be credited to the account of the corporation

The time for filing annual reports may be extended taxpayers may be permitted to file their annual and tentative reports on a fiscal year basis the procedure in case the Department of Revenue is not satisfied with the appraisement made by the officers of the taxpayer and the penalties for failing to file reports and pay taxes shall be prescribed by law

Section 2 Section twenty-one of said act as last amended by Act No. 171 approved the twenty-seventh day of September one thousand nine hundred fifty-five (P. L. —) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 21 (a) That every domestic corporation other than corporations of the first class non-profit corporations and cooperative agricultural associations not having capital stock and not conducted for profit and every joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a tax at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred as ascertained in the manner prescribed in said twentieth section Provided That the tax of five mills imposed by this subsection on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousatnd nine hundred forty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and one thousand nine hundred fifty-six or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousand nine hundred forty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and one thousand nine hundred fifty-six shall apply to the taxation of captial stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors Provided further That after said ten year period the provisions of this section shall not apply to the taxation of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes which is invested in and actually and exclusively employed in carrying on manufacturing within the State excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors and such as enjoy and exercise the right of eminent domain but every corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association organized for the purpose of manufacturing shall pay the State tax of five mills herein provided upon such proportion of its capital stock if any as may be invested in any property or business not strictly incident or appurtenant to the manufacturing business in addition to the local taxes assessed upon its property in the district where located it being the object of this proviso to relieve from State taxation only so much of the capital stock as is invested purely in the manufacturing plant and business

(b) Every foreign corporation joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a franchise tax at the rate of five mills upon a taxable value to be determined in the following manner The actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred shall be ascertained in the manner prescribed in the twentieth section of this act and shall then be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the taxpayer's tangible property not actually and exclusively used in manufacturing situated within the Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the taxpayer's tangible property wherever situated

(2) Of another third such poration shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes not exclusively engaged in manufacturing in this Commonwealth and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to all its employes

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business not strictly incident or appurtenant to manufacturing in this Commonwealth assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business For the purpose of this section gross receipts shall not include receipts from the sale redemption maturity or exchange of securities except those held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of its trade or business

The sum of the amounts determined in accordance with the foregoing three rules shall be the taxable value In a case where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remaining third equal part of the value of the entire capital stock shall be divided into two equal parts each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules If only one of the three rules is applicable that part of the entire capital stock attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the taxpayers for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employes not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth

The amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth shall be (1) the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year except those negotiated or effected in behalf of the taxpayer by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth and except rents and royalties and interest and dividends (2) rentals or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interest except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth If a taxpayer maintain an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the Department of Revenue shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the taxpayer to the business conducted at such place of business in another state

In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office in the State of Pennsylvania but performed outside the State the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office outside the State but performed in the State the gross receipts under such contract shall be assignable to the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contracts shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in the State under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total cost incurred thereunder for the taxable year

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the taxpayer are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth

Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this subsection (b) the franchise tax of five mills imposed by subsection (b) on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousand nine hundred forty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and for fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousand nine hundred forty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and one thousand nine hundred fifty-six shall apply to the taxation of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors without excluding from the numerators of the applicable fractions tangible property actually and exclusively used in manufacturing compensation of employes exclusively engaged in manufacturing and gross recipts from business strictly incident or appurtenant to manufacturing

After said ten year period the provisions of this subsection shall apply to the taxation of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes

(c) It shall be the duty of the treasurer or other officers having charge of any such corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership upon which a tax is imposed by this section to transmit the amount of said tax to the Treasury of the Commonwealth within the time prescribed by law Provided That for the purposes of this act interest in limited partnerships or joint-stock associations shall be deemed to be capital stock and taxable accordingly Provided further That corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations liable to a tax under this section shall not be required to pay any further tax on the mortgages bonds and other securities owned by them and in which the whole body of stockholders or members as such have the entire equitable interest in remainder but corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations owning or holding such securities as trustees executors administrators guardians or in any other manner than for the whole body of stockholders or members thereof as sole equitable owners in remainder shall return and pay the tax imposed by this act upon all securities so owned or held by them as in the case of individuals Provided further That the tax of five mills imposed by this section on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and for each calendar year thereafter or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and for each fiscal year thereafter shall apply to the taxation of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for laundering and for the processing and curing of meats their products and by products expecting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors Provided further That in case of fire and marine insurance companies the tax imposed by this section shall be at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of the whole capital stock Provided That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to apply to building and loan associations chartered by the State of Pennsylvania

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members of the House, I would like to say that House Bill 1880 accelerates the corporate capital stock tax so that during the year 1956 corporations will pay 80 per cent of their capital stock tax, rather than paying it during 1957, after March of that year, as under the present law.

The purpose of this bill is to increase the revenues in this biennium by approximately $25 million. That is going to be necessary in order to balance the budget. I would also like the Members to know that under this legislation, manufacturing corporations will not after January 1, 1957, have to pay the capital stock tax.

Many years ago a bill was passed providing that they should be exempt from this tax, but the effective date of that has been deferred, and deferred, and deferred, and I think with the passage of House Bills 1879 and 1880 we can get to the point where we can finally give our manufacturing concerns a break by removing them from the capital stock tax and thereby inducing industry to a greater extent to come to Pennsylvania and to stay here. I ask every Member to vote for this bill.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to remind the present majority that back in 1951 there was at that time an acceleration of the corporate net income tax. Tonight and many times this year we have been accused of being obstructionists. I would like to remind them, if they would care to look at the Journal, that that tax in principle, the acceleration of the corporate tax in principle, was no different than the acceleration of the capital stock tax, absolutely no different. I think I am perfectly correct in stating that.

At that time there was not one vote from the minority, and we were criticized heartily at that time by the Minority Leader and by several Members on the other side of the House that the tax was absolutely no good, it was the worst thing we could do to accelerate, we were driving industry out of the state, and it was horrible.

I think one of the statements from the Minority Leader at that time was that we were borrowing from tomorrow to pay today's debts. It was a terrible thing to do.

Mr. Speaker, I am glad to see that in two or three years you changed your minds. Today you have accepted that principle. Today it is not such a bad tax.

Mr. Speaker, although at that time you did not supply one vote, because you were obstructionists, or you were not honest in what you were saying, now it is an ideal tax. I say to you that on this side of the House we are going to be consistent, we are going to give you votes for this tax.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the last statement made by the gentleman, I should sit down and keep my mouth shut, but I am afraid I cannot do it under the circumstances.

The gentleman wants to make the point that we said one thing at that time and something else today, and I would like to point out to the Members of this House that that "just ain't so."

Back in 1951 they were proposing and did take $60 million from the succeeding biennium in order to balance the budget. What they overlooked and what they are overlooking now is that they left the next biennium that much short. They just piled up the deficits and piled up the deficits. We are not doing that, we are proposing a tax program which will be adequate without the captial stock tax on manufacturing organizations. In spite of the fact that we are taking $25 million away from the next biennium, we still will have adequate taxes to finance this Commonwealth.

I say that was not true back in 1951 when they balanced that budget by taking $60 million out of one biennium and putting it into the other. There is a difference in the two situations despite what the gentleman wants us to believe.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, while I know it is the Majority's prerogative to speak last, I certainly could not let that statement go over.

The gentleman is entirely wrong and, if he is not wrong, he does not know this tax business because we only brought the corporate net to a current basis, as your own Speaker admits. It never caused a deficit because it was brought up from the following two years, the same as this tax is doing. There was never a deficit caused by that, it was brought up on a current basis, the way it is today on a current basis. I think the gentleman did not understand it and I know he did not deliberately make that misstatement. I just want to inform him that I could not let that go for the record.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, here is one Member who is not going to give you votes on this particular tax measure.

I said in 1953, Mr. Speaker, against my own party, and I shall say it against the Minority party today, that this kind of deficit financing is wrong. It is poor financing and it is poor government. I shall still say it and I shall still vote that way. You are robbing the next biennium to pay this biennium's bills, and it is not good government.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires first to announce that all of those now present in the Hall of the House are invited to be the guests of the Secretary of the House at a luncheon to be served upon the adjournment of this House at the cafeteria.

Second, the Chair desires to say that man and boy he has had occasion now and then to observe the proceedings of this House over a period of at least forty years. Not within our experience have we seen a House which during so many weary hours maintained such an even temper. It is to the credit of this Assembly, to the credit of our parliamentary system, that we could for some nine hours debate a bitterly contested bill in the even temper that prevailed.

The Chair wishes to commend the desk for the efficient manner in which it has served this House. You are indebted to the desk for the fact that the calendar appeared on time.

You are indebted to the staff for the fact that the two bills on special order, notwithstanding the delays, were ready for your consideration. This has been an unusual day which will live in the history of this body.

The Chair thanks the House.

The Chair will again remind the House that the adjournment resolution provided for an adjournment until next Wednesday. We will not meet on Monday. The House will adjourn to Wednesday at 4:30 p. m.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 114

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call from page 42 of today's calendar, Resolution No. 114.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 12, 1955.

The cost of education and school construction in Pennsylvania has assumed such vast proportions that it constitutes the major element in the current budget problem

The levy and collection of taxes by local and State government does not appear to be sufficient for the ever increasing cost of education and school construction

The Federal government has tremendous tax sources which raise billions for defense of our Country and could raise billions for the education of our children and construction of school buildings.

For the first time a White House Conference on Education will convene in Washington, D. C., November 28 to December 1, 1955 for the purpose of reporting to the President on the problems facing America's educational system therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly memorialize the Chairman Neil H. McElroy and the members of the Conference to consider the problem of Federal support for education and school buildings on a broad scale from the sources of Federal Revenue with a view toward reducing the cost which local and State governments are required to assume and be it further

Resolved That a certified copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mr. Neil H. McElroy with the request that it be presented to the Conference.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 119

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 42 of today's calendar, Resolution No. 119.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, October 14, 1955.

Whereas there appears to be confusion and misunderstanding in various quarters concerning the merit rating status or lack of status of various state employes functioning in the various services of the Department of Health therefore be it

Resolved that a committee of five members of the House be appointed by the Speaker to make inquiry and report to the House

1 Number of Department of Health employees who are covered by the socalled merit rating formula

2 Number of Department of Health employees who had merit rating status prior to December 1 last

3 Number of Department of Health employees who have been given merit rating status since December 1 last

4 Number of Department of Health employees who have civil service status

5 Number of Department of Health employees if any who have acquired civil service status since December 1 last

6 Number of Department of Health employees who are not covered by the merit rating formula or who have not acquired civil service status

7 Formula of procedure used by advisory boards or by Department of Health executives in determining status of Department of Health employees in up-grading downgrading or discharging employees functioning in accordance with the socalled merit rating formula

8 How many Department of Health employees and in what branches of the service they are employed who have been blanketed in under merit rating without ever having taken a qualifying examination

9 And such other matters which may be brought to the attention of the committee and which should also be brought to the attentio nof the General Assembly

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. O'NEIL from the Committee on Boroughs, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1289, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), entitled "An act concerning boroughs, and revising, amending, and consolidating the law relating to boroughs," authorizing the issuance of non-debt revenue bonds for capital improvements to certain public service facilities.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. TOMPKINS. HOUSE BILL No. 1906.

An Act amending the act of April 18, 1949 (P. L. 512), entitled "An act relating to the administration and distribution of decedents' estates, trust estates, minors' estates and absentees' estates, both as to real and personal property, and the procedure relating thereto; including the disposition of such estates or portions thereof and the determination of title thereto without the appointment of a fiduciary in certain cases; the appointment, bond, removal and discharge of fiduciaries of such estates, their powers, duties and liabilities; the rights of persons dealing with such fiduciaries, and the rights of persons claiming an interest in such estates or in property distributed therefrom whether as claimants or distributees, and containing provisions concerning guardians of the persons of minors, the powers, duties and liabilities of sureties and of foregin fiduciaries, the abatement, survival and control of actions and rights of action, and the presumption of death; and also generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers and procedure of the orphans' court and of the register of wills in all matters relating to fiduciaries," making the Commonwealth ineligible to act as or nominate an administrator.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate resolution as follows:

In the Senate, November 21, 1955.

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, November 28, 1955 at 3:30 o'clock p. m. EST, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene (Monday, November 28) Wednesday, November 30, 1955, at a time to be fixed by the House of Representatives.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I realize that most of the Members are down in the cafeteria eating by this time and I don't blame them. But I would like to announce now, so that the Members may read of it in the newspapers, that the session next week will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Wednesday and Thusday, at least, will be working days. The Wednesday session will be called for 4:30 in the afternoon in order that a Democratic caucus may be held at 2:30 that afternoon.

I am urging all of the Members of this side of the House to be here as we have many, many bills to consider at that caucus.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, November 30, 1955 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 2:35 a. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1955. No. 109.

SENATE

MONDAY, November 28, 1955

The Senate met at 3:30 o'clock, P. M., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ARTHUR J. PFOHL, Pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Indiana, offered the following prayer:

Thou great eternal Spirit of the universe, in this strangely tangled time when confused voices echo throughout our land, we pray for the leadership of faith. Hear our prayer, O God, for vision and the light of truth lest we lose our way and wander in the darkness.

These men assembled here, endow them with the grace of insight, the gift of wisdom and the accent of righteousness. Speak to them, O Lord, for without vision we shall all perish.

Help us ever to make life a striving for the highest and best. Inspire us to pursue our course through the days in honor, in integrity and in justice for all.

It is that to which Thou hast called us and we would not fail Thee, O God, nor those who have put their trust in us. And so when evening comes and our work is done, we shall neither be ashamed nor discouraged. In His Name we pray, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. McCREESH, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 114 REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Education:

FEDERAL SUPPORT FOR EDUCATION

In the House of Representatives, September 13, 1955.

The cost of education and school construction in Pennsylvania has assumed such vast proportions that it constitutes the major element in the current budget problem.

The levy and collection of taxes by local and State government does not appear to be sufficient for the ever increasing cost of education and school construction.

The Federal government has tremendous tax sources which raise billions for defense of our Country and could raise billions for the education of our children and construction of school buildings.

For the first time, a White House Conference on Education will convene in Washington, D. C. November 28 to December 1, 1955, for the purpose of reporting to the President on the problems facing America's educational system; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly memorialize the Chairman Neil H. McElroy, and the members of the Conference to consider the problem of Federal support for education and school buildings on a broad scale from the sources of Federal Revenue with a view toward reducing the cost which local and State governments are required to assume; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mr. Neil H. McElroy with the request that it be presented to the Conference.

HOUSE NON-CONCURS IN SENATE AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 1630

He also informed the Senate that the House has non-concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 1630, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "Vehicle Code," regulating registration of antique motor vehicles.

SENATE INSISTS UPON ITS AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY THE HOUSE TO HOUSE BILL No. 1630

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate insists upon its amendments non-concurred in by the House to the foregoing bill.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. BLASS, from the Committee on Highways, reported as committed House Bill No. 10, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code," authorizing incorporated towns to remove and impound vehicles.

He also, from the Committee on Insurance, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 871, entitled:

An Act authorizing certain mutual insurance companies, other than life insurance companies, now in existence under the provisions of the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682), its supplements and amendments, to reincorporate as mutual life insurance companies; outling the requirements and procedure; and defining the rights of dissenting members.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, in cooperation with my colleague, Senator Taylor, I am about to introduce a bill which would extend free school health services to pupils in private and parochial schools. I think this is a matter that should have received attention years ago. I hope that the bill will meet with approval of all the Members of the Legislature.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. MALLERY and TAYLOR read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 878, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," extending free school health services to pupils in private and parochial schools.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. WHALLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 879, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of the Fulton County Medical Center.

Which was committed to the Commitee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 880, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of the Memorial Hospital of Bedford County.

Which was committed to the Commitee on Appropriations.

Messrs. STIEFEL and CAMIEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 881, entitled:

An Act declaring the public interest in certain historic sites and buildings and providing for certificates and markers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forets and Waters, Game and Fish.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CHAPMAN, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 775, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Joint Committee appointed by the Senate and House of Representatives to investigate the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza.

He also, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended House Bill No. 1834, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly for the payment of salaries of officers and employees mileage of members and incidental expenses for the balance of the legislative session of 1955.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, political developments since passage of the manufacturers' excise tax by the Democratic House prove convincingly that the Republican Party is the party of big business. It is the happy sanctuary of the coupon clippers.

Big business, running behind the tricky intereference of powerful lobbies, is trying to sel lthe public the strictly phony idea that the excise tax on manufacturers' sales will be pyramided to the consumer. The big industrialists —and that means the experts in huge corporate profits— are trying to make little John Doe believe he is being knocked over the head by the proposed tax and that it creates a new and dangerous threat to the pocketbook values of the average family. If we could place a tax on that kind of hot air, the administration's inherited financial problems could be solved overnight.

Actually, Mr. President, big business is afraid, by reason of the real intent of the excise measure, that it will not be able to pass along the tax to the little fellow. The mounting protest of business, crying for the consumer, is part of a cunningly conceived and well-financed campaign of misinformation to confuse and deceive the people of Pennsylvania. It is like the cry of the big, bad wolf for the plight of little Red Riding Hood. It is like the lament of the private hox holder because the little fellow has to stand in the rain.

Mr. President, I want to say for the record, here and now, that the manufacturers' excise tax was not intended to place Pennsylvania industry at a competitive disadvanage with business in other States. We have been hearing a lot fro mthe Republican side about alleged inequities of the bill, but the very alarmists who are now playing to the newspapers know as well as we do that certain amendments now under consideration provide and spell out proper safety factors which guarantee that Pennsylvania industry shall not suffer. And who is there among Republican leaders, who attended a number of tax conferences with Governor Leader, to deny that the manufacturers' excise tax was not one of those agreed upon as a possible compromise levy?

Mr. President, we Democrats are well aware that any tax has its good points and bad points. However, we also realize that we have long since passed the witching hour when our financial problems can be dissipated by the kind of political claptrap we have been hearing from the Republican wing of this Senate for the last eleven months. It should be painfully obvious to the most neutral observer that the Republican leadership of the Senate is dedicated to a course of obstructionism, which has as its goal the blocking of any tax program proposed by the Leader Administration.

Only a political demagogue, with the many strange facets of a Harve Taylor, could speak fatuously of a two per cent sales tax as a solution to Pennsylvania's financial headaches when he knows in his heart it will not begin to produce half the revenue we need to wipe out the unhealthy deficit management of our political predecessors. Obviously, in his devotion to the sales tax—which the voters decisively repudiated in 1954 and again this year—Senator Taylor is willing to give us a tax well calculated to keep us in a financial hole and make us fair game for his weird political reprisals. Senator Taylor's capacity for political foolishness is extraordinarily accented by his insistence on a sales or nothing. His idea of a compromise is to do it his way or not at all. I believe that challenges the political integrity of his colleagues who, after all, have a right to do their own thinking and in a way that will benefit the Commonwealth most. I was gratified to see a statement by Senator Diehm in which he said, "Harve Taylor is not talking for me."

Mr. President, I am sure that Senator Diehm, and other Republicans, will agree with me that this Senate was never intended to serve as the personal political instrument of Senator Taylor or any other party leader committed to the pernicious political motivations of United States Senator James Henderson Duff. I think it is common knowledge by now that Senator Duff is trying to use the Republican Senate as a political sounding board to aid his campaign for re-election next year. There is no doubt in my mind that Senator Taylor, by his sales tax hokum, is simply carrying out the dictates of Jim Duff as a means of embarrassing and hamstringing the Administration of the present Governor. Just listening to Senator Taylor communicates the numbing fear that in our approach to a solution of the State's financial compexities, we are expected to paddle upstream without a canoe.

Mr. President, I believe the time has come when Senator Taylor, and his big business cronies, must realize that we must strip all political issues from the job of finding an acceptable tax base so that we can stabilize and bring under control the tremendous financial pressures now backing us, as a State, into the jaws of bankruptcy. The need for a moratorium on political blood-letting was never more urgent. We must tackle the problem as mature men, charged with serious obligations to the people and not as docile and willing pawns of the big money interests now shedding glycerine tears for the little fellow.

Mr. President, it is time for sanity and rationalism. It is a time to consider the dangers confronting our schools, our hospitals and other State-aided institutions. It is time to face up squarely to the trust imposed in us by the people.

Mr. President, I hope that sufficient of our Republican colleagues, who cannot fail to recognize the imperiled position of our Commonwealth, will join with us in the fight to bring essential truths to light, so that at long last we can evolve a fair and acceptable tax program and support it as men of honor, concerned first and last with the welfare and security of this great State.

Since preparing this statement, Mr. President, I have had the pleasure of reading several communiques. It seems as though today is "Release Day." I am glad to see that those fellows on the Republican payroll have finally gone to work and are getting out statements. I have one here from Senator Taylor, one from Senator Mahany and I have one from Charlie Smith.

Charlie Smith, I must say, has a poorer memory than Harve Taylor, if at all possible. He said: "Leader's recollection of what happened on August 17th, in a conference with the Democratic and Republican legislators, differs very radically from mine."

May I remind the young gentleman that he was there and I was there when we issued a joint release to the newspapers? He will not have to take my word for it, but he can go down to their files, and he will see the joint release and where it was said that the Republicans had ruled out the income tax, the Democrats had ruled out the sales tax and that we were studying all other tax opportunities for money, such as were handed to us that day in a study made by the Pennsyvania Economy League. If Charie Smith's memory is bad, have him meet me and I will take him to the newsroom, and also, if Senator Mahany's memory is bad, I will accompany him also.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I assure Senator Barr that my memory is not bad on that particular subject. Anyway, I want to say this about our conferences with the Governor. He and I, and others, did go over there shortly after the classified income tax was killed and after the Pennsylvania Economy League had submitted to us potential sources of tax revenue for the State of Pennsylvania. Among the taxes which we said we might discuss further was the Pennsylvania manufacturers' tax. However, there was no agreement made that we would accept that tax. We did not go into the details of it very much. It was just one of the many taxes which was suggested as a potential source of revenue by the Pennsylvania Economy League, which we said might be left open for discussion at a later date.

I probably could have risen here and stopped Senator Barr in his tirade and personal abuse against Senator Taylor. I think we all realize that such a thing as that is definitely out of order on the floor of the Senate. I hope that no Senator will take occasion to use the time of the Senate in making personal, abusive speech against another Senator here.

I think it was about a month ago that I rose when one of the Senators made a personal attack on Senator Taylor. The Chair, at that time, ruled I was in order in rising to the point of order, by stating that such an attack as that was certainly out of order and not in conformity with the rules of this Senate. However, I did not rise to a point of order in this case, because I just wanted to see how far Senator Barr woud go. I beieve Senator Taylor was also interested in seeing how far Senator Barr would go in his personal attack upon him. I think he certainly ran the gamut from A to izzard in this attack.

I want to compliment again, the man who is the author of Senator Barr's speech. It surely had all the hallmarks of your amanuensis. As soon as Senator Barr began his speech, we knew who had written it. Again, it was the voice of Jacob and the hand of Esau.

As far as Senator Taylor is concerned, if Senator Barr wants to call him a politician and a low-grade one, I do not think he would be very much of a politician in objecting to this tax. I think Senator Taylor has risen to the role of a statesman in opposing this manufacturers' excise tax. Up until now, all we have received so far are messages and telegrams against this tax. They not only come from industries which are fearful that by the enactment of this tax, they will have to move out of Pennsylvania, but they also come from labor union officials. I have received two or three communications from presidents of labor unions who are interested that this tax be not enacted. However, we are not shutting the door to it. We are having, and keeping, an open mind until after these hearings. We expect to receive much information from the hearings that Senator Kessler is planning for Wednesday and Thursday. After that time, I hope that the Senate Finance Committee will report the bill out, and at that time we can debate it on the floor of the Senate and let the Senators vote on this bill according to their individual consciences as to whether it is good for Pennsyvania or whether it is not.

It is not very often that I criticise Senator Taylor on being a politician, but as I started to say before, if he wanted to be the low-grade politician that the Democrats accuse him of being he would have encouraged three Senators on this side of the aisle to vote for that tax, and he would have known that it would have boomeranged and, certainy, it would have been another twenty years before the Democrats got into power.

Mr. President, one of my friends, I thought he was my friend up until I read this editorial—who is the Editor of the Oil City Blizzard, had some recent comments. He usually has a kind word or two to say about me in his paper, but he certainly tore me asunder in an editorial which appeared in his newspaper a few days ago. He said that all I was doing was resorting to low-grade politics when I said that I might vote for that bill. He said, "All Senator Mahany is thinking of is cheap politics. He knows that that sort of legislation would boomerang against the Governor and would be used politically against the Democratic Party. Why he should, for certain political reasons, say that he might vote for a bill such as that when he knows that industry in Pennsylvania would suffer is more than we can imagine." I am paraphrasing some of the editorial because I do not remember all of the harsh words that he used. I was certainly astonished to see my old friend, Ed Boyle, use such language in an editorial in his newspaper as he did against me in that particular issue.

Mr. President, I hope that we will hold our fire on both sides until we have these hearings. Then we can get the bill out, get it on the floor like we did with the classified income tax, debate it at length and then let each Senator decide how he wants to vote according to the wishes of his constituents, both people who are interested in business and people who are interested in labor, both Democrats and Republicans, and if this bill receives the proper number of votes, then our worries, temporarily anyway, will be over. If it does not receive the proper number of votes, we will just have to figure out some other source of raising the tax money that is needed by the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, in keeping with the suggestion which Senator Mahany just made, I do not want my remarks to be construed as an attack upon the distinguished Minority Leader of the House, Charlie Smith, but I cannot help but rise today to challenge his inconsistencies, his half-truths, exaggerations and falsehoods which were expressed on a television program last night.

I always knew Charlie Smith as a fair sort of fellow, but after hearing him last night on Joe Miller's television program, which originates out of Philadelphia at midnight, I have changed my mind.

Mr. President, Joe Miller interrogated Charlie Smith on the excise tax bill. Frankly, Charlie Smith started out by saying that House Members, including himself, were not given sufficient time to study the bill. As a matter of fact, he went so far as to say that he did not understand the terms of the bill, its implications and what it proposed to do. Then, in the next breath he said that if the bill is passed, instead of the people of Pennsylvania paying a three and one-half per cent tax they will be paying double that because of the pyramiding that Joe Barr talked about. Then he said that because of that, there is going to be a wave of requests for wage increases and that, of course, would be followed by a wave of strikes all over Pennsylvania. That is the old fear campaign.

I sort of came to the conclusion, after listening to Charlie Smith, that he joined big business in an effort to defeat the excise tax even before it had a chance to come before this Senate.

Mr. President, when Charlie Smith was asked how much money the excise tax bill would raise at three and one-half per cent, in spite of the fact, of course, that he said he did not understand the bill because he did not have time to study it, he said it would raise anywhere between $500,000,000, $600,000,000, $700,000,000 or $800,000,000 instead of the $400,000,000 which the Administration anticipated the bill would raise. He then went into the budget and he complained about the fact that we have not had a budget and tax program, although we have been in Session since January and the Governor has not reduced the budget. However, he did not tell the people, Mr. President, that public hearings were held on the budget in the House, which he had a chance to attend. He did not tell the people that public hearings were held on the budget here in the Senate and that the Republicans boycotted those budget hearings by refusing to attend them. He did not tell the peple either that, as Senator Barr told me, there were a series of meetings in the Governor's Office and that they agreed on budget cuts here and there in the various departments, boards and commissions. Then Mr. Smith went on to say that if the excise tax were enacted, it would drive business out of Pennsylvania. There is one thing that he did not tell the people and I do not think that that is true at all. I do not think business is going to be driven out of Pennsylvania because if the excise bill is passed industry, as I understand it, is going to get a break.

Mr. President, I have read the Message which was sent over here by the Governor last Monday and in it the Governor states, based on the passage of the excise bill, the following:

"It will not now be necessary to increase the rate of the corporate net income tax from five to six per cent; but the other revisions in corporate net income tax application (as proposed in House Bill 941) should be adopted.

"It will also be possible to proceed with the repeal of nine nuisance taxes on business, as recommended in the Budget Message.

"It is of real importance to repeal the corporate excise taxes on both foreign and domestic corporations. These taxes are an actual barrier imposed by the State against industrial and business growth; they impose tax penalties on the development of new businesses in Pennsylvania.

"Further, it will be possible, and I so recommend, to reinstate the historic exemption of manufacturers from the capital stock tax, effective January 1, 1957."

Mr. President, Charlie Smith did not tell the true story to the people. As I said before, it was half-truths, exaggerations, and falsehoods. Then he complained about the Department of Revenue retaining a number of investigators in the Sales Tax Bureau. He blew his story up a bit to make it appear as though the Department of Revenue was packed with a lot of drones.

Mr. President, I know that there are people engaged in the collection of delinquent sales taxes and I understand, too, that they are doing a pretty good job with it. They are employed in this capacity because under the Republican Administration, taxes which were levied were not properly collected. I understand that this bureau is going to continue until every single dollar that is due the Commonwealth is collected from the tax which was imposed by the gentlemen on the other side.

The thing that seemed strange to me, Mr. President, is that the opponents of the excise tax bill say that it is a hidden sales tax; they say it is a sales tax, but their objection to it is that they do not want business to pay it. They do not want the big guy to pay it; they want the little guy to pay it. They want the rank and file of the people, the people who earn their bread and butter by the sweat of their brow, to pay it and not the big fellow.

Mr. President, if it is a sales tax, it is a sales tax. If they are for the sales tax, then they ought to be for this bill and cut out this scare campaign which is being spread all over the State. I picked up the Philadelphia Bulletin on Sunday and what do I find there but a full page ad, with the name of every Member of the Pennsylvania Senate at the Bottom, telling the public to call us to oppose the excise tax bill. I also understand that they have resorted to getting time on the radio with spot announcements, in the various Senatorial Districts, telling the people to call on their State Senator to oppose the excise tax bill.

I do not want to debate the merits of this tax because, frankly, it is not before us yet. We will find out, I suppose, something about it when we have the public hearing. However, these tactics, in light of the condition that the Commonwealth is in, are certainly uncalled for at this time. Right now we are in default on our school payments, payments to hospitals, payments to State-aided institutions and others that depend upon subsidies from the State for existence. I do not think these tactics which are being used are good Americanism.

Mr. President, I wish Charlie Smith would have attended the budget hearings which we held here in the Senate, for then, maybe, he could have told the people somthing last night. He could have told them that because of a loose system in the Department of Revenue, the Commonwealth lost between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000 in collections from corporate taxes during the last biennium. We also lost between $80,000,000 and $100,- 000,000 in the last ten years. No wonder we are in a financial hole at this time. He did not tell the people either that the Leader Administration inherited a $75,000,000 deficit which has to be made up. He complained about the Governor increasing his budget, but he did not tell them that the Pennsylvania Economy League, which is financed by industry, recommended a reorganization of the Governor's Office and based on that recommendation, an increase in the appropriation was requested. Neither did he tell the people that just one of the bureaus which were set up in the Governor's Office has saved ten times more, just by one reorganization which was placed into effect on the purchase of automobiles. Another reorganization on insurance saved the Commonwealth more than ten times the requested increase.

Mr. President, I think that we ought to be fair about our tax proposal as it has been submitted, and let us consider it on its merits and not engage in a scare campaign or fear campaign in an effort to get the people to send up post cards, letters and telegrams to oppose it.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President and my colleagues in the Senate, while I was absent and hospitalized I read some newspaper reports about a tax measure which I thought perhaps would be the answer to our revenue dilemma and to the impasse that we are going through here in the Senate. I did not have an opportunity to study it, because the papers did not know too much and it was mostly rumor. In fact, the measure that I talked about on Saturday, as I understand, was printed and was dumped and was not introduced, but a new measure was prepared early on Monday and introduced in the House. I said at that time that I felt I could vote for that measure, knowing that I had a responsibility, because I am very conscious of our school needs, of our hospital needs and some increased revenues which we need in the Welfare Department, and perhaps raises that other State employes should be given; the State Police, for instance, and I felt that I could go for that measure because it sounded to me like it was a sales tax in disguise. As you all know, I have not said it once but I have said it any number of times, that I would vote for a sales tax. However, after the bill was passed in the House in a thirty-six hour jaunt I, by special delivery, received two copies of the bill and read them. I immediately, after not having studied it but reading it, realized what a disadvantage Pennsylvania industry would suffer if we were to impose this three and one-half per cent manufactures' excise tax.

Mr. President, I want to say this, that when I did say I would vote for this measure I qualified it by saying, "provided that it did not penalize Pennsylvania industry on a competitive basis."

Senator Yosko is disturbed because the Chamber of Commerce in Philadelphia has a full page ad. I did not see it until he showed it awhile ago. I do not see anything wrong with that ad. If Pennsylvania industry feels that they are being penalized and it is going to drive them out of the State, I think they have every right to go to any means, whether it is telephoning, telegrams, letters or newspaper ads to alert the Members of the Senate as to what this measure may do to them.

Mr. President, I do not know whether the president of the glass company in Connellsville—when he made an announcement, which I think most of you saw in the Pittsburgh papers, that he was going to halt expansion of a glass industry because this excise tax was going to work a hardship—had read the bill or understood the bill and I am not going into that. However, it does impress upon my mind that here was an industrialist, who employs 2,000, and he became jittery and wondered what it would do to his industry on a competitive basis.

For instance, I can take, for example, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company who have a plant in my community. I think they have the largest plate glass plant in the world in Ford City. I was disturbed when two years ago that same industry made an announcement that they were going to build a modern plant in Cumberland Maryland. I was more disturbed when, three or four months ago, they made an announcement that they were building a new plant in Decatur, Illinois. Now there must be some reason for it, and I can say that one of the reasons they went to Cumberland, Maryland, was because they were promised they would be tax-free, on a local basis, for ten years. Other States are also trying to lure industry out of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I am not here trying to fight for the industrialist or trying to save him any money. I know this, that if he does not have confidence in our government and he closed down his plants in Pennsylvania or builds new plants in other States, the man who makes his living in that plant is going to be without a job. Al Pechan can be the greatest dentist in the world, but if those people in Ford City do not have money enough to go to a dentist, do not have a job, I am not going to be fixing any teeth and the other fellow is not going to be selling groceries.

I want to take issue with Senator Yosko. I want to say this, that when the classified income tax was before us I did not receive over two letters from people who were for the tax. We were told by the press that all of the unions and all of labor was for that bill. I am in a laboring community, and I have yet to receive a letter in favor of that classified income tax, but I can show you hundreds which came from my community, from union men, who are against it. Just as much as those people were propagandizing against that measure, certainly industry is entitled to use their methods against this excise tax.

Mr. President, for instance, on Friday night the Chamber of Commerce in Kittanning called a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Armstrong and Butler Counties, and they invited some other people. The chairman of that group was a Democrat and he made this remark to the people there, who consisted of a couple of industrialists and many business people: "Surely, the Democratic Senators must be getting the same opposition in their areas as you are, Senator Pechan, in your own area. How can they come down here and vote for that measure?"

Mr. President, I am not saying that the Democrats are going to vote for it. I do not know what they are going to do. I do not think that we should be discussing this bill as we are today because it is not before us. I have an open mind, and I am hoping that somehow this bill can be dressed up, can be amended, so that it will not penalize Pennsylvania industry. I am very hopeful of this, and when that day comes I will vote for the bill. If after we have these hearings, somebody comes up with an amendment which will keep this bill from penalizing Pennsylvania industry, I for one will vote for the bill.

Senator Yosko made a remark about Charlie Smith's speech in Philadelphia, which I did not hear. I want to say this to you, Senator Joe, about the sales tax employes. Mind you, the sales tax expired in September, there is no more sales tax, and in my own county we had six employes when the tax was in force and today they have eight employes. The Republicans they have replaced have been replaced by people who are getting the top salaries that those people were given. They did not start them at the lower echelon; they started them at the quitting salary, and in some cases at a higher salary than the people were getting at that time. I know that some of these employes say there is nothing for them to do. Some of them show up for a half an hour a day and yet they are drawing their salaries. I know of another fellow who has full-time employment in a manufacturing plant, and he is also a field man for the Sales Tax Bureau. Therefore, what is happening in my county may be happening in Charlie Smith's county; I do not know. However, I do hope that somehow this thing can be resolved, and that we do not do any name calling because we are not going to get anywhere if we are going to call each other names.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, now that we have heard the apologies of the two gentlemen who spoke without permission last week, we can get down to cases.

First of all, Mr. President, I do not think that anybody who is in this room this afternoon pays much attention to the position of the Chamber of Commerce when it comes to legislation sponsored by the Democratic Party. The reason for that, Mr. President and members of this Senate, is some of us have long memories. In 1935 and 1936, I served in the House of Representatives under a Democratic Governor. From the latter part of 1936, and from that time to this, I have served in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

In 1935, they had to stop the proceedings in the House of Representatives to carry down to the well of the House millions upon millions of pieces of literature, petitions and form letters, against the Earle tax program. Spearheading that fight was the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce. If it were not for the fact that there are some lovely young ladies here from a high school and who have not yet reached the stage of maturity that we have reached in our lives, I would use the word that rhymes with chamber that better describes the actions and the people who represent the Chamber of Commerce. They raised in Pennsylvania, the greatest ballyhoo since the Boston Tea Party against a tax program. It was the basis of the campaign of the Republican Party, supported wholeheartedly by the Chamber of Commerce, the Manufacturer's Association, the Merchants Association and the Bankers Association. The billboards heralded all over the Commonwealth the fact that if they elected a Republican Administration, they would get rid of the so-called Earle nuisance taxes.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, the Democrats were defeated. Governor James, of not often lamented memory, became the Governor of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania and not of the people. He immediately, with a Republican House and a Republican Senate—by virtue of skulduggery they got control of the Senate—re-enacted every kind of nuisance tax that was on the books and not one whisper or whimper of pain from the Chamber of Commerce, the Manufacturer's Association, the Bankers Association or the Merchants Association.

In 1953, the ill-fated last biennial term of Governor Fine, the Republicans instituted the move to pass a sales tax. I still have in my possession, for those of you who may doubt, the thousands upon thousands of circulars, newspaper ads, personal letters and telegrams from the Merchants Association of Pennsylvania demanding that we defeat the sales tax. Now, today, the Merchants Association is one hundred per cent behind the sales tax. If you will remember, upon this very floor, in the final debates on the sales tax, I predicted that when the merchants learned how to split the money they collected between themselves and the government, then they would be the first to come in and ask for the re-enactment of the sales tax. How true.

Mr. President, if these merchants are so happy about a sales tax, why would they have published their full page advertisement the day that the sales tax went out of existence in the Commonwealth, with scare headlines heralding to the world that now there are no sales taxes in Pennsylvania, greater savings for the people?

Let us try to analyze what is happening in Pennsylvania. I am going to make a flat and unequivocal charge this afternoon that the plot to defeat not only the income tax or the manufacturers' excise tax, or the already announced plan by the Republican spokesmen that they would never concur in the hodgepodge set of taxes, is part of a plot to keep this General Assembly in Session in order that Governor Leader's confirmations sent over here to the Senate, totaling 182 or 183, will remain in committee so that the skulduggery of the past sixteen years cannot be investigated, so that the millions of dollars that have been handed out in tax rebates cannot be uncovered, so that the many many discretions of the past sixteen years cannot be brought to light. I have advised the Governor that I, if I were he, would immediately send a Message over to the Senate and request that the names of these worthy citizens, whose only sin seems to be that they are Democrats, be recalled from the Senate and that he name those whom he can, constitutionally and legally, to temporary positions in the departments and to dismiss, as in his right, the holdovers who are hanging on because this Republican Senate has set its course to that diabolical plan.

Mr. President, when I left here last week, I thought I had the assurances of gentlemen that discussions would take place on the merits or demerits of the new proposed tax. I have heard a great deal of anguish on the part of the Republicans because they said that the House jammed this bill through in three short days, legislative days. I wonder if their memory goes back to when they killed the Governor's classified income tax within the same period of time, and then called a midnight Session in order to pat the spade upon the face of the deceased, to kill the bill twice so that under no conditions could it be revived again.

Mr. President, Senator Mahany has a favorite saying in which he says, "The voice is the voice of Jacob and the hand is the hand of Esau." I do not know, Mr. President, whether or not he should apply that to himself once in awhile because I have a most difficult time trying to establish between what the papers say that Senator Mahany said and what he says here on the floor. He either should have a closer liaison with his mouthpiece or get a new one. I do not know whether we have reached the stage—and I am not going to try to interpret for this Senate the good points or the bad points of the so-called proposed tax. However, I would like, Mr. President, to call your attention to a few inconsistencies as I see them.

Yes, Charlie Smith did say a few things on television last night. He said that if this tax bill passed, there would be riots, strikes. He said that motherhood would be trampled in the dirt. Dogs would howl and kittens would squeal, and the wind would blow through the empty factories of Pennsylvania and the crows would take over the belfries of the churches. I do not believe that, Mr. President. I think he left his enthusiasm for the sound of his own voice, and the notable experiment of being a guest on Joe Miller's program, go to his head.

The Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce sent me a letter, too. I think it is that thick. I might say to the Chambers of Commerce over the State that if they would advise their constituency, of which I am a member, and if they would contribute as much to State taxes as they do to the propaganda put out by the Chamber of Commerce, we would not need any new tax bill. They spend more money to defeat these bills, Mr. President, than it would cost to pay the freight. If they would just contribute a little more to government and a little less to their own vanities, and instead of trying to build up their own prestige in order to still milk the poor little innocent businessman and manufacturer on the corner in our big cities, and would pay more attention to the fact that this is a State Government faced with many problems, some of them appearing insurmountable at this time.

Here we have a great Philadelphia Merchants Association. I have often wondered why there was such a similarity between the word association and assassination, and now I know. This association assassinates the truth. "Consumers beware. The hidden State excise tax will raid your pocketbook." Now, Mr. President, that is the statement of one group of opponents.

Let us take Mr. Charlie Smith who, until he was defeated or his party lost control for the first time since he has been a Member of the House, has not learned to take a licking and has shown the smallness of a man who, in a poker game, is so accustomed to winning that when he loses, he tears up the cards. I find that Mr. Charles Smith, upon interrogation in the House, had this to say. He was interrogated as to whether or not this was a sales tax. He said, "No, Mr. Speaker, I would not say that because a sales tax is designated strictly as a sales tax, and that designated amount which would be over and above the retail price is a sale tax."

Now, if you can make any sense out of that, I would like to know what he is talking about. He also said, "That any other tax, in any other words, the gentleman is saying that any tax paid by the consumers is a sales tax. He is not collecting this in my estimation," in that statement, says Charles Smith. I do not think that is right. Many of our taxes eventually reach the consumer. Therefore, they are not sales taxes."

Now, Mr. President, that is another position taken by an opponent. Then we have the hue and the cry of the gentleman from Ford City, who is so used to looking down the mouths of his patients that he is now looking down the throat of the poor people of the Commonwealth. He says that factories will move out because they cannot pass the tax on; that it is a hardship to the Pennsylvania industries. Now, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, who are we to believe? If the manufacturer is moving because he cannot stand the tax, then the merchant has no worry because he will not have to pay the tax. If the merchant is worried and tells the consumer that he must pay the tax, then the manufacturer has nothing to worry about because he will not have to pay the tax. It is the same inconsistency that prevailed in 1935, coming out of the same mouths, from the same sources. I will predict here today that if we pass this tax, and if the Democratic Party is defeated, then the next Republican Governor will accept it and ad to it. That is the history of Pennsylvania and its revenue measures.

Yes, there are some things in this bill which need a closer inspection, just as there are in any bill that passes the House or the Senate. What cause was there, Mr. President, for a delay in the House? There was no more cause than there was for a delay in the Senate when the classified income tax came over. You had the votes; you had predetermined its destination; you were going to kill it, so you did not give us any time to argue the point. You immediately killed it and the House knew that the Republican Caucus, through their spokesmen, had said that there would not be a Republican vote for it. Then how can Charlie Smith scream that he was not given an opportunity to study the bill?

I admit, Mr. President, that I am not a bright man. I admit that I am not entirely devoid of some intelligence, too. I know, and every Member of this Senate knows, that when we left here last week, the day before Thanksgiving, ninety-nine per cent of the people in this Commonwealth believed and had every right to believe from public statements that the Republicans were going to allow us to assume all responsibility; that they were going to give us the necessary three votes to pass the necessary taxes in this Commonwealth, and that we would be blamed, if any blame were attached to it, and they would get the credit if any credit were attached to it. We do not mind that.

Mr. President, I further read in the paper after we left here— and, of course, if you want to say that the newspapermen do not know what they are writing about, that is up to you to say; I believe them. Anyway, I read in the newspapers where Senator Mahany—I do not know the word to choose; I just cannot say because he has now made a speech which confuses me—at least gave the impression that he was going to vote for the excise tax bill and there would be three votes of theirs for it. Senator Pechan called me from his sick bed, and I remember reading in the paper that he would come here if he had to come in a hearse to vote for the bill. I imagine that the only way he will ever vote for it is if he comes in a hearse. Then I picked up the paper, and I read where Senator Taylor said that they would invoke the unit rule and Senator Mahany would vote the way the Caucus told him.

Now, Mr. President, Senator Mahany stood on this floor a few minutes ago and he said, "Well, our mind is open." I am not caring about his mind. I want to know if Taylor's mind is open. I know that this Democratic Party will never get a tax bill through until Senator Taylor agrees to go along with it. If there is anything in this bill which is harmful to any of his constituency, I hope to be able to sit down and iron it out with him. We know that the newspapers do not like being taxed. They have never been taxed since the Constitution was written, so why should you start now? We believe that we can come to that agreement. We know that there are certain other elements in this State of ours that are awful disturbed over the situation, and we are willing to sit down and discuss it with them.

I have said before, and I am going to say now on the floor of this Senate, that you nor no one else will ever hold a pistol at the head of the Democratic Administration and force us into submission under a threat of blackmail.

Mr. President, if, as Senator Taylor says, the Republican Party is willing to assume the responsibility of a tax bill, then let them also assume the responsibility of the budget in this Commonwealth. However, I warn all within the hearing of my voice that we will not give up, without a fight, our program for a better mental health program in Pennsylvania. We will not give up, without a fight, a better public health program in this State. We will not give up, without a fight, Mr. President, a program of rehabilitation of the lost industries and industrial capacities of this Commonwealth during the sixteen years of Republicanism. We will not give up, without a fight, the program for greater aid to our institutions of higher learning because we have long ago learned that if we, as a Commonwealth, contribute toward our institutions, the little man, the little peoples may have an opportunity to gain a higher element of education.

Mr. President, when it costs over $2500 a year for a young man to go to one of our graduate schools, that is closing an iron door in the face of many brilliant students in this Commonwealth who do not have the finances of their own. The State of California gives free education to each and every one of its citizens on through to the highest university. The people of Pennsylvania are entitled to at least a little bit of the good things which come from government.

I visited our mental institutions and I would rather resign from this Senate than to go home without making at least an effort to alleviate the situation where 1,000 children are waiting to be taken care of in an institution for children who are mentally deficient because of birth, the accident of birth. The accident could have stricken each and every one of us or members of our family. Have you ever seen a helpless little child, twelve or fourteen years of age, without control of its facilities and faculties, groveling in a room so crowded that they cannot even move on the floor? If you ever saw such a sight, you could not stand here and tell me that you are going to vote against the tax bill because these people want you to vote against it, and let us see who they are.

The United States Steel Corporation, in the first nine months of this year, made $267,507,000 as compared to $138,175,000 for the whole year of 1954, which is an increase of 93.6% in earnings and that industry is going to move because we are putting a three and one-half per cent tax on its sale manufacture price. Do you mean to tell me that you are going to shut the door on that childs face because General Motors only made $912,000,000 this year in nine months, or an increase of 56.1% over the whole year of 1954 and 1954 was the greatest non-war year in its history? Are you going to sit here and tell me that you cannot vote for a manufacturers' excise tax because General Electric only made $141,000,000 in nine months? Are we going to stand here and say that the Union Carbide and Carbon Company cannot afford $1.36 a day for a small underdeveloped child because they only made, during these nine months, an increase of 60.7% over the whole of last year and only earned $101,000,000? On down the list of American business the picture is the same.

What else are you doing for American business in this State or American so-called industry? Today the councils of the third class cities in my county are meeting; meeting to devise a ways and means to put into their budget the twenty-five per cent of a relief on taxation that you are giving to industry in Pennsylvania today by eliminating machinery from taxation. Yet, the individual home owner puts a furnace in his home or a bathroom, and he is taxed.

I asked you to set aside the provisions of that act for at least a period of two years to see whether or not we could reach some agreement. Where do you think these councils are going to get the money? They are going to get it out of either a mercantile tax, under Act No. 481, upon the merchants or they are going to get it out of the little home owner up on the hillside. My advice to them, and I will say it publicly, was this. Take it off of their machinery and put it on their real estate. Everyone of their real estates is thousands of per cent below their cost in the real estate evaluation, and I know. I served both on council and on the county commissioners board. You build a $10,000 home and you will pay somewhere near fifty per cent of its evalution. You biuld a $7,000,000 factory and you pay somewhere near $800,000 evalution. Now you are going to further relieve them by taking the machinery out of taxation.

Mr. President, I know that this open-minded hearing that they are going to hold is just a joke. They do not expect that there will be many train loads of proponents of this tax bill who will come down and testify for it, and neither do they expect that. I have yet to witness, in all the years that I have been here, a great hue and cry on the part of anybody to place taxes upon them. Therefore, all you will hear will be the oponents of this tax and they will come sailing down in great numbers, each crying his own peculiar cry; U. S. Steel because they only made $267,000,000 and that is not near as much as Standard Oil, who only made $523,000,000 and that is not near as much as General Motors, who made $919,-000,000. These companies are going to say to you, "Now look, if you put this tax on, we will never catch General Motors." You worry about the little fellow on the street. It is like a man sitting in a covered box seat at a football game when it is snowing and cold, and he has a little electric heater. He looks out and shakes his head, so sad because the poor devils out on the bleachers are freezing. He sympathizes with them, but he does not give them the heater or let them into his box.

You are worried about the sales tax. You say that this is a hidden sales tax out of one side of your mouth, and then out of the other side of your mouth you say it is not a hidden sales tax; it is not a sales tax at all. The merchants say that they cannot stand it because they will have to pay it or it will be passed down and so the consumer is going to have to pay it out of his pocket. The manufacturer says, "No, we cannot pass it on, so we will have to pay it."

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, this is no new venture. The greatest story of all, though, was the Chamber of Commerce calling it unconstitutional. That seems to be the greatest pat phrase that was ever developed. I bet if they took the word "Constitution" away from the Republican Party, they would not have a speech left in their system.

I heard Senator Mahany decrying the fact that somebody had called a gentleman on the floor something or other, and said they had not called him names but that it was a personal attack. Maybe you ought to read the releases which your mouthpiece put out for you today. I should not say that he is your mouthpiece because you are the voice. Is it, "The voice of Jacob and the hand is the hand," or something, "of Esau?" Well, Esau just got through talking and Jacob just whispered it.

Mr. President, what is this but a personal attack upon the Governor of this Commonwealth? Somehow or other I have never been able to bring myself to the position of calling the President of the United States names or of calling a Governor when he is in office a liar.

I do not believe that Governor Leader, coming from the farm belt of this great State, reared in the rural section and in the dignity of his church teachings, has to stoop to telling a lie. I do not think that George M. Leader, this youthful, young man with a great deal to his credit, should be symbolized by the spokesman of the Republican Party as an obstinate obdurate man when he willingly, after the defeat of his tax bill, accepted the inevitable and said, "Well, gentlemen, I will sit down with you on any measure of compromise that we can reach." At that time the Republican spokesman—and I do not think that I am making a personal attack, and I apologize if I do say that Senator Taylor was the spokesman—said that the only tax he would accept was the sales tax. We tried for three months, Mr. President, to work out a solution. The Republicans came over more interested in budget-cutting at that particular time, I think, and they had worked out a great series of cuts, $5,000 from Bushy Run; $8.40 from some college and all of that and they got up to cutting out $33,000,000. Then one weak moment one afternoon in the Senate they unanimously voted to put $31,000,000 more in for school teachers. Therefore, the work went to naught.

The Governor is called obstinate and obdurate. He tried for three months. Some of you say that he was dillydallying, but he was not. I met with him, and you were invited to meet with him. Senator Taylor was invited; Charles Smith was invited. Charles thought he would pull a cute trick. He would not come to the meetings, but he would stay outside and eavesdrop. Incidentally, do you know what you get when you eavesdrop? You hear some bad things. I just happened to eavesdrop by accident this afternoon and I overheard a representative of one of the big industries in Pennsylvania here say—and he was a very good friend of mine who I use to remember quite well in the old days; I think his name was Harry Davis then and I hope it still is—something to Harve Taylor which I should not have overheard because I was not deliberately eavesdropping. He said, "Don't take no stuff from them, Harve. We're behind you one hundred per cent." I know it makes Senator Taylor feel good to know that Harry is behind him, but if you ever doubted he was behind you, Harve, I could have told you long ago he never left you.

The Governor is obstinate, they say; he is obdurate. So what does he do? He goes over a list of taxes that they said could be in the realm of compromise. Not being able to get them to a meeting, Mr. President, because, you see, you must go back to my first remarks. The scheme is not to meet and agree. The scheme is to hold us here in Session so that the men who are appointed to office cannot take their jobs. They will do what they have done in New Jersey. You know, they have never, never adjourned sine die in New Jersey because it is a Republican Legislature and a Democratic Governor. For the first time in the history of New Jersey, they have an eternal Session of the Legislature. That is what we are heading for in Pennsylvania. I think the people should know it.

The reason we passed the tax bill in three days is because we were aiming at giving you all the time you wanted to study it in order that we might be able to get out of here by Christmas Eve. So, the Governor is obstinate. How obstinate is he? He had the classified income tax. He assumed full responsibility for it. The Republican Senate defeated it and the Governor discarded it. Senator Taylor said the only tax they will accept is the sales tax. Then we suggested, and I think I suggested, that perhaps we could go to a mercantile tax. Immediately, the fur flew on the other side and before the tax bill was in, an announcement came that the Republicans would not go for that. Then, I had a little suggestion, through a friend of mine in the newspaper field—and they have one or two, although you would never know it by reading their newspaper—and it was suggested that perhaps we could have an excise tax on Federal income. Immediately, the Republicans said they would not go for that. They begin to remind you of a little baby. If you have ever had a little baby in the house and you tickled it under its feet, it just giggles and coos all over. After while, you do not have to tickle it; you just make the motion and it giggles and coos. That is what is happening to the Republican Caucus. We do not have to put the bills in. We just make the motion and immediately they are against it.

We thought, therefore, that we would give them something to sink their teeth in. They said that we had to have a bill before they would consider it. We put it in. Now, was the Governor obstinate? He put a bill in through his spokesmen in the House of Representatives. He has accepted another set of tax bills which seem to be unpopular. Senator Mahany said that if we pass them, the Democrats will not get into power for twenty more years. Well, I will tell you that we have been out so darn long that it does not matter whether we come back or not for twenty years. It does not matter to us. The election, or winning the election, is not a matter of life or death with us. We do not want to win unless we can be of service to the people. We are not interested in just winning. We are interested in doing something for the people of this Commonwealth and I mean the little peoples, the ones who do not have too many spokesmen on the other side of the aisle.

And so, the Governor is obstinate? When they killed all these proposals by action in the newspapers or by direct statements, they kept saying—Senator Taylor kept saying, "I am for the sales tax, I am for the sales tax." Today, the Governor had another tax bill. Taylor said that he is still for the sales tax. Who in the dickens is stubborn in this game? Who is the one who says that he will not take anything except a sales tax? Who has been amenable to the position of the Republican Senate and has offered another tax bill?

I will say to Senator Pechan, and I will say it now and I will say it later, that if he can show me right now, since he has read the bill, where this bill hurts Pennsylvania industry in competition, I will stand up immediately after him and renounce the bill and the Governor and the Democratic Party. Get up anytime you want to, Senator Pechan, and I am ready then to renounce.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, if he is willing.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will you point out where this bill hurst Pennsylvania industry in competition with other states?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes. Under Section a—I believe it is on page 7—you have a manufacturers' excise tax. Let us, for example, say that John Dent is going to build a $50,000,000 plant—

Mr. DENT. Let me interrupt you. If I do, it will be with your money.

Mr. PECHAN. Thank you for the compliment.

Supposing you were to build a $50,000,000 plant in Pennsylvania and I was a Pennsylvania manufacturer, and you wanted to buy your materials from me. I would charge you three and one-half per cent of an excise tax which is not deductible from your Federal income tax. On the other hand, supposing you wanted to buy $50,000,000 worth of materials from an Ohio manufacturer at the rate of three and one-half per cent. It then would become taxable under Section b, which is a use tax, and that three and one-half per cent is deductible under the provisions of the present bill. Is that not right?

Mr. DENT. The language, my dear friend, is very similar to the bill you voted for relating to the sales tax and the use tax. Would you say that your bill, for which you voted, was detrimental to Pennsylvania industry when, as you say, they could not deduct the sales tax if they sold or bought in Pennsylvania as against buying from outside the State?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, you are talking about the 1953 sales tax?

Mr. DENT. That is right.

Mr. PECHAN. Under the 1953 sales tax, it was only at the rate of one per cent. That was deductible because it was a use tax; it was a sales tax. However, under the three and one-half per cent excise tax, it is not deductible and if you use Ohio and Pennsylvania materials, under Section b, then under that provision both of them are deductible from their income tax deductions.

Mr. DENT. Have you discussed this with a learned attorney or is it your own conception of the bill?

Mr. PECHAN. Do I need an attorney?

Mr. DENT. Well, if you want my candid opinion, I might suggest that perhaps you do not need one, but you could use one. The Attorney General does not advise the Democratic Administration that what you are saying is so.

The quarrel that industry has, in case you might want to know, is this. They would like to have us amend the bill and we will be glad to amend it for them. They would like to have us amend the bill so that the purchaser of Pennsylvania manufactured goods, to be used in industrial uses, will be able to pay the tax rather than have the seller pay the tax because by the purchaser paying it, he would get immediate deduction which would net him about fifty-two per cent of the tax being paid by the Federal Government. That amendment is for one manufacturer as against buying from another manufacturer. The only thing under consideration is to make it so that it is an optional payment of the tax either by the selling manufacturing company or by the purchasing manufacturing company. That is not only under consideration but, if and when the committee meets, I am prepared to offer that amendment at the suggestion of Pennsylvania industry.

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Dent, as I stated awhile ago, I am hopeful that something can be salvaged in this bill. We know that sometime, somehow, somewhere we are going to have to resolve this problem. Awhile ago, you made a statement—you do not mind, I hope, if I elaborate a little bit. You were talking about that twelve year old child who is mentally retarded. I have that same feeling, and I think my other twenty-six colleagues on this side of the aisle have the same feeling, toward that child as you do. It has no connection with this particular phase. We know that somehow we are going to have to raise additional revenue, because I know that we have some 8,000 of these children who have to be hospitalized and it should be done very quickly. However, that is beside the point.

Another instance where it would penalize Pennsylvania is this. Of the forty-eight States, Pennsylvania will be the first State to enact a Pennsylvania excise tax. We do know that the Federal Government does it and we know that Canada does it. The Federal Government has tariff barriers, however, to protect it from the other countries bringing in materials. Just think, however, of the enforcement problem that you would have to police other forty-seven States bringing in materials which are consumed in Pennsylvania.

I say this, I was very happy to hear you say that perhaps some amendments can be offered. Maybe this bill can be made palatable. I am rooting for you. I am hoping that it can be done. Let us wait until these hearings occur on Wednesday and Thursday. Let us wait until they are concluded, and then perhaps a meeting of the minds will come up and something can be done. I think we are talking before we know what is eventually going to happen. We know that we have a revenue problem, and I am responsible.

I feel that when I am going to vote for these appropriations, I am not going to do like you fellows did on the other side in 1949. When I first came here, and in 1951 and in 1953 when you refused to vote for revenue measures. You are giving us the devil because we do not take some of these unfair bills, as I call them. You did not go along; you voted for the appropriations but you did not vote for all revenue measures. This is going to be the last revenue measure, we hope, that will raise sufficient funds to balance our budget.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman from Armstrong. That was quite a fine dissertation. However, I might suggest to the gentleman that I wrote on a piece of paper this afternoon certain memoranda. If he wishes, I would send a copy, sealed, to his office and then after the vote is taken on this bill, I would like to have him open it. We then will see how open-minded and open-hearted he is.

I am sure, Mr. President, that there are no difficulties that cannot be ironed out if we had the so-called open minds. Do we have open minds when a positive position is taken that this bill cannot pass, that it will not pass, when the leader of the Senate says so? I have known this much about Harve Taylor in the years that I have been associated with him; I have known that when he has told me something that the Republican Caucus was going to do at the present or in the future, he never lied to me. He always knew what they were going to do. If he says the bill is not going to pass, I will say that then the bill will not pass.

I respect Senator Pechan for his feelings of charity toward those in need. I hope that maybe between now and then he might be excused from the Juggernaut of the unit rule and give us a vote on the bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I want to say this and I hoped that I would be able to get it in before Senator Dent said his last phrase. Senator Dent was talking about Senator Taylor. If I recall the statement correctly, I want Senator Dent to know that I have not discussed this bill personally with Senator Taylor. If he will read the statement that Senator Taylor made, I think he said that he, personally,—he was talking about himself, personally.

We, on this side of the aisle, love Senator Taylor. He is our "pop-pop." However, Senator Taylor does not tell Al Pechan, nor do I think he tells Rowland Mahany, Senator Wagner or any of the other twenty-seven Senators how to vote. I know Senator Taylor does not say that if we do not vote his way, he will invoke the unit rule and kick us out of the Caucus. I have never heard it.

Mr. DENT. Thank you. That is very nice of you, and I do not think there are any ill feelings on my part toward Senator Taylor. I respect him for having such an absolute control. I think it is a wonderful thing that a man in his twilight years of this great life can still control, because of his position, the destinies of the Republican Party. I know that he feels awful bad that they have a Chairman who is not quite up to par, in so far as his own ability is concerned, to weld his party together and that they run off into all kinds of corners. Every army needs a leader and I am happy to know that he is the "Pop-pop" of all of the Republican Senators, because now I know why you have such great allegiance for him. Out home, when we used to disobey my Pop-pop, we got one swift kick where it hurts. If Senator Taylor is your "Pop-pop," then you have a right to obey him. However, you should tell your people who your "Pop-pop" is when you run for office.

I do not think the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, and I will get anywhere, Mr. President, because of the simple fact—and it is a very simple fact—that if Senator Pechan will go further and if he tonight will sit down and write me a memorandum on the point in this bill which he feels are controversial, to the extent that they are injurious to Pennsylvania's industry, I will be your personal messenger to the House of Representative leadership, to the Governor of the Commonwealth and implore him to take out of the bill the bad things which you have found in it.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not think there is any secret about my feeling on the amendments. I will be very happy to let you have them. I will be very happy to let you look them over and do with them what you like.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, tomorrow morning I am going down to do a little job for one of the committees I am on, and I will be back here about noon. If you will write them out for me, I will be glad to take them right over and if you want to go, I will take you over with me and we will go see the Governor and you tell him what is wrong with this bill. That is all he wants from you. He just does not want everybody to say, "No, no, no." He wants you to tell him what is wrong with the bill.

Mr. PECHAN. I think we will tell him what is wrong with the bill. If there is more wrong with it than we presently know, after these hearings, we will let him know. Give us a chance. I think you were wise awhile ago when you said that you passed the bill in the House so quickly in order that we would have more time to study it over here. Now give us that time. Do not push me.

Mr. DENT. Thank you. I am not pushing you; you are pushing yourself. You announced that you were for it and then you discovered that you were against it and you must have had reasons. If you have to wait for the hearings to find your reasons, then someone along the line has done some pushing other than me.

Mr. PECHAN. I will be very happy at noon to give them to you, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. I will allow you, too, to get some help from the former budget director of the Commonwealth. I will allow you, and this is without any personal feeling, to even call my old colleague, Johnny Walker, and he can put some phrases in which will not be quite intelligible but they will be there. Johnny, I do not mean it that way; you were always intelligible. However, his phrases will not be pertinent to the facts. Then, Mr. Pechan, if you want, you can even have the understudy of George Pennington, your new publicity man, write it out for you so that he will be able to understand it, because we are getting to where we cannot understand your releases and speeches over there unless they are cloaked in the language of an outsider.

Mr. PECHAN. Any speeches that I make, I make myself.

Mr. DENT. I know that.

Mr. PECHAN. In fact, the material which I am willing to give you I just had sent down from my office and all we need to do is have my secretary give you a carbon copy. I have it right here at my desk.

Mr. DENT. I will be glad to accept it now and you can have the carbon copy.

Mr. PECHAN. I want to say this to you, Senator Dent, that this is just one phase of the bill. I have not gone through all of the thirty-five pages. It will probably need additional amendments.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not think that the Senator is trying to fluff this thing off as a matter of minor importance. I think he fully realizes the seriousness of the situation which confronts us. I have often said that if we are not permitted to rule, then we ought to let the Majority Senators rule. However, I am not the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Years ago, in many negotiations that I sat in on, I discovered that when one side refused to budge or give, there was a strike. A disruption of activities is inevitable when one side refuses to budge from a position. If the Republican Party in this State, and I say this with a great deal of regard for many members of the Republican Party whom have learned to know over the years, takes the position that they will not, under any conditions, accept anything but a sales tax, then they ought to take that position forthright. I do not think that we ought to waste the time of this Senate and the moneys of the peoples of the Commonwealth. Every day that you hesitate in passing this bill, we are running $1,000,000 shorter in our budget. If we had the full twenty-four months, we could probably reach an agreement much easier. Those of you who are preaching delay on the other side should take into consideration that every day that you delay makes us $1,000,000 shorter of the goal that we need. If you stay until January the 1st, it just means that we will be short some $30,000,000 If you stay until February, remember that in January, and in the latter part of this month, you have some weeks that it will be impossible to work. You will have the Holy Week of Christmas, when most men would like to be near their homesteads. Then you will have the week between Christmas and New Year when, I doubt, if you can get a majority of the Members of either house down. Then you will have a week probably with some freedom of action, and following that the Farm Show week.

Therefore, you can see that unless we act, and act with determination and dispatch, instead of three and one-half per cent you ought to go to four or higher. Instead of the four per cent sales tax to take its place, you will have to go to five or higher.

So, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I plead with you to expedite your action on the bill one way or the other. If you defeat it, we will condemn you politically but there is nothing personal in it. If that is all you feel about it as a body, go ahead and defeat it, but do it now so that we can start again with another attack. I am sure that if you do that, we can still be out of here by Christmas week. There is nothing to hold us in Session whatsoever. There is nothing to hold us but our own stubborness and inability to reconcile our differences.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I believe about two weeks ago our colleague, Senator Silvert, introduced a bill, the ostensible purpose, as I heard it read, would be to save the purchasers of cigarettes and enable the purchaser to deduct from his Federal income taxes the Pennsylvania tax which he would pay on the purchase of cigarettes. I have not heard it discussed but I see nothing wrong with that bill except that I cannot imagine it would save any cigarette smoker very much money. However, pennies mount up to dollars I presume and, therefore, I can see nothing wrong with that bill.

I have not had the opportunity to read the proposed excise tax bill except very hurriedly, but I can visualize a young couple, who want to provide a home, spending possibly anywhere from $10,000 up. If I understand it correctly, none of the tax would be deductible. Yet, under the excise tax, the ultimate consumer is the one who has to pay not only the cost of the product, but the tax included.

Mr. President, I have heard the manufacturer berated, the one who is engaged in the business of producing, and yet I believe that he is the party that would be able to take the deduction. I do not know, but I have been told by people who are versed in such matters more so than I am that it is the party who pays the tax, and only the party who pays the tax can take a deduction in making up his Federal income tax. I throw that out for study.

I also thought it well to suggest that if the Members of the Senate have ideas to improve the bill, they should release those ideas to us and to the public as soon as possible so that they can be discussed at the hearing.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I appreciate the remarks of the gentleman from Blair and I am to take from that, or I hope I can read in that, the promise that if we meet the objections of the Senator and if we remove what may be termed inequities, he might have an open mind as to the ultimate vote on the bill.

I might remind him also that it was his party that passed the real estate transfer tax, and that $10,000 home you talked about now has a transfer tax in my township of two per cent; one for the township and one for the State. You did not make any provision for him to deduct that from his personel income tax.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, Senator Mallery referred to the bill I introduced last week, which would make the cigarette tax a tax on the consumer and thus give the consumer the opportunity to deduct these taxes from his return on the Federal income tax. He makes that comparison with the present bill.

Let me say to Senator Mallery that there is still an opportunity for a saving to the consumer in this way. Assuming that a manufacturer, let us say does—I will not take the big ones—$100,000 worth of business. Of course, the cost to him is $100,000, his merchandise, and he pays a three and one-half per cent tax on that or $3500. Now, in selling that merchandise, if he has a conscience at all, he should pass part of that $3500 tax or whatever it saves him on his income tax—let us assume that it is fifty per cent or $1750—on to the consumer in his price.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I just listened to the remarks of my colleague, Senator Silvert, and he suggests that the Pennsylvania manufacturers should assume that tax instead of passing it on to the consumer. Right away you are putting that manufacturer in stiff competition with the manufacturer in any other State who would manufacture the same product.

If I understand this bill correctly, the only deduction that a consumer in Pennsylvania could deduct would be merchandise which he, himself, bought and paid for from outside of the State of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCHMIDT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, it is my sad duty to present a resolution on behalf of all of the Senators from Allegheny County.

Mr. President, our dear Congresswoman from Allegheny, Vera Buchanan, passed away this past week end and in respect to her memory, we offer the following resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE DAUGHTERS AND BROTHERS OF THE LATE MRS. VERA BUCHANAN

Messrs. SCHMIDT, BARR, HOLLAND, McGINNIS, KOPRIVER, JR. and FLEMING offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 28, 1955.

Mrs. Vera Daerr Buchanan, Democratic Congresswoman from McKeesport who succeeded her husband in Congress four years ago, died Saturday November 26, 1955, at 11:40 A. M. in McKeesport Hospital where she had been a patient since August.

Death was attributed to a lung cancer discovered last June when she was hospitalized for treatment of lobar pneumonia.

Her death marked the first time it was known both a husband and wife have died while serving in Congress.

Mrs. Buchanan became Allegheny County's first Congresswoman—as a Democrat—when she won a special election in July 1951, to fill the vacancy caused by death from cancer of her husband, Frank Buchanan, one time school teacher and mayor of McKeesport. She has served continuously since that time.

Mrs. Buchanan established herself early in her career in Congress as one of the most conscientious representatives on Capitol Hill.

She worked hard for the things her district needed, including the Turtle Creek Flood Control project. She was particularly interested in housing legislation because her late husband had been a leader in writing the earlier bills. She finally was transferred to the House Banking and Currency Committee which handles housing legislation.

Only September 1, she learned her work for flood control had paid off. Army engineers disclosed a survey of the Turtle Creek Valley is under way. The Army Engineering Corps has allotted $30,000 to the survey for this year, with a similar amount expected for the second year.

Surviving her are twin daughters, Mrs. William A. Cavalcante and Mrs. John E. Thomas, Jr.; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of this Senate of Pennsylvania hereby extend their individual and heartfelt sympathy to the daughters and brothers of the late Mrs. Vera Buchanan in their hour of loss, and bid them take solace in the knowledge that their loved one has fulfilled her destiny and has left a record of great accomplishment and good work; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Mrs. William A. Cavalcante, 299 Bost Drive, Livingston Manor, West Mifflin, and Mrs. John E. Thomas, Jr., 2081 Constitution Boulevard, Greenock Heights.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH, ITS ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT AND ITS FOOTBALL TEAM UPON THEIR FINE FOOTBALL RECORD

Messrs. PECHAN, DENT, FLEMING, KOPRIVER, JR., MILLER, BARR, SCHMIDT and MAHANY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 28, 1955.

The great football team representing the University of Pittsburgh, popularly known as the Pitt Panthers, have compiled an enviable record this season in winning seven out of ten games played in a schedule which was one of the hardest encountered by any college football team in the country.

As a result of their fine record, not only in the number of victories attained, but in their good sportsmanship, team spirit and exemplary demeanor, the Pitt Panthers were chosen to oppose Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl game, to be played on January 2, 1956, in New Orleans.

The fine athletic director of the University of Pittsburgh, Mr. Tom Hamilton, and the great coach of the football team, Mr. John Michelosen, have accomplished much this past season in turning out a football team composed of young men whose fine competitive spirit and athletic accomplishments represent young America at its best; therefore be it

Resolved, That this Senate of Pennsylvania extends its sincere congratulations to the University of Pittsburgh, its athletic department, and particularly its football team for their fine record in the highly competitive game of football, and for bringing honor to themselves and to the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in being chosen to play in a great intersectional game; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Athletic Department of the University of Pittsburgh, at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

INTERROGATION

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I would like to direct an innocent inquiry to Senator Mahany.

Mr. President, on page 22 of today's Second Reading Postponed Calendar, there are two bills which have been hibernating for a long time, and they are Senate Bill No. 539 and Senate Bill No. 540. They sleep peacefully and quietly, and I wonder whether it would be dangerous to disturb their peace?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, I honestly cannot answer that question at the present time, because I do not know all of the ramifications of these two bills. Evidently they were placed upon the Second Reading Postponed Calendar for a purpose and until we ascertain why that is, I will not be able to tell you when we can act on them. I will be glad to cooperate with you in trying to find out what is delaying these bills.

Mr. STIEFEL. I am not going into the ramifications, because I judge there is a certain reason for the speed in passing over the bills. Therefore, I am not going to take up the problem tonight and I will leave it for tomorrow.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. DIEHM. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 10, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code," authorizing incorporated towns to remove and impound vehicles.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 775, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Joint Committee appointed by the Senate and House of Representatives to investigate the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 871, entitled:

An Act authorizing certain mutual insurance companies, other than life insurance companies, now in existence under the provisions of the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682), its supplements and amendments, to reincorporate as mutual life insurance companies; outlining the requirements and procedure; and defining the rights of dissenting members.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1834, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly for the payment of salaries of officers and employees mileage of members and incidental expenses for the balance of the legislative session of 1955.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, a short time ago Senator Dent made a very serious charge on the floor of this Senate, in which he charged the Republican Party with seeking to delay this Session of the General Assembly because we were fearful that if we adjourned the Governor would be able to appoint certain members to boards and these people would be able to investigate tax returns which, under the present setup, they would not be able to investigate due to the fact that we were holding certain appointments, which the Governor was making in committee.

I wish that the Senator, by tomorrow's Session, would check with Senator Watson, the Chairman of the Committee on Executive-Nominations, and find out, if he can, what members of any boards which the Governor has appointed are being held in committee which would have anything to do with checking into any financial statements or tax statements, which have been filed with the Department of Revenue, and advise me on the floor of this Senate which ones are being held up.

If there are any members of any boards that have anything to do with what he charged, I assure him that I will be glad to cooperate with him in trying to get them released from committee.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will be glad to do that and I would like to suggest that unless they have something personal against a man, unless a person whom the Governor has named is personally obnoxious to some Member of the Senate on the other side, that he would extend the same courtesy to all the other nominations made by the Governor.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to announce that at 10:00 o'clock on Friday morning, the Rules Committee will hold a public hearing on Reorganization Plans Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5, which appear on page 24 of today's Calendar. I suggest that any groups which are affected by these plans appear before the Rules Committee at 10:00 o'clock next Friday morning.

This public heading will be held in the Republican Senate Caucus Room, on the first floor of the Capitol.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I was going to ask if the Chairman of the Rules Committee would allow me to just present a brief in behalf of the plans since I will not be able to be here according to my present plans.

At this time I would like to suggest, if the Senate will agree, that instead of holding the public hearings on the tax bill down in the restricted area of the Caucus Room, since it is a public hearing, I would like to ask the chairman of the committee if he would change his plans in order that we may have the halls of the Senate, so that we may have the benefit of the recording device in order that after the hearings are over, those of us who are attempting to put forth a serious effort to resolve our difference will have the benefit of the recordations in order that we may be able to study the remarks made by the various spokesmen for the opponents and the proponents of the bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not see Senator Kessler in the room, but as Chairman of the Rules Committee I will be happy to comply with your suggestion and these public hearings on the tax bill will be held in the Senate Chambers instead of as heretofore scheduled.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DENT and TAYLOR read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 882, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 23, 1931 (P. L. 932), entitled "The Third Class City Code," permitting elected officers of a city to serve as members of the legislature.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 883, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1874 (P. L. 186), entitled "An act declaring what offices are incompatible," permitting members of the legislature elected to the office of councilman in an incorporated city to serve out their terms.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, November 29, 1955, at 3:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 7:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, November 29, 1955, at 3:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1955 No. 110.

SENATE

TUESDAY, November 29, 1955

The Senate met at 3:30 o'clock, P. M., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ARTHUR J. PFOHL, Pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Indiana, offered the following prayer:

Eternal Spirit, wilt Thou make Thyself known to us as our Father and Friend. Show us that Thou hast need of our lives to fulfill Thy purpose of righteousness in the world, even as we need Thee to realize the fullness and divine possibilities of our lives.

Make our highest vision of mercy and goodness, of love and justice, so real, so commanding, that all that is within us shall rise up and follow it. Endue us, O God, with the insight to read Thy truth and meaning into the facts and events of our day, and give us the courage to obey Thy truth no matter along what way it may lead us.

May our hearts and minds keep faith with Thee, for then it shall follow that we will keep faith with the high responsibilities that have been committed to our trust.

We pray Thy special blessing upon the President of our land. Continue to surround him with Thy love and strength, that he may have the health he needs to give our people of his wisdom and leadership. In Thy Name do we pray, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. PEELOR, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. RUTH asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. SEYLER, who is attending a National Education Conference in Washington.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

RECALLING THE NOMINATION OF FRANK K. COCHRAN AS A MEMBER OF THE STATE TAX EQUALIZATION BOARD

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, November 29, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In accordance with the power and authority vested in me as Governor of the Commonwealth, I do hereby recall my nomination dated November 15, 1955, for the appointment of Frank K. Cochran, 444 Sidney Street, Greensburg, Westmoreland County, as a member of the State Tax Equalization Board, until November 14, 1959, and until his successor shall be duly appointed and shall have qualified, vice Hon. Walter J. Kress, Johnstown, whose term expired.

I respectfully request the return to me of the official message of nomination in the premises.

GEORGE M. LEADER

GEORGE M. LEADER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I understand the Committee on Appropriations has prepared a bill calling for an expenditure of $265,000 for the purpose of cancer research in Pennsylvania. I am about to offer a bill, asking that $50,000 of this amount be appropriated to the Hoxey Cancer Clinic at Portage, the one institution in Pennsylvania, and one of the two in America, that really and truthfully is treating cancer successfully.

I again renew my plea, asking the Members of this body and the press to take time out and come to Portage and see for themselves, once and for all, whether or not we are offering a public service such as never has been had in the Country before. You must really see and you must really talk to these patients.

Despite the fact that we are treating cancer sufferers, I realize, and our staff realizes, that we should continue our present research. I am happy to announce that we are using two of America's outstanding research laboratories, laboratories which are working with us in further research. If ever a dollar is spent for good use, it will be spent by the passage of this bill.

I trust the Committee on Appropriations will sit down and seriously consider acting upon this bill before the last day of the Session.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HALUSKA read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 884, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic to be used in Cancer research.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WHALLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 885, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of the Meyersdale Community Hospital.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 886, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of the Somerset Community Hospital.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. WEINER and DIEHM read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 887, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," changing the membership of the State Board of Examiners of Architects.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. DENT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 888, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards, commissions and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; . . ." by creating the State Licensing Board for Monument Builders and Salesmen.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

SENATE BILL No. 593 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I call from the table at this time Senate Bill No. 593, Printer's No. 218, which was recalled from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, for the purpose of amendment.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 593

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 593, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 28, 1915 (P. L. 596), entitled "An act requiring cities of the second class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities, and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions," extending the benefits to employes of certain authorities created jointly with other political subdivisions or joined in by the cities; and authorizing credit for past service on making back payments.

passed finally.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I voted with the majority.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I voted with the majority.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I voted with the majority.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I voted with the majority.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 2 (Section 15), page 4, line 16, by striking out after the word "within" and before the word "months" the following: "six"; and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "twelve"; Amend Section 2 (Section 15), page 4, line 17, by striking out after the word "within" and before the word "months" the following: "six"; and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"twelve"; Amend Section 2 (Section 15), page 4, line 18, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "later" the following "or at such subsequent time as the pension"; Amend Section 2 (Section 15), page 4, line 19, by striking out at the beginning of the line before the word "Any" the following: "board shall approve".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill, as amended, lie over for printing.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED PURSUANT TO SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 114

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to announce that the President pro tempore has appointed the following Senators to the Benjamin Franklin Sesqui Biscentennial Commission of Pennsylvania, pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 114:

The Senator from Warren, Doctor Chapman; the Senator from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson; the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Peelor; the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent; and the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, yesterday I asked you to get a list of those appointees which the Governor had sent over and which you stated the Senate was sitting on. I wonder if you have the list of those who in any way have any connection with investigating any tax returns filed by corporations?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, Mr. Heagy, the Governor's Secretary, was requested to get that material to me and the names of those in the Executive Nominations Committee. Right before I came downstairs, I checked and he said it should be over here before the Session is adjourned. When they come over, I will be glad to read them to the Members of the Senate, or I shall give them to the gentleman from Crawford, whichever way he wants it.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, in order that there be no misunderstanding, I am merely interested in your statement of yesterday in which you said that, "This is part of a plot to keep this General Assembly in Session in order that Governor Leader's confirmations, sent over here to the Senate, totaling 182 or 183, will remain in committee so that the skulduggery of the past sixteen years cannot be investigated, so that the millions of dollars that have been handed out in tax rebates could not be uncovered, so that the many discretions"—you must have meant indiscretions—"of the past sixteen years cannot be brought to light."

Those are the people that we are interested in finding out, who they are, who are going to do that and which we are not releasing from committee. I am not particularly interested, for instance, in the number of people we might be holding up for appointments to Public Assistance and justices of the Peace and others. It is just those particular members that I would like to find out who they are.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will be glad to turn them over to Senator Mahany. However, he must realize, of course, that in a political government, every part of the government is part of it, and an integral part of it. It is like a spoke on a wheel. The hub is no good unless it has the spokes. At the right time and when I get the information, I will give you all the spokes, the hub and the rim.

I beg your pardon, Mr. President. They have arrived. You may as well settle back and sit down, Senator Mahany. You might be a long time standing.

The first one I come to, without knowing what it is, I happen to note the date of it and it is January 24, 1955. This man is only getting a three-year appointment, by the time you fellows ever get around to it, if you ever do. I do not know who he is. I might read them to you. This one is a gentleman who is a Member of the Valley Forge Park Commission. We would like to know what has happened to the Valley Forge Park Commission over the past years and perhaps this man's addition to that Park Commission might give us the inside information. Here is another one—

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am still interrogating the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. DENT. I am answering your interrogation.

Mr. MAHANY. You have stated, Senator Dent, that the reason these people are being held up is because we do not want to be investigated about the millions of dollars that have been handed out in tax rebates and which cannot be uncovered. Are there any people on that list who would have anything to do with any investigation of tax rebates which may or may not have been made?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will be glad to as we come to the names—there are about 180 of them. I will read them to you, and we will decide whether their positions are important enough to receive consideration or whether they are in any position that would be necessary to the proper management of this State's Government, whether or not they are in a position to give an assist to any department that might be making an investigation of purchases or an investigation of tax refunds or any other investigation.

If you will have patience and sit down nice and comfortably, I will read them and we will see what happens. If you want me to go through them, I will be glad to. I am just as much a stranger to them as you are.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to have the gentleman's answers be responsive. He made a charge here yesterday and he pinpointed his charge to the fact that we are holding up people who, if they were appointed and confirmed, would be able to investigate millions of dollars that have been handed out in tax rebates, and so forth. He made a specific charge. I am not going to allow the gentleman, after he has fired a rifle, to throw a shotgun blast back here. I want him to pinpoint the particular individuals who he said we were holding up and who could do this work.

The appointment to the Valley Forge Park Commission would not have anything to do with investigating tax rebates. I want the gentleman to tell me which one of those people, if he has any there, would have anything to do with investigating tax rebates.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if the gentleman is just trying to be cute, then we will just play the game with him.

However, if he wants to know the facts, if he will just bear with me and sit down, I was just handed these, I will read them to you, the duties they perform and the jobs that they are in. Then, perhaps we will all know what jobs are being held up in the Senate confirmations. Among these jobs you will find that, if you read the entire statements I made yesterday, I covered not only the sentence that you are reading to me, but I covered the situation where all persons in government should be confirmed or recalled by the Governor. I said that you were emulating the State of New Jersey, which has refused to adjourn sine die, and that by so doing you are keeping in office those who are not entitled to hold office. If you want the names, I will give them to you. However, I am not going to stand here and pick out of this group of 180 names, which were just handed to me, and pinpoint any one. If you have the patience, I have the courage. We will just talk it over and call each one by name, and I think that the people of Pennsylvania should know how many descent citizens are being held up and for how long by the Confirmation Committee of this Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, you know full well that you made a charge here yesterday. If you can prove it to be true, it then is a serious charge. You charged that we are holding someone up who might be able to investigate tax rebates which have been made. That is the one thing in which I am interested.

Rather than have you take up another hour and a half of our time today, I would just as soon let it go until tomorrow. I will give you a twenty-four hour extension and you can give me the name, or names, then of those people who are interested in that particular subject.

I am not interested in the people on the Valley Forge Park Commission at the present time, because I understand that commission is being operated satisfactorily. I just heard of the name of a gentleman from your County of Westmoreland which was sent over here and the Governor has recalled it. I thought perhaps we might be able to do something about that one. However, the Governor just sent a message over recalling that name. It is a good thing that we did not operate on him because it probably would have met with dissatisfaction on the part of the Governor.

Mr. DENT. That is a very nice speech and I thank you for creating in me the hope that you were going to consider a name sent over by the Governor.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, this whole situation is not clear to me and, therefore, I would like to interrogate my good friend, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. In any one of three languages, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, in order to follow this discussion and sort of denote the expressions from both men in a clear fashion, I would like to know from Senator Dent whether he has any knowledge of some of our nominees who have been blocked by our side.

Mr. DENT. I would not know that, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. That is all I wanted to know. I can now follow it clearly.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think that the gentleman on the other side is attempting to throw around the questioning, that he has sort of a cloak of uncertainty so as to create in the minds of those who are listening in the Chamber of the Senate at this time a doubt as to whether or not we have a legitimate complaint about the holding up of confirmations.

I made a statement, and if he will read the whole statement he will find that it was very broad, but very pertinent to the very question that you asked. The very next list of appointments here have been in since March the 7th, 1955 and I quote:

"In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate, the following persons for appointment as Members of the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors":

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, every person in this room knows that the Board of Censors has life and death control over the motion picture display industry. Every person also knows that for many years there have been charges of favoritism and of particular concessions being given to certain movie operators to show pictures which were slightly off-color. We all know that this board would have gone into their positions and developed whether or not all of the necessary taxes were collected as well as the license fees and developed whether or not there was any truth to the statements made publicly.

Mr. President, it might be interesting to note that because we have failed to receive confirmation for these three persons, there are now appearing in Pennsylvania certain movies that a great many decent citizens are complaining about. One of them was shown in a theatre not too far from the Capitol site and one that I would not allow if I, could stop them, any children in the Commonwealth to attend. I believe that these are serious things. They deal not only in moneys; they deal in whether the administration has been right and they deal in whether or not the need is there now.

I know they are going to say that a Supreme Court decision outlawed that board. There is legislation, which could have been passed since March the 7th, that would have reinstated the board. However, their board was in existence long after the so-called outlaw act by the Supreme Court and they were paid until the new Governor took office.

Mr. President, I am not going to go through all of them. If you wish, Mr. Mahany, and do not want to take the time of the Senate, I will be glad to go over them tomorrow with you. Anytime you want them I will take them to the floor and I will take the express, specific jobs that I am interested in.

I believe that the people ought to know that here is a member of the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, for instance, and what are we doing with that in committee since April 18th? Mr. President and Members of the Senate, does anyone here know anything about the Pennsylvania Securities Commission and the amounts of moneys which it has to deal with and the privileges which it metes out to certain individuals and corporations? I think that the people ought to know that, Senator Mahany, and I still charge that when you hold up 182 jobs which need the confirmation of this Senate, for a whole year many of them, that you are crippling and endangering the administration of the present Governor of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the Senator always makes charges and then he tries to scramble back on something else. Now he has made a serious charge here about us holding up confirmations of people who might investigate tax rebates, and now he is talking about Securities Commission people.

As I understand it, the Securities Commission is being operated all right. The fact of the matter is, as I understand it, one of the members has a full time job with a stock brokerage office in Pittsburgh and in his off hours, he devotes a little time, I guess, to the business of operating the Securities Commission. If I had my way, I would abolish the Securities Commission and try to get somebody else in here to aid this fellow who has another full time job and just devotes a little of his time to this work.

I do not know what other boards Senator Dent has there. I have the complete list here before be and most of them are boards which we are studying. I understand that one or two people, who have been sent over here for confirmation, have criminal records and we are investigating that matter. Also, Senator, I remember that one fellow who we did confirm, or had something to do with here, was let out shortly after we confirmed him because he had a criminal record. I think that happened out in your end of the State and you probably know him. I am not going to penalize the fellow any more, but I am sure that you remember the case. I see that you are shaking your head, but that was my information.

Mr. DENT. I am shaking my head at how deep you dig a shovel when you get it into what you think is dirt. That is what I am shaking my head at.

Mr. MAHANY. Well, you deny it if I have stated anything here that is untrue.

Mr. DENT. I will deny it. Mr. President and Members of this Senate, Senator Mahany said that I made a serious charge. There are 182 names in that committee. He now has said that there are some with criminal records. Does he realize what he is doing to 182 persons who are members of this great State of ours? He is casting over their heads the charge that any of them are the criminals that he talks about. If there are any criminals on the list which has been sent over, you have the right to refuse confirmation for them. Bring them out here upon the floor, and if the facts stand up the Senate will vote them down. We will be glad to have the State Police check everyone of them. I think that the Governor does try to do that. I do not like the insinuation that a friend of mine, or somebody that I know, was a criminal. Being a lawyer, I think that you would be a little closer to criminals than I am.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, this started out I thought as an interrigation, to try to develop whether or not we had any right to complain about the confirmation of members of the Governor's official family. I believe we do have that complaint; not only in the official family but in many local offices. We have a sheriff in a county who was named long before the election, he was held up until the election and he now, as the candidate, has been elected to the office and he still is not confirmed by this Senate for the interim.

There are many of these incidents in this Session. In all of the years that we were the minority party and had control of confirmations because of the lack of the number of votes on the Republican side, only one time in my history do I remember when we at any time used the weapon of confirmation in order to hold up the appointments of the Governor. We held up, for a short period of time, certain cabinet members that were sent over by Governor Fine because he was deliberately trying to circumvent the Constitution and keep in office a man who was named by his predecessor which was contrary to the constitutional requirements of this Commonwealth. We have never used that weapon.

Mr. President, does the gentleman realize that in the future it will be difficult in my opinion for either party, with the complexion of the State being what it is, to receive thirty-four votes in this Senate, and that what you are setting up in this Session of the Legislature is a precedent which will come back and haunt you, who you all believe will be the majority party more often than we are. History has proven, in the last 100 and some odd years, that we have only elected three Governors, and so history is on your side in that you will more often be in office than we will and you are setting up a precedent which will come back to haunt you.

Why hold up Justices of the Peace? Why hold up these little offices which are important to the communities they come from? Why hold offices up which are important? Yes, a Member of the Turnpike Commission is being held up. That very phrase that I used could very well pertain to that particular office. That man may develop something. He may develop some incident in that Turnpike Commission which would be brought to light and may not stand the light.

Mr. President, these are the things which are important to an administration, that it have around it its new tenants. It is like a conquered army, asking the right to keep its offices over the men of the victors. The vanquished demand that they run the show. You have done it on the tax bill for eleven months. Because you have more lineage in the newspapers than we do, you have developed in this State a great feeling that we are not doing anything about taxes. You think that now you are going to get away by being able to say to the people that I was unable to point to a person. I want to point to every person, and every one of them has something to do with government. Any man in any capacity of government is a very important part of it. I do not hide behind any innuendoes and I do not try to create the impression that a Member of this Senate has in any way introduced anybody into the Governor's Office who is a criminal or anything like it.

You read what you want in your own remarks, Senator Mahany, but I read behind them. Mr. President, I do not see anything honorable in the statement which he just made that covers and blankets 180 some odd people with the threat that any one or two of them may have criminal records. Name the ones who have criminal records, or, at least, send their names back to the Governor and say that they are not acceptable. The man that you talked about never was confirmed by this Senate. When a man is asked a certain question on a questionnaire, he answer it. How many of us can go behind each question and find out what he stands for and what he has been in his lifetime? I know of the person you talked about. I do not know the gentleman and I never heard of him until recently when some conversation came up where I heard he was dismissed. The way I understand it, this gentleman was supposed to have been indicted years ago for some offense during the years of the depression for writing numbers or something. I bet you have stood in court as a lawyer, and defended a lot worse criminals and tried to turn them loose on the public.

I do not believe that the people of this State ought to be given the impression that the Leader Administration is naming criminals to public office. You said that if you had your way, the (Securities Commission would be abolished. Well, if you had your way, every office that a Democrat is put into would be abolished. Why did you not abolish it during the sixteen years that you were in power if you had such feelings about it? Why did you not abolish the Censor Board during the sixteen years that you were in power. Now, all of a sudden, all of the offices which you held and filled for sixteen years have suddenly become non-essensial to the government of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I think that the people ought to know what the twenty-six Republican Senators are doing to George Leader's State Administration. We have made up our minds over here now that if your plan is to sit here until next Spring, or next Fall, or next Winter, or next year, or the year after, we will sit with you.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, specifically brought up the Board of Censors, and he said that the Republican Caucus was holding up the confirmation. There is no question about us holding up the confirmation of that board. I spoke on that months ago. I still feel the same today as I did then. The Supreme Court of the United States, in two opinions handed down by it, ruled that they could not operate legally, that they had no right to operate as a Board of Censors. Certainly the Board of Censors has no powers and should not be reappointed. I will stand on that, and as long as I can possibly oppose and keep this side of the Senate from approving the Board of Censors, I will do so.

I would like the people of Pennsylvania to know that I am the one who is keeping a useless board from being appointed to office by this Administration. It has no duties, it cannot operate under an opinion handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States. Certainly. we have every right to keep them in.

In passing, I might note, Mr. President, that on one of the appropriation bills that we passed, to take care of the schools of Pennsylvania, it was amended in the House of Representatives to again include an appropriation for $235,000 for the Board of Censors. I would, likewise, like to serve notice on the Senate of Pennsylvania that if I can knock that appropriation out, I will certainly do so. There is a place where Governor Leader can affect some of those economies about which he talked when he ran for Governor. There is an opportunity to do away with at least three appointments which certainly are not needed. Even though as some of the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle might allege that some of their duties are needed, the fact remains that the last resort of law in this United States of America has ruled that they cannot operate. I merely wanted to inject that since the gentleman did bring that up as one of the illustrations that we were holding back. I, personally, cannot see how the Board of Censors could in any way be shielding or how the non-appointment of a new board could in any way have anything to do with any alleged tax refunds or illegal tax refunds that the previous Administrations allegedly have given.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, on the floor just now, you took the honor of holding up the confirmation of the Board of Censors. Is that correct?

Mr. FLEMING. I do not know whether it is an honor or not. I said that I was the first one who brought it to light. That is correct; yes, sir.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, to the best of your knowledge is any member of that Board of Censors, or the nominees, guilty of a criminal record?

Mr. FLEMING. I certainly know of no criminal record that any of them have. In fact, the lady from your county, Senator Lane, is a very fine, estimable lady. Where she up for confirmation for any other office, I would be most happy to vote for her confirmation.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, do you have any knowledge as to the statements made by your Floor Leader in regard to those persons whose names were sent over here in regard to any criminal records?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I do not know of any criminal records that any of the present nonimations made by the Governor might have. Possibly Senator Mahany has some knowledge of that. I, of my own personal knowledge, do not have it.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, could you tell the Members of the Senate when this court decision was handed down whereby it outlawed the use of a Board of Censors in Pennsylvania?

Mr. FLEMING. In 1952, Mr. President. I have it here if you would like to read it.

Mr. LANE. I just wanted to know the date. You said 1952.

Senator Fleming, if your statement is correct, it seems to me that the Administration had a Board of Censors at that particular time. Is that not correct?

Mr. FLEMING. There is no question about that.

Mr. LANE. Did you sponsor legislation or request that the present board, serving at that time, be removed?

Mr. FLEMING. I did not. No. sir.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, could you tell the Members of the Senate why you did not take that action?

Mr. FLEMING. Yes, I certainly can. I did not know of these decisions until late last year. I said on the floor of this Senate several months ago that we had made a mistake in not immediately doing away with the Board of Censors. However, I drew to the attention of the present Administration that even though we had made that mistake, certainly it should not follow in our footsteps.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, is it not a fact that the members of the Board of Censors, serving in 1952, were of the Republican faith?

Mr. FLEMING. My guess would be that they were.

Mr. LANE. Do you not think further, Senator Fleming, that the reason you did not take this action was because they were persons of your particular political party? Is that correct?

Mr. FLEMING. No, Mr. President. I did not know it at that time.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, could you tell the Members of the Senate the great savings that the Leader Administration might accomplish by eliminating the Board of Censors? Could you tell us the amount?

Mr. FLEMING. I do not know the exact amount. I believe the total appropriation is $235,000. I recognize the fast that there probably should be some person employed in the Department of Revenue to collect the fees for them. Therefore, that would have to be cut down some.

In fact, I remember, Senator Lane, when I talked about it we were talking in millions of dollars. I suggested at the time that I would be interested in someone talking about real small amounts. I said that I wanted to talk about $15,000 or $18,000 because I was sure that if we did not reappoint that Board of Censor, we could save the salaries of those three people.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, do you have knowledge of the fact that the Board of Censors, in the last biennium, earned about $1,400,000 in fees?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I do not have knowledge that they earned any amount of money like that at all. If I may, I would answer the question in this way. I would say that they did not earn anything. Certainly, they may have collected license fees, but that could be a job which could be delegated to the Department of Revenue to collect.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, since you made that statement, I would like you to tell the Members of the Senate how the Department of Revenue could collect those sums of money without having a Board of Censors.

Mr. FLEMING. I think that could be worked out. However, I would have to sit down and study it a little while. I do not know. It surely could be worked out, however.

Mr. LANE. I thank the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. President, it seems as though we are at the stage of the game where we are starting a little muck raking. I, for one, as a Member of the Senate, do not at all like the statement made by the Majority Leader when he cast a reflection upon good citizens of Pennsylvania who have the good fortune, the privilege and the honor of serving this Commonwealth. He inferred that a few of them, or several of them, have criminal records.

Mr. President, I wanted to bring out on the floor here today, when I interrogated Senator Fleming, that the lady who was nominated to serve on our Board of Censors happens to be one of the outstanding ladies of Washington County. I do not want anyone to stand on the floor of this Senate and infer in any manner that this lady or any of her relatives have a criminal record.

My interrogation of Senator Fleming brought out the fact that the only reason these confirmations were held up was because they happened to be members of the Democratic Party.

Mr. President, if they had knowledge of this Supreme Court decision in 1952 and if they were sincere, they would have taken action then to abolish the Board of Censors. However, they waited until the year of 1955, when we have a number of distinguished citizens who would like to serve in that capacity, to bring up the argument of the Supreme Court decision.

I want you to know now that the Supreme Court decision does not prohibit the appointment of a Board of Censors. They still have the right of review, and they serve a useful purpose here in Pennsylvania. That is how they collected that money that the Commonwealth received. If the Republicans feel that they are going to economize by eliminating the Board of Censors, they certainly have demonstrated that they are pennywise and pound foolish.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I presume we are still under Petitions and Remonstrances. Is that correct?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, if I could digress for just a moment, I would like to point out to Senator Lane that I did say that I thought the lady from Washington County had an unimpeachable character. I said that I thought she was one of the finest women down here and were she to be nominated for any other position, I would be most happy to vote for her confirmation. I think Senator Lane knew that I said that.

Mr. President, we have heard a lot of allegations, innuendoes and what have you. I listened to them for two hours yesterday and for several hours on other days, about what the Republican Party is doing and about how we are being led by the nose and that we are the tools of big business. I heard alleged yesterday that Senator Taylor cracked the whip over the Members on this side of the Senate and that we voted as he told us to do. I want to says to you, Mr. President and to the Membership of this Senate, that Senator Taylor has never cracked the whip on this side of the Senate. We hold him in the most high esteem. We value his counsel; we think he is one of the leading statesmen in Pennsylvania. He reasons with us and, in many instances, the viewpoint that he puts out to us on government finally become the course which we follow. For anyone to get up and try to say to the people of Pennsylvania that because Senator Taylor has said this bill is not going to pass, it is not going to pass, is a direct slam at one of the finest and most venerable gentlemen in State Government. I, for one, resent any insinuation that he is anything but that.

I would like to say to you, Mr. President and to the Members of this Senate, that the excise bill is a bad bill. I know that we agreed yesteday that we would wait until it got before us and then no one waited until it got before us. This is supposed to be the bill that is going to be good for all the people of Pennsylvania. I want to say to you Mr. President, that this is one of the worst bills that has ever happened in Pennsylvania. If it it passed, it is going to put Pennsylvania industry into a most unfavorable and unfair competitive situation with other States. It is going to put Pennsylvania industry into a most unfavorable and unfair competive situation with other States. It is going to make the ultimate consumer pay a pyramiding tax in many instances.

We have heard a lot about Chambers of Commerce. I can readily believe that the Chambers of Commerce of the State of New York, the State of New Jersey, the State of Maryland and the State of Ohio might be rooting for the passage of this excise tax. Certainly, they would be for it because that would help the manufacturers in their States. It cannot help the manufacturers or the individual consumer in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, they make a great ado about the fact that food is exempt and about the poor man. That is the man for whom they plead all the time. This Administration and the Democratic Party are supposed to be the great champion of the average guy. They are going to watch out for him and do the things that are right for him. I want to tell you that food is not completely exempted under this because the containers, the tins and things like that in which the food is packaged are bound to have the excise tax put on them and will be passed onto the ultimate food consumed. What about packaged goods that are sold in all the supermarkets? How are you going to get away from having it passed on in that instance? I think everybody knows that the sales tax is absolutely the best tax for the average fellow. I want to say again, as I have said many times on the floor of this Senate—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, will state his point of order.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I want it distinctly understood here and now—I do not mean to interrupt you, Senator Fleming—but you know Senator Mahany last night got up on the floor and said, "We are not going to debate the tax bill under Petitions and Remonstrances because we are going to debate it when it comes before us," and then he talked for an hour. Another Senator debated the tax bill and now Senator Fleming is debating it too.

Mr. President, I am going to reserve the same right. I do not want some one to stand up on the floor and say, "Well now, we cannot debate the tax bill because it is not before us." I am willing to listen, but what is good for one side is good for the other.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I think the point of order was well taken myself, but I sat here for two hours and one-half and listened to the gentleman on the other side of the aisle speak on this tax bill. I heard the gamut run from everything, up to what we were going to do to the tax, how we were stifling everybody in Pennsylvania, down to the fact that of what roten fellows certain fellows on our side of the house were and I never heard a point of order raised.

I think it is well taken. I am willing to defer my statement. I have a lot of things to say about this tax, but I will quit right now Senator Lane. I am sorry and I will take your point of order and sit down right now.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, since the questin of criminal records has been brought into the withholding of confirmations, I must, of necessity, ask the Majority Leader a few questions.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Mahany, last August we had a very devastating flood along the Delaware River. More than 100 people lost their lives in that flood. Millions of dollars of property damage resulted from that flood; homes were washed away and people lost their belongings but, in particular, two bridges were washed away. One of the bridges happens to be in my District, in the city of Easton. It is the only free bridge that crosses the Delaware in that main artery which carries thousands upon thousands of automobiles and trucks over the Delaware between New York and points west, and from points west into New York.

Months ago,, Mr. President, before the flood, two recommendations were sent over here from the Governor's Office for replacements on the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission that has jurisdiction over five toll bridges, which is a multi-million dollar project, and about twenty-four toll bridges including the two which were washed away. Many other bridges were damaged during that flood. Since the only bridge that we have in Easton today is a toll bridge which everyone must use in order to cross the Delaware, there is considerable controversy in planning on the reconstruction of a free bridge and on the construction of a Bailey Bridge, a temporary bridge in the area. I am assuming that the same thing is taking place down in the Bucks County area where the other bridge was washed away.

Mr. President, it is important that the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission functions with a complete complement of members.

I ask you now, in view of the fact that this great emergency exists, why the two recommendations of the Governor for appointment on this commission are being withheld and have been withheld? Please, in your answer, indicate whether there is anything criminal involved in the records of those who were recommended.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, first, I do not know of anything criminal in the records of the nominees. I apolize to all the other members of the various boards, who have been appointed and have not as yet been confirmed, that might be under a cloud. However, rather than come out here now with a statement as to which one of these persons it was and perhaps not have proper proof of it, I wanted to wait for a week until I can get my proof. I thought that I had it today here, but I do not. I did not mean to go into it when we first started our interrogation with Senator Dent. It has to do with a very minor board and it does not affect many of the other people who are being considered, if any.

As to your confirmation, I do not know why those two are being held up, Senator I am hoping that perhaps by next week we might be able to take some action on these appointments I did not understand that the work of the commission is being held up because these people have not been confirmed

May I ask you, Senator Yosko, is the work of the commission not being carried on at the present time?

Mr YOSKO. I can only answer that in this way. There are five members on each side of the river; that is, in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. I understand that in order to transact business, there must be a quorum present from each side. Therefore, if one member were absent from the Pennsylvania side at any meeting that was called to transact business, the meeting would have to be called off. New Jersey has its full membership functining.

In further answer to your question, I think that five minds, in planning projects such as are being planned in the devastated area, can certainly accomplish a great deal more than three, all of whom are busy here at the State Capitol, the Auditor General, the State Treasurer and the Secretary of Highways. These two appointees would be the only two who are not affiliated with the State Government in an important executive capacity.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Yosko, we will see what we can do by next week about releasing these names on your bridge commission down there for action by the Senate. I will assure you that I will do everything within my power to see that we do take some action.

Mr. YOSKO. They are not being withheld because of any criminal records?

Mr. MAHANY. No, definitely not.

Mr. YOSKO. I would like to ask you about two others. They are minor appointments, but I am being asked about them, and I would like to ask you about them since this question of criminal records came up.

The Alderman in the Seventh Ward of Bethlehem died, and the brother of Assemblyman Francis Bucchin was recommended quite some time ago for appointment to fill the vacancy. I understand that this confirmation is being withheld for some reason and I do not know why.

The Alderman of the Fifth Ward of Bethlehem died and his sister was recommended to fill the vacancy. That, too, happaned quite some time ago. Is there any reason that you could give me why these confirmations are being held up?

Mr. MAHANY. No, Senator, I do not know of any reason. As far as I am concerned, both of those appointments may be confirmed. I think that what happens, Senator, to be fair with all of us, is that we are rushed so for time around here that it is hard to get around to some of these things. I know every day in our Caucus that Senator Watson would like to get some time to discuss appointments and before he gets around to doing very much of it we say, "Well, we have a lot of bills on the Calendar and we have to get onto that," and consequently we do not give Senator Watson sufficient time to perhaps go over these names as he would like.

Do not blame the delay on the committee chairman, Senator Watson, as he is trying to do his job. If we could get a few more minutes in a day, perhaps we could get some of this worthwhile work done.

I would suggest, in order to do that, that we cut down on the time of Petitions and Remonstrances. This is about the first time I have led off under this order of business. If we can go to the Calendar now, I will assure the gentleman that this will be the last day that I will lead off, and if you fellows over there do not lead off under this order of business, then we will not have to devote very much time to it.

Mr. YOSKO. I just want to ask one more question about the two alderman appointments in order to clear the atmosphere. To the best of your knowledge, are their confirmation being held up because of any criminal record that might be involved?

Mr. MAHANY. No.

Mr. YOSKO. Thank you, very much.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman that he led off and probably instead of leading, he should have been backing up.

However, Mr. President, I might point out, for the information of all, that by not confirming the two bridge commissioners, the majority vote on the bridge commission is still Republican. There are three members on that board who do not need confirmation. One is the Auditor General, a Republican, one is the State Treasurer, a Republican, the other is the Secretary of Highways, a Democrat. The bridge commission is entirely Republican and so, Mr. President, I think that all of you can understand why the two were not confirmed they were named as Democrats many, many months ago.

I do not believe that it is fair to the people, and I do not believe it is fair to the manufacturers of Pennsylvania, to allow a mis-statement to pass by which was made by the Junior Senator from Allegheny County, in which he states that food is not exempt and that the processing of food requires cartons, cans, bottles and such, and they are therefore taxable and that food then would bear a load. That is the one statement which is a mis-statement. All articles consumed in the manufacture of a product are exempt from taxation. Since food itself, as a manufactured product, is exempt and the articles or commodities used and products used in the manufacture of food are exempt under another section of the act, then you can easily understand that that is a mis-statement. I understand that the H. J. Heinz Company has been in touch with some of the Senators from Allegheny, particularly I know of one of my own Senators on this side, and after being told the truth about the matter, there was not so much agitation. In another sense, he was stating that the manufacturers would be put in a very untenable position, on a competive base, and in the next breath he said that it would be a burden upon the consumer.

If the manufacturer is put on an untenable base then he must pay the tax, according to that statement; if he does pay the tax, then it cannot be passed on. If it is not passed on, Mr. President, how will the retail consumer be made to pay for it? If it is passed on, Mr. President, then the manufacturer is not in a position of being in a bad light competitively.

Mr. President, it might interest the Members of the Senate, and I think this is the time, before you get your minds so completely sealed against this form of taxation, when you ought to know that all goods manufactured in this State and shipped out of the Commonwealth are not taxed, and that all goods that are shipped into Pennsylvania of a manufactured nature are taxed under this excise tax bill. I explained to Senator Pechan, I believe to his satisfaction when he gave me, as he said he would, a written statement containing his objections. I said that we would sit down with him and try to iron out those exemptions if he had an open mind on the situation and was willing to deal with it on the basis of attempting to pass legislation.

I heard the same Senator from Allegheny County call the classified income tax the worst tax bill that was ever conceived and now this is the worst tax bill that has ever been conceived.

Mr. President, let me explain one thing to the people. That is an opinion and we are not of that opinion. The House was not of that opinion. We are not of the opinion, Mr. President, that the sales tax is the best tax for the people. I have some information, but I do not want to take the time of the Senate. I think that it is darn important that the people do not get a misconception and a misconstruction of this act of the Legislature, proposed by this Democratic Administration in its attempt to assume the responsibilities of government. I want the newspapers to clearly note that we offered, and still offer, to sit down with all of you or any of you; one or the whole group, to discuss what you might call inequities and to iron out the difficulties. Neither the Goveronr nor the Democratic Administration wants to put Pennsylvania industry in a competitive nine-hole, but we do not either want to place the entire burden of $400,000,000 upon the shoulders of those who are least able to pay.

For instance, I will give you an illustration which I think bears a little meaning. I have before me, Mr. President, a report that I asked for. It is a confidential report, and it is sent out to all of the subscribers of this particular paper and it is one that will answer questions on specific problems and then the bulletin is issued to all of those who subscribe to it. It is Baxter's International Economic Research Bureau. I am sure that you would not question their figures.

Mr. PRESIDENT, you talk about this tax being burdensome on the little people. Let us look at it. If you are interested in the little people, Mr. Fleming, I am sure that you can understand these particular figures. This is how a price tag works on an automobile. Here is the way an automobile leaves the factory at the ship-away gate. The basic price is $1755. That is the price upon which the three and one-half per cent mercantile manufacturers tax would be placed. It then goes on and there are delivery charges of sixty dollars, Federal excise tax of $180, which is added on afterwards, and then delivered to the local man for $1995 and then starts the packing. The local man then goes into the two-tone color and the tinted glass, the protective undercoating, the service of gas, oil, lubrication, protective polishing, brake light, change from black to white sidewalls and he ends up with total extras, or optional features, on this particular car of $1120 or a sale price to the individual at the market place of $3115. Now if your arithmetic can show you where a three per cent retail sales tax on $3115 is less than three and one-half per cent or four per cent at the level of $1755, then I will vote with you.

Mr. President, no person here can convince me at this moment that a retail sales tax, in sufficient amount to meet the needs of this Commonwealth, will bear less heavily upon the shoulders of the little people in this State than a manufacturers' excise tax. So when you talk, if you stand up for the manufacturers, stand up boldly for them. However, do not confuse it by standing up—both—for the manufacturer and the individual consumer, because both will not pay the tax.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, there was a question raised by Charlie Smith on the television program the other night, as well as, I believe, by Senator Pechan, relative to the reason for continuing the operation of the Sales Tax Bureau in the Department of Revenue in spite of the fact that the tax expired on August 31st.

Mr. President, in order to clear the atmosphere, and for the information of the Members of the Senate and those who might be interested, I made a check and submit the following.

During the months of September, October and November, that bureau collected $6,798,733. As of this date, the total collected was $124,000,000. The operating expenses of the bureau were reduced since September or the end of August from $360,034.43 to $335,081.86. That includes the payroll for the last half of November.

On the question, why continue the Sales Tax Bureau in the Department of Revenue, I understand from the Director of that Bureau that there are 15,000 delinquent accounts, people who collected but did not deposit with the State. It is the function of this bureau to continue its efforts to collect every dollar that was collected by the tax collectors to make sure that it reaches the State Treasury. If this bureau were abolished, and the contention seems to be that it should, the Commonwealth would lose perhaps millions of dollars collected in sales taxes.

I also understand, Mr. President, that some of the big taxpayers must be audited because under a directive, issued by the Department of Revenue under the previous Administration, the big tax collectors or the big taxpayers did not pay what they actually collected. Their payments were based on a six weeks study on taxable sales which was used as a barometer. They used those figures for reporting purposes or for paying into the State Treasury.

The Bureau of Sales Tax, in the Department of Revenue, I understand, is trying to get some top flight accountants so that they can make a complete audit of the large collectors and taxpayers, so that every penny which is due the Commonwealth from the sales tax will be collected and deposited into the State Treasury.

Mr. President, I hope that this information which I have given to the Members of the Senate will serve as a reason for the continuation of the bureau, until such time as the business of that bureau has been completed.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I realize that the hour is late and I am not going to keep the Senators too long on my resolution. However, I would like to make a brief statement, pointing out the contents of it and in that way save time.

I am one of the few, or maybe one of the many, who is very optimistic about the outcome of this gigantic debate. In a few days, December will come upon us and this is the month of peace on earth and good will toward men. I am sure that we shall resolve our difficulties eventually.

Mr. President, this resolution deals also with the subject of peace on earth and good will toward men. It deals with a movement which was born on the soil of Pennsylvania, just like any other movement in America, which deals with toleration. All have been bred on the soil of Pennsylvania. Here was born the famous sermon, "Acres of Diamonds." Here was originated in 1949 the movement that brings me to the Aaronsburg Story.

The Aaronsburg Story is known to everybody. It deals with a small hamlet in Pennsylvania, in Centre County, where during the Revolutionary Period a Jewish pioneer, by the name of Aaron Levy, built a Lutheran Church and he presented it along with various religious articles. Ever since, this has been as a symbol in America of good will among men.

Under the direction of Governor Duff, in 1949, close to 50,000 Americans flocked to the city of Aaronsburg to pay homage to the tenets of American democracy. This movement spread over the Country and now there are 365 communities which are following the example of Aaronsburg.

I understand, Mr. President, that His Excellency, Governor Leader, is calling a conference on the 10th of December to further augment, strengthen and enhance this Aaronsburg Story movement. In connection with this, I desire to present my resolution, first of all, pointing out the gist of the Aaronsburg Story and then commending His Excellency, Governor Leader, for the initiative which he took in this movement.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE THE AARONSBURG STORY

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, November 29, 1955.

In Center County, only a few miles from the geographic center of Pennsylvania, amidst the verdant majesty of its rolling hillocks, like a pear set in sparkling emeralds, resplendent in its solitude, lies the village of Aaronsburg. It was here in 1786 along the early American frontier, that a Jewish pioneer, Aaron Levy, set in motion a spiritual force the impact whereof not unlike that of Russell Conwell's immortal sermon of "Acres of Diamonds", upon the American People and the tenets of our Democracy, is incalculable.

For it was Aaron Levy—in his belief that all men should have the freedom to believe—who gave the land on which to build Aaronsburg's first church and for whom the town was named. This simple and yet great act of faith reflects the fabric out of which a yound Nation was made and represents a tripple—extract of the pith and marrow of our great American Democracy.

The story of Aaronsburg leads from the singular, dramatic action of a small, rural Pennsylvania community to a great and inspiring national adventure in democracy. Allied with it are many of the most highly regarded men and women in America—from all walks of life, of different political persuasion, of varied religious belief; equally of it are the "stouthearted Pennsylvania Dutchmen of Aaronsburg" and their astonishing forceful companion for good, the average American citizen. This is their story, an exciting story that is uniquely American.

Thrice welcome and blessed is the message of the Aaronsburg Story filling so large a need in a world cankered by uncertainty and disbelief and rent asunder in numerous quarters by ugly bigotry and millenial prejudices.

It was the vision of a Pennsylvanian, Arthur H. Lewis, who was born in Mahanoy City, Pennsylvania, attended Franklin and Marshall College and later Columbia University, who became a reporter on the Philadelphia Inquirer and other newspapers, then a free-lance writer and instructor in journalism at the University of Pittsburgh and more recently a press representative for four Governors of Pennsylvania, that found in Aaronsburg during a casual visit an idea and a ideal so compelling that he has now devoted himself entirely to them. With a trenchment pen dipped in enthusiasm and understanding, he recently wrote with incisive skill a tense and climactic book entitled "The Aaronsburg Story" wherein he presents the origins of this contemporary movement. One of the passages of the book relating a conversation with and a statement made to Arthur H. Lewis by James H. Shannon a Minister of the Gospel at Millheim, in the vicinity of Aaronsburg, contains the gist of the Aaronsburg Idea:

> "Someday I'd like to write a book about this fellow Levy. He must have been a remarkable man."
> "You mean because he gave land and money to build a Christian church?" "Yes, but that's only part of it. All land speculators in those days set aside a few lots for churches and schools. That was good business; it attracted buyers—even today, plenty of suburban developers do the same thing with their tax-free land. In fact, these contributions were expected of them. Levy, although a Jew, was no different in that way.
> "It might very well be that Levy gave more than his share. The lots he donated were choice, not leftovers, and he did come through with cash. He also had vision. You can see that from the way Aaronsburg was laid out and from correspondence Levy had with Pennsylvania's Colonial and Revolutionary leaders. But even that's not what I mean."
> "The important contribution Levy made," at least from my point of view," was his gift of a pewter communion set to Salem Lutheran. Here was a man, a Jew, and devout Orthodox Jew at that, whose own faith must have cried out against the Sacrament, which forms the very basis of Christian worship, giving a servicefor it.
> "This wasn't mere respect for the point of view of the other guy. Here was a genuine desire to do something tangible to enable that other guy to maintain his point of view, so fundamentally different from Levy's own. That's real understanding. We certainly could use some of that today."

The vision of Arthur H. Lewis combined with the dynamic leadership and genius for organization of Philip Klein, now President of Harcuma Junior College made possible the rapid growth and expansion of the Aaronsburg Idea:

One day in Late October, 1949, an excitingly varied and unusual group of men met together—Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, Sir Muhammad Zafrulla Kahn of Pakistan, Reverend Daniel Poling of Philadelphia, General William Donovan, Ralph Bunche of the United Nations, Governor James Duff, Doctor Channing Tobias of the NAACP, and Rabbi Philip Bernstein of Rochester. To their meeting came 50,000 American citizens.

This would have been an impressive gathering in a large city. But it took place just beyond a quiet Pennsylvania town of 321 inhabitants. And the group, which could have understaken the discussion of world events, was concerned with the actions of a man named Aaron Levy in 1786 along the early American frontier.

What happened in Aaronsburg in 1949, how it happened, and who made it happen is the heartwarming, inspiring, true story of a tiny community raising its voice to proclaim that the same faith in human brotherhood still lives.

As in New England our forefathers met in town meeting to establish the common good, so the inhabitants of this small Pennsylvania town, with the nation's great, illumined again the ideal of brotherhool and equality as the living cornerstone of our democracy. That was just the beginning. Now the movement is dynamically spreading throughout the country.

"The Aaronsburg Story" reveals the rich, human-interest barckground and the great ideal behind one of the most unusual, helpful, and inspiring developments on the modern American scene—truly, a new handgrip for democracy in action.

With the Aaronsburg Assembly of 1949 as an example for emulation, community-action groups are being set up in hundreds of localities throughout the length and breadth of our land, the pilot purposes whereof can be summarized as follows:

1. To conduct a survey of community problems of concern to each locality.
2. To select those community problems that best lend themselves tto analysis through discussion and to subsequent affirmative community action.
3. To attempt to select a local historical figure or event to match the Aaron Levy incident that might become a dramatic focus about which a series of continuing conferences could be organized.
4. To effect a local self-supported continuation of the Assembly to affect community action on problems of concern.

5. To test the degree of effectiveness of the community Assembly in establishing better communication among the selected individual participants.

6. To utilize the by-product values of closer association among the members of the community of varying backgrounds who have not hitherto had the facilities for easy communication with each other.

His Excellency George M. Leader, Governor of Pennsylvania, in his desire to further enhance, augment and expand the impact of "The Aaronsburg Story", as an inspiring modern adventure in brotherhood and grassroot democracy, had written recently to one hundred of Pennsylvania's leading citizens inviting them to confer in Harrisburg on Saturday, December 10, 1955, pertaining thereto.

In these December days when Peace on Earth and Goodwill towards Men are about to descend upon us with their joys and blessings, our Governor's initative is most commendable, propitious and appropriate for as Governor Leader writes in his letter: "The Aaronsburg Story which first attracted nationwide attention in 1949 because of its unique attack on Some of the Social and Racial Problems besetting democracy and the free world is not finished. Its future will depend on the support of those citizens who believe that good will among all men must be strengthened by every available means". Now Be It Therefore

Resolved that the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania view with fervent approbation Governor Leader's aid to the Aaronsburg Story movement and hopes that with his hand at the helm, this great movement that sprung into existence on Pennsylvania's tolerance-breeding soil, will further proceed along an ever-ascending path of success for the benefit of humanity and the glory of America, And

Be It Futher Resolved that the Secretary of the Senate be directed, upon the passage of the instant resolution, to forward copies thereof to His Excellency Governor George M. Leader, to Phillip Klein, President of Harcum Junior College at Bryn-Mawr, Pennsylvania, and to Arthur H. Lewis of Philadelphia, author of "The Aaronsburg Story".

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have not had an opportunity of reading this resolution at length. I looked at it hurridely when Senator Stiefel brought it over. At that time I told him that it was a shame that it could not be read at length because I noticed here and there some very fine pieces of litlerature.

Due to the fact that none of us here, other than Senator Stiefel, know the content of this resolution, I object to its immediate consideration and ask that it be referred to committee. I assure the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, that whatever committee it is referred to, if I have anything to do with it, I will see that it gets out in a hurry.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I always bow to the wisdom of Senator Mahany. I know that by the time we get back to business next week, it will be printed in the History of the Senate. However, Senator Mahany has the full right to object to immediate consideration and, therefore, I understand from the illustrious gentleman from Erie, Senator Blass, that he is calling a meeting next Tuesday and, accordingly, being that this has something to do with history, I hope that that committee will get the assignment.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I was going to suggest to Senator Stiefel that the Rules Committee has a meeting on Friday. However, if he wants to put in in Senator Blass' committee, where most of his legislation is deposited, I will be happy to go along with it.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the speedier the better. This conference, called by Governor Leader, is for the 10th of December. Time is of the essence. I am sorry that I could not read that resolution. I did not want to encroach upon the time of the Senate. It certainly is a very interesting story and I hope everybody will read it. Senator Mahany contributed considerably to bringing it to the attention of the Senate. The more we read the Aaronsburg Story, the less we will have fights among us.

Therefore, Mr. President, I bow before the inevitable, and I hope that the Rules Committee will report it out this Friday so that next Monday we may have it adopted.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MILLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, yesterday the Senate unanimously approved a resolution honoring the University of Pittsburgh Football Team. I think we are all proud that one of our State teams is going to play on New Year's Day this time at the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

I have a resolution here which Senator Kopriver and I are presenting and asking for its immediate consideration. It pertains to the Aliquippa High School, in western Pennsylvania, winning the W.P.I.A.L., Class A.A., Championship. For those of you who like football, you might like to know that it was a good, tight game. The Aliquippa team won by a score of 14 to 13; with five minutes to play, they were behind 13 to 0 and in three minutes they put two touchdowns across and won 14 to 13.

Since Senator Kopriver and I both represent the two schools involved, I am offering this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE ALIQUIPPA HIGH SCHOOL, ITS FOOTBALL TEAM AND COACHING STAFF UPON WINNING THE W.P.I.A.L., CLASS A.A., FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Messrs. MILLER and KOPRIVER, JR. offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 29, 1955

On Saturday November 26, the Pitt Stadium was the scene of the game to determine the W.P.I.A.L., Class A.A., football championship.

The championship was won by Aliquippa High School team, which defeated the Mt. Lebanon High School team by a score of 14-13. The winning team scored its points within the last five minutes of play to attain the second such championship in the past four years.

Coach Carl Aschman and his staff of assistants are to be highly commended in turning out an undefeated team at Aliquippa. This team has met and defeated stalwart opposition throughout this season, and its victory in the championship game over a worthy opponent denotes good team spirit, fine coaching, and excellent individual effort by members of the winning team; therefore be it

Resolved, That Aliquippa High School, its football team and coaching staff are hereby congratulated and commended by this Senate of Pennsylvania for their fine record in football competition and on the attainment of a much prized championship; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Aliquippa High School at Aliquippa, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE M. LEADER

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. WATKINS,

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, before you call the roll, and I have no intention of voting against any of these nominees, I merely want to state for the purpose of the record that in the names read out for the Dixmont State Hospital, a very fine lady was named to it and she certainly should be confirmed and will be confirmed, but she was named in place of Mrs. Mary D. Phillips, of Ross Township, who was removed by the board.

Secretary Shapiro announced to the people of Pennsylvania that there would be no politics in the boards of the State mental institutions and that people who qualified and could do a job for the citizens of Pennsylvania would be named to the board. I would just like the record to show that when the Governor was advised to remove Mrs. Mary D. Phillips from the Board of Trustees of Dixmont Hospital, he removed a lady who had been educated in the field of dietetics; she was a graduate of Cornell, she interned at the Columbia Medical Center in New York, she took postgraduate work at several colleges and she holds a Master's Degree. Certainly she was a distinct asset to any institution with her knowledge of what should be in a kitchen and with her knowledge of diet and dietitian's work. By all means, that lady should have been kept on. Why she was removed, I do not know; certainly not because of politics. While I did check on this, and she was registered Republican, she was never active as a Republican worker. This is one case where I believe it would have been well if they would not have removed Mrs. Phillips. The valuable advice that she could give to the running of that institution would have served it in good stead.

I am certainly going to vote for the confirmation of her successor. She is a very fine lady also, but I doubt very much if she can bring to the board the knowledge of running an institution, which is being taken away from Dixmont by removing Mrs. Phillips from it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 572, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to issue special temporary permits for the retail sale of malt or brewed beverages at baseball parks under certain circumstances

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred):

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 572, Printer's No. 368, on final passage, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, will state his point of order.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, there is nothing before the Senate but the calling of the roll, is that not correct?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I think that this bill should be passed over in its order because I do not feel that it is a good time to bring the bill up just now.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, is it not possible for us now to pass this bill over and act upon it tomorrow or at some future session of the Senate?

I want to also state that a few minutes ago when we started the Calendar, it was agreed that any bill which was subject to any discussion or debate would be passed over. I did not understand that this bill was going to be debated until Senator McCreesh rose and said that he was going to vote "no." I did not realize that we would get into debate on the bill and for that reason, I had no way of knowing whether to request that it be passed over until after he rose in place and asked that his vote be recorded in the negative.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not anticipate any debate over on this side. There may be debate on the other side, but I just brought up the point of order as to whether there is anything before the Senate but the calling of the roll. As a matter of fact, the calling of the roll had commenced and Senator Bane voted, and now the gentleman wants to pass the bill over. I did not say that I was going to debate the bill. I just asked for the roll call.

The PRESIDENT. The only way the bill can be passed over is by unanimous consent. Senator Bane's name was called by the Clerk.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, is that the proper procedure, after the roll is called, to ask for unanimous consent for a bill to go over in order? I am asking for parliamentary information. Is that the proper procedure according to the rules?

The PRESIDENT. It is proper if unanimous consent is obtained.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am not going to object to it. I do not want to take unfair advantage. I am not like some on the Republican side. I will withdraw my opposition, and let the bill go over in order and we will fight it out tomorrow. I withdraw any objection.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 572, Printer's No. 368, on final passage, will go over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 582, as follows:

An Act amending the act of August 19, 1953 (P. L. 1104) entitled "An act relating to the acknowledgement of instruments the attestation of documents the administration of oaths and affirmations the execution of depositions and affidavits and other notarial acts heretofore or hereafter taken before any commissioned officer of the armed forces of the United States and providing that such instruments and documents executed by any person who is a member of or actually present with the armed forces of the United States or is outside the United States for certain purposes shall be legal valid and binding and providing for the form of the instrument or document and what proof shall be sufficient of the authority of such commissioned officer so to act" extending affidavit provisions to include the spouse of a member of the armed forces

Section 1 Subsection (a) of section 1 act of August 19, 1953 (P. L. 1104) entitled "An act relating to the acknowledgement of instruments the attestation of documents the administration of oaths and affirmations the execution of depositions and affidavits and other notarial acts heretofore or hereafter taken before any commissioned officer of the armed forces of the United States and providing that such instruments and documents executed by any person who is a member of or actually present with the armed forces of the United States or is outside the United States for certain purposes shall be legal valid and binding and providing for the form of the instrument or document and what proof shall be sufficient of the authority of such commissioned officer so to act" is amended to read

Section 1 (a) In addition to the acknowledgement of instruments and the performance of other notarial acts in the manner and form and as otherwise authorized by law instruments may be acknowledged documents attested oaths and affirmations administered depositions and affidavits executed and other notarial acts performed before or by any commissioned officer in active service of the armed forces of the United States with the rank of second lieutenant or higher in the army or marine corps or with the rank of ensign or higher in the navy or coast guard or with equivalent rank in any other component part of the armed forces of the United States by any person who either (a) is a member of the armed forces of the United States or (b) is a spouse of a member of the armed forces of the United States or (c) is serving as a merchant seaman outside the limits of the United States included within the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia or [(c)] (d) is outside said limits by permission assignment or direction of any department or official of the United States Government in connection with any activity pertaining to the prosecution of any war in which the United States is then engaged

(1) purchased in the exercise of that degree of judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of prudence discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs not in regard to speculation but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds considering the probable income to be derived therefrom as well as the probable safety of their capital

(2) in the case of preferred stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in eight of the preceding ten fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding ten fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock in any outstanding during such year

(3) in the case of common stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in twelve of the preceeding sixteen fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during said year and in each of at least twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in some amount upon all its common stock if any outstanding during such year and

(4) in the case of any stock other than stock of a bank or insurance company or of an investment company (as hereinafter defined) the stock is listed or traded (or if unlisted or not entitled to trading privelegs shall be eligible for listing and application for such listing shall have been made) on the New York Stock Exchange or any other exchange approved by the Secretary of Banking

No investment in common stock shall be made which at that time would cause the market value of the investments in common stocks to exceed one-third of the market value of the estate not including in such market value the value of any participation in a common trust fund No sale or other liquidation of any investment shall be required solely because of any change in market values whereby the percentages of stocks hereinabove set forth are exceeded In determining the market value of an estate a fiduciary may rely upon publised market quotations as to those investments for which such quotations are available and upon such valuations of other property as in his best judgment seem fair and reasonable according to available information

When a corporttion has acquired a substantial part of its property within sixteen years immediately preceding the investment by consolidation or merger or by the purchase of a substantial part of the property of any other corporation or corporations the earnings of the predecessor or constituent corporation shall be consolidated so as to ascertain whether the net profit requirements of this section have been satisfied and the dividend requirements of this section shall be satisfied by payment of the required dividends by any predecessor or constituent corporation

"Corporation" as used in this section shall include a voluntary association a joint-stock association or company a business trust a Massachusetts trust a common-law trust and any other organization organized and existing for any lawful purpose and which like a corporation continues to exist notwithstanding changes in the personnel of its members or participants and conducts its affairs through a committee a board or some other group acting in a representative capacity

"Investment Company" as used in this section shall mean a corporation (as defined in this section) which is registered as an investment company under the Federal Investment Company Act of 1940 as from time to time amended and which has no preferred stock bonds loans or any other outstanding securities having preference or priority as to assets or earnings over its common stock and which shall have net assets of not less than ten million dollars ($10,000,000) at the date of purchase

"Common Stock" as used in this section shall include the stock certificate certificates of beneficial interests or trust participation certificates issued by any corporation or unincorporated association included under the definition of "corporation" in the preceding paragraph

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1955. No. 111.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, November 30, 1955.

The Senate met at 5:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, when the blasts of winter come around us, Thy sun still gives its warmth. When the cares and trials and difficulties of the world seem to overtake us, yet Thy Spirit, like the warm sunshine, comes into our hearts and guides us.

Guide us in this Session that we do those things which shall redound to Thy honor and glory, and be for the good and welfare of our Commonwealth.

Use us each one in our particular sphere of life into which Thou hast placed us to do Thy work and to do it the best way we possibly can. We ask it in Thy Holy Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

APPROVED AND SIGNED SENATE BILL No. 643, PRINTER'S No. 252

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, November 30, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 643, Printer's No. 252, entitled "An act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) entitled 'An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth' prohibiting budget planning business and prescribing penalties for violation thereof."

GEORGE M. LEADER.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DENT, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 867, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), entitled "An act relating to alcoholic liquors, alcohol and malt and brewed beverages; . . .," permitting the sale and possession of wine in packages not bearing the official seal of the board.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 150, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WHALLEY, from the Committee on Education, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Whalley, on September 26, 1955, reported the same with amendment as follows:

REQUIRING THAT PHYSICAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS BE ESTABLISHED IN ALL PUBLIC SCHOOLS BY THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

In the Senate, September 26, 1955.

Recently, at a White House luncheon, the problem of the physical fitness of the youth of the United States was brought to the attention of the President of the United States in the form of a report given by Hans Kraus, M.D., Associate Professor of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at New York University and Miss Ruth Prudden, Director of the Institute for Physical Fitness at White Plains, New York.

The President said that the problem is a very serious one and even more alarming than he had imagined.

According to studies and tests, the percentage of American youths who are physically unfit with respect to muscular strength and flexibility is any where from thirty-four per cent to forty-nine per cent higher than that for youths of European countries.

This condition has been brought about to a great extent by indulgent parents, unwillingness of children to participate in exercise and excessive use of buses, automobiles and television.

Our country will not long endure, as a leading power among great nations, if our youth is allowed to waste away and the time has come for us to attack the problem with a constructive program.

Our public schools are ideal places for carrying out a program of rehabilitating physically unfit youths. There, children may be made to engage in drills, calisthenics and exercises that will help to build healthy bodies; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Department of Public Instruction require that all public schools meet the present minimum requirements established by the State Council of Education.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am happy to report to the Membership that I have a package of bills, consisting of a series of eight, which cover the Social Security problem here in Pennsylvania.

I might say to the Membership that we have had the advice of actuaries out of Philadelphia, the Governor's Office, the Attorney General's Office; and in addition to that, we have had the cooperation of the Members on the other side. I want to particularly emphasize that Senator Stevenson and Senator Scott have devoted a lot of time to work on this legislation.

Mr. President, we feel there should be no amendments. This package of eight must pass in a package because, otherwise, the legislation would not be effective.

This package pertains to members of the public school teaching profession, our State employees, our various county employees and also those in our colleges and universities. It seems to me that each and every Member of the Senate should secure a copy of each one of these bills, take it back to their Districts and let the people know just what is going on.

Mr. President, before closing, I want you to know, too, that the Attorney General's Office and the Governor's Office have advised us that this legislation is going to cost approximately $14,000,000 for the first biennium. That will cover the State's contribution as far as the members of the public schoolteaching profession are concerned and also the contribution for the State employees.

Mr. President, it is with considerable pleasure that I read in place and present to the Chair these bills. I would appreciate the bills being referred to the Committee on Local Government.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE, SCOTT, BARR and STEVENSON read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 889, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 5, 1941 (P. L. 803), entitled, as amended, "An act providing for the creation, maintenance and operation of a county employes' retirement system in counties of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class . . .," imposing duties on retirement boards when employes are placed under Federal Social Security, and changing and clarifying certain retirement allowances and benefits.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 890, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 4, 1937 (P. L. 1625), entitled "An act providing for the creation, maintenance and operation of a county employes' retirement system in counties of the third class; . . ." imposing duties on retirement boards when employes are placed under Federal social security and changing and clarifying certain allowances and benefits.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 891, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 27, 1923 (P. L. 858), entitled "An act establishing a State employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof . . .," changing and clarifying contributions and credit provisions where employes are placed under social security.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 892, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 23, 1931 (P. L. 932) entitled "The Third Class City Code," imposing duties on pension boards; changing contributions; and changing and clarifying certain allowances and benefits when employes are placed under social security.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 893, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 18, 1917 (P. L. 1043), entitled "Public School Employes Retirement Law," changing and clarifying benefits, contribution and credit provisions when employes are placed under social security; providing for payments by the Commonwealth and for reimbursements from appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 894, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 8, 1941 (P. L. 298), entitled "The Fourth Class County Retirement Law," imposing duties on retirement boards when employes are placed under Federal social security and changing and clarifying certain allowances and benefits.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 895, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 23, 1945 (P. L. 903) entitled "An act authorizing cities of the third class to establish an optional retirement system for officers and employes independently of any pension system or systems existing in such cities," imposing duties on pension boards; changing contributions; and changing and clarifying benefits and allowances when employes are placed under social security.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 896, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of January 5, 1952 (P. L. 1833), entitled "An act to provide for the coverage of certain officers and employes of the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions under the old-age and survivor insurance provisions of Title II of the Federal Social Security Act, as amended; . . .," extending its provisions to include additional persons; increasing contribution rates and providing for refernda, and permitting modification of certain local retirement plans.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. SEYLER and DENT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 897, enittled:

An Act to prescribe minimum wage and maximum hour standards to provide for the further determination and establishment of minimum wages by industry and to provide for enforcement of such provisions and for other purposes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. DENT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 898, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 18, 1949 (P. L. 604), entitled "State Highway and Bridge Authority Act," increasing the power of the Authority to borrow money and issue evidences of indebtedness therefor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in order to present my remonstrance. I desire to ask Senator Kessler a few questions.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in deference to the Senator's position as chairman of the committee holding the hearings, and on account of the strict time limit he set up, I did not raise this point at that time. I saved it for now when we are not under a strict time regulation.

I wish to ask the Senator what, in his opinion, is the purpose of holding the hearings of which we are a part?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, it is my understanding that the hearings are public hearings, held to hear the proponents and opponents of House Bill No. 1879.

Mr. SEYLER. Would the gentleman say, Mr. President, that the primary purpose is to inform the committee so that they can act on the bill?

Mr. KESSLER. That is one of the major purposes, yes.

Mr. SEYLER. It seems to me when material is presented in evidence by those interested in coming in and presenting it, which a given member of the committee does not understand or which he thinks is in error or which he feels needs clarification, that unless we have the privilege of interrogating the person who makes the statement, we cannot carry out the purpose that the chairman has in mind in calling the hearings. I would like to ask the gentleman whether he would allow the members of the committee to have more leeway in interrogating the witnesses, those who appear to testify, in the session tomorrow.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, tomorrow we are scheduled on a ten and five minute basis all through the day. Many of these speakers do not limit their remarks to ten or five minutes, as the case may be, and it cut the time down for questioning. These people have come from some distance, many of them, and it seems to me that it is courtesy on the part of the Finance Committee to hear them rather than to hear the Members of the Finance Committee.

I am fully aware of the disadvantage that we have in the shortness of time in not giving the members of the committee the opportunity to explore to the end many of the questions which they have raised. Under the circumstances, I am sorry; I do not see any other way to get through this schedule tomorrow.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, it seems to me, as one who has now sat through one day of these hearings, that we have had offered here by these gentlemen who came to testify a well meant attempt to present their views. However, it has become obvious that many of them have come here with misunderstandings; they have come here with statements which are difficult, on the face of them, to understand because they deal with technical matters which the committee members need to inquire about. It seems to me that much of the things which are said are misleading if they are taken at their face value, not for malice perhaps, but because of misinformation on the part of the person who comes to present the testimony.

I am sorry the Senator cannot hear this, but I seem to detect an allegation on his part that members of the committee wish to make speeches. As far as I myself am concerned, I have tried to confine myself to questions which were pertinent. I tried to limit myself to questions. At any time that I offer a question, as a member of the committee, which the chairman finds irrelevant or impertinent I would feel it is his duty to state, and would gladly yield to his decision, that it was so. Speaking for myself, however, I have tried to limit my questions to those matters which I thought were material and relevant. I do not like the allegation the chairman made that the members of the committee are attempting to make speeches. Certainly such is not my intent. My intent is to clear up, wherever I find them, inconsistencies or discrepancies and to find out what the person means when he does not phrase correctly.

Mr. President, I am afraid that unless we do that, we are going to get a highly distorted pitcure and we are also going to fail to understand the real import of the testimony which we are getting.

Mr. President, the time element is, of course, important. I regret that the chairman has seen fit to set such a tight schedule because I believe these are matters of enough importance that if we are sincere about it, we should take the time to find out and clarify the intent of the speaker in coming here and saying what he says. Otherwise, I think we are wasting time. I think we are getting a lot of undigested material, most of which is spoken in error and without any real understanding of the provisions of the bill.

I would say to the Senator that rather than hold to such a tight schedule, if it has proved now in a day's experience to not lead to a proper understanding of what is being offered, that we should invite these people to come back. Speaking for myself, as a member of the committee and speaking for several others with whom I have spoken, I believe we would be willing to come back another day. I am sure that these gentlemen who are here, busy as they are, have enough interest in this matter that they would be willing to come back. I have the feeling that we are being very superficial and that we are not really accomplishing anything. I think we are doing a fruitless job here in accepting this material undigested. I think it needs to be followed up with searching questions which will get to the heart of the matter, which will clear misunderstandings and which will really leave us with workable information that we can use in making important decisions on this bill.

Mr. President, I would strongly request the Chairman of the Finance Committee to reconsider his position and give us the privilege of interrogating the witnesses. After all, we are Senators and we are members of the committee and we share the responsibility for what is being done on that Committee. I personally feel that it is not doing justice to us as individuals to put a gag rule on us and not allow us to ask questions. I think that speeches are out of order. However, sometimes it is necessary to make a short statement in order to ask a question.

Taking my own case personally, Mr. President, I submit to the chairman that I have not attempted to harangue or make any propaganda. I have been asking what I consider legitimate, pertinent and relevant questions. Unless we can proceed on that basis, I really do not think we are doing any good in holding these hearings. I think we are wasting our time. Therefore, I would like to ask the gentleman to reconsider his position on that and tell him that I think we should take more time to do it if more time is necessary. I do not like gag rules and I do not like to be tagged with the responsibility for something in which I am limited and cannot do anything about.

Mr. President, if Senator Kessler thinks that I have exceeded the rules and have tried to make speeches, I would be glad to have him gavel me out of order on that kind of a proposition.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I rise to support Senator Seyler in the position he has taken here today. I feel that probably he has stated the best thing to do. As a matter of fact, I am going to make a suggestion to Senator Kessler.

When we started the Morganza Hearings it was a Joint Committee appointed by the President pro tempore and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. We met and we formulated ground rules on the hearings. It was decided, by the committee, that each member would have a period of five minutes to interrogate each witness. I do not say that that would be the time for you but, Senator Kessler, I do believe that as chairman of the committee you have failed to call the committee together in order to discuss in any detail at all the procedure at these hearings. I feel that we have a right to voice our opinion. I imagine there are members on the other side who feel the same way.

Mr. President, I suggest that the chairman call a meeting this evening, bring in the members of the committee and say, "How do you want to work these ground rules? Do you want one minute to interrogate? Do you want two minutes to interrogate?" If that is the case, give us that privilege and then gavel us if we go over that time limit.

As a matter of fact, Mr. President, members on my own side here criticized me because I adhered strictly to the rules when we held the Morganza Hearings and we did the whole job in a matter of five days because we held to the ground rules.

I feel, Senator Kessler, as a Member of this Finance Committee and as a Member of this Senate for quite a number of years, that I should be consulted on the operation of that committee. I feel that you should at least ask me if I have any suggestions. I feel that you should call a committee meeting tonight and formulate those rules, and then follow through.

There were a number of questions that I wanted to ask quite a few of those people, but I did not have the opportunity because I did not want to be branded as an obstructionist here today. However, I am not happy at all with the way things are going. I feel I speak for quite a number of the members, maybe, on both sides of the aisle. We should have that meeting, formulate the ground rules and abide by those rules; then you are the boss.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I think the points made by Senator Lane are well taken in part, and also those of the gentleman from York County.

Mr. President, notices were sent out as soon as the avalanche of telephone calls, letters and other correspondence began to come in last week, and I tried to get those notices to Members of the Finance Committee before the end of last week. I think that most of the members received them on Friday. From the time those letters were sent, I have had no communication whatsoever from any Member of the Finance Committee. If they were interested in procedure, it seems to me there was ample opportunity to make suggestions or to make certain proposals. As it was, people kept calling and sending in wires, wanting a time set when they could be here. These people were coming from various parts of the State.

I took it upon myself as chairman, which I thought was my prerogative, to arrange that schedule. As the number of requests increased, we had to reduce the time and continued to reduce it. As I said, tomorrow is going to be a tighter schedule than we had today. I regret it, but I do not want to extend these hearings for a matter of five days. If that is the wish of the committee, we can probably continue them.

I would like to make one other comment, Mr. President. Many of the questions which were raised were raisde because of differences of opinion with respect to the language of House Bill No. 1879. Those differences of opinion, as one of the witnesses indicated, could not be settled here no matter how much we discussed them. They will have to be determined by the courts if and when House Bill No. 1879 becomes law. Many other questions which were raised concerned things which people felt would be included in the bill as amendments. I announced from the floor that all we could consider was House Bill No. 1879 as it was before us today. Any amendments that are to be incorporated in that bill will have to be decided upon by the Finance Committee.

I regret the situation, Mr. President, but we have people scheduled for tomorrow, as I said, on five and ten minute intervals. I do not know how we can allow time for extended questions. We will permit just as many questions as time will allow.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not rising in defense of Senator Kessler because I do not believe he needs any defense. Frankly, I think that he, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, conducted the hearing in a well organized manner, and he brought to the committee these witnesses who were invited to come in when they asked to be heard. Mr. President, these hearings were conducted in a very able manner.

I, myself, have accumulated through the day some twelve papers which I shall try to digest in a way before tomorrow's hearing. I think that the hearing might have gotten out of hand very well had it not been so particularly organized.

Mr. President, I know that I asked Senator Kessler, on behalf of some five or six others, for the privilege of testifying before the committee and he asked, in particular, whether or not they desired to testify for their own particular business or for an industry in the Commonwealth. When they represented an industry and did express themselves on behalf of the State-wide industry, he tried to confine it to that.

I repeat that I have some twelve or fourteen papers which give me a wealth of information on different phases of this tax that is proposed under House Bill No. 1879.

Again, Mr. President, I think at the outset the hearing might well have gotten out of hand had the chairman permitted a discussion on the financial situation of the Commonwealth. That was touched upon by Mr. Henry Leader and by Senator Dent in a very able manner, but in a limited manner. From then on, there was no further necessity for telling members of the committee anything regarding the financial situation of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I want to compliment Senator Kessler and I am glad for this opportunity to say to him that this was one of the most ably conducted and well arranged hearings that was ever held in the Senate since I have been a member.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, Senator Wade's remark about this being the best conducted hearing reminds me of the opinion of a school teacher friend of mine who, as most teachers do, got fed up with the problems which they have with the children in school and he gave his opinion one time that the best school would be the kind that had no children in it. That reminds me of the comparison here because, obviously, you can have a perfect hearing if you have no interchange of ideas.

I fear that these papers that Senator Wade has to read tonight, were it not for the fact that some questions were asked, would contain many distortions which even the able Senator, with his keen intellectual grasp of finacial affairs, might miss if somebody had not raised the question and pointed out the distortion or the error which was contained in the statement.

Mr. President, I did not raise the question of fairness in this. I think that Senator Kessler is a fair man and I think he has tried to be fair within the limitations he set himself. However, I would inquire, if it does not indicate a certain degree of capriciousness, why when one witness is finished, one member of the committee is refused the request to ask a question when no questions have been asked of the witness and when the next two witnesses are finished other member of the committee are granted the right to ask a question. This seems to me to be perhaps not unfair but capricious. It indicates that the chairman is picking and choosing; though perhaps not intentionally, it is being done. Since I was the victim twice of this, I am perhaps sensitive to it.

I will admit that I perhaps asked a great many questions, but I would say to Senator Wade that this probably indicates that I do not have this magnificent grasp of affairs that he has. I am probably an uniformed committee member and, therefore, I need these hearings more than he does. I would like to be able to ask questions.

Mr. President, in reply to Senator Kessler's statement about nobody writing to him, I had no idea that he expected anybody to write to him. I assumed that we might have a short meeting of the committee beforehand, at which we would decide on the rules and procedure. Since we did not have that, I still feel that in order to make these hearings of some moment we should have such a meeting an decide on the rules. I do not think that the time element is that important so as to block our getting something out of it. I would rather spend time and get something out of it than waste time sitting here tomorrow and getting nothing. I would suggest that if he is going to limit debate, he better limit it on everybody and just say, "No questions."

I feel, that, unless there is an improvement in the situation, there is probably no point in most of us sitting there. The chairman could gather this material and mail it to us

Mr. President, I again ask the Senator to consider seriously the removing of this gag rule and allow the committee members to ask the searching type of questions which are needed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I suggest to Senator Kessler that he might call his friend, Dick Simpson, and find out how they run the Ways and Means Committee in Congress. I have attended many Ways and Means Committee meetings down there and most of the day is taken with the Members of the Ways and Means Committee questioning the witnesses.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I do not wish to remonstrate with the Chairman of the Finance Committee, but I do want to petition the Majority Leader, Senator Mahany, to instruct Mr. Earley to have lunch for the committee members tomorrow, because he told me he had no such instructions.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to say to Senator Silvert that I provided for you today and I shall do so tomorrow again.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 871, as follows:

An Act authorizing certain mutual insurance companies other than life insurance companies now in existence under the provisions of the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682) its supplements and amendments to reincorporate as mutual life insurance companies outlining the requirements and procedure and defining the rights of dissenting members

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Any mutual insurance company other than a life insurance company now in existence and fully subject to the provisions of the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682) known as "The Insurance Company Law of 1921" its supplements and amendments which is engaged only in the business of writing accident and health insurance which has a surplus of at least two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) over all liabilities including unearned premium reserves and which has no unpaid advances chargeable against such surplus as permitted by section 809 of the act may reincorporate as a mutual life insurance company for the purposes set forth in clause (1) of subsection (a) of section 202 of the act in the manner and subject to the provisions hereinafter set forth

Section 2 The board of directors of any such mutual insurance company other than life shall adopt a resolution directed to the members expressing the advisability of reincorporating the company as a mutual life insurance company for the purposes set forth in clause (1) of subsection (a) of section 202 of The Insurance Company Law of 1921 its supplements and amendments and directing that the question of such reincorporation be submitted to a vote of the members at a meeting which may be either an annual or a special meeting

Section 3 Notice of the time and place of the meeting shall be given to all members at least thirty days before the date set for the meeting The notice shall state the purposes of the meeting include a copy of the resolution of the board of directors and state that an appropriate resolution for the reincorporation will be submitted to the members for their approval or disapproval at the meeting The notice shall be mailed at least thirty days before the day of the meeting to the last known address of each member

Section 4 Notice of the time place and object of the meeting and a brief resume of the proposed resolution for reincorporation shall also be given by publication not less than three times in at least two daily or weekly newspapers and in the legal periodical if any designated by the rules of court of the proper county for the publication of legal notices published in the city or county where the company is domiciled

Section 5 If at the meeting two-thirds of the votes of the members there cast in person or by proxy favors the resolution to reincorporate the company into a mutual life insurance company the resolution and the number of votes cast for and against it shall be spread upon the minutes of the meeting Thereafter if the company meets the requirements for the incorporation of mutual life insurance companies incorporated under the act of May 17 1921 (P L 682) known as "The Insurance Company Law of 1921" its supplements and amendments (excepting that the company to be reincorporated under this act need not obtain or hold any applications for life insurance as specified in subsection (d) of section 206 of the act for the incorporation of new companies) the company may file in duplicate with the Insurance Commissioner articles of agreement which shall include a certified copy of the resolution for the reincorporation of the company as a mutual life insurance company

The articles of agreement shall set forth in addition to other provisions required by law the name to be used by the reincorporated company which will approximately designate it as a mutual life insurance company The articles shall be signed in duplicate by the officers and a majority of the directors of the company who shall acknowledge it in duplicate before a person empowered to take acknowledgements of deeds

Section6 The subscribers shall forward the articles of agreement in duplicate to the Insurance Commissioner who shall if he approves it certify in duplicate that all the requirements of this act in relation to the reincorporation have been complied with The Insurance Commissioner shall submit the articles of agreement in duplicate to the Attorney General for examination If the Attorney General finds them to be in accordance with the provisions of this act and not inconsistent with the Constitution of this Commonwealth and of the United States he shall certify the same in duplicate to the Governor with his approval endorsed thereon Upon the receipt of the articles of agreement the Governor shall if he approves them endorse his approval thereon in duplicate and cause letters patent to issue reincorporating the company into a body corporate with succession under the name designated in the articles of agreement

Section 7 Upon the issuance of the letters patent the applicant company shall turn over to the new mutual life insurance company all of its assets subject to all of its liabilities It shall also mail a notice to the members and it shall advertise once a week for four weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in any county in this Commonwealth in which it maintains any office and in the state capitol of any other state in which it was authorized to do business the fact of the reincorporation together with a statement that any dissenting member who desires to cancel his policy or contract may do so by delivering it on or before a specified date which shall not be later than six months after the date of the letters patent to the new mutual life insurance company and receive the pro rata unearned premium for his policy

Section 8 Upon the reincorporation of a company the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall cause the articles of agreement together with the proceedings had thereon and certificate of the Governor to be recorded in a book kept for that purpose He shall return one of the articles of agreement together with the letters patent to the company which shall have the same recorded in the recorder's office of the county in which the company is domiciled The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall furnish the Insurance Commissioner with a certified copy of the letters patent and shall also certify the duplicate articles of agreement with all endorsements thereon and file the same in the office of the Insurance Commissioner Copies of the records certified by the Secretary of the Commonwealth may be used in evidence for or against the company with the same effect as the original

Section 9 Upon receipt of notice from the president or secretary of the reincorporated company that the foregoing provisions of this act have been complied with the Insurance Commissioner shall make an examination and if he finds that there has been such compliance he shall issue a certificate authorizing the company to commence business as a mutual life insurance company Until such time as the Insurance Commissioner issues a certificate authorizing the new company to commence the business of writing life insurance under this act the company shall have the same powers to transact business which were possessed by the applicant company prior to its reincorporation under this act

Section 10 After the date specified in the notice and advertisement referred to in section 7 hereof the new mutual life insurance company shall satisfy the Insurance Commissioner after an examination that it has paid the prorata unearned premiums due to any dissenting members who have cancelled their policies or contracts Upon being so satisfield the Insurance Commissioner shall certify that fact to the Secretary of the Commonwealth who shall thereupon issue a certificate of dissolution of the applicant mutual insurance company When the certificate of dissolution has been recorded in the recorder's office of the county in which the company is domiciled the applicant mutual insurance company shall cease to exist

Section 11 Unless otherwise specified in this act a mutual life insurance company formed under this act shall have and may exercise all the rights and privileges and shall be subject to all the requirements imposed upon mutual life insurance companies formed under the act of May 17 1921 (P. L. 682) known as "The Insurance Company Law of 1921" its supplements and amendments and shall be subject to all the provisions of the act of May 17 1921 (P. L. 789) known as "The Insurance Department Act of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one" its supplements and amendments but it shall exercise no rights or privileges which other mutual life insurance companies may not exercise

Section 12 This act shall take effect immediately and shall expire on December 31 1957

The House met at 4:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, York, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and ever blessed God, as the Representatives of this Assembly begin the work of another day, grant that they may be surrounded by Thy wonderful loving kindness and be loyal in Thy service standing alone in Thy strength. Grant that we may be christian not only in our words but also in our deeds. That we may bravely follow in the footsteps of our Master wherever they may lead. That our thinking may be keen, our speech frank and open and our actions courageous and decisive.

O Lord, we pray for Thy grace and mercy to be upon all who today are engaged in settling affairs of moment in the lives of men and nations; for all who are moulding public opinion in our time; for all who are faced in making great decisions; for all who are holding aloft the lamp of truth in a world of ignorance and sin;

O Christ, our Lord, hear us and dwell within each one of us so that we may glorify Thee, Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, November 14, 1955? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Farabaugh for Mr. ROVANSEK because of illness.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, rather than take the time of the House with a 52 page calendar, I ask unanimous consent to submit the following remarks to be printed in the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the remarks will be printed in the Journal.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 1680 of the 1955 Regular Session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly was sponsored and introduced by me and it provides, exclusive of the title and the enacting clause, as follows:

> "Section 1 On and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any court judge jury body or person to impose a sentence under which any person is to suffer death by electrocution hanging or any other means
> "Section 2 Where any statute now provides that a death sentence shall be imposed the court shall impose a life sentence in lieu thereof."

This bill was introduced on July 1, 1955, and referred to the Committee on Judiciary of the House of Representatives on July 12, 1955. I had also introduced another bill, House Bill 134, to abolish capital punishment at the 1953 Regular Session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly; and as the Vice Chairman of the Criminal Law Revision Committee of the Joint State Government Commission, I also worked against and voted against capital punishment at revision committee meetings. This Criminal Law Revision Committee was created by my Resolution No. 2, Serial No. 15, of the 1945 Regular Session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly and which committee functioned during the Administrations of former Governors Martin and Duff.

Murder in the first degree is the only crime for which the death penalty can be imposed under Pennsylvania Law, and in first degree murder the jury shall determine whether the death penalty or life imprisonment shall be imposed. The Act of June 19, 1913, substituted electrocution in place of hanging in the execution of the death penalty. When hanging was used, Pennsylvania frequently had executions in public. An example of which was the hanging of Benjamin Stewart in Market Square of Harrisburg in February, 1824. This scene was like a county fair and it offended public decency to the extent that executions were thereafter performed away from the general public. It is of interest to note here that the Pennsylvania Legislature in 1793 appointed a committee to consider the abolition of the death penalty for murder and they strongly doubted whether in any case, capital punishment should be resorted to in the state. William Bradford, then Attorney General of Pennsylvania, expressed the opinion that death as a punishment should have no place in our jurisprudence. P. N. Osborne, Chaplain of Pennsylvania's Rockview Penitentiary, stated the following: "As Chaplain of Rockview Penitentiary, I have the painful duty of witnessing some of the executions that take place here . . . To me, capital punishment has come to be a crime of the first magnitude . . . I shall be pleased to join any movement and assist in any way to cause capital punishment to become in our beloved State of Pennsylvania an unatoned-for mistake in her annals of jurisprudence."

Mr. Speaker, I have given the subject of capital punishment much thought and I have no hesitation in saying that I do not regard the death penalty as essential to the security and well being of our Commonwealth and our citizens; on the contrary, I believe its total abolition and the greater certainty of conviction which would follow, would tend to lessen rather than to increase the crimes it is intended to prevent.

It is murder, not the murderer, that is the real problem. We cannot by killing one human being bring back to life the human being he killed, but we can do something practical toward preventing murder by more effective enforcement of the Fire-arms Laws, Drug Laws, etc. Let us put the cart behind the horse where it belongs. Let us prevent the killing in the first instance.

I am opposed to capital punishment because it is contrary to the Divine Law of love. I hold that there is some inner light of good in every person and that even the most degraded can be salvaged by love and faith, wisdom and compassion. People are not made good by force, but by love. In years to come the people will look back to the day when capital punishment was believed in just as we regard the days when people believed in the burning of witches. The application of the death penalty is brutalizing and degrading to the public mind. It leaves no room for the reformation of character, which should be the principal aim of Criminal Law, nor for the revision of the sentence in the event of miscarriages of justice. Because execution of the death penalty is irrevocable and human judgment not infallible, innocent people have been put to death. Whether or not we are sitting on a jury in this Commonwealth which hands in the verdict of death, we must admit some share in the sentence since we, the citizens of this Commonwealth, have not elected enough members to the Pennsylvania Legislature who will actively support the abolition of capital punishment.

It was Thomas Mott Osborne who asserted that of thirty-nine men who were executed during the two years that he was Warden of Sing Sing, he was sure at least four were innocent. For every such case that happens to reach the light of day, how many poor, friendless mortals have been put to death legally with motives undiscovered? While alive, the convicted innocent person has hope, but after his death there is not usually enough incentive among his friends to agitate for further investigation. Warden Lawes of Sing Sing stated that judges and juries erred in thirteen per cent of original commitments for murder in the first degree.

Let us now look at how horrible these mistakes can be. For instance, you might have sat on the jury in Boston which convicted Cero Gangi of murder in November, 1927. You even might recall of this case. It was a case where a young, innocent Italian was doomed to die by twelve men—as responsible and as honest as you—for a crime which he did not commit. Cero Gangi was walking with his employer, Samuel Gallo, in the North End of Boston when a man in front of them, one Joseph Fantasia, was shot and killed. Running in terror from the scene of the crime, Cero lost his hat and it was chiefly on the evidence of a witness who had seen him "drop something," that he was convicted. Sentenced to die in the electric chair during the week of November 4, 1928, Cero was within four hours of death when the chance discovery of a missing witness by his brother, Cosimo, resulted in a reprieve. The testimony of this witness proved without a doubt that it was not Cero but his employer, Samuel Gallo, who had fired the shot. Although there was no evidence of Cero's implication in the crime, it was not until a year and a half later, in September, 1930, that he was officially exonerated and set free. Four brief hours had stood between Cero Gangi and death. Only the last-minute effort of Cosimo averted a horrible and irreparable mistake. Ask yourself what you would have felt had Cosimo not been in time and the discovery had come four hours later. You would have killed an innocent man—more brutally, more deliberately than the most cold-blooded murderer.

In conclusion may I suggest that it is up to us, the living citizens of Pennsylvania, to end this law which we permit to function. It is not only a relic of barbarism but costly to the taxpayers, unjust in its application and a failure as a deterrent. The death penalty has no place in modern civilization. It is a reproach to every thinking American Citizen.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAPANO. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, as I understand this bill in relation to the present law, the present law provides that a person who is receiving, or is entitled to receive, workmen's compensation for a permanent disability receives that compensation for 700 weeks, is that correct?

Mr. CAPANO. No, Mr. Speaker, for the period for which the loss he suffered indicates.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, if it is a total permanent disability, it is for 700 weeks, is it not?

Mr. CAPANO. Yes, Mr. Speaker, but that does not apply to those types of injuries, only where there is the loss of two or more members, then it would be total disability.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree that if he is totally and permanently disabled he will receive compensation for 700 weeks?

Mr. CAPANO. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, if he should die from something related to his injury under present law during that 700 weeks, then the law provides that his widow and children who are dependent upon him will receive the balance of compensation which he would have received for that same period, is that right?

Mr. CAPANO. If he dies from conditions relating to the accident, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KENT. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. Then his widow and dependent children are entitled to a percentage of what he would have received had he lived for the balance of the 700 weeks?

Mr. CAPANO. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, under this bill and the next bill, House Bill 1368, which has to do with the occupational end of workmen's compensation, as I understand these bills, if they were to die from any cause unrelated to his injury, his wife, and children, and other relatives, down to brothers and sisters, and mother and father in the absence of any of the others, would receive the same compensation he would have been entitled to had he not died, is that correct?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman is under the wrong impression. These bills are intended to apply to the case where there has been a specific loss such as the loss of an arm, or a leg, or an eye, or whatever it hapens to be. In those cases, as the law now stands, in the event of death the widow does not receive the balance of the specified period. This is intended to be applicable in those cases so that the balance of the period, which would now cease upon his death, would go to the widow, because he is being paid for a specific loss and not for disability.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I don't quite understand. Am I wrong when I read these bills? My impression is, and my understanding is, that if an employe is drawing workmen's compensation for a permanent total disability and then dies from any cause whatsoever, the widow and children, and his heirs, would be entilted to the same compensation that he would have received had he not died?

Mr. CAPANO. The amendments to these two bills, House Bills 1367 and 1368, apply only to Section 306(c). I do not have the bills in front of me. I am trying to get them so I can follow the gentleman.

Mr. KENT. At any rate, Mr. Speaker, the compensation is payable if he were to die from any cause whatsoever even though it is unrelated to his injury, is that not correct?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I did not get the last. Will the gentleman kindly repeat it?

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, even assuming that the gentleman is right when he says the bills apply only to certain injuries, still do they not provide that if he dies for causes other than the injury, completely unreleated to the injury, his heirs would receive the same as he would have received had he remained living?

Mr CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, the balance of the period.

Mr. KENT. Which under the present law, Mr. Speaker, is 700 weeks if he is totally and permanently disabled?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, it does not apply in those cases. Section 306 applies to specific losses, that is, the loss of an arm, or leg, or eye, or disfigurement, practically total disability where there is the loss of one or more members, then he would be adjudged as being permanently and totally disabled. Even then those are for specific losses in a determined period. In any death which occurs before the period runs out, the compensation immediately ceases.

Mr. KENT. That is right, Mr. Speaker. So that even in the cases which you mention, if he were permanently and totally disabled the period would be for 700 weeks?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, that would be for a case of disability and not for a case of specific loss.

Mr. KENT. In the case of a specific loss, Mr. Speaker, if he is drawing compensation and he dies from any other causes, then his heirs would receive the same benefits he would receive if he were living, is that not right?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, that is what the amendments are intended to accomplish.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, then in all other cases other than those covered by this section, the same thing could happen, but the heirs would not receive the benefits, is that right?

Mr. CAPANO. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, is there any reason for the distinction?

Mr. CAPANO. Yes Mr. Speaker. To my thinking, there is. In one case, the case you mentioned last, he is being paid compensation for disability. In the cases to which I had reference under Section 306(c), loss of members, he actually is not being paid for disability because he can go back to work and still receive compensation for the specified period. He is being paid for the loss of a member.

Under those circumstances I feel it is only right that in the case of the man who lost that member, lost his arm or leg, since he has not been paid completely for the entire period, the balance of the period should go to his widow or his dependent children.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman believes that if a person lost his arm and was drawing compensation and he committed suicide, his heirs should have the benefit of the compensation down to brothers and sisters, who were not even dependent upon him?

Mr. CAPANO. Yes, Mr. Speaker, because he is being paid, as I said before, for the loss of a member of his body and not for disability.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, the question I would like to ask now is, in the case of a person who is permanently and totally disabled and not able to work at all, why should not his heirs have the same benefits?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, because he is being paid for disability and not for loss of a member.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman distinguishes disability from the loss of a member?

Mr. CAPANO. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I do, because where there is the loss of a member he can return to work at the same job, or some other job, and still receive payments for the loss of the member, for the specific loss, as I call it.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree that the person might suffer the loss of one of his members and still be totally and permanently disabled?

Mr. CAPANO. Yes, Mr. Speaker, that is true, generally, where he loses two or more members, but where there is only the loss of one member ordinarily he is not a complete disability case.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, in that case his heirs would not have the benefits under these bills, would they?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, in the case where he losses two or more members, of course, the same condition would prevail as under this amendment. The family would receive the payment for the loss of those members.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, under the present law, so far as it relates to survivors and heirs of a person, it is based entirely upon dependency, is it not? Those people have to be dependent upon the particular person for their maintenance, is that not correct?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, that is in case he dies from a condition relating to the accident.

Mr. KENT. That is right, Mr. Speaker. Under these two bills dependency is not a feature except in so far as children are concerned, is that not right?

Mr. CAPANO. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

I purposely did that because I felt it should be limited to the widow, a widow who is a member of the household, and living together with the deceased spouse, and the children who were dependent upon him, and not any further than that.

Mr. KENT. Under these bills, Mr. Speaker, in the case of children, as you have said, in order for them to benefit they must be dependent upon their father or the injured person, is that not right?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, that is in accordance also with the present act. In order for children to receive benefits, they must be dependent, or be under age, or they cease to be dependent.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, if there were no children and there was a brother or a sister, or a mother or father surviving, they do not have to be dependent and they still would get the benefit?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I am not sure of that. It was my intent that they should also be dependent. I have not read it to see whether that is in the particular section. When I first drafted it, that was my intent and that was what I had put into the section, that they also be dependent.

Mr. KENT. I might suggest to the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, that I have examined it pretty closely on that point and, as I read it, it is my opinion that it is not in the bills as they are now written.

Just to get back to the case of total and permanent disability, I am sure the gentleman is aware that we passed a bill through this House several months ago making certain changes in the workmen's compensation law, one of which was to extend benefits for life rather than the 700 weeks. Is the gentleman familiar with that?

Mr. CAPANO. Yes, I am, Mr. Speaker. That is correct.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, if that bill should become law and make the benefits payable for life, and if this bill passes too and becomes law, and a man dies sometime when he is drawing workmen's compensation, this bill provides that the same benefits are to go to his wife, children, brother, sisters, mother, or father. Can he tell me for what duration they are to receive the benefits?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, this is not inconsistent with the proposed amendments to the act. This is merely to provide, as I stated before, payments to the widow or children for the specified period for which he was entitled to the payments of compensation for the loss of a member, a specific loss.

I feel this is only just because a man who loses an arm or a leg is not merely disabled, but on top of disability he has lost part of his body. In negligence cases he is compensated for it and there is no reason why he should not be compensated under these conditions.

Previously in the act a man could commute the specified period, but under the later act he could not commute. He had to put up a bond if he did commute to guarantee repayment if he should die before the 150 weeks, let us say, for which he was entitled to compensation. He would have to repay that to the insured.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, and I am sure he will agree, people who are injured and become permanently and totally injured through other means than losing one of their members are likewise compensable and compensated under the present law, are they not?

Mr. CAPANO. That is right, Mr. Speaker, for disability.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman does not think the benefits of the bill should extend to those people and should only extend to people who have lost a member?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to extend it also to those people, but I do not think it would have any chance of passage.

Mr. KENT. I did not hear the last part of the answer, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I do not think it would pass this House, but I personally would be in favor of it, of extending the benefits also—

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman would like to extend it, but he does not think it would pass the House?

Mr. CAPANO. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, is this a compromise bill of some kind?

Mr. CAPANO. No, Mr. Speaker, it is not. This is an idea of mine which I have had for some years through having seen such cases occur where a man lost an arm, or a leg, or an eye, or some other part of his body, and the payments ceased immediately upon the death and the widow was left destitute with no means of livelihood. I knew if it had been a negligence case she at least could sue and recover the full amount to which he would have been entitled because of the accident.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, one more question. I wonder if the gentleman would object to passing these bills over—I feel there are places where they are inconsistent with the prior bill that was passed, the gentleman admitted himself he could not answer one of the questions I raised—so that we might be able to go into it?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I will agree to hold them, but I think they should come up for second reading.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman means hold them on third reading?

Mr. CAPANO. Hold them on third reading, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, with the agreement that they may be amended on third reading?

Mr. CAPANO. Yes, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman cares to amend them and if the amendment is acceptable.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether it will be acceptable until we vote on it, but at least I can present amendments?

Mr. CAPANO. I will agree to that, yes, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

L. 1352) entitled "An act providing for joint action by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey in the administration operation and maintenance of bridges over the Delaware River and for the construction of additional bridge facilities across said river authorizing the Governor for these purposes to enter into an agreement with the State of New Jersey creating a Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and specifying the powers and duties thereof including the power to finance the construction of additional bridges by the issuance of revenue bonds to be redeemed from revenues derived from tolls collected at such bridges transferring to said commission all powers now exercised by existing commission created to acquire toll bridges over the Delaware River and making an appropriation" by authorizing the Governor to enter into a supplemental compact or agreement on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with the State of New Jersey amending and supplementing the compact or agreement entitled "Agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey creating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission as a body corporate and politic and defining its powers and duties" as heretofore amended and supplemented authorizing the Governor of either State to veto the action of any commissioner from his State requiring express authorization by the two states for the construction or acquisition of any additional bridge or port and terminal facility and the administration operation and maintenance thereof and authorizing the Governor to apply on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Congress of the United States for its consent to such supplemental compact or agreement

Section 1 The Governor is hereby authorized to enter into a supplemental compact or agreement on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with the State of New Jersey amending and supplementing the compact or agreement entitled "Agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey creating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission as a body corporate and politic and defining its powers and duties" which was executed on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by its Governor on the nineteenth day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and on behalf of the State of New Jersey by its Governor on the eighteenth day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four as heretofore amended and supplemented such supplemental compact or agreement to be in substantially the following form

Supplemental Agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey amending and supplementing the compact or agreement entitled "Agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey creating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission as a body corporate and politic and defining its powers and duties" as heretofore amended and supplemented by authorizing the Governor of either State to veto the action of any commission from his State requiring express authorization by the two states for the construction or acquisition of any additional bridge or port and terminal facility and the administration operation and maintenance thereof

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey do hereby solemnly covenant and agree each with the other as follows

(1) Article I of the compact or agreement entitled 'Agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey creating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission as a body corporate and politic and defining its powers and duties' executed on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by its Governor on the nineteenth day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four pursuant to an act of its General Assembly approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 1352) as last amended by an act of said General Assembly approved the sixth day of July one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three (P. L. 369) and executed on behalf of the State of New Jersey by its Governor on the eighteenth day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four pursuant to an act of its Senate and General Assembly approved June eleventh one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four (Chapter 215 Laws of 1934 RS (1937) 32:8-1) to which compact or agreement the consent of the Congress of the United States was given by section 9 of an Act of the Congress approved August 30 1935 (Public No 411 74th Congress 49 Stat 1051 1058) as heretofore amended and supplemented be and the same is hereby supplemented as follows

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey do hereby solemnly covenant and agree each with the other as follows

1 Three copies of the minutes of every meeting of the Commission shall be forthwith transmitted by and under the certificate of the secretary thereof to the Governor of each State at the executive chamber at the State Capitol No action taken at such meeting by any commissioner from either State shall have force or effect for a period of ten days after the minutes shall have been so transmitted and delivered If neither Governor shall return the minutes within said ten day period any action therein recited shall have force and effect according to the wording thereof If either Governor within said ten day period returns the minutes with the veto against the action of any commissioner from his State recited therein the action of such commissioner shall be null and of no effect

II The Commission may from time to time make studies surveys and investigations to determine the necessity for and practicability of additional bridge communications over the Delaware River and port and terminal facilities within the district and report to the Governors and the Legislatures of the two states thereon The Commission shall not proceed with the construction of any additional bridge or port and terminal facility until hereafter expressly authorized by statute of the two said states

Section 2 Upon its signature on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey the supplemental compact or agreement hereinabove set forth shall become binding and shall have the force and effect of an act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission shall thereupon become vested with all the powers rights and privileges and be subject to the duties and obligations contained therein as though the same were specifically authorized and imposed by statute and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be bound by all the obligations assumed by it under such supplemental compact or agreement and the Governor shall transmit an original signed copy thereof to the Secretary of the Commonwealth for filing in his office

Section 3 The Governor is hereby authorized to apply on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Congress of the United States for its consent and approval to such supplemental compact or agreement

Section 4 If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of the act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application and to this end the provisions of this act are declared to be severable

Section 5 This act shall take effect immediately but the Governor shall not enter into the supplemental compact or agreement hereinabove set forth on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania until passage by the State of New Jersey of a substantially similar act embodying the supplemental compact or agreement between the two states.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 1111 act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) known as the "Public School Code of 1949" is amended to read

Section 1111 Employment of Relatives of School Directors No teacher shall be employed by any board of school directors who is related to any member of the board as father mother brother sister husband wife son daughter stepson stepdaughter grandchild nephew niece first cousin sister-in-law brother-in-law uncle or aunt unless such teacher receives the affirmative votes of [three-fourths] a majority of all members of the board other than the member related to the applicant who shall not vote

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall speak briefly on this bill, Mr. Speaker, to call it to the attention of the Members.

This is the bill which destroys the bad effects of nepotism in school boards. For many years the law provided that before a relative of a member of a board could be appointed it would require at least three-fourths of the school board to vote affirmatively.

We had a very unusual experience in Allegheny County recently, where the school district of Braddock violated this law and in my opinion this particular bill has been designed to cure this situation.

I believe there is already on the floor of the House, or about to be on the floor of the House, a bill which would legalize an illegal act for that particular board. Now, I feel that any act which eliminates the effect of nepotism is a good act, and I think the present statute is in the public interest and that we should vote against this bill on both sides of the aisle.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 192 entitled:

An Act providing for and regulating the licensing and practice of practical nursing imposing duties on the State Board of Nurse Examiners and imposing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose Senate Bill 192. I will attempt to point out the bad features in this bill, the hardship it will cause some and how it will destroy the practical nurse program in Pennsylvania.

No. 1, it would prevent many of our practical nurses from working in hospitals.

No. 2, it would force all of our practical nurse schools out of business.

No. 3, it would allow every licensed attendant in our hospitals to exchange his present license for a practical nurse license, whether they be male or female.

For the most part in our big city hospitals these licensed attendants are men, whether they be handy men or stretcher bearers.

To return to item 1, if this type of licensing legislation should pass, there are many of our present day practical nurses who through many reasons that are no fault of their own—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield to the Majority Leader?

Mr. COMER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, my attention was diverted when this bill was called up and I would ask the gentleman who is now debating it whether he would yield for the purpose of my requesting that it go over in order until tomorrow, at which time we will have a great deal more time to debate it and vote on it.

It is 7:20 and the gentlemen are getting hungry as well as the ladies.

Mr. COMER. I will go along on that, Mr. Speaker, on one condition—that this bill be called up tomorrow.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have no intention of asking that it be deferred tomorrow.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader make a motion to put this bill on the postponed calendar?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 365, as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 107

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up resolution No. 107 on page 50 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 1, 1955.

There is vastly increased use of both surface and ground water for domestic industrial agricultural irrigational recreational and related purposes The continued expansion of water use may create shortages of these valuable resources There is an inevitable relationship between the utilization of waters and the utilization of other mineral resources

The act of June 22, 1937 P. L. 1897 has declared the discharge of sewage or industrial waste or any noxious and deleterious substances into the waters of this Commonwealth which is or may become inimical and injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or to the uses of such waters for domestic or industrial consumption or for recreation not to be a reasonable or natural use of such waters and to be a public nuisance and against public policy

The Comonwealth recognizes a public interest in the quantity quality and utilization of these waters and a duty upon the General Assembly to insure that such waters are conserved and that their use is allotted in a fair and equitable manner therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized to study the surface and ground water resources in the Commonwealth and the inter-relationships between the utilization of water resources and other mineral resources and the urban and industrial development of the Commonwealth and more particularly to determine the adequacy or inadequacy of existing laws and to ascertain what new laws if any may be necessary to properly protect these valuable resources The State Planning Board and the various administrative agencies of the Commonwealth now engaged in studies of these vital problems shall cooperate with the Commission in this study

RESOLUTION NO. 113

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up resolution No. 113 on page 51 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 12, 1955.

A considerable number of students from foreign countries visit the United States each year to learn the customs and manner of doing things in the United States These students are particularly interested in matters relating to government

Only a few of these students come to Harrisburg or to visit the General Assembly while in session From those who do there has been many expressions of wonder and delight over the spirit of friendliness prevailing among members of the General Assembly of different parties Much good can undoubtedly result from a greater number of these students coming to Harrisburg as special guests of the House of Representatives therefore be it

Resolved That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a special committee of five members of the House to keep itself advised of the names and identities and whereabouts of students of foreign countries who are visiting the United States and the time it will be possible for them to visit Harrisburg and to extend to these students the invitation of the House of Representatives to visit and witness the proceedings of a legislative session and that the committee avail itself of the cooperation of the Department of Commerce and of non-governmental agencies in obtaining information relating to visiting students of other countries
